BOROUGH CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT

Meritorious Program Provided at Social Event of Holy Cross at Park Club.

LARGE CROWD THERE

Dancing Follows—All the Artists Are Roundly Applauded and the Audience is Highly Pleased With the Performance.

Members of the Kimball Concert Company, with Miss Kimball as soprano soloist, and Miss Grace Marguerite Sage, an impersonator, entertained a large audience last night at the Park Club in the third of a series of social events of Holy Cross church. Informal dancing followed the rendition of the excellent program.

Miss Kimball appeared in the second number on the program singing the difficult "Villanelle," by Dell Aqua. She was greeted with a storm of applause and her popularity was again demonstrated by repeated encores following her singing. In the opening selection, Harry Butler proved himself to be a masterly pianist. The high degree to which he has perfected his art was particularly noted in the rendition of "Rondo Capriccioso," one of the Mendelssohn favorite compositions. Miss Mary Wall contributed solo selections on the harp. The repeated requests from the audience in the form of hearty applause showed that Miss Wall had captivated her hearers.

As an impersonator and recitationist, Miss Sage had her hearers convulsed in laughter from the time she made her opening remarks until she bowed in acknowledgement of the request for encores. In scenes from "Madame Butterfly," by John Luthet Long, her costume was gorgeous and the impersonations by the talented entertained an immense treat.

The program: Piano solo, "Rondo Capriccioso," Mendelssohn, by Harry Butler; soprano solo, "Villanelle," Dell Aqua, by Miss Edna Kimball; harp solo, "Minuet," Hasselmans, by Miss Mary Wall; tenor solo, "My Queen," Blumenthal, by Charles Young; short stories, selected, by Miss Grace M. Sage; harp solo, "Music box," Poenitz, by Miss Wall; duet, selected, by Miss Kimball and Mr. Young; piano solo, (a) "Scotch Poem," Mac Droell, (b) "Polonaise Op. 26, No. 1," Chopin, by Mr. Butler; scenes from "Madame Butterfly," Jno. Luther Long, by Miss Sage; tenor solo, (a) "Phillis Has Such Charming Graces," Young; (b) "Before the Dawn," Chadwick, by Mr. Young; harp solo, "Mazurka," Verdalle, by Miss Wall, and concerted number by Edna Kimball Concert Company.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Alson M. Abbott, Mrs. Douglas C. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. William C. Ashwell, Mrs. Frank O. Ball, Mrs. Fred O. Ball, Mrs. William Barlow, Miss Lillian Brooks, Mrs. Percival Browne, Miss Ruth Burt, Mrs. John H. Carman, Mrs. John C. Douglas, Mrs. Francis E. DuBois, Mrs. George W. DuBois, Mrs. Henry S. GREAT FUR VALUES.

Rosenbaum, the West Front street dry goods merchant, is advertising a few more children's fur sets at greatly reduced prices to close out the stock. In the firm's advertisement yesterday there was a slight error, the word "fur" being omitted.

New 1913 Studebaker "35" Arrived.

Now on exhibition in the show room of the Thompson Auto Co. is truly the most wonderful and most up-to-the-minute car imaginable, having every conceivable desirable feature, including the electric self-cranking, electric lighting, and the very latest and most approved six-passenger body. One of the biggest surprises is the list price, $1,290, fully equipped, which is about $600 less than other makes of cars of about the same size and power. Do not fail to see it. Mr. Thompson has already booked orders for ten of these cars. To insure spring delivery orders should be placed promptly. ***

RUSSIAN CHILD DIES ON A RAILROAD TRAIN

With Mother Was on Way From Native Land to Join Father at Pittsburgh.

Stephen Galzer, Jr., the five-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Galzer, while en route from New York to Pittsburgh, Pa., last night, was stricken soon after leaving Jersey City and died just as the train, on which they were passengers, reached the North Avenue Station. The station employes summoned Dr. Albert Pittis, but when he arrived he found the infant beyond hope. County Physician F. W. Westcott after investigating the case had the child removed to Undertaker George W. Cole's parlors, where preparation was made for sending the body to Pittsburgh.

In the meantime, Mrs. Galzer was cared for by the police. The mother was given comfortable quarters for the night. She was also furnished with a first class ticket to Pittsburgh, and provisions for the trip. After considerable trouble an interpreter was found and the woman's story was related to the police.

Mrs. Galzer, who is nineteen years old, said that she and her child arrived in New York yesterday from their native home in Russia, and were on their way to Pittsburgh to meet Mr. Galzer, who had come to this country several months ago to make a home for his family. Soon after boarding the train at Jersey City, the mother said that her child gave signs of illness and continued to grow worse. She appealed to the conductor and although the train was not scheduled to stop here, he instructed the engineer to stop so that the woman could get proper treatment for her child.

Following the death of the child it was necessary to secure special tickets to meet the requirements of the Interstate Commerce law which provides that such tickets must be used for the transportation of a corpse. Galzer was informed by telegram as to what had happened and he was told to meet his wife in Pittsburgh and make arrangements for the burial of the child.

MELLICK MEMBER OF 'CHANGE COMMITTEE

Plainfielder Among Distinguished Number who Conferred with Sulzer.

New York, Feb. 1.—George P. Mellick, of Plainfield, was a member of the distinguished committee representing the 1,100 members of the New York Stock Exchange, at a hearing granted by Governor William Sulzer at Albany yesterday. The committee was appointed by the president of the Stock Exchange to confer with Governor Sulzer in relation to the proposed legislation regarding the Stock Exchange.

The committee was there to diplomatically present objections to the plan to compel the reform of that institution as advocated, and it assured the Governor that the members were anxious to co-operate with him in providing necessary legislation. John G. Milburn, the conciliatory counsel for the Stock Exchange, was chief spokesman for the committee.

DAUGHTERS OF SCOTIA INSTALLED OFFICERS

Craig-a-Lea Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, at its meeting, last night, members of Clan Mackenzie, No. 204, Order Scottish Clans, installed these officers for the coming year:

Laurie; recording secretary, Miss J. Spalding; conductor, Miss A. Hendry; trustee, Miss M. Donaldson; inside guard, Miss B. Brodie; outside guard, Miss C. Manning.

NEW INDUSTRY.

Hecht & Co., of New York, manufacturers of regatta wash suits, has leased a large loft in the J. W. Gaylett building on West Front street, and will begin operations on Monday. The firm will employ about fifty women, but if they can secure the required help it will remove its entire plant to this city, employing about 200 men and women. Mr. Hecht was in town today and expressed himself as being favorably impressed with Plainfield.

BALL ATTENDED BY BIG CROWD

First Annual Dance of St. Mary's Holy Name Society a Huge Success.

A MASQUERADE AFFAIR

Thirteen Prizes Are Awarded—Receipts to Be Given Sisters of Charity for Their Work Among the Poor.

The first annual charity ball of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's R. C. church, held in Sebring's Auditorium, last night, proved a success beyond the most sanguine expectation of those who arranged it. The attendance was so large that by 10:30 the committee was compelled to close the coat room. Both the second and third floors were used for dancing, but even with these accommodations it was impossible to accommodate all who wished to enjoy the affair.

Albert F. LaRock, the able chairman of the affair, was assisted by efficient committees, all giving their best effort in making the ball the great success that it was. The decorations were unusually elaborate and throughout the evening there were several surprises in electrical effects. There was a device which produced vari-colored lights for the moon and shadow dance, while the large dome of the third floor was studded with tiny incandescent lights which were turned on at a time to give the best effect. Another surprise was the illumination of a sign bearing the letters "H. N. S.," Holy Name Society. Father B. M. Bogan and Father Vincent Sciolla were present as special guests of the society.

While the third flood was reserved for general dancing, the floor below was used for square dancing and other figures. Charles Suhr's orchestra furnished them usic for dancing with a large orchestra and a "fiddler" was engaged to play for those on the second floor. Notwithstanding the large attendance, the floor committee of which John V. Alster was chairman, attended to every detail in a satisfactory manner, in fact all of the committees worked like one person so that everything worked smoothly.

The fact that the dance was a masquerade affair, lent additional interest. There were many attractive, as well as grotesque costumes, some of them being exceptionally good. The grand march was announced for 11 o'clock, at which time the judging of costumes for the award of thirteen prizes was begun by a committee comprising Police Chief P. S. Kiely, Millard F. Elderton and Walter C. Robbins. James O'Beill, representing a Hebrew, received first prize, while Leonard F. Bennett and Louis Dixon, "Mutt" and "Jeff," were given second prize. Others who were awarded prizes were Miss Margaret O'Keefe, Miss Alice McAffee, Miss Margaret McCarty, Miss Mamie Burke, Miss May Birmingham, Miss Kate Roach and Miss Margaret Brown and Garret Keating, James Neal, James Hurley, Camillio Messner and Patrick Harrington. They represented suffragetts, Spanish dancers, Japanese, "Bube," clown and Hindus. The prizes consisted of traveling bag, pictures, burnt wood chair, mufflers, satin slippers, gloves, razor, men's slippers, and other useful articles. In addition each person present received a souvenir in the shape of a Turkish cap.

During the evening vaudeville artists from Proctor's theatre entertained the guests and William Varley, excise commissioner of Bayonne, sang a solo.

The proceeds from the affair will be used to increase the fund of the Sisters of Charity in their work of caring for the poor, and while the returns are not all in, the committee is assured of receiving a large amount as profit for the fund. The grand march was led by the members of the floor committee and many pleasing figures were introduced. The following committees had charge of the affair:

General—Messrs. Albert F. La Rock, chairman; Garret A. Keating, secretary; Daniel J. Courain, William E. J. Gillihan, Wilbur H. Schaeffer, Michael B. Caffrey, John J. Gallagher, Edward J. Conolly, Cornelius Regan, Frank Cullen, Thomas Farrell, Michael D. O'Keefe, Thomas A. Moore, William V. Sullivan, David B. Doyle, Charles A. Kling, Samuel Flattley, Timothy J. VROOM RESIGNS FROM THE BENCH

Ill Health Prompts Him to Leave the Court of Errors and Appeals.

TWELVE YRS. A MEMBER

He's a Democrat and Governor Wilson Will Appoint His Successor—Sketch of Career of Noted Jersey Jurist.

Trenton, Feb. 1.—Judge Garret D. W. Vroom, of this city, yesterday afternoon sent to Governor Wilson his resignation as a member of the Court of Errors and Appeals to take effect at once. The resignation comes after twelve consecutive years on the bench of the Errors Court. Judge Vroom names ill health and a disinclination longer to be under the confinement of the Court as reasons why he wishes to be relieved of the position.

The term of Judge Vroom would have expired on February 12. He said today that he did not know whether Governor Wilson was considering him for re-appointment and this had no weight whatever in actuating him to resign. His real reasons for leaving the bench were those given in his resignation, he declared. He is a Democrat. His resignation will bring forward a lot of aspirants for the place.

In 1900 Mr. Vroom was offered a seat on the Supreme Court bench by Governor Voorhees, which he declined. When Judge Hendrickson was made a Judge of the Supreme Court Governor Voorhees appointed Judge Vroom to the vacancy created on the Errors Court bench. The nomination was made on February 5, 1901, for a full term of six years, and confirmation by the Senate followed on Feb. 12. In 1907 he was re-appointed by Governor Stokes.

Judge Vroom is the son of the late Governor Peter D. Vroom and grandson of United States Senator Garret D. Wall. He was born in Trenton, December 17, 1843. He was graduated from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, and was admitted to the bar in 1865. He has held many important positions. He was city solicitor of Trenton from 1866 to 1870 and again from 1873 to 1876. He was appointed prosecutor of Mercer county in May, 1870, but resigned to become Supreme Court reporter, a position he has held ever since. From 1881 to 1884 he was mayor of Trenton. He was also president of the old Board of Works of this city, which was legislated out of office after a short existence. He was one of the compilers of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey issued in 1877, 1887 and 1894.

He is vice president of the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution and one of the leading members of the society in this State. He was a member of the National Commission to promote uniformity of laws. He is a member of the New Jersey Historical Society and of the Trenton Battle Monument Association.

POLICE COURT BLOTTER.

Five boys ranging in ages from eight to fourteen years were arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning on the complaint of David Scott, a member of the firm of Scott Printing Machine Company, who charged them with stealing electric light globes from his automobile. The boys confessed and returned some of the stolen goods. They also admitted having stripped other machines of like articles. The court suspended sentence with a severe reprimand.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

A series of evangelistic services will be held at the Grace M. E. church this coming week. The first service will be held tomorrow night and they will continue every night through the week. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will preach Tuesday night. Evangelistic preaching and lively music will be the features every night.

ELOPING COUPLE ARRESTED HERE

Wife and Sister Accompany Policemen Who Take F. B. Foley Into Custody.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Poughkeepsie Man and a Widow Had Been Here Since December 27—Dramatic Scene When Child is Restored to Mother.

The arrest last night of Frank B. Foley, at 17 Grove street, North Plainfield, where he was living with a woman with whom he eloped from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Friday, December 27, after deserting his wife, furnished revelations of violated marriage vows. The woman, who posed as his wife, was also taken into custody and gave her name as Mrs. Etta Wood, and said she was a widow. With the couple was Foley's son, Kenneth Franklin Foley, six years old, who told the police he was treated cruelly and was forced to call Mrs. Wood "mother," under threat of being beaten.

Foley has been shadowed by the local police since January 18, when Chief Kiely received a letter from Chief of Police Charles J. McCabe, of Poughkeepsie, saying that the prisoner had deserted his wife, kidnapping his son from his mother's custody, and was living with another woman in this city. He was traced to 445 Orchard street and when plans had been made for his arrest it was found he had moved to the borough.

Accompanying the officers were Mrs. Foley, who had come to this city from Poughkeepsie, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baldwin, of Bridgeport, Conn. Mrs. Baldwin is Foley's sister, who highly praises Mrs. Foley and who said she came to this city to see that her brother is severely punished for his wrong-doing.

When the police broke into the apartments where Foley and Mrs. Wood were living, the former's son jumped from his bed and ran crying to his mother. Foley, seeing his wife, sister and brother-in-law, and realizing the seriousness of his offense, hid his face.

Taken to police headquarters the two prisoners suddenly became calm and refused information regarding themselves. They were arraigned before City Judge De Meza at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. He was held to await the action of the grand jury.

Mrs. Foley in a statement to a Daily Press reporter said her hubsand had left her without funds on December 27, less than two months after the death of their four-year-old daughter. Incidentally the dead child's body is in a vault in Poughkeepsie, the mother being unable to pay for a burial.

Kenneth Foley told a tale equally as pitiful as did his mother. He said he was treated cruelly by his father and Mrs. Wood and was forced to look upon the woman as his mother.

"I prayed every night to God," he added, "that mother would come and take me from papa and this bad woman."

Mrs. Baldwin, when discussing the case, said: "It may seem strange that a sister would appear against her own brother, but Mr. Baldwin and myself will stand by this good woman (meaning Mrs. Foley) until the last. To think that Mr. Foley should bring disgrace and shame upon his relations and family in this manner fills me with horror. We will spend any amount necessary to see that he pays dearly for the awful things he has done."

FAREWELL PARTY.

A surprise farewell party was given in honor of John M. Lewin, of Watchung avenue, by a number of friends last night. During the evening "500" was enjoyed and the prizes for the women went to Mrs. James Clark, first; Mrs. Charles Clark, second, and Mrs. Allen Coddington, third; for the men, William Carr, first; James Clark, second, and Charles Clark, third. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Mr. Lewin will leave Monday on a six weeks' business trip through the West.

HEALTH BOARD WARNS.

Complaints having been received that chicken owners throughout the city are allowing their fowls to run at large to the annoyance of neighbors, the Board of Health has been compelled to call their attention to the health code rule which provides that all chickens be kept confined within the limits of a proper runway or chicken coop at all times. Owners who do not comply with this rule are liable to arrest and fine.

PETERSON REMANDED.

Albert Peterson, colored, of 551 South Second street, charged with a serious offense by his wife, was arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning and remanded for further examination.

AMATEUR OPERATOR SEVERELY SHOCKED

William Thickstun, of Central Avenue, Was the Victim of Lightning's Freaks.

While receiving messages over his personally constructed wireless system at his home last night, William D. Thickstun, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Thickstun, of 403 Central avenue, was badly shocked by coming in contact with a stray spark. Young Thickstun is the owner of the most complete station in this vicinity and it is his custom every night after supper to spend some time receiving and transmitting messages. He was doing this during the lightning storm last evening and it is thought that lightning followed the aerial into his room and that a spark jumping from the condensing instrument came into contact with a receiver he was using and passed into his body. At the time of the accidente Lon Moran, of North Plainfield, a friend of young Thickstun's, was witnessing his companion's experiments and when the operator reeled over Moran immediately shut off the power switch and notified the other members of the family. But for Moran's prompt work it is probable that the accident might have resulted seriously as the family were in a different part of the house and it is customary for the wireless student to remain in his room operating his system hours at a time. He was rendered unconscious by the shock and remained in this state for over two hours.

Dr. Van Horn was called in and administered first aid remedies to the victim and later notified Dr. Norman H. Probasco, who is at present attending Thickstun. He is confined to his bed today suffering from a severe shock and badly swollen limbs, caused by the large number of volts passing into his body.

Thickstun is well known to all wireless enthusiasts in this city and has made rapid progress in mastering the new science since he first took it up two years ago. He has constructed a station at his home on Central avenue from which he can transmit and receive messages to and from a radius of 500 miles.

CONFERENCE MEN IN LOCAL PULPITS

Delegates to Charities Meet to Address Plainfield Congregations Tomorrow.

Social workers who are interested in the work of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction which meets here tomorrow afternoon for two days, will occupy some of the local pulpits at the morning services, the arrangement having been made by a committee comprising Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson and Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong. The appointments for the morning are as follows:

Trinity Reformed church, Prof. E. R. Johnstone, superintendent of the Training School, Vineland; Grace M. E. church, Augustus W. Abbott, of the Children's Protective and Aid Society, Orange; Congregational church, Prof. Henry H. Goddard, psychologist of the training school, Vineland; All Soul's Unitarian church, Ernest D. C. A. REED TO BE CORP. COUNSEL

Mayor and Council Agree on Former State Senator for the Office.

SALARY TO BE $3,500

He Will Have an Assistant Who Will Receive $1,200—Must First Repeal Ordinance Regarding Conditions for Place.

Former State Senator Charles Arthur Reed was decided upon for corporation counsel at a conference Mayor Percy H. Stewart had with the members of the Common Council last night. The formal appointment by the Mayor cannot be made, however, until the Common Council repeals an ordinance which provides that to be eligible to the office a lawyer must have practised in the city for one year. This obstacle will be removed by the repealer which it is understood the city fathers are willing to put through.

Charles A. Reed.

The salary will be raised, too, before Mr. Reed is appointed, the present intention of the Common Council being to make it $3,500 a year. The salary at present attached to the office is but $1,200.

Another proposition practically agreed upon last night was that the office of assistant corporation counsel be created and that the right of appointment be placed in the hands of the corporation counsel. The salary for the assistant, it is reported, will be $1,200.

Mr Reed was for years corporation counsel of North Plainfield and is considered an authority on municipal law. While in the Legislature he drafted the present law covering boroughs.

DINNER IN HONOR OF COLORADO GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Senger, of East Second street, gave a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Alexander Reibscheig, of Colorado Springs, Col., at their home last night. Mrs. Reibscheid is a niece of the late Samuel Dreier, and has a number of friends in this city. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Reibscheid and son, Lawrence, of Colorado Springs; Miss Beatrice Lindenbaum, of New York; Mrs. Rose Dreier and Miss Polly Fridenthal, of Brooklyn; Carl Sanders, of Irvington; Mr. and Mrs. Leveen, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Slonim, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Manchester, Miss Ethel Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Senger, all of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Senger will attend a farewell dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria tomorrow night to be given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Reibscheid, who are to leave Tuesday for Colorado. The dinner will be given by Mr. Reibscheid's sister, Mrs. I. Lindenbaum, of New York.

MUST SERVE TIME.

Considerable excitement was caused among the audience in a local playhouse last night when Michael Tudino, of 25 Berckman street, raised such a disturbance that the police were called in. A near riot took place when Tudino fought with four patrolmen who entered the show house to restore order. He was finally conquered and taken to headquarters, where he spent the night in the lock-up. Arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning he was committed to the county jail for sixty days in default of $15 fine.

T. H. BARTINDALE.

Thomas H. Bartindale, formerly of this city, died yesterday at his home, 317 West 113th street, New York city. The funeral will be held at St. Matthew's church, Central Park West, tomorrow. Mr. Bartindale was a member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum. He removed from Plainfield about seven years ago.

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

Westfield.

Rev. Reginald H. Starr, of New York, will take charge of St. Paul's Episcopal church for the next two months, commencing tomorrow. Mr. Starr is not a candidate for the rectorate, however.

Several petitions are being circulated urging the Board of Education to build the proposed new school as an addition to the Washington School and not to purchase an extra plot for it. The petitions will be presented to the Board asking that the citizens be given the option of voting on both propositions.

Angelo Aloia, who deserted his wife about a year ago, has been sentenced to one year in State prison

New Providence.

The residence of Fire Chief Albert E. Jackson was again threatened by fire Thursday night. Mr. Jackson uses an open fireplace in his living-room. He had a basket of wood set near the fire. About 9 o'clock he fell into a sound sleep. He awakened at 11 o'clock, to find the basket of wood sending flames ceilingward. He seized the wire guard frame and swept the flaming wood into the fireplace. The roof of Mr. Jackson's house was partially destroyed on December 12 last.

Borough Recorder William Woodruff, performed the twelfth marriage ceremony of his career Thursday night, when he married Tamosa Friola and Miss Minicangela Rosato, both of Murray Hill. Both bride and bridegroom are natives of Italy. Antonio Rosato, cousin of the bride, was best man, and Mrs. F. Mondatto was bridemaid. The couple will reside in Murray Hill.

Mrs. William T. Hickson, of Mountainview Park, West Summit, is confined to her residence with a severe attack of illness.

DR. PECK LECTURES ON THE HOLY LAND

Superbly Illustrated Talk Given at the First Baptist Church.

"In Tent and Saddle in the Holy Land," was the subject of an illustrated lecture given by Dr. William Jay Peck, of Brooklyn, at the First Baptist church last night under the auspices of the Bible school. The lecturer took his audience through the Holy Land, pointing out the notable places and explaining their significance in relation to Biblical history. The pictures were excellent and the talk was an instructive one.

After the lecture the members of the school adjourned to the lecture room, where after the imaginary trip through Palestine, "Captain" Robin Brown, of the Lusitania, with the aid of his crew and passengers entertained the captain, crew and passengers of the Mauretania. This entertainment is the result of a membership contest begun some time ago. The school was divided into two parts, under different captains and took an imaginary trip.

The progress of the trip was denoted by the regular attendance of the members of the school and the securing of new members. "Captain" Brown and his crew lost and they were obliged to entertain the winners. Br. Brown and members and officers of the school comprised the committee of arrangements. During the social hour there was a popular program of music by an orchestra.

STYLE AND SR RELIABILITY

The Autobiography of A Suit of Clothes

I am an all wool suit of clothes. I was born three months ago in a "clothing incubator." My first recollection was of a man standing over me with a big pair of scissors in his hands. "Who are you?" I askt. "I'm the man who made you," said he. "What are you going to do with me?" "I'm going to send you out in the world with your brothers." "Brothers?" I inquired? "Have I brothers?" "Sure you have, a hundred of them" "Are they all like me?" "Yes, all like you," the man replied "only some are bigger than others."

So about ten of us were sent to Rothberg's Clothes Shop and a $17.50 tag was put on me. That made me "hot." I went right up to the boss and said, "See here, what do you mean by selling me for $17.50? I want you to know I'm not that kind of a suit! There are stores right here in Plainfield selling my brothers for $25, and they're not a bit different than I am."

But there was no use pleading. The boss was stubborn. I'm to be sold for $17.50. I hope that I'll get an owner that will appreciate a good $25 suit for $17.50. Would you?

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The second trial of the criminal anti-trust suit against the "Bath Tub Trust" will begin in the United States District Court at Detroit Monday. At the first trial of the case the jury disagreed. The Government delayed the retrial until the Supreme Court decided the civil case against the trust. That decision, recently rendered, compels the dissolution of the combination of sixteen corporations and sixty-four individuals engaged in the manufacture of enamelled ironware.

Utilization of the parcels post and the taking of steps which will enable the retailers to meet the competition of the big mail order houses will be discussed at a convention of retail dry goods and general merchants of the entire west, which will meet in Chicago Monday for a session of four days.

Other important conventions of week will include the meetings of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, in Indianapolis; the National Association of Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers, in New York city; the Hardwood Manufacturers' Association of the United States, in Cincinnati, and the International Association of Master House Painters and Decorators, in Denver.

Preceding the beginning of Lent, the first two days of the week will be devoted to the annual Mardi Gras celebrations in New Orleans and in several other cities of the South.

The season of social functions at the English Court will be ushered in Tuesday with the holding of the first levee at St. James' Palace. Three days later the first diplomatic and official court reception will take place at Buckingham Palace.

Two notable weddings of an international character are scheduled for the week. The first will take place in Paris on Monday, when Miss Helena Stallo, who inherited half of the immense fortune left by her grandfather, the late Alexander McDonald, of Cincinnati and New York, will become the bride of Prince Michet Murat, a nephew of the ex-Empress Eugenie.

The second wedding will be that of Miss Eleanor Douglas Wise, daughter of Mrs. Frederick May Wise, of Baltimore, and the Duc de Richelieu, whose mother, now the wife of Prince Albert of Monaco, was Miss Alice Heine, of New Orleans. The wedding ceremony will be performed Saturday noon in the Baltimore cathedral, Cardinal Gibbons officiating.

JACOBS SUIT IS DISMISSED.

New Brunswick, Feb. 1.—The suit brought by Arthur Jacobs as administrator for the estate of Solomon Jacobs against the Middlesex Board of Freeholders for $75,000 damages has been dismissed by Judge Cross, of the United States District Court. Mr. Jacobs was killed in the collapse of a county bridge near Bound Brook last October and his heirs sued the county.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Last season when "The Spring Maid" played an engagement in this city hundreds of enthusiastic music lovers heard the gems from this joyous little operetta. Hundreds rapturously applauded the delightful singing and acting of captivating little Gene Luneska as the saucy Princess Bozena and J. H. Goldsworthy as the dashing Prince Aladar. The flirtatious love affair of those two as told in the charming story of the operetta, still lingers as a pleasant memory with all who saw them and the announcement of a return engagement in the near future with Miss Luneska and Mr. Goldsworthy still in the cast will undoubtedly bring a thrill of pleasure. This afternoon and evening this bubbling operetta will appear at the Plainfield theatre, and it will visit here with brand new scenery, properties and costumes. In the supporting cast of Miss Luneska and Mr. Goldsworthy will be a superior company such as Messrs. Werba and Luescher are noted for. There will still be the same famous "Spring Maid' chorus and ballet—also a splendid orchestra.

The Plainfield theatre will have on Wednesday afternoon and evening, February 5, Kibble and Martin's mammoth production of the immortal American drama, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the most correct and expressive scenic production of the late Harriet Beecher Stowe's everlasting legacy to posterity ever seen in America, the only version that has been accepted by the pulpit as a moral instructor. No such amount of money as Kibble and Martin have spent on this play has ever before been expended on this neglected and much abused American drama. He has taken great pains in the selection of the cast and has engaged actors for their special fitness for their various parts, rather than for their ability to play some instrument in the band, which has been the rule with managers of like attractions. The company which Messrs. Kibble and Martin will bring to our city is said to number over fifty people, including negroes to add to the pictures and sing and dance in the levee and other scenes. A special train of Pullman palace cars are required to transport this famous monarch of them all.

The regular visits twice each season of Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival to this city have served to establish its popularity so firmly that it seems almost needless to analyze the reason of its great vogue everywhere, but since Mr. Howe returns again to the Plainfield theatre, Friday and Saturday, February 7 and 8, with an entire new program, it is apropos to inquire into the real, underlying reasons for the success of his productions. Superficial observers regard its success as phenomenal. They are wrong because it is based on sound principles of actual merit; because it furnishes as inspiring and beautiful a form of entertainment as the human mind could conceive. It is far more than just a superior form of diversion in motion photography. As a force for enlightenment, it is even more potent than the printing press. As a moral influence it is immeasurably superior to the usual dramatic offering. The realistic perfection to which Mr. Howe has developed the art of motion photography, the artistic taste, the fine judgment shown in the selection of subjects and their clever arrangement, all combine to form an exhibition par excellence. The new program, more than ever, exemplifies all these qualities. It illustrates the miracles of nature's laboratory and the marvelous power of the motion camera to a degree that represents the last word in this modern art, because it reproduces the colors of life and nature simultaneously with form and movement. Because of this innovation the scenes are so realistic that they are startling.

BIGGEST STATION FOR USE.

New York, Feb. 1.—The new Grand Central terminal in this city will be opened for service tomorrow, although it will still be several months before the finishing touches are put to the great structure and the workmen's scaffolds removed. Comparatively few persons, even among the residents of New York city, have any adequate conception of the size, the magnificence and the many wonderful features of the new station. The ground area of the structure is just a trifle short of 80 acres. Enclosed under the mammoth train shed are 33 miles of track. Nearly 1,500 trains a day, carrying 250,000 passengers, will be able to arrive or depart from the station. One of the most impressive features of the station at first sight is the main concourse, measuring 275 feet in length, 125 feet in width and 125 feet in height.

WANT TO RETURN CHECKS.

New Brunswick, Feb. 1.—Superintendent Charles H. Morris, of the water department, has certified checks for $30,000 in his possession and is anxious to return them. The checks accompanied bids for a $100,000 filtration plant here. The contract was never awarded and Common Council by resolution has knocked out all proceedings started by the water board. Morris has appealed to the board to solve the problem as to what he shall do with the checks and the board has referred the matter to the finance committee.

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 E. Third St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made a different man out of me. I got this remedy at Randolph's Drug Store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

WHY DISCONTENT?

Inspired by faith in the Creator, it is fair to say, that each one in his or her sphere of life, goes out into the world to fulfill his or her mission according to his or her vocation. Of the man who works, I know something, for I am citing the experience of a country boy of thirty years ago, at a time when the duties of the day began at sunrise, and the school hours were from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., when men and boys were happy, and the days were never too long for a day's work. While we traversed the fields, as the day went on both men and boys seemed stronger and the race for supremacy was on to see who could cover the longest row in the quickest time. These men and boys were proud of their work, and when the corn crop ripened, each felt that there was something he had done to help mankind. At the age of fifteen, after a seasoning of school and work, one of these boys went to the city into another field of labor to learn a trade, which in due time was accomplished. At that time the working day was ten hours long, from seven in the morning to six o'clock at night, and the wages were one-half of what is being paid today.

It is often said that the rich flaunt their wealth. Let us see what this wealth that they flaunt consists of. Jewels that they wear? Whence do these jewels come? From mines where men seek and find, the diamond cutter, the designer and the jeweler. Is not the jeweler pleased when he secures a customer for his wares, and when the splendid jewels and fine handiwork are adorning and making more beautiful? Does this flaunting of wealth consist of fine clothing, horses and carriages, automobiles, money to spend, fine homes? If, for instance, a grand house is built, was not the architect pleased and happy with his accepted design, and the builder of the house proud of his accomplishment; perhaps even happier than the man who lives within. I believe that this could be said of every man, tradesman or workman, that has had a part in the work; the mason, carpenter, decorator, painter, plumber and all who contribute their various parts to the beauty, comfort and usefulness of the grand dwelling wherein are sheltered the family and the servants of the household. Again, the shopkeeper feels happy when his goods are being purchased by his fellow men, for then he knows that he has brought to them something that they needed, and that he has chosen wisely and well. Is not the milliner or dressmaker pleased and happy when the customers select their beautiful creations, thus approving their taste and workmanship? Why are hunters seeking fur-bearing animals in the far cold North? Are they not happy in their successful trappings and in the knowledge that these hard won furs will be purchased and worn by people of wealth and fashion, and by the rulers of the Nations.

Who is it that preaches discontent? Are they not those who find it easier to tear down than to build up? Those who bear great burdens of care and responsibility, though they be possessed of wealth, receive comparatively little in return for their great mental and physical exertion—three meals a day, clothing and a place to sleep after a hard day's work. The working man has this, and probably has more real enjoyment in his life than the wealthier man, for the working man has not the great burden of care and responsibility.

Does the man or woman who hoards wealth and lives like a miser really serve mankind? Are such people to be more respected and less envied because they appear plain before their fellow man or society? If all were like them, what encouragement would there be for the artist and the craftsman of the many industries dependent upon their fellow man for support? No, the man of wealth who wisely distributes his money through the various channels of trade and charity is much the better citizen, for he benefits his fellow men.

Only a comparatively few years ago people found it necessary to walk several miles to and from work over bad roads. Today they can ride on trolley cars the same distance, or a greater, for five cents, or can purchase a bicycle at a moderate cost and ride to and from work on hard smooth roads. In homes of all classes today, you will find comforts and conveniences, often luxuries, like the reproductions of the opera songs, that were undreamed of years ago. Families have the benefit of church, schools and the great educational institutions, the telegraph and telephone, great railroad and steamship lines extending to all parts of the earth. Then why this discontent which seems so prevalent among the people of today? Is it not because we are ungrateful for the many privileges which we now enjoy; that we are blind to the good things, and see only the supposed disadvantages or through the lack of them?

There are abuses in our political life. Some of these abuses are the outgrowth of privileges allowed by the law; but on whom does the responsibility lie? On those who represent the majority of our people of course! This, however, is another matter, and should be separately treated.

There is as much opportunity for making money today as at any time, and perhaps more, because there is more money seeking investment and employment. The trouble is that too many people invest money in something they know absolutely nothing about, in their desire to make money quickly. The result is in most cases a loss.

The young man who wishes to succeed must be willing and content, for he is the kind that every good business man is constantly looking for and eventually makes a mark for himself.

He only has lived well, who has done the best he could, according to his abilities and opportunities, without grumbling or discontent, and has earnestly tried to keep the commandments of God!

DAVID T. KENNEY.

SOME STRAY TOPICS FROM GOTHAM TOWN

New York, Feb. 1.—Police Commissioner Waldo has submitted his report for the year 1912 to the Mayor and the document makes quite interesting reading. The report shows that the entire police force of New York city numbers 10,371 men, of whom 499 are detailed to detective duty, 497 to the Traffic Division, and 67 to other city departments. During the year 1912 the police made 18,780 arrests for felonies, 107,227 for misdemeanors and 10,838 for juvenile delinquency. Rather significant is the information that the courts suspended sentences of persons who were convicted in 18,556 cases, including 35 for assault and robbery, 417 for burglary, 73 for carrying concealed weapons. In a measure this is the Commissioner's reply to the charge frequently made against the police that they do not prepare their cases properly for the courts, and that they are frequently guilty of swearing falsely in order to permit the escape of prisoners whom they had blackmailed.

Commissioner Waldo points to the fact that New York has a population of 5,250,000, and that the ratio of police protection is only one to every 507 inhabitants. In London and Paris the ratio is one to every 323; in Amsterdam and Dublin one to 386; in Chicago one to 464; Tokio one to 431; Philadelphia one to 400, Glasgow, one to 485, and Munich one to 446. To give to New York adequate police protection, the police force should, in the opinion of Mr. Waldo, be augmented by the addition of about 2,400 patrolmen. He also advocates an increase in the pay of policemen and several changes in the laws relating to the pensioning of policemen. Among the recommendations made by the Commissioner are those for transferring the boiler squad to the fire department; of making the House of Detention a part of the district attorney's office; for the passage of laws for the taking of the finger prints of chauffeurs; for the abolition of private hack stands and for the passage of a law making the possession of gambling apparatus unlawful and authorizing its destruction. The report has but little to say of the Becker case.

There is sadness, great and genuine sadness in the Bowery district, for "Big Tim" Sullivan, the idol of the district and its undisputed ruler, has joined the army of the living dead. He has become insane and the court has declared him incompetent. He is suffering from a complete collapse of his mental faculties and is a victim of the mania of imaginery persecution, in constant fear for his life and safety. He will probably spend the rest of his days in some sanitarium or insane asylum. The loss of "Big Tim" will be keenly felt by the whole Bowery district, which recognized in him not only its political and social leader, but its big hearted benefactor and staunch friend of every man, woman and child in the district, no matter how lowly and poor.

The weather prophets, official and unofficial alike, are having a hard time of it this winter. In other years their predictions came true at least once in a while, but the abnormal climatic conditions of the present winter have so far upset all their calculations. Yet, habitual weather prophets are not easily discouraged and always find some excuse for the failure of their predictions. A. J. De Voe, of Hackensack, who enjoys, for some reason, a local reputation as a great weather prophet, when asked about the open winter, said: "The reason is quite simple, for, with one exception, we have been on the East side of all the storms." Of course that explains everything, even if the common people, who are not weather prophets, fail to see the connection between the fact stated and the prevailing weather conditions.

Mr. De Voe undoubtedly has the courage of his conviction. Not satisfied with his elucidating statement to account for the mild winter, he pitched right into the prediction that from now on there would be severe cold which would last until April. He predicted ice one foot in thickness for the middle of February and the worst storms of the season between February 7 and 10.

The breaking of a package in the Registry Department of the Postoffice brought to light the other day an ingenuous attempt to defraud the Government by smuggling in diamonds valued at $20,000 without payment of duty. Among the registered packages was a flat parcel, about eight by ten inches. It had been roughly handled in transit and the paper, covering the parcel, had been torn at one corner. The clerk, into whose hands the package was delivered, hearing the rattling of glass, partly opened the package to ascertain the extent of the damage done. He found that the parcel contained a leather frame, containing the photograph of a middle-aged woman. On the frame was stamped "In Memoriam." The glass was broken and the back of the frame injured. The clerk was about to rewrap the parcel, which he noticed three unset diamonds which had dropped out of the package. An investigation showed that the sender had taken off the back of the frame and had filled the space between the embossed leather of the frame and the back with unset diamonds, carefully wrapped in cotton to keep them from rattling. When Nathan Groen, of Green Brothers, diamond dealers on Pearl street, called for the package, he was promptly arrested and later special agents visited the office of the firm and seized $60,000 worth of diamonds pending further investigation.

The owners of a knitting mill at Riverside, N. J., in which high-priced women's stockings are manufactured found that for some time they were being robbed of thousands of dollars worth of goods. They tried in various ways to ascertain the method employed by the thieves to smuggle the stolen goods out of the mill, but their efforts were not successful. Finally they decided to employ a detective. The latter, who proved to be a regular Sherlock Holmes, nosed around in a casual way so as not to arouse the suspicion of the employes and made careful observations. After a few days he informed the chief of police that he had noticed the peculiar fact that some of the women working in the mill seemed to be in the habit of wearing shoes several sizes too large for them when they went to work, while the same shoes seemed to fit them snugly when they went home after working hours. An investigation proved that the sleuth's theory was quite correct and that some of the women wore from three to ten pairs of stockings when leaving the factory. The police have advised the owners of the mill to hire ankle inspectors to inspect the lower extremities of their employes before they leave the mill.

BASEBALL NOTES

Dr. Frank J. Sexton, the Harvard University baseball coach, has signed a three-year contract with the Harvard Athletic Committee.

Charley Barrett, formerly athletic trainer at William College, has been engaged as trainer of the New York Americans for the coming season.

William R. Armour, the new president of the Milwaukee Club, is a veteran baseball manager, having seen service as a pilot of the Detroit, Cleveland and Toledo teams.

Middlesboro, Ky., has been admitted to the Appalachian League, taking Ashville's berth, the latter city having been released to enter the Carolina League.

Chicago fans have arranged a great reception for Frank Chance, former Cub pilot, when he makes his first appearance in the Windy City as manager of the New Yorks.

The Newark Club has signed Gus Getz, the star third baseman of the New York State League. Getz was drafted by Brooklyn last fall, but turned back to the Elmira Club.

Evidently Bill Sweeney, of the Boston Braves, is trying to get the goat of Charles Webb Murphy. Bill says that the Braves will surely finish ahead of the Cubs next season.

The strange disappearance of Frank Hassler, of the Hastings Nebraska State League team, is reported. Hassler's mother, who resides in Nowata, Okla., is trying to locate her son, from whom nothing has been heard since the season closed last September.

Pitcher "Toots" Schultz, recently released by the Philadelphia Nationals to the Sacramento Club, was a gay bird in the way of raiment. On the training trip of the Phillies last season "Toots" climbed into his dress clothes every night in order to partake of the evening meal properly adorned. Needless to say Schultz's "soup and fish" scenery failed to make a hit with his team-mates.

INDIAN THORPE RETURNS HIS OLYMPIC TROPHIES

The handicap challenge trophies won by James Thorpe at the Olympic Games in Stockholm last July—one presented by the King of Sweden and the other by the Emperor of Russia—were received at James E. Sullivan's office, 21 Warren street, from the Carlisle Indian School yesterday, and were immediately shipped through Davies, Turner & Co., consigned to Kristian Hellstrom, secretary of the Swedish Olympic Committee. They will go aboard the steamship New York, of the American line, today.

Thorpe also returned to the A. A. U. his all around championship emblem won at Celtic Park last September. This now goes to John Eisenman, formerly of Princeton University.

HEAVY FIRST TEAM WILL PLAY THE AJAX

Bound Brook High School Cancels at Eleventh Hour, But Opponent is Secured.

Owing to a cancellation received from the Bound Brook High School basketball team by Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, this morning, the game scheduled to be played at the association tonight between these two teams has been called off and a much faster substitution made. In place of the Bound Brook aggregation, Hetfield has booked the Y. M. C. A. first team to play his combination and one of the best games of the season is expected. There has been no representative first team at the association for the past three years and the revival this season has caused much agitation among the Ajax followers who have been keeping up the interest in the game at the local association.

A large number of basketball followers in this city have been awaiting just such an opportunity as this to size up the two Y. M. C. A. quintets and to ascertain just which one has the best right to represent the association on the court. Popular sentiment seems to favor the so called "first team" as a representative aggregation because of their weight and experience, but the Ajax speed and shooting ability may help them to assert their superiority over their fellow members tonight.

Both teams will present their strongest lineups for the battle and the game should be one of the fastest staged here this season. The first team is made up of players who have been following the game for years and their experience will probably stand them in good stead tonight in warding off the lightning attack of the younger contestants.

BALTUSROL GOLFERS ARE PLANNING WEEKLY SHOOT

Trap shooting competitions have been arranged for the members of the Baltusrol Golf Club for every Saturday during February and March beginning today. The first contest will be a handicap, 25 birds, trophy to be retained by the winner. A monthly trophy, 50 birds, will be shot for each Saturday and on Lincolns Birthday, the highest average at the end of the month winning the trophy. The best average at 25 birds for the season will win the club championship. There will be no handicaps in this contest, and a contestant must shoot at least six times. The fourth contest will be a "Jack rabbit," a 25-bird handicap, the amount to be decided by the contestants each day. On Lincoln's Birthday the same program will be followed. Thursday afternoons, beginning Feb. 6, there will be a competition for women for the best average during the season. Conditions call for a handicap, 25 birds.

EAGLES PAST CHIEFS HOLD BANQUET HERE

The Past Chiefs' Association, District No. 10, of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, held its sixth annual banquet last night in Hotel Waldorf, where the menu was up to the usual high standard. The past chiefs representing Freedom Castle, No. 42, of this city; Golden Crown Castle, No. 52, of Somerville, and New Brunswick Castle, No. 71, of New Brunswick, were present, covers being laid for forty. The table decorations were red and white, roses of this color formed the floral trimmings.

Past Chief W. E. Day, of this city, was toastmaster and after the excellent repast had been enjoyed called upon Past Grand Chiefs Horace J. Martin, R. B. Kenney and Dr. J. H. Buchanan, of this city; William Davis, of Somerville and Otto Moore, of New Brunswick, for addresses. The arrangement committee was composed of W. E. Day, R. B. Kenney, William J. Allen and Horace J. Martin.

TURKEY SUPPER A SUCCESS.

The turkey supper was continued at Trinity Reformed church last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, when the patronage was almost as large as on Thursday night. As an additional attraction, Kenneth V. D. Bower, of Somerville, played two selections and three duets on the piano, accompanied by Mrs. L. V. Davis. Master Bower is seven years old and his playing was a feature.

MALFEASANCE CHARGE AGAINST SHARRETTS

Plainfielder Must Appear Before Commission Named by President.

New York, Feb. 1.—Judge T. S. Sharretts, of this city, was summoned to appear yesterday before a commission appointed by President Taft, to answer a charge of malfeasance in office, as a member of the Board of United States General Appraisers, an offense which, if proved, would call for removal from office.

Mr. Sharretts was charged with trying to use his influence to have a Baltimore & Ohio express train stop at his summer home near Baltimore for his accommodation. The railroad officials refusing, it was charged that he had threatened to divert importers' business. Mr. Sharretts admitted that he asked the company to stop the train, but denied making any threats. He also denied having made decisions in Custom cases calculated to favor a law firm with which his son was connected. He took up the charge in detail and justified his rulings as based on judicial and other precedents. The hearing was adjourned to Monday.

COMPANY TAKES APPEAL ON VERDICT OF $1,000

The Commonwealth Water & Light Company, of Summit, through its counsel, Riker & Riker, of Newark has filed notice of appeal from the decision of the Union County Court awarding a verdict of $1,000 damages to Ferdinand Simon, who sought to recover damages resulting from injuries received by coming in contact with a live electric wire.

Simon, who is represented by Robert Newton Crane, was injured on July 13 last, while picking cherries from a tree near his home at Summit. He came in contact with a live wire running through the branches and received a shock which resulted in the loss of the use of the right hand.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Augustus W. Abbott, of the Children's Protective and Aid Society, of Orange, who is a representative from the State conference of Charities and Corrections will speak at the morning service of the Grace M. E. church tomorrow. His topic will be "The Welfare of the Child."

The cottage prayer-meeting held under the auspices of the Grace M. E. church were brought to a close last night. Of the twenty-five meetings held there was never less than thirty members present each time. The enthusiasm shown by the church members well repaid those that arranged the meetings.

Revival services will be held next week at the Shiloh Baptist church.

At Holy Cross Episcopal church tomorrow morning, the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy, will preach a special sermon relative to the Charities conference to be held tomorrow. The subject of his address will be "For Christ and Humanity." In the evening the clergyman will deliver a sermon on "Fair Play in Athletics," and will make mention of the recent charges of professionalism preferred against James Thorpe, the famous Carlisle Indian Olympic hero. This service will be preceded by the last of a series of organ recitals, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. John M. Glenn, of the Russell Sage Foundation, who speaks at the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, was one of the group that went to San Francisco for the National Red Cross Society at the time of the earthquake and fire. She is a member of the governing board of the New York Charity Organization Society. Rev. J. Howard Melish, rector of Holy Trinity church, Brooklyn, will speak in the evening at this church.

IN SOMERSET COURT.

Somerville, Feb. 1.—Only a brief session of the Somerville County Courts was held yesterday, Judge Queen, of Flemington, presiding in the absence of Judge Case. The principal business transacted was the granting of the transfer of the license of the Chimney Rock Hotel from George P. Schofield to Peter Knitterscheidt, which had been laid over for two weeks because the papers in the case were not complete.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MET.

The Councilmanic Finance committee met last night with Mayor Percy H. Stewart to take up some questions of finance and to pass on the monthly bills before payment at the regular meeting of the Council Monday night. There was also some consideration of the tax budget.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 32 degrees; 11 a. m., 29 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 29 degrees.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE'S COLUMN

(Every Saturday).

Conducted by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

EDITOR

MRS. E. F. FEICKERT.

The White Cross League.

As the Newark office of the White Cross League has been operating in Plainfield to some extent, it seems worth while to make a statement as to just what this commercial charitable organization is.

The National White Cross League was incorporated in the State of Illinois in August, 1910, for the purpose of "buying and selling merchandise and commodities of various kinds and descriptions, the profits derived from the sale of which are to be expended in assisting and giving proper medical aid and treatment to those suffering from tuberculosis, who can only partially or cannot afford at all such medical care and nursing." The principal things which the league sells are soap and toilet articles.

The capital stock is $500, divided into fifty shares which are owned by the three directors. The duration of the corporation is to be twenty years. The president is authorized to appoint four others to serve with himself as a board of trustees, which has control of the league's charitable work. The officers and directors of the league are President, Dr. D. C. Moulding; secretary, H. A. Smith; general superintendent, M. J. Brorby. The superintendent was formerly an employe of the company from which the league now purchases most of the products it sells. The league, it is stated, does not solicit or receive subscriptions, but derives its entire income from the sale of merchandise sold exclusively through solicitors. These solicitors receive 40 per cent. commission. About 35 per cent. is expended for general supervision and office expenses. The remaining 25 per cent. is devoted to the tuberculosis work. The league has headquarters for its commercial work in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Newark, and is planning to establish offices in a number of other cities.

The tuberculosis work which the league has done is meagre in extent. The superintendent stated last July that the league at that time was "maintaining thirteen patients distributed among five different institutions, besides giving fresh milk and eggs and medical care to others in their homes." Recently the league, it is stated by one of its officers, has purchased a sanatorium near Wheaton, Illinois, with a capacity for 20 patients. Here the cases in care of the league are to be treated. This sanatorium is said to have been opened about October 1.

The New York office of the league is located at 169 West 23rd street, where a free clinic was opened in October. This clinic is opened three afternoons a week from 2:30 to 4:30 for examination and treatment of tuberculosis patients. Mr. Gilroy, the New York agent, states that since the opening of the clinic about fifty patients have been received. There is no charge. The work of the clinic is not advertised except by the literature of the league and by its many selling agents in New York and vicinity.

The State Board of Charities having notified the league that an advertised clinic could not be conducted in New York without permission of the board, the league made application for a dispensary license. The hearing was held on January 29 in the United Charities Building. L. J. Gilroy, State superintendent, and Dr. H. A. Kuehne, medical director of the New York work, argued for the granting of the permit. Commissioner William R. Stewart, who presided at the hearing, told Mr. Gilroy that there were already 100 licensed dispensaries in New York, and asked why the proceeds of the league were not turned over to one of these dispensaries. Mr. Gilroy said he could not answer that question since the money was not his own, and he was appearing only as a representative of the league's president, Dr. D. C. Moulding, of Chicago.

The State Board of Charities has the question of granting the permit under consideration, but says that an application of this sort is without precedent in the history of the board since its establishment in 1883.

The National White Cross League has no affiliation whatever with the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

VALENTINE DAY RECIPES.

SPECIAL dishes for Valentine day entertainments need only be got up in pink and white or pale green and white and molded in heart shapes to be timely and acceptable.

As for table decorations, heart shaped baskets filled with spring flowers are the simplest and prettiest embellishments. If you have no wicker baskets cut them out of cardboard and cover with crape paper.

Luncheon Delicacies.

Creamed Sweetbreads In Heart Shaped Cases.—Make a shortcake dough and roll it to about an inch thick. Cut out heart shaped pieces, brush each piece with melted butter and lay together in pairs. Bake in a quick oven. When ready to serve remove the top biscuit, cover well with creamed sweetbreads and replace the top. Garnish with parsley. Serve with or without a mushroom sauce. Calf's brains, chicken or veal may be substituted for the sweetbreads.

Valentine Salad.—Take red apples uniform in size and shape. Cut off evenly at the stem end and scoop out the interior without breaking the skin. Wipe off the apple cups and polish them carefully. Take equal parts of apple, shredded pineapple and blanched almond meats. Moisten them well by tossing all together with mayonnaise dressing. Just before serving fill the apple cups with this mixture, placing on top a spoonful of whipped cream that has been tinted pink with maraschino. Garnish with a maraschino cherry topping the whole and serve on a heart of lettuce leaf.

Appropriate Cakes.

Valentine Cakes.—Take half a cupful of butter creamed with a cupful of powdered sugar, half a cupful of milk, whites of four eggs whipped light, two and a half cupfuls of flour sifted with one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, bitter almond flavoring, spinach juice and cochineal. Cream the butter and sugar add the milk and flavoring, the whites of eggs and flour. Divide the batter in three parts, bruise and pound a few leaves of spinach in a thin muslin bag until you can extract the juice. Put a few drops of this in one portion of the batter, color another with cochineal, leaving a third white. Put a little of each into small round or heart shaped pans or cups, giving a light stir to each color as you add the next to vein the cake prettily. Put the whites between the pink and green that the tints may show better. Pistachio nuts pounded for the green will make the cakes much nicer. Ice on sides and top. The icing can be colored if desired.

If the cakes are to be used for a valentine party motto candies can be used to decorate them.

Anna Thompson.

SARTORIAL NOTES.

Dainty Trimming Used on Evening Gowns.

Narrow lace flouncings are worn on the edges of cutaway draperies on evening gowns.

Maggie Shetland veils are liked as much as ever, but white veils are not so much in evidence as formerly.

Some of the new purses are made of reindeer skin, lined with moire. They come in vivid colors.

For the little girls there are charming hats of velvet, velours, beaver and cloth. A bell shaped model of tan velours has a ruching of brown ribbon velvet about the crown and a flat bow at the side.

Tiny tots are always charming in frocks like the one pictured. For dressy occasions this one is made with slightly low neck and short sleeves.

FROCK FOR TINY TOT.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This dress Mauton pattern is cut in sizes for children of one, two and four years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number 7031, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The GIMBEL February Sale of FURNITURE

Is Better Rounded Than Any of Its Predecessors

Superb Specimens of Imported Furniture At Half, or Less

An important feature of the Sale, to lovers of unique and beautiful Furniture, is the collection of artistic pieces of our own importation now gathered in the Auditorium, Eighth floor, and marked at half their original conservative prices, or less.

They are suitable for the most superb drawing-room, library or hall; being either antique, or reproductions of furniture masterpieces. Now, having served their purpose as display pieces, we shall dispose of them for less than their cost to bring over.

Better assortments. Nearly 3000 separate styles. A rich representation—in response to popular demand—of the more inexpensive, but splendidly made Furniture of which so much will be needed this Spring for furnishing suburban homes and Summer cottages. Beautiful Furniture that is simple, but stately—Colonial, much of it, but also including many pieces of the graceful Sheraton type.

GOLDEN OAK DINING ROOM SUITE.
Sideboard, 50-in., $40 from $50.
China Closet, $28, from $38.
Extension Table, 48-in., $20 from $24.
Side Chairs, leather cushions, $2.50 from $3.50.
Arm Chairs to match, $5.25 from $7

Saturday the Sale had an auspicious beginning—Monday it starts on its first full week, with the enthusiastic swing begotten by confidence.

It is important to remember that not only are there but that these savings are based on OLD prices, and not on the higher price-level which has ruled since January 1st. This is a Golden Age of Furniture buying for the home furnisher, which, in justice to himself, he had better not dream away. An entirely new list of offerings is presented for Monday:

We Have Made An Extraordinary Purchase from the Falls of Schuylkill Mills, of

JOHN & JAMES DOBSON

$100,000 Worth of CARPETS and RUGS, at Great Savings

In October the Gimbel Floor Covering Store created a sensation by its purchase of the entire New York retail stock of the famous old firm of John and James Dobson. For Monday we have news that closely parallels the former announcement in interest and economy. John and James Dobson have discontinued their so-called "Cut Order Business," and will hereafter confine their attention to selling carpets at wholesale by the full roll, instead of supplying merchants all over the country with carpets sold from samples and cut into lengths as desired. They have disposed of their "Cut Order Stock" to Gimbel Brothers, at a remarkable concession, and the entire quantity, divided between our New York and Philadelphia stores, goes on sale Monday morning.

These Facts Stand Out in Bold Relief

(1) Most of the patterns have been newly made for spring business, and are fresh and desirable. There are no odds and ends, or old styles.

(2) An important group is of the well-known Dobson's solid-color Velvet Carpets, such as are used in the new Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Philadelphia, and other fine hotels.

(3) Quantities are very large, and are commended as especially desirable to hotels, theatres, steamships, clubs, institutions and public buildings, as well as private residences.

(4) We shall sell these goods at retail only, preferring to give our customers full advantage of the sale.

(5) All short lengths and remnants will be sold in the Subway Store, and full rolls of carpet (from which any desired length will be cut) will be sold in the regular Carpet Store on the Sixth Floor.

(6) Besides John and James Dobson's own makes of Carpets, they carried in their cut order stock other famous makes, some of which are included in the sale. There are also numerous fine groups of American domestic rugs. Some of the sale goods and their prices.

Standard Grades of Carpets Far Under-Price

MESSRS. GIMBEL BROTHERS,
New York City, New York.

Gentlemen:

As we have advised you, we have discontinued our Wholesale Cut-to-Order Department, and as per our circular letter of Jan. 6, 1913, sent to a large number of dealers in our Cut-to-Order Department, we shall in future sell in full rolls only; in fact, will do nothing but a strictly wholesale manufacturing business.

As you are aware, in making selection for our Cut-to-Order Department, the carpets selected were the cream of our stock and none but the best selling patterns were cut. On account of having to carry stock sufficient to take care of quantity orders for immediate shipment, you will have sufficient yardage to take care of any need. We congratulate Gimbel Brothers, both Philadelphia and New York, on securing this enormous lot of Carpets and Rugs, and the public as well, on the bargains that you will be able to offer.

In addition to the lines of our own manufacture, we were compelled to carry a number of outside makes, so as to meet the requirements of a full line. All of these goods will also be shipped to you.

Yours truly,
JOHN & JAMES DOBSON,
Per Thos. J. Jeffries.

SCOOP MAY NEVER LIVE TO SEE HIS SHADOW

"MAC" SAYS

North Plainfield High School girls, 10; Plainfield High School girls, 7. According to future dopesters the game was decided just as it should be. We predict a reverse for the Boroughites this afternoon, however, when the boys have their game at the Y. M. C. A. with P. H. S.

In the feminine struggle yesterday afternoon, the local girls were in front at the end of the first period by a score of 4 to 3, but were unable to keep up the pace in the final half and went down to defeat.

Manager Doyle has not announced the date of that post season football game to decide the disputed State championship with the Dexters, of Perth Amboy. Wonder if he is waiting for a new consignment of players to arrive?

The game that was scheduled to be played by the Nonpareil girls' basketball team tonight with the Trenton Y. W. C. A. girls for the State championship has been postponed until next Saturday by mutual consent.

"Thorpe signs with the Giants." And McGraw again proved himself the foxiest manager in the game by snatching the Indian right from under the noses of the other big league pilots.

Of course we all regret very much that Jim Thorpe happens to be a professional athlete, but there is no use in becoming hysterical or maudlin over the fact. It will give us a chance to see what kind of baseball he can play anyway.

Up in Yonkers some people have started a petition in circulation to have the athlete reinstated. Well, they are liable to start anything in Yonkers.

A preliminary game between the Hope Chapel and Scotch Plains Parish House second teams, scheduled to take place at the Hope gym tonight has been cancelled by the latter team and the First Presbyterian Church seconds will probably be substituted.

Company K will be idle tonight as no game has been booked by Manager Thompson.

JOLLY BASKETBALL FIVE WINS A GAME

Defeated Bound Brook Aggregation at That Place Last Night.

The first victory of the season for the Jolly Five basketball team, of this city, was recorded last night at the hands of the W. F. A. five, of Bound Brook, whom they took into camp by a count of 37 to 22. The winners were always in the lead and the home players seemed satisfied to remain within sight of their conquerors. Darling and Grisley were the stars for the merrymakers, each getting a neat collection of the two point variety. The score:

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

BASKETBALL TEAMS AND REFEREES OF ALL CALIBRES ARE HARBORED IN THIS CITY

Some Means of Organizing the Referee Corps Should Be Established at Once—Games in This City Tonight—Numerous Teams Have Sprung up During the Last Season.—Game Now Established on a Firm Basis.

All paths lead to basketball competition in this city today and tonight and some of the best and most important clashes of the season are scheduled by the local managers to be played. The indoor sport appears to have reached the heighth of its regime and the basketball enthusiasts in this city and in the surrounding suburbs will find plenty of this kind of amusement within a short walk from any section of Plainfield. To be sure, the teams carded to clash are of various and many calibres and some of the contests may be of the juvenile unfinished nature while others are bound to be the kind that produce intense enthusiasm and rivalry. Never before in the local history of the sport, has there been so much interest evidenced on every hand and even the most small and unrecognized aggregation seems to have its loyal band of cohorts.

One thing that has been noticeably missing, and a thing that should be of the foremost importance to every item that aspires to make any kind of progress toward a higher standard of basketball, however, is the referee corps. In every other town where the game has assumed the proportions it has here, some kind of an organization has been effected whereby the officials can get together and discuss points in question and rake over the rules until they are enabled to secure a thorough understanding of every technicality. As it stands at the present time here, a number of "amateurs," not in the financial sense of the word, but in reference to efficiency, are dabbling in the arbitrating department and on the whole are demoralizing the game. They referee a contest and in so doing fail to call the attention of the playing offenders to certain infringements on the rules for which they would be called immediately in a game where an efficient man was refereeing. Because of the ignorance of the referee or umpire, as the case may be, the players are caused to remain in ignorance of the finer points of the sport and not only do they belittle the competitive qualities of the game, but they also become disastrous to the sportmanship which competition developes.

There has been an urgent need for some sort of an organization through which the referees can get together and discuss certain points but never before this season has there been enough persons interested in the project to make it a reality. It is indeed deplorable the way some persons get out to arbitrate a court game and some "take a chance" and rely on the way the players tend to kick during the contest to forward their decisions. At the present time there are a number of men and older boys interested in the art of refereeing and this season a number of exceptionally good officials have been developed. If these persons who are interested in devoting a little energy toward making the game what it should be, and by their knowledge of rules, instruct the minor aggregations in the finer points, could devise some means of getting together, it would be of unlimited value to both player and spectator.

A notable example of the kind of referees that are hidden around the darker corners of the city is in the person of Frank Rimmer, who will officiate at the Interscholastic game this afternoon. Rimmer has been doing remarkable work officiating at Hope Chapel, and a better man than him would be hard to unearth in this vicinity. With the arbitration end so well taken care of the game at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon ought to be a corker from every point of view and the team that turns out to be the victor will be able to take its honors with a feeling that they were won on playing merit alone. The teams are evenly matched and anyone who takes a trip to the Association building this afternoon will be amply repaid by the exhibition of scholastic spirit and intense rivalry that every one of these meetings brings out.

At the Y. M. C. A. tonight another interesting battle of the same calibre and with some of the same players participating, will be staged between the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and the Bound Brook High School aggregation. This game is bound to be a close and interesting clash from every point of view and the team that wins will have to do some exceptional playing to conquer its rival. In other seasons Bound Brook High School has been able to play North Plainfield High School, and before athletic relations between the Plainfield and Bound Brook High Schools were discontinued three years ago, a game was always staged in this city, but this year the Bound Brook five has not invaded local territory and are anxious to contest their strength against the Ajax even if it is not a scholastic combination.

At Hope Chapel two fast games are scheduled to be decided when the Hope first team lines up against the First Presbyterian five and the Hope seconds play the First Presbyterian seconds. Hope Chapel has not been conquerored by a Sunday school aggregation in three years and it is safe to say that the Chapelites will give the husky Presbyterian aggregation a good tussel for the contest.

There is also a duet of games carded for the Scotch Plains Parish House team. The Knickerbocker A. C., of Westfield, will play the Plains' first team and the second string men will lineup against the Jolly Five, of this city. The Knickerbockers are a combination of graduate athletes from the Westfield High School and should be able to give a good account of themselves against the formidable 'Plains quintet.

A number of minor contests will be staged on various courts about the city and it is possible that Company K will play the Y. M. C. A. first team as a preliminary to the Ajax game.

THORPE SIGNS WITH GIANTS

Famous Indian Athlete Accepts McGraw's Terms Over the Telephone.

WILL RECEIVE $5,000

Dethroned World's Champion Expected in New York This Afternoon to Complete All Arrangements.

New York, Feb. 1.—James Thorpe, the greatest living athlete, recently declared a professional, has signed a contract to play with the New York Giants for the season of 1913. Whether he becomes a pitcher or a first baseman makes little difference to Manager McGraw.

"A wonderful athlete like Thorpe," says the Giant leader, "ought to have in him the makings of a great ball player. He has the muscle and the brain, and it is up to me to locate the spot where he will be of most value to the team."

McGraw personally conducted the negotiations for the Indian athlete without the aid of a scout.

The tip got out before official news of the deal reached the New York headquarters. Secretary Foster received a telegram from Thorpe at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to the effect that he had signed the contract, and the papers would be forwarded immediately.

Just what salary Thorpe is to receive has not and will not be announced. It is known, though, that the figures are in excess of $4,500. Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, who went to Carlisle to sign the Indian, wired August Hermann that he had failed in his quest; that he had offered $4,500, but the Giants had outbid him. Bancroft also wired that five scouts were at Carlisle making bids for Thorpe's services.

When Thorpe announced a few days ago that he would now have to turn to baseball for a living he intimated that he would like to play in New York. McGraw was sick in bed at the time, but he was telephoned the tip and got out of bed to be on the job.

Scout Bobby Gilks is in Pensacola, Fla., putting his training grounds in shape for the Cleveland Naps.

According to the records Catcher Henry, of the Washington team, nailed 72 would-be base-stealers in 63 games last season.

NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TAKE A CLOSE DECISION FROM THE LOCAL GIRLS

First Game of the Interscholastic Feminine Basketball League Annexed by the North Plainfield Maidens—Game was Close and Interesting—Foul Shooting Plays a Prominent Part—Both Teams Display a Deficiency Along This Line.

Playing on a neutral court and against heavier opponents, the Plainfield High School girls team fell a victim to the basketball prowess of the clever North Plainfield High School contingent on the Saengerbund Hall court yesterday afternoon by a score of 10 to 7. The local maidens started off at a terrific pace and kept the Boroughites constantly on the defense in the opening period, which ended with the score 4 to 3 in favor of the visitors. When the second and final half was ushered in, however, the Plainfield players plainly evidenced the effect of the strain and the stronger N. P. H. S. quintet immediately swept into the van gaining a lead that they never relinquished. A total of thirty personal fouls were called by the referees during the progress of the game, seventeen on N. P. H. S. and thirteen on P. H. S.; but the woeful weakness evidenced on the part of both teams in making the penalties count on free throws from the foul line made the fouling of little benefit to either side.

Miss Mildred McAuliffe, of North Plainfield, made good on six of her seventeen trials from the fifteen yard mark, while Miss Stryker, for Plainfield, secured five out of a possible ten. If either aggregation had a player accurate in foul shooting, the final score might have been vastly different and the result possibly reversed. The local contingent experienced great difficulty in standing up on the slippery Saengerbund court but the home players were more or less used to the condition and they could get in some better team work and shooting because of their familiarity with the court.

North Plainfield High School drew first blood after three minutes of gruelling play when a foul called on Miss Stryker, of P. H. S., gave Miss McAuliffe an opportunity to secure a point. N. P. H. S. had another chance to make the score two instead of one immediately afterwards but the ball refused to nestle in the basket. After missing the first attempt Miss Stryker was given another opportunity from the foul line and made good, pulling the score up to a 1 to 1 tie where it remained for some time. Miss McAuliffe wasted five chances to score from the foul line in quick sucession but managed to put two more in at the same time bringing the score up to 3 to 1. P. H. S. took a brace after this, however, and when one of the players was accorded a short respite because of an injury, the local maidens gathered themselves together and within the short space of three minutes Miss Stryker caged a neat field goal and one from the foul line, placing her team in the van when the half ended by a score of 4 to 3.

Almost as soon as the final period started the N. P. H. S. representatives again took the lead, Miss McAuliffe shooting her first two consecutive fouls of the game, the first tied the score and the second put the Boroughites in the lead. Miss Stryker also caged a trio of one point scores in this half but this was the sum total of the Plainfield score, the clever N. P. H. S. guards holding their opponents scoreless. Miss Mair proved to be the life saving recruit for the winners, as her two field goals coming just at the right time from difficult angles, placed her delegation in the van and snatched the game from Plainfield.

Much of the credit for the N. P. H. S. five's remarkable victory was due to the strenuous efforts of Miss Clara Smith, captain of the quintet, and Miss Elsie Debele, who played the guard positions. These goal preventers held the lithe P. H. S. forwards to a single field goal and that one was made during a temporary mixup when the Borough guards attempted a shift play that failed to materialize.

HOPE SECOND FIVE DEFEATED STILLMAN

Home Players Secure a 27 to 14 Verdict Over the Visiting Quintet.

With the aid of "Midget" Porter's field goal shooting, the Hope Chapel second basketball team triumphed over the Stillman School representatives on the Chapel court last night by a score of 27 to 14. The game was a close and exciting one from start to finish and either aggregation had a chance to come out on top up until the time the final whistle was sounded.

Porter starred for the winners with a collection of seven field goals while Velard scored five for Stillman.

VICTORY FOR THE CHURCH PLAYERS

Mt. Pleasant Juniors Fall Before the Speedy St. Stephens' Juniors.

The boys' club of the St. Stephens church defeated the Mt. Pleasant juniors on the St. Stephens court last night by a score of 26 to 13. The score stood 14 to 13 in favor of the home players with only a minute left for play, when Gutteridge, a St. Stephens substitute who had just been put in the game, secured the ball near his basket and caging the sperion, making the game a sure win for his side.

LOCAL ELKS ROLL LOW BUT WIN TRIO

Plainfield Bowlers Took Three Games From Their Queensboro Rivals Last Night.

Bowling with a patched up team and experiencing an off night which was obligingly assumed by their opponents, the Plainfield Elks managed to garner all three of the games rolled against the Queensboro tribe on the latter's alleys last night. When seen this morning, the members of the local aggregation could not seem to account for the exceedingly low scores that prevailed and no excuses were assigned to the shady scoring. With Captain Blatz and Kiely out of the lineup, the locals expected to be extended to the limit in order to pull out on top of at least two games, but Haberle and Evans, who were substituted, rolled at the average pace set by their teammates and this was sufficient to defeat the Queensboro pin smashers.

Nash was the only man on the Queen City combination who anywhere nearly approached his standard form and he failed to pass the double century mark. Nash bowled 199 in the initial game and 191 in the second, but dropped down to 166 on the final lap. Holland started for Queensboro but was substituted in the second game by Burke. The scores:

WHEN Attorney-General Wickersham recently declared that Judge Anderson, of Indianapolis, was too lenient in sentencing the Labor leaders in the dynamite conspiracy he probably voiced the sentiment of three-fourths of the American people. The heinousness of the crime committed by these wreckers of industry and destroyers of the lives of innocent persons is appalling, and the swift retribution to which they were brought will serve as a warning to all men who attempt such outrages, for the verdict shows that Uncle Sam will permit no such lawlessness. Added to this, it will serve to weed out the lawless element which seems to have, for the time being crept into the law abiding Labor Unions. Labor can gain nothing by criminal acts, and the conviction of these men will likely prove to be one of the best things which could have happened for the good of the honest and peaceloving American workman.

Thirty-three men have been convicted for having engaged in the destruction of property by dynamite over an area stretching from Boston, Massachusetts, to Los Angeles, California. They will serve out sentences ranging from one year and one day to seven years at the largest Federal Prison in the United States at Leavenworth, Kansas. This great prison, which at present houses twelve hundred and forty-one offenders (including the dynamiters) against Federal Law, is like a model town, and in time the officials expect to make it self-supporting. Uncle Sam is economical and as far as possible the prisoners are made to earn their food and clothing. In many of the State prisons the inmates are allowed to work overtime for which they are paid, the money being held for them until the time of their release. A Federal prisoner receives no pay for his work at any time, those in authority thinking that the plan works unfairly, as some of the prisoners would be in a position to earn more money than others, and the Federal Government's aim is to treat all men alike.

The prisoners at Leavenworth are engaged in building around and over them the very prison in which they will be confined. The institution when completed will be not only the largest, but the best equipped Federal prison in the country. It was begun in 1898 and will probably not be fully completed for many years. At present it is overcrowded and extra cells must be fitted up. Much of this work can be done by structural iron workers, so it is very likely that the dynamiters will have plenty of work in their regular lines and their services will be welcomed by the officials in charge. The frontage of the prison is about eight hundred feet, with a depth of nine hundred feet to the rear, which is some little wider than the front. The wall which surrounds the building and encloses sixteen and one-half acres is thirty-one feet in height. The entire reservation includes seven hundred and forty acres, one hundred and sixty of which are under cultivation and an equal amount in pasturage. A large tract of the land is covered with timber.

A man confined at Leavenworth will not lose his health for lack of ventilation or sanitary arrangements as special care has been taken in this line, and the cells are models of sanitation. A complete hospital has been established and an isolation ward in case of an epidemic. There is also a special building where the unfortunate prisoners who are suffering from tuberculosis may live apart from the other inmates. This is equipped with sun parlors and has all the necessary equipment for fighting the disease. The kitchen has a floor space of seven thousand square feet and is equipped with an electric bread mixer and electric ovens. Among the men who help in the cooking are a number of life prisoners. Several of them are "trustees" and are faithful workers. The steward has his office between the pantry, bakery and kitchen proper, and it is enclosed in glass. By this arrangement he can look into any of the departments at any time without leaving his desk. The menu, while not elaborate, is composed of substantial food well cooked and served in better style than the meals at many boarding houses. A sample of the menu is as follows:

BREAKFAST.
Oatmeal.
Bread and Butter,
Coffee.
DINNER.
Roast Pork with Gravy,
Potatoes,
Rolls and Water.
SUPPER.
Buns and Coffee.

That the men are plentifully supplied with food is shown from the fact that on one day about a thousand pounds of pork are used, one hundred and sixty pounds of rolled oats and about one hundred and fifteen pounds of sugar. The average cost per man for a day's food such as the above menu is a trifle over twelve cents. The average day's rations cost about eleven cents per man. Many of the vegetables used are grown in the prison garden and one year more than eighty tons of cabbages were raised. Some of this crop is made into sauerkraut and the same year seventy-five barrels of the kraut were used on the prison table. Peaches from the orchard are gathered and "put up" in the prison cannery. Tomatoes, too, grown on the prison farm are canned for table use. Food supplies, such as coffee, tea, sugar, flour and meats, etc. are purchased quarterly. This is done by samples, the name of the firm being unknown at the time the selection is made. A complete cold storage and ice plant is maintained in connection with the kitchen. Condensing pipes carry the vapor away and the usual smells found in the culinary departments of large institutions are entirely absent. The floors are scrubbed daily, and the dirty water swept into an outlet which runs into the sewer.

Church and Sunday School services are held on each Sunday morning, and the afternoon is generally spent by the prisoners in reading. There is a library of about ten thousand books and ten per cent. of the prisoners are reading scientific and technical books, thus showing that they are preparing themselves for some useful and lucrative employment after their release. Books on electricity seem to be the most popular. A printing office is maintained, and here all the prison printing, including the reports upon the workings of the institution itself, is done.

The prisoners are white, colored, Indian, and Japanese. The majority of the Indians came from Indian Territory before it was merged into Oklahoma and their crimes are the result of the use of too much bad whiskey. One Japanese is serving a sentence for seal poaching of St. George's Island. A Mexican is paying the penalty for smuggling. He was a shoemaker and had been in the habit of sewing Mexican opals in the lining of shoes and passing them through the customs as plain shoes. The Indians are usually model prisoners and some have made excellent workmen besides being the most obedient of all the inmates. The Indian has a sensitive nature, and as a result of it—or, rather, the inability to practice self-restraint under strong provocation, some Carlisle graduates have landed in this prison. At the close of their school days they returned to their tribes and were shown little consideration by the older men. Education had equipped them for a new and more useful life and then failed to provide a proper place for its development. The grief and mortification resulting from this condition soon led to drink and crime was the result. The majority of the Indian prisoners work in the stone cutters' shop, and nearly all the stone used to ornament the front of the building was dressed by them. They still cling to their Indian names, such as Crazy Snake, Amos Rabbit, Tiger Tom, Brown-Takes-The-Gun, John Hogkiller, etc. Many of them receive letters from home and one man for a time kept up a correspondence with his sweetheart who rejoiced in the name of Lucy Standing Goose.

As far as possible everything needed in the prison is the handiwork of the inmates, and the shops in which these articles are manufactured are interesting in many respects. The men are unusually proud of their work and frequently ask the foreman whether he thinks them capable of earning an honest living outside. In several instances released prisoners have obtained work on the recommendation of the warden, and it is not uncommon for discharged convicts to ask for letters as to their ability as workmen. In one shop shoes for the prisoners are made, in another harness for the horses used in hauling about the prison. The tailor shop is equipped with electric irons for pressing and electric sewing machines turn out all the clothing used by the prisoners as well as the neat uniforms worn by the officers. Old clothing and carpets are cut up and woven into rugs to be used in different parts of the building. All the brooms, scrubbing brushes, mops, etc., needed are the work of the prisoners and as the writer walked through this shop a slender young man wearing a "trusty" uniform silently handed out one brush after another for inspection. When a word of praise for his work was spoken a faint smile and a timid bow of thanks was his response. The tin ware used is made in the prison and nearly all the furniture.

Outside in the penitentiary yards the prisoners make bricks, mix cement, haul stone, dig foundations, etc. They are made to work steadily, but there is no rushing. If a man in good health refuses to work he is disciplined by being put in solitary confinement and fed on bread and water. He is also forced to break a certain amount of stone in his cell. In several instances prisoners have refused to comply with regulations and held out for a few days. Their condition is closely watched by the prison physician for the authorities at Leavenworth are determined that a man's health must not be affected. Solitary confinement is to the average man the worst possible form of imprisonment and few men have refused to work after three or four days of it. On one occasion a prisoner who was especially refractory declared that he would not work and nobody could force him to do so. At first it was thought that he was sick, but after examination by the physicians he was found to be in perfect health. He was then put into one of the cells with a hammer and a pile of stones and put upon the bread and water diet. For three days he refused to touch the hammer and declared he would starve himself to death. Finally, on the fourth morning he called the guard and begged piteously to be allowed to go out and work with the other prisoners. He also apologized for his behavior and has since been a model prisoner. Some men sulk for a time after their admission, but finding this only makes their task heavier they soon settle down to work and take "their medicine" like men.

Of course, there is a certain class of prisoners who never give the warden the slightest trouble, such as bankers who have "gone wrong," letter carriers who have appropriated mail which did not belong to them, etc. The majority of these are given clerical positions and they do their work without a murmur. Men of this type age rapidly—more from remorse and mortification at their position than from their incarceration in the penitentiary. One noted Western banker who served a long term at Leavenworth assisted in the record department for several years, and during all that time he was never known to make a single mistake in his books or to have a grievance of any sort. He simply followed the rules of the prison and soon earned his "trusty" uniform. The warden at one time declared that were it necessary he would not hesitate to send this man on an errand alone for five hundred miles from the prison, as he felt absolutely certain the man would return at the time he was expected.

Rough treatment of prisoners by the guards is absolutely forbidden at Leavenworth, and a guard who in any way ill-treats a prisoner is summarily dismissed. Letters written to the warden by the men are sure to be carefully read and the complaints contained therein investigated. When a man by good behavior is made a "trusty" he is put upon his honor and allowed considerable freedom. For instance, the man who drove the warden's carriage for several years was a "trusty" and frequently he took the female members of the family for long drives through the country far away from the prison; another was a cook in his home, and still another has acted as butler. The "trusties" have a special bedroom in the penitentiary where they may read when not at work.

Several of the prisoners are capable musicians and an orchestra has been organized which frequently plays on Sunday in the little gallery during the dinner hour. This may seem incongruous to many persons, but those under whose charge these unfortunate men have been placed believe that music is like sunshine and that all the men who go astray are not wholly bad. Baseball is one of the recreations in which the well-behaved prisoners may indulge occasionally. The mere fact of being able to take part in games is an incentive for some of the men to obey the rules. A few of the inmates are experts in wood-carving and the large wooden eagle—the emblem of the Department of Justice, which was on exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition was carved by a prisoner at Leavenworth. Several of the men who are serving terms for making counterfeit money, raising notes, etc., are rather clever artists. One of these convicts lettered the doors of the different Departments in gold, and another decorated the safes throughout the building with pretty marine views. The story of the downfall of this young man serves to show how early one may go astray. He was a struggling artist, and was called upon to paint a picture in which a twenty dollar note was the central figure. A two dollar note was the nearest approach he could afford as a model, so he raised the two to twenty and did it so skillfully that he almost deceived himself. After the picture was finished he carried the note in his pocket until one day after he had been paid a good sum for a painting he went into a shop to make a purchase. By mistake, he declares, he gave the shopkeeper the raised twenty dollar note. On receiving the change he failed to correct the mistake fearing arrest for having counterfeit money on his person. For several days he hourl, expected to be arrested, but the counterfeit was not detected. Later he began to raise notes for his own amusement, and finally it became a business and he lived in luxury on his unlawful gains in this way. At last his work was discovered and he was arrested. Conviction soon followed with a sentence to the Leavenworth penitentiary. Whiskey, gambling and the desire for luxurious living have brought a number of men to the cells of this big prison.

It must not be understood from the above that the prisoners are all tractable, peaceable men, for such is not the case, and every movement of some of them must be watched and their dispositions studied. There is a firmly fixed determination in the minds of some of the men to escape, and they are ever planning, ever watching for some opportunity to bring about their desired end. The mere killing of a guard or a fellow prisoner means nothing to them when the hope of liberty is in sight. There was an evidence of this in 1901 when a serious mutiny occurred and a number of prisoners escaped after killing one guard and wounding several others. Nearly all the men were recaptured, and to avoid a repetition of this, a fortlike watch tower has been built from which guns may be used in any direction without the men behind them being in any danger. The gates are all carefully guarded and every wagon passing through them, either empty or loaded, is thoroughly examined by the guards to see that no person is concealed therein. The examination of these wagons is rather interesting, especially if the wagon contains sand or stone. When the wagon reaches the guardhouse one of the officers appears with a long, sharp iron rod. He runs this rod through the contents of the wagon again and again in such a manner that no human being could posibly escape alive and anyone concealed there would probably come out and beg for mercy after the first thrust of the rod. When it is discovered that two men are especially friendly they are separated lest such intimacy may lead to the hatching of a plot for escape. The men who show a dislike for each other are also kept apart. Grey is the regulation uniform of the Federal prisoner and stripes are worn only by refractory men as a punishment for habitual disobedience of the rules. No women are sent to Leavenworth.

The warden is Major R. W. McClaughry, an officer who served with distinction during the Civil War. Shortly after its close he became interested in prison work and since that time has served in the capacity of warden at several prisons. He was also Chief of Police of Chicago for over two years. His wardenship at Leavenworth has already extended over a period of thirteen years. He has travelled extensively through Europe studying prison conditions, and in 1895 he went to England by special invitation to inspect English prisons. Although a strict disciplinarian, Major McClaughry has a kind and sympathetic nature and is always ready to help a prisoner on the right road. He insists on punctuality in everything and is himself a hard worker.

Major McClaughry was the first man to introduce the Bertillion System of measurement in State prisons, which he did while in charge of the penitentiary at Joliet, Illinois. It was also through his influence that the fingerprint identification was adopted at Leavenworth. While in England he examined the system and immediately saw its great value as a means of tracing crime and arranged to have John Kenneth Fenlick, of Scotland Yard, to spend some time at Leavenworth and give instructions as to the workings of the system. Some stirring scenes have been enacted in the fingerprint bureau there, as on one occasion a rebellious prisoner, who objected to the taking of his fingerprints, assaulted the record clerk, seriously injuring him. It was afterward discovered through a comparison of the prints that he was a notorious criminal who had escaped from an English prison. Later he had to be put in solitary confinement for nearly killing a fellow prisoner. This means of identification has now become universal, and every prison and police department throughout the civilized world has millions of fingerprints of criminals filed away for identification. One of the first things a convicted man goes through with when he reaches Leavenworth is to have his fingerprints taken and recorded. They are then classified, and unless his entire life story is known all prints in this class are examined in order to discover whether or not he has been in prison heretofore. The identification by this method is absolutely correct for no two persons' fingerprints are alike.

When a man is released at Leavenworth he is given transportation to the town from which he came, five dollars in money, a new suit of clothes, hat and shoes. If he is released in Winter an overcoat is added.

The dynamiters will find Leavenworth a model prison, and it is to be hoped that while they are serving out the just sentences for the outrages which they have perpetrated and planned they will learn that it pays to earn an honest dollar in a peaceable way, and it is further hoped that when they are released they will find a better understanding between capital and labor with such a strong sentiment among Labor Unions against improper methods that both the opportunity and desire to repeat such crimes may be taken away.

"There Is a Tide in the Affairs of Men, Which, Taken at the Flood, Leads on to Fortune."

Were the "Bard of Avon" with us today, he would have Brutus apply the above, to the future of realty values in "Beautiful Plainfield."

What has been accomplished, in the fall of your shadow, during the past ten years in Plainfield? Values of realty have risen and will continue to enhance. WHAT ABOUT THE FUTURE? Your opportunity is here—grab it.

Three splendid, high-class, modern homes, located on one of the finest streets in Plainfield—West Seventh Street—noted for its spacious lawns, and as being one of the best residential sections of Plainfield. The titles have been guaranteed by the Fidelity Trust Company, of Newark, N. J.—Capital and surplus over $9,500,000. Through some recent adjustments, the properties are now put on the market, under conditions which allow the same to be offered at a low, attractive, bargain price; MUCH UNDER THEIR VALUE and on the easiest kind of terms, which will not require much cash.

You will be surprised when you know just how easy the condition of purchase can be made, and how small a percentage of cash will buy any, or all of the properties.

If you are thinking of acquiring a home, highly adapted to a gentleman's requirements, or of making a SAFE INVESTMENT, recall the words of Menecrates,—

"WHO SEEKS, AND WILL NOT TAKE WHEN ONCE 'TIS OFFERED, SHALL NEVER FIND IT MORE."

Here is a chance, which seldom comes; to acquire a high class property, for a home or investment, in a select neighborhood, near to trolley, and short walk to railroad station.

The houses have spacious porches and handsome interiors.

Street has sewer, water, gas and paved—no more assessments—your first and last charge is my selling price.

Either of these properties will pay 15 per cent. net on the cash invested. DO YOU GET THAT? 15 per cent. net! Why not let me prove this, especially if your savings return you only 4 per cent.

Are you considering the building of a new home? Then by all means look these properties over first. You will then learn, with the present cost of new building, that these houses could not be replaced within 25 per cent. of my selling price, saying nothing of the price of the land, which on the above basis you would be getting free.

What about you, Mr. Tenant; are you paying from a thousand to fifteen hundred dollars a year rent? $1,200 equals 5 per cent. on $24,000. If you buy one of these houses near to a half less than this, you are saving near to a half of your rent, and securing property much under its real value. NOT MUCH CASH REQUIRED.

When the Jersey Central prepare for tube connections with Manhattan, either direct or via MacAdoo route,—the Oracle says, "Watch developments"—the value of real estate in Plainfield will have greatly increased. Now, let some pessimistic crawfish say, "It can't be 'did,'" and later when it is an accomplished fact he will be the first to croak, "I told you so." Who says that the Jersey Central will not electrify its system from the North River to Newark—(are you noting the acquisition and improvements?)—and on the main line to Somerville.

Plainfield is the market for, and in the center of a rich suburban and farming country, and its industries and retail business is not surpassed, by any city of its like in the country. The best indication of this is the wealth and the business of its banks.

No one has ever gone broke over night through investing in IMPROVED REAL ESTATE.

Many a shoe string has been run into a tannery, by investments in real estate. Compare values around Front Street, of a few years ago, and now.

Kindly cut this notice out and hand it to your New York business and social friend or acquaintance; those of whom you would like to have join your bridge and other social evening gatherings, and to be of your tennis and golf parties.

The literal meaning of "Manana" is—delay, linger, wait, tomorrow—DON'T BE A MANANAITE.

Investigate these properties now. For when the Spring is here and the sap is running up. When the bush is blooming and the lawns a velvet green, your chances, like the waters over the mill will then have passed, for the present price will not prevail in Spring.

Property No. 1—Nos. 941-945 West Seventh Street corner Hobart Avenue, size of plot 83x166 feet. Rented—lease expires May 1st, which gives you the chance of moving in your own home. Handsome interior. Valuable corner. Gas, electric, steam.

Property No. 2 and No. 3. Nos. 937-939 West Seventh Street. Size of plot 63x163. Barn or garage and L. plot 50x147 feet to Hobart Avenue. Leased. Two baths. Handsome interior of substantial worth and magnificance. Gas, electric, steam.

Property No. 4. Nos. 933-935 West Seventh Street. Size of plot 95x300. New bath room and renewed interior. Vacant just at present. Speak quickly for this one, if you want it for your own home, as it surely will be rented. Two baths. The rooms are spacious and the hardwood interior is of rich solidity. Gas, electricity, steam. The best bargain ever offered in Plainfield. Titles have all been guaranteed by the Fidelity Trust Company. Brokers protected. For particulars either your own broker or write to owner.

COLLEGE SOURCE OF SPORT TAINT

Professionalism Deplorably Prevalent, Says Clergyman Preaching on Thorpe,

AS TO INDIAN'S CASE

Red Athlete Not so Much to Blame Individually, Cleric Holds, When General Conditions Made His Slip From Rectitude So Easy.

College athletes are to be held responsible for the condition of affairs that led to the shocking offense against the ethics of amatuer sport committed by James Thorpe, the Indian hero of the Olympic contest, when he took part in the classic games at Stockholm last year, according to Rev. William S. McCoy, rector of Holy Cross church. Rev. Mr. McCoy voiced that view in the course of a sermon for which the case of Thorpe, who entered the Olympic games, knowing that he was a professional, under the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, furnished the text.

Mr. McCoy was not unduly harsh in his criticism of Thorpe personally but condemned unreservedly the weak spirit of amateurism prevalent among college athletes, as apparently revealed by statements and newspaper reports on existing conditions. Mr. McCoy said in part:

"It comes as a very great shock to learn that this young Indian, who brought the prize of the Olympic games to this country, is not an amateur athlete, but by a signed confession has received money for playing baseball and is therefore disqualified from appearing in amateur games.

"I am glad to see that there has not been shown a tendency to heap abuse upon this young Indian. Especially in England has the spirit been fine. I do not condemn him in unmeasured terms, but I do condemn most unreservedly the spirit of the times that brings about just such things.

"Thorpe knew what he was doing. He was walking with his eyes wide open. He is an unusually keen young man. There is nothing about the rules and regulations governing games that he has not looked into with the eyer of a master. So he has no excuse there. But the other statement he is reported to have made is much more serious, for it declares that he has 'done nothing that is not commonly done by others.'

"He says that the offenders are mostly college men. I read in the newspapers the statement of a Southern clergyman that he knew of a number of university men from the East who played on professional baseball teams down South and reported to their college teams in the fall. Nothing was thought of it because 'everybody was engaged in it.'

"What a sad state of affairs is revealed here. It puts a shadow over college athletics. We wish the young men in our colleges to be trained in fine points of honor to become ethically efficient as well as mentally efficient. But here is a shocking danger. It is the same peril that I see hovering over all the young life of our land like a gigantic bird of prey, swooping down and seizing one after another. It is the peril of commercializing everything. It is the question: 'What do I get out of this!' The knowledge of having run a race well is not enough; but it is, 'Get the prize no matter how you get it.'

"The prize most seek can generally be translated into the one word 'money.' It was the acceptance of money that brought the downfall of this young athlete. It was ill-gotten money, very little to be sure, but it was most dearly earned—at the cost of honor.

"The point I wish to make is that we must not pick out this young Indian, who should have received the lesson of moral rectitude from his white friends who represent our boasted civilization, as a scorhing example. We must not excoriate him because his pre-eminence in athletics made him a fair target for those who knew of his past. He should have received lessons of uprightness and morality from white men. We must discourage tricks at play and we must encourage fair play."

In closing, Mr. McCoy said:

"The race which the Christian runs is one which involves all the determination, all the moral courage which you can summon. And it must be pursued in a spirit of generosity to others. The rules of this race are well laid down. They are those which Jesus Christ commanded when he said: 'Thou shalt love the Lord Thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.' If we live by these rules, if we run the Christian race, ever looking at them, we will win that incomparable prize, eternal life."

CONFERENCE HAS MACRORIE CASE

Accused Ex-Minister Cannot Be Reinstated by His Former Congregations.

MAKES FUTILE MOVE

Files Application for Rehabilitation With Quarterly Meeting, Which Has No Power, When Grand Jury Fails to Indict Him.

Willis S. MacRorie, the former M. E. minister of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale churches, whom the Grand Jury failed to indict on accusations preferred against him by the mother of 16-year-old Edith Nelson, appeared before the quarterly conference of those churches Saturday and sought reinstatement into the ministry.

He seemed unaware of the fact that nothing the local churches can do will make him a Methodist minister again. His reinstatement can only be accomplished by the Newark Conference, the annual meeting of which takes place on Wednesday, March 19, at the Halsey Street M. E. church, Newark.

Although MacRorie was not indicted at the last session of the Grand Jury, his case can be reopened at any time within a period of two years from the date of the alleged offense.

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, supertendent of the Elizabeth District of the Newark Conference, when asked about the MacRorie case today, made the following statement:

"Mr. MacRorie surrendered his ordination papers on the nineteenth day of December, 1912, and signed a document certifying to such surrender and requested that the Newark Annual Conference allow him to withdraw from the ministry and from the membership of the M. E. church. This case is entirely out of the hands of the local churches. He was not in consultation with the quarterly conference on Saturday, although I do not deny he was present. A motion was presnted for reinstatement, which was deferred and not taken up again. The whole disposition of his case is in the hands of the Newark Annual Conference which begins March 19, in Newark."

Dr. Randolph refused to say who presented the motion for MacRorie's reinstatement.

GRASS FIRES KEEP HOSE COMPANY ON THE JUMP

Grass fires kept Hose Co. No. 3 busy for awhile Saturday night, two occurring in quick succession. At 9 o'clock the men of the West End company were summoned by telephone to extinquish a grass blaze in the yard adjoining the Potter Press Works. When the firemen arrived the flames had assumed threatening proportions, having crept along the fence to the shed in the rear of Richard Parrot's coal yard.

A few minutes after returning to the house the department was summoned to another blaze of the same nature at the old Brown property on South Second street. The fire had crept along a billboard and was rapidly consuming all the announcements of the "Spring Maid" when the firemen arrived and doused it.

CONFERENCE OF H. S. SOCIETIES

First Annual Meeting of High School Girls' Club Was Held at Newark

N. P. H. S. PROMINENT

Borough High School Had the Largest Visiting Delegation—N. P. H. S. Also Took a Prominent Part on the Social and Business Program.

The first conference of the Northern New Jersey High School girls' club was held in the Trinity Church Parish House at Newark Saturday afternoon and was the largest meeting of its kind ever held in this State. Eighty-six delegates from six different towns were present and a program of interest to societies and clubs of every nature was presented. One of the features was the large representative body present from the North Plainfield High School and the girls were congratulated on every hand. For some time past a society has existed in the Borough High School in charge of the girls and it has promoted every branch of social endeavor. When the invitation was received from the State committee to send delegates to the first conference the Sigma Gamma Kappa organization responded to the number of twenty-five, which was the largest visiting body present. The Newark High Schools were represented by thirty-seven delegates, but the meeting was conducted in that town and therefore it was an easy matter for the home representatives to attend in full force.

Miss Anna Hull, of North Plainfield, had the honor of being chosen the first president of the association and this in itself, is something the local girls feel justly proud of. Miss Edna Green, of North Plainfield, offered a motion to make the conference an annual affair. This was seconded by Miss Lucy Douglas, also of North Plainfield, and passed by the society. The president told of the work proposed to be carried on by the club and the object in view in organizing as a State body.

Miss Eliza Butler, of Passaic, spoke on "Our Choices." Miss Butler is national secretary of the Seventh Day Schools and of the Young Women's Christian Association and her talk was greatly appreciated by those in attendance.

The Sigma Gamma Kappa Society, of North Plainfield High School, was represented by the following: The Misses Eva Terry, Anna Hull, Faith Parmalee, Anna Hull, Edna Green, Laura Smith, Dorothy Martin, Marion Dunham, Mary O'Connor, Margaret Vosseler, Margaret Currin, Marjorie Burtis, Luck Douglas, Aeleen Giddes, Reginia LaPorte, Edith Darling, Catherine Jennings, Lucy and Carol Hughes, Adell Herrman, Marion Abeley, Ruth Bunker, Helen Yates, Lois Kirch, Edith Dalley and Bertha Keller.

At the conclusion of the business meeting an enjoyable social hour was spent by the delegations. The N. P. H. S. club responded with its club yell and songs and later attended the lunch served at the Y. W. C. A. A program of dancing intermingled with vocal and instrumental selections took up a prominent place in the afternoon's program. The towns represented and the delegates present were Plainfield with twenty-five, Jersey City with seven, Paterson and Passaic with six each, and Newark with thirty-seven. Yonkers High School, of New York, also sent five delegates to attend the New Jersey Conference.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR WM. VAN ALYSTYNE

The funeral of William VanAlstyne was held at the late home on Watchung avenue at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, of which Mr. VanAlstyne was a member, officiated. There were many floral tributes. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were S. P. T. Wilbur, John Bettman, Thomas Young, R. A. Claybrook, and Messrs. Merrill and Gardiner, the last two of New York.

DESERTER ARRESTED.

A sailor of the United States Navy who said he was Joseph Effchy, 20 years old, of Norwood, Mass., appeared at police headquarters last night and begged for something to eat saying he was penniless. He got the food, but was promptly arrested as a deserted. Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning he was held to await communication from the U. S. Navy authorities. Patrolman MacDonald will probably receive the reward offered for the apprehension of a deserter.

ELOPING HUSBAND IS COMMITTED TO JAIL

Foley Lacks $300 Bail—Companion Now Denounces Him.

Frank B. Foley, who deserted his wife in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and was arrested here Friday night with Mrs. Etta Wood, with whom he has been residing since their elopment on December 27, was committed to the county jail Saturday in default of $300 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Mrs. Wood, a widow, is being held at police hadquarters in default of a similar amount of bail, which a Mr. Steger, of Newark, she says, promises to produce. He is said to be the prisoner's cousin. He was at the hearing Saturday afternoon.

In her cell in police headquarters Mrs. Wood evidently repents the wrong she has done, and has become so ill that it is possible she may be sent to the hospital. Her cool demeanor which she exhibited under the cross-examination to which she was subjected Saturday afternoon by Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who represented the city, has entirely deserted her. She spends many hours of her time tossing on the steel bunk in the cell bemoaning her position and denouncing Foley, who she now blames for her trouble.

Mrs. Foley, and her six-year-old son, Kenneth, who, as told in Saturday's issue, lived with the elopers and was forced to call Mrs. Wood "mother," have left for their home in Poughkeepsie. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baldwin, of Bridgeport, Conn., brother-in-law and sister, respectively, of Foley, who came here to help the prosecution, have also gone back. They said they regretted that Foley could not receive a more severe sentence than the charge against him will allow.

It is probable that Mrs. Foley will prefer a charge of desertion against her husband with the Poughkeepsie authorities. In that case he is liable to spend the next few years behind the bars.

MISSING MAN BACK IN SHATTERED HEALTH

Effects of Exposure May Kill Ammerman—Can't Explain Absence.

Charles Ammerman, fifty-one years old, of 17 Stone street, who disappeared from his home last Tuesday, has returned. His family can get no explanation of his disappearance from him, nor could he seemingly acount for his whereabouts during the time he was missing. He is in a serious state from exposure.

Recntly Mr. Ammerman, while employed by a grocery house, sustained a severe cut on his hand in transferring some rusty tin cans to a wagon. Blood poisoning developed and affected his whole system and the family say his mind suffered noticeably.

Since his return Mr. Ammerman has been confined to his bed under the care of a physician, suffering from illness brought on by exposure to the weather His condition today was reported to be such as to arouse considerable anxiety among the members of the family and his friends. His chances for recovery are said to be in doubt.

FLOODS IN PARIS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Paris, Feb. 3.—The River Seine continued to rise at the rate of two inches an hour today and there were fears of a repetition of the disastrous inundation that occurred during the winter of 1910 and 1911. It stopped raining here today, but the downpour continued in the up country. The Rue Watt, near the Telblac bridge, is now under water to a depth of several inches.

Next Wednesday will be Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, which comes unusually early this year, falling within one day of the earliest possible date. Tomorrow will be Shrove Tuesday, so-called because penitents are shriven on that day to prepare for Lent. In Latin countries the carnival, the farewell to flesh meat, is held on Shrove Tuesday, the Mardi Gras Fat Tuesday festival of New Orleans.

In olden times ashes were sprinkled on the heads of the penitents who knelt at the altar rail before mass began, the priest saying, "Momento homo quiva pulvis es, et in pulverem reverteris" (Remember, man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return). A proclamation in England read: "On Ashe Wenisday it shall be declared that these ashes be gyven to put every Christen man in remembrance of penaunce at the beginning." There used to be many curious customs connected with Ash Wednesday, most of which are now fallen into disuse.

Bishop O'Connor has issued Lenten rules for Roman Catholics in the Diocese of Newark, in which is St. Mary's church, of this city. Masses will be celebrated at St. Mary's at 6:00, 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock and at St. Joseph's church at 7:30 o'clock. Ashes will be distributed at both of the Catholic churches, at St. Mary's in the morning and evening, and at St. Joseph's in the evening.

Outside of the Episcopal and Catholic churches the opening of the Lenten season does not attract more than passing notice from the rest of the ecclesiastical world. In the Episcopal churches fitting services have been planned by the pastors in charge. At Holy Cross church Wednesday morning services will be held at 7:30 and 10:30 in the morning and at 7:45 o'clock in the evening. At the Church of the Heavenly Rest the following services will be held: 10:00 o'clock, Penitential Office and Holy Eucharist; 7:30 o'clock in the evening, evensong and address. The services scheduled for the Grace Episcopal and St. Stephen's Episcopal churches will be announced in tomorrow's issue.

STATE'S CHARITIES WORKERS DISCUSS SYSTEM OF HUMANICS

Representative Gathering of Philanthropists at High School Where Twelfth Annual Meeting of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction is Being Held.

PRESIDENT-ELECT'S WIFE AMONG DELEGATES

Distinguished Body Holds Three Sessions Today to Deliberate on Problems Vital to Humanity's Welfare—Mayor Stewart Formally Welcomed Delegates Yesterday and Dr. Frank Moore, the President, Responded —450 Registered as in Attendance.

Several hundred representative men and women from all parts of New Jersey and New York, from Boston and elsewhere were gathered at the Plainfield High School Auditorium this afternoon at the sessions of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction. The twelfth annual meeting was begun yesterday afternoon when Mayor Stewart formally welcomed the delegates, 450 of whom have already registered.

Among the distinguished visitors to the conference are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the Governor and President-elect, who is the guest of Miss Emily B. Hartridge, at her home, "Oakwood," and Mrs. Caroline Alexander, of Hoboken. Mrs. Wilson arrived today too late to attend the morning session of the conference, but was present at the afternoon session.

The out of town delegates are being entertained at lunch and supper at the Park Avenue Baptist and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian churches, a large committee of local women being in charge of the arrangements. At noon today it was estimated that there are about 400 persons registered at the conference, more than 200 being from out of town.

Dr. Henry A. Cotton, of the State Hospital at Trenton, was in the chair this afternoon and the first address was made by Dr. Stewart Paton, of Princeton, a member of the National Committee on ental Hygiene. In the course of his remarks, Dr. Paton said:

"There are two special reasons why the people of this State should be interested in the Metal Hygiene Campaign. First, the State did so much to aid in the popular recognition of the work of Dorothea Dix, and in the second place the first Mental Hygiene Exhibit was held under the auspices of this society at Princeton.

"Object of the Mental Hygiene Campaign is the co-operation of those agencies which aim to make the lives of the majority of persons happier and more efficient. In order to understand human activities we must first study the individual. This is what the modern alienist is trying to do. We study disease in order to understand health. As a result of recent investigations we may discard the word 'insanity.' We only need two words 'health' and 'disease.'"

There are two other speakers for this afternoon. Dr. Efizabeth B. Thelberg, resident physician at Vassar College, talks on "A Physical Problem,' and Miss Maude E. Miner, secretary of the New York Probation Association. Her subject is "A Mental Problem." Both of these addresses relate to the social evil, and following their delivery there will be an infromal discussion.

Henry L. DeForest, overseer of the poor, of this city, was chairman of this morning's session, when the topic of "Jails, Alsmhouses and Inebriety" was discussed. Mr. DeForest made a few remarks on "Our Jails and Almshouses," after which C. L. Stonaker, secretary State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association, addressed the conference. He said in part:

"Big jails and little jails, old jails and new jails are all alike in this particular of the intermingling of prisoners, those awaiting trial and those serving out the sentence of the court. Of course a few jails have separation so that there are groups instead of one general assembly of all victims.

"Is it not possible in this day and generation to devise some other penalty than a cash fine or imprisonment in the old antiquated ancestral jail? In New Jersey we have some judges who follow the letter of the law in passing sentence, yet waive it by suspending the penalty upon conditions of future conduct. These conditions may include a weekly payment until the money loss to the prosecuting witness has been reimbursed or other pledges made good. There is no jail sentence served and no cash fine paid over at the time the sentence is pronounced.

"We can legislate to make county pending trial jails only places of safe keeping pending trial, and prohibit term sentences being served out in such county jails. This would mean work-houses or work-farms or both under county management, sheriff or freeholder, or State management,—or at least State inspection and State-wide regulation. Or we can legislate for district prisons, work-houses or colony farms, under State control.

"We can by legislative enactment provide a State custody and parole board who shall have charge of, care for and direct the activities of all convicted persons until it shall be determined that such persons no longer need the supervision of such a parole board. Can we not in this twentieth century grasp the central idea of probation rather than days and weeks and months in idleness under lock and key? We are just beginning to grasp the great possibilities included in this parole idea properly supervised. We are feeling our way in New Jersey and the results of our experiments this year in giving convicted persons the opportunity to work on roads and on the proposed farm tracts in Cumberland county will inevitably lead to a solution of this jail question.

"Jail reform will come only when we shall make radical changes in our entire jail system. We must maintain a place of detention for witnesses and persons awaiting trial. We might incidentally so adjust our courts that speedy and early trial may be had in the greatest possible number of cases. Why wait three months for a grand jury to assemble? Why a grand jury anyway? Why not abolish another archaic thing? While holding all such persons in detention, they should be kept each one absolutely separate and apart from every other one, save at meal times and during working hours if work shall be provided.

"We must take up the grave subject of the treatment of inebriates in relation to county jails. Shall municipalities send inebriates to a county jail?

"Municipal courts should not send offenders of local municipal laws to a county jail. Offenses against State laws should not be left for treatment to the average sheriff in the average jail. The State should supervise the treatment of the offender of State laws. This means farms, work-houses and open-air treatment and the real thing in hard work for habitual drunkards, non-support cases and habitual offenders of our minor criminal laws."

Inebriety as "A Social Problem," was the theme of Major Wallace Winchell, of the Jersey City Salvation Army Corps, who stated in his remarks:

"Some suggestion as to the solution of the problem of inebriety is what interests all of us. Many attempts by earnest people in the past have been baffled. Each advocate with his proposed panacea must be patient with the one who holds to some other remedy. Possibly they all have their place in the final solution of the problem.

"But the most permanent cure for the liquor habit is to bring people to the place where they do not want it.

"I now refer to such work as education against alcholic beverages in the schools, and probation work, where law is tempered with money, and the whole temperance propaganda.

"In the Salvation Army we believe that the grace of God will so satisfy a poor drunkard that he will hate the drink. I must speak from the view point of the Salvationist, and, am naturally enthusiastic in the accomplishment of our work.

"We contend that the cure of the drunkard, no matter how hopeless or helpless, depends upon his complete surrender to the will of God, his own will being broken and insufficient to save himself, he must completely link on to the Almighty and come from the power of sinful influences and habits of all kinds, into harmonious relations with the 'Mighty to Save.'

"I desire to offer two propositions: First, let the entire nation rise up and wipe out the evil. When the traffic is driven out why not a State constabulary as well as the Federal authorities to fight it from our shores like the bubonic plague. I think the patriotism and intelligence of the

A Little Advance Information that Costs You Nothing, But Might Save You Much

It will be the custom of this store to hold a sale twice each year.

Every suit and overcoat will be reduced to such an astonishingly low figure as to make this the greatest value-giving opportunity yet offered to the men of this town.

Don't miss it—don't let it slip by you. The saving is too big to be overlooked—and the things offered are too good to be "passed up."

Remember it commences Wednesday—watch for the announcement of these remarkable reductions.

THESE ARE BIG REMNANT DAYS

WE ARE THRU WITH INVENTORY—AND IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT WE CLEAN OUT ALL SHORT LENGTHS—SMALL QUANTITIES AND ENDS.

CENTER TABLES WILL BE FILLED WITH CHOICE LOTS OF USEFUL LENGTHS OF FABRICS, ETC., ALL MARKED AT REMNANT PRICES.

A Clean Sweep of Remnants and Odds & Ends

Come in and rummage around—you'll find some fine bargains.

Inventory is over and our new business year commences. We naturally want clean stocks, so all those short yardages and small quantities which we found in measuring and counting we will throw out on the center tables as remnants marked at low remnant prices. There will be a goodly picking as January Clearance left us with numbers of lengths and quantites too small for regular stocks and they will be all included. We can again give you the close and quick service as is our custom, now that the clerks have finished their share of the stock taking task and of course it is natural that the first comers will get the pick of this collection of useful remnants.

2 KILLED IN PANIC AT PICTURE SHOW

One Hundred Injured In Fire Stampede.

WOMEN LOST THEIR HEADS

Yell After Slight Blaze Had Been Extinguished and Start Mad Rush For Exits—Operator's Cool Words Lost on Excited Audience.

New York, Feb 3 In a panic in the moving picture theater at 143 East Houston street, known as the Houston Hippodrome, two women were crushed to death, eighteen men, women and children were injured so badly as to necessitate their instant removal to the operating rooms of Bellevue and Gouverneur hospitals, and almost a hundred others were seriously hurt

Shortly after midnight Charles Passantino of 62 First avenue went to the station house and identified the body of one of the women as that of his sister, Mrs Margaret Corsn, thirty two years old of 228 Chrystie street

Between 750 and 1,000 spectators, it is estimated by several survivors, were crowded into the Hippodrome, which for forty years was used by the First German Methodist Episcopal church watching a film called "Dr Gar-el-Haina, or the Dare Devil Criminal," when a spark from the small electric motor which operated the film set the film on fire

Flames Flashed at Audience.

Instantly there was a slight hiss and then a sizzing sound as the flames quickly ate their way through the inflammable substance of which the film is made.

A flash of the fire got through the double vents in the concrete and asbestos front of the projector booth before Irving Steiner, 249 South Ninth street, Brooklyn, the operator, could throw the traps across the vents. Instantly he threw a handful of sand on the flame, extinguishing it, and at the same time switched on all the lights in the theater, expecting by that act to allay the fears of the spectators

The subject of the picture was of itself enough to carry the spectators to a high state of excitement. It was a railroad holdup, and the action was tending to a crisis when the overstrained nerves of the watchers were burdened still further by a cry of "Fire!" from a man in the rear of the theater

Sizzling Sound Starts Rush.

With that first cry a few men and women in the rear of the hall stood up For an instant there was tense silence as all looked around to see what danger threatened them. Then, though not a sign of flames could be seen, the still existing sizzing sound as fire ate the sensitive film turned the scales against order and cool headedness

Three women in the front of the ground floor of the theater, looking up at the rear of the balcony, in which the projecting camera was located, yelled "Fire!" at the top of their voices and then, fortunately for them, swooned.

Arthur Davies, a lecturer, who was on the platform explaining the intricacies of the plot unfolded by the picture drama, called to the spectators:

"There is no danger. Keep your seats."

But he spoke in a tongue alien to many in the theater. The instant excitement filled their brains they had fallen back on their native tongue, and Mr Davies' words made no impression on their senses

Several women stood up and yelled "Fire! Fire!" Near the center of the house an old man jumped to the seat from which he had been viewing the pictures and in excited Yiddish cried:

"We shall all be burned Out for your lives."

It was then that the fatal rush began

After attending the theatre the Misses Eleanor and Jessie Wilson, daughters of the President elect, occupied seats in the Women's Night Court in New York with Magistrate Murphy and took a keen interest in the cases of several young women who were arraigned for disturbances in connection with the garment workers' strike. They were escorted to the court by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and a man who refused to give his name.

Plainfield, N. J., February 3, 1913.

WELCOME.

Plainfield extends a hearty welcome to the delegates to the twelfth annual meeting of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction, for Plainfield is indeed honored by their presence. Rarely if ever has there been such a notable gathering of men and women "within our gates" and we hope that after the pleasant and profitable sessions are concluded they will depart with good impressions of the community, its government and its people.

New Jersey's system of humanics is the general theme of the conference whose sessions were begun yesterday afternoon when Mayor Stewart formally welcomed the distinguished visitors. Both today, and tomorrow, the institution work of the State will be presented by men and women who have devoted their lives to humanity and the discussions are sure to be of vital interest. The meetings are open to all and our citizens will be well repaid by attending them.

BUSINESS GOVERNMENT.

South Jersey has caught the commission government fever. In both Burlington and Camden, progressive business men are actively at work securing signers to the required petitions for special elections that the voters may have the opportunity to decide whether they desire to substitute the modern model plan of municipal administration for the antiquated, cumbersome and costly type of government. In the latter city, the campaign of education to precede the balloting will be a particularly interesting one for among the spellbinders will be men who have made a thorough study of the subject including Mayor Donnelly, of Trenton, and Mayor Riddle, of Atlantic City, in both of which communities the governments are run by a commission, and Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia. Government by commission simply means a practical, business administration. Under it a city's affairs are conducted the same as those of any big private business corporation, where graft and pull are unknown and where only merit counts.

HOW TO GROW

"Persistent, forceful advertising in an influential daily newspaper," says the Philadelphia Record, "will enable you to keep your salesmen busy every minute of the working day, and will so simplify the work of selling over the counter is to greatly increase their capacity for service.

"Big merchants know this. When little merchants learn it, and act accordingly, they grow out of the little class. Big businesses are built upon economies in selling. Most of those economies have been effected by newspaper advertising.

In memory of Abraham Lincoln, Congress has decreed that two millions of dollars shall be expended in the erection of a white marble temple on the bank of the Potomac. Then Washington and Lincoln will have appropriate monuments to their memory at the National capitol, but what is there at our seat of government to mark our appreciation of Thomas Jefferson?

New York papers today tell of a Bryn Mawr graduate who gives up her right to an inheritance of $100,000 to go on the stage. Wager that Oscar Hammerstein is pounding that silk tile of his because he did not engage her before the story leaked out.

New York boasts of two enormous and costly railroad stations, the Pennsylvania and the Grand Central, but the fact remains that Leipsic still proudly claims to have the largest one in the world.

Are the English suffragettes destroying property and making nuisances of themselves generally in order to demonstrate that they are desirable citizens who should have the vote?

GROUNDHOG CRAWLS BACK INTO HIS HOLE

Sun Was Shining Brightly Yesterday and There Will Be 6 More Winter Weeks.

Six weeks more of winter, said "Brer" Groundhog yesterday, as he scurried back into his hole and curled up in his nest of dry leaves to settle himself for a nap until the middle of March. When the groundhog saw his shadow he knew that spring was not yet scheduled for six weeks, so he sought his warm bed until the advent of spring.

There are many people who don't believe the groundhog knows a thing about the weather, at least, about predicting what future weather conditions will be. They are in the same class as those skeptics who doubted Columbus when he declared the world was round.

All sensible people know that the little furry prophet knows more about the weather than any man living. They know that he has the local weather bureau beaten forty ways when it comes to handing out the straight dope on future weather conditions.

So on February 2, known from one end of the country to the other as Groundhog day, a close watch is kept on the hole where the groundhog sleeps away the winter months.

WARMEST JANUARY YET WEATHER PROPHET SAYS

The month of January was the warmest in the history of Plainfield, since official records were taken, according to the report of Weather Prophet John Nagle. The nearest record to it was in January, 1890. The mean temperature for that month was 38.3, the maximum that month reaching 68 and the minimum 16. The statistics for January follow:

Highest temperature, 63 degrees, date, 3d; lowest temperature, 18 degrees; dates, 10-18; mean for the month, 38.6; normal, 29.4; absolute maximum for this month for 27 years, 68 (1890); absolute minimum for the month for 27 years, 13 below zero, (1904); average daily excess of this month as compared with the normal, 9.2 degrees; accumulated excess since January 1, 285 degrees; total precipitation, 3.75 inches; total snowfall, 1.4 inches; greatest precipitation in 24 hours, 0.63 inches, date, 3d; snow on the ground at the end of the month, none.

Normal precipitation for the month, 3.89 inches; deficiency of the month as compared with the normal, 0.14 inches; normal snowfall for the month, 9.0 inches; deficiency of snowfall, 7.6 inches; prevailing wind direction, southwest; number of days clear, 7; partly cloudy, 8; cloudy, 16; number of days on which .01 inch or more precipitation occurred, 16; thunder storm, 31st.

HIGH BRIDGE'S BANK TO REOPEN WEDNESDAY

High Bridge, Feb. 3.—The First National Bank, which closed its doors after its cashier, Abram L. Beavers, confessed to heavy thefts, will reopen Wednesday, it is announced by the directors, through an agreement reached between them and the stockholders to restore to the vaults $50,000 under an assessment plan.

It was stated that all holders of the bank's 239 shares, except Beavers and his wife, have consented to assessments amounting to $11,950. The directors will make up the balance. The money will be put in unconditionally.

Beavers, after making his confession, left town, but subsequently surrendered and is now out on $10,000 bail furnished to the Federal authorities.

SENATOR DU PONT.

His Vote Makes Possible Single Term For President.

A presidential term of six years, with the incumbent ineligible for re-election, was approved by the senate. A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution making the change effective was adopted. The vote stood 47 to 23. This was barely one vote more than the necessary two-thirds required to make the action binding. The close vote caused a dramatic situation at the end. Senator Du Pont announced a pair, but after the roll call said he was at liberty to vote. If he opposed the resolution its defeat was certain. He voted for it.

BOMB KILLS WOMAN; TWO OTHERS INJURED

Victim's Body Mutilated by Force of Explosion.

New York, Feb. 3.—The ten families living in the apartment house at 1475 Fulton avenue, the Bronx, were alarmed by the report of a loud explosion seeming to come from the basement. Men, women and children ran down stairs, the first of them arriving on the lower floor in time to see Bernardo Herrera, the superintendent of the building and of the apartment house at 1473, stagger out of his apartment, the front flat on the ground floor.

Herrera's face and hands were cut and bleeding. His clothing was torn and he was barely conscious. To neighbors he gasped that an infernal machine had exploded in his flat as his wife opened it. Then he fainted.

Neighbors who ran into the flat found Mrs. Madeline Herrera, his wife, lying in a heap in a corner of the dining room. Her face was cut and torn so that she was almost unrecognizable. Much of her clothing had been torn from her body, and her body from neck to waist was covered with dozens of ragged cuts where bits of lead pipe, pieces of screws and nails, with which the machine had been loaded, had been driven into her flesh. She was dead.

In another corner lay Miss Sarah Soughtman, who lodged with the Herreras and worked in a department store downtown. She was unconscious and was cut and bruised almost as badly as Mrs. Herrera. The dining room table was wrecked, the windows were all smashed, and in the walls and ceilings were scores of holes where the contents of the machine had imbedded themselves.

CONROY DYING; SEEK GUNMEN

Detectives Scour New York In Quest of Labor Leader's Assailants.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 3.—More than twenty detectives are scouring the lower east side of New York searching for "Kid Dynamite" and "Big Slim," the two gunmen that Ernest Wilhaber says came here with him to "do up" John W. Burke, delegate of the Stationary Engineers' union, and by mistake shot Thomas Conroy, an other labor leader. Peter P. Murphy, also a labor leader, has been questioned as a witness. Conroy, in Christ hospital, Jersey City, was reported to be still hovering between life and death. The bullet fired, it is alleged, by "Kid Dynamite" has been removed from Conroy's back.

Burke has told the police he had preferred charges against Murphy, which were coming up for trial tonight before the national board of the Stationary Engineers' union in Brooklyn. Murphy has issued a statement denying he knows anything about the shooting. He said that the charge against him was illegally calling a strike. He says he had nothing to do with the strike in question.

INFLUENCE OF CHURCHFOLK ON HISTORY OF THE WORLD

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, delivered last night the third in a series of sermons on "Plain Answers to Religious Questions." The topic was, "What Shall We Think of Christianty?" In order to come to a right conclusion as to Christianity, he said, one must consider the people, the doctrines and the power of religion. He discussed the first of the trio, leaving the others for consideration at a later date. Rev. Mr. Greene described the characteristics of the people that constituted the church throughout its period of existence, pointing out that while they had their shortcomings as human beings, yet the history of the world would have been far different had it not been for the influence exerted by them.

The prayer meetings at the close of the evening services will be continued for the present, as considerable interest is being shown in them by the congregation.

TWO SPECIAL MESSAGES.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Taft cancelled all engagements today and remained in his study working on two special messages to Congress for this month. The first will deal with proposed budget system and the President will be accompanied by the Alaska's Railways Commission report.

—Mrs. Daisy Davis, colored, of Philadelphia, was the guest yesterday of her brother, W. L. Henry, of West Third street. This is the first time in twenty-five years that the two have seen each other. They became separted in some way and by accident Mrs. Davis learned that her brother was living in Plainfield.

STILL ANOTHER FIRE.

No. 4 company in the Netherwood district was called to Harrigan's coal yard on South avenue yesterday morning. There was a blaze in one of the coal sheds but it was quickly extinguished with little damage to the property. Harrigan has suffered losses from several fires in the past.

Jessie Boustelle With "The Lady From Oklahoma," at the Plainfield Theatre Tomorrow Night.

Miss Elizabeth Jordan, editor of Harper's Bazaar, author of novels and stories, brilliant journalist and club woman, has now become a full-fledged playwright.

Miss Jordan's play is called "The Lady From Oklahoma," and is a clever comedy of New York society, invaded by a westerner.

Miss Jordan stands among the first of American writers of short stories. She has never allowed herself to be swayed by the transient demands of public taste. The romanticism about her has been strident, but it has left her unmoved. From the literary point of view she deserves recognition from that part of the eading world that has outgrown the taste for fables. She has a delightful style, crisp and delicately strong, and she knows how to tell a story.

Miss Jordan is from Milwaukee, and is a shining example of what Milwaukee can do in other lines than those for which it is famous. Any estimate of her must commence with her short stories. They are clever; in fact, so clever that one is irresistibly reminded of the most charming of our writers of tales. They show a style that is not only robust, but sure and reticent as well.

"The Lady From Oklahoma" will be seen in Plainfield with Jessie Bonstelle in the title role at the Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, February 4.

STATE'S CHARITIES WORKERS

American people can do this and at the same time, give due consideration to those who have vested interests in the traffic. As a substitute for the saloon, open every school and church door as a social center with wholesale attractions. Second, Let the State establish or subsidize an industrial colony on some island where uplifting influence, hospital treatment and proper employment may be provided. The drunkard is not a criminal, only as the drink makes him one. He has a broken heart, a broken spirit, a broken will. Existing conditions might have partially caused it—let Society go back and restore him. Let him be sent to this Colony instead of to jail. Such an institution would be an ideal place to send those who come to us for protection and others rescued in our midnight Drunkards Brigade."

Following the address of Major Wallace Winchell, the subject of "Inebriety," was further discussed in an interesting manner by Dr. Alexander Lambert, of New York, who took up "A Physical Problem," and Dr. Richard C. Cabot, of Boston, who treated "A eMntal Problem."

Dr. Lambert discussed the various forms of inebriety resulting through strong drink, cigarette smoking and the use of other stimulants, presenting the various phrases of the subject. He said that in a majority of cases feeble-mindedness is inherited, and he believed in the segregation of defectives. He further explained that men and women often drink to obliterate something in their lives. He also touched upon the social drinker, offering timely suggestions.

Dr. Cabot, who is perhaps, one of the foremost authorities on the subject presented, spoke of the nature and types of alcoholism, which included the cheerful, depressed, d'psomaniac and social and explained causes. Referring to the man who learns to drink in college, the speaker did not think that that of itself would lead to alcoholism unless the taste was inherited.

Dr. Cabot in speaking of treatment, said that he believed in prohibition when it can be enforced. He touched upon the various well-known methods of treatment, including work, affection, play and religion. Both of these talks were followed by a general discussion.

The election of officers will take place tomorrow morning.

The opening session of the conference was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with the general topic "New Jersey's System of Humanics," under consideration, it being a presentation of the institutional work of the State. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, offered the opening prayer, which was followed with an address of welcome by Mayor Jerey H. Stewart, who said:

"It gives me great pleasure to know that we are to have as our guests patriotic citizens who are devoting their time and energy to the amelioration of the lot of the unfortunate and the delinquent.

"Society requires for its protection the enforcement of general laws, which must be stern to be effective, and nature is no less stern in her inexorable decree that we shall reap as we sow. But, while your society recognizes the necessity for the enforcement of just laws, which shall protect society, it lends assistance to those who have transgressed the law, whether civil or natural, and seeks to lead them back to useful and happy lives.

"Many must reap in bitterness what has been sown for them by others, and we must, therefore, differentiate between individuals in our treatment of them. Nor should we once forget that it is wiser to chart the reefs and establish beacon lights, so that vessels driven by storm or drawn by treacherous currents may change their course, rather than to seek to recover something from wrecks already upon the shore.

"You also seek by scientific methods to ascertain the forces and conditions which produce the malady from which society suffers, to point out the remedies and to educate the public, so that they will understand the problems and unite with you in obtaining effective remedial legislation.

"You will find, in our city, many who have devoted their lives to these same objects and who will draw encouragement and inspiration from your presence with them. It is, therefore, both a privilege and a pleasure, on behalf of the entire city, to bid you welcome."

Dr. Frank Moore, president of the State Conference of Charities and Correction, made a response and then gave his annual address, in which a clearing house for information concerning various classes of defective and delinquents in New Jersey was advocated. He spoke on "New Jersey's System of Humaneness." In part he said:

Estimates of Delinquency.

"In the ten largest cities, with a population of 1,237,076, which is about one-half that of the State, there were 53,759 arrests outside of those that were made for drunkenness. This was an average of one arrest for every twenty-three of their population. Arrests in England in 1910, with a population of 42,000,000, numbered 103,132. England's population is sixteen times that of New Jersey. Her arrests, two years ago, were only twice the number of the arrests in the ten largest cities of our State.

"There were 59 murders committed in our State [illegible], while in England, in the year of 1910, there were 89.

Crime Increase In America.

"The census of prison population of the United States, published December 30, 1911, showed the criminal question with which the country has to deal. The ratio of prisoners January 1, 1910, was 125 to each 100,000 of population, while the ratio of commitments was 522 to each 100,000. Thus it appears that at the beginning of the year 1910 one person out of every 800 greeted the New Year in prison, and that during that same year for every 190 persons in our total population there was one prison commitment. The entire number confined during the year was [illegible]. This number is greater than the population of any one of ten States, and it is larger than the combined population of the four States: Wyoming, Nevada, Alaska, and Delaware.

"The census of 1890 shows 106 prisoners for every 100,000 population, the census of 1904 shows 100 6-10, while the census of 1910, as already stated, is 125.

"America has a very great criminal problem before it, and New Jersey's part in this task is also great.

"New Jersey, lying between two great cities of the country, with 660,000 foreign population, increased last year 45,000, with almshouses, in some of which insane are still kept, and with jails where innocent and criminals, young and old, are kept in many cases unemployed, certainly has a very serious social problem with which it has only half dealt, but which is its appointed duty to intelligently consider and finally to successfully solve.

"There must be study, definition, and analysis. Then a plan that is sane. Minds unprejudiced must make a broad survey and then intelligently without being influenced by personal interests or petty penuriousness, carry the work to completion. Present means have developed without comprehensive design. As evidence of this let our county jails be considered. Association, language, and practices in vogue in many of them are vile beyond description. Yet each year four times as many are committed to these jails for short terms as are sentenced to penitentiaries. We shall never get far in solving the problem of crime until some difficult system is adopted. We inherited the system of county jails from England, which long ago grew it, and dates the regeneration of her prison system from the year of its abolition."

Joseph P. Byers, State commissioner of charities, who made the closing address of yesterday afternoon's session, treated in an informal way the criminal, delinquent and penal institutions of the State. In his opinion the county institutions are pouring virius and poison into the State institutions faster than the State can administer an antidote. Mr. Byers advocated the abolishment of county jails and the establishment of district workhouses and houses of detention, and wherever possible the employment of prisoners on State work for pay, a portion of this money to go to the families of the prisoners.

Mr. Byers also suggested that no two prisoners be confined together in the detention workhouse, nor should they be allowed any communication with one another. He advocated State control of all correctional institutions. Referring to the State Prison, he opposed idleness on the part of prisoners, emphasizing the importance of keeping all of them busy. Mr. Byers further advocated State control and inspection for private institutions. He told of the work being done in the State institutions, including the reform school at Jamesburg and the school at Vineland for feeble-minded children, as well as the tuberculosis sanitorium at Glen Gardner and offered suggestions for their improvement.

Again speaking of out-door work for prisoners, Mr. Byers said that what is being done in other States can be done in New Jersey and he could see no reason why an approved plan could not be put in effect in this State.

Dr. Thompson Heard.

Dr. Charles L. Thompson, representing "The Commission on the Church and Social Service," was the special speaker at the union service held at the First Baptist church last night. The speaker discussed what the Christian church is doing by way of social service, and explained that every one is broadening its plans of activities in this direction. "There was a time," Dr. Thompson said, when criticism might be directed toward the church for lack of activity, but today there is an awakening. Every Christian denomination is doing something and we have arrived at the dawn of a new day.

"We used to hear the remark that the church was so busy with its dress parade that it didn't have time to hear the fighting over the hills. This has all been changed. The church today inspires civic liberty and is rapidly helping to solve important social questions."

Dr. Thompson urged people to study the Bible and get their balance through a careful reading of the Book which he declared to be the most Democratic book in the world. He emphasized the importance of the church making a careful survey and then plan a campaign along safe and sane lines. Then there would be less aimless firing. In conclusion he spoke of the importance of having trained, competent leadership.

Dr. Melish Speaks.

Urging that churches, organizations and societies of every sort face the social problem in this country and work out a satisfactory solution for the evils that exist, Rev. Dr. J. Howard Melish, pastor of Holy Trinity church, Brooklyn, preached before a large congregation last night at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. He was introduced by the pastor, Rev. John S. Zelie. Several ministers from local churches also took part in the services. Dr. Melish during his sermon referred to the grafting tax collectors of Rome when that Empire was at its zenith of power and he compared them to the New York Police Department of the present day.

Mrs. Glenn's Address.

Mrs. John M. Glenn, wife of the head of the Russel Sage Foundation in New York, was the speaker at the morning service at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday. She told of some of the problems confronting the charity workers of today, saying that it is no longer possible to refuse to consider matters which concern those in the lower classes, as there is no longer any boundary line of immunity in the social field. She emphasized the necessity of securing and then enforcing legislation to correct evils by three typical examples from her own experience, saying that the great problem must be solved in terms of individual lives, by painstaking study on the part of a force trained to the work.

The speaker said that all who have made a study "feel in the struggle the overwhelming power above us, making all ready to be used as instruments in the good work," and urged all to do their part in solving the hardest problem of all—that of the social evil.

Kid on the Corner.

Dr. Frank Moore, the president of the conference and superintendent of the State Reformatory at Rahway, made an address yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, his topic being "The Kid on the Corner."

"The boy on the street," he said, "is seen everywhere and is a familiar sight to everybody. He loves to play tricks and be a truant. Sometimes to make money he will sweep crossings and do chores around houses. Whenever chance offers will gamble on the cellar doors, pick up cigar butts from the gutter and smoke them and do various other things which in time lead up to greater wrongs and finally lead him to jail or other places of correction. To the average boy the street is practically his home. There he meets his pals who are sometimes deeper in evil than he.

"The kid on the corner needs our help. He is the real problem that confronts society in general. These boys have a language of their own. They speak of the policeman as the 'slick,' the detective as the 'bull,' of cigar and tobacco as the 'weed,' of liquor as 'booze,' of the pickpocket as the 'dip,' of stealing as 'swinging it,' and they know each other as 'guys.' If he is a bad character, he is a 'hard guy,' if he shows a good trait he is a 'soft guy.' Thus you see that they have a language peculiar to themselves. These boys form themselves into organizations with rules and pledges. They would rather die than break their pledges. One case of these organizations that came under my charge was of a gang known in the southern part of the State as the "Dirty Dozen." They certainly did live up to their name. There was never more nor never less than twelve members in the gang. They never worked and liked best of all to frequent cheap theatres where they were known as the 'gallery gods' and their applause and whistling was always expected. They did not work but even the cheap seats in the theatre cost money so they would enter stores after they were closed by the transoms over the door and would ransack the 'till.' Thus they would exist and find the means of furnishing their cheap amusements. The task of furnishing funds for the gang was alloted to different boys every week so that the police would not recognize them when they were met. Up to three years ago when the gang was broken up and for the eighteen years previous to that the storekeepers in that town were subjected to visits from members of the band. When the members would reach a certain age they were transferred to an older and worse band of law breakers, and these fellows not only entered the stores but often time broke into private houses, ransacking them of all their valuables. Now if these boys had had the right kind of a bringing up they never would think of becoming members of a gang.

"It is up to the society of the world to do their part in the moulding of these young lives. Teach them to respect authority when they are young and when they grow up they will not be led astray.

"If I should ever go back to church work, for I have been in it, I would hold on to the so-called street urchin more than I would the capitalist. It is up to the preacher and clergyman to get a hold of the urchin before the cop gets in. Great work could be done by the various church societies in the promoting of these young lads' principles and showing them the right way to live."

A. W. Abbott, of Orange, agent of the Children's Aid and Protective Society of the Oranges, the special speaker at Grace M. E. church last evening, suggested the whipping post as the mode of punishment for parents who are brutal to their children. He said that among the poorer classes the saloon is the cause of two-thirds of the present day poverty, and added that drinking leads to incompatibility of temper between both parents and the children, and thereby made innocent sufferers.

"Cut out the drink habit," said Mr. Abbott, "and your expense for charitable and philanthropic work will decrease at least 75 per cent. The drunken parent should not be incarcerated in a prison, but placed on some farm colony for an indeterminate sentence until cured. Sending such people to county jails and State prison only tends to make them hardened criminals eventually." Mr. Abbott said he believed that police magistrates should have the power to commit habitual offenders to the reformatory.

Charts exhibiting the work of prevention, shown at the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction annual meeting at the local High School, afford an interesting study of the development of the work among boys throughout New Jersey under the supervision of the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association. C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., is in charge of the exhibit, assisted by a group of the older boys who have attended the summer camp at Lake Wawayanda and have been delegates to the State gatherings.

The charts picture in a graphic way the various activities of this growing department of work, including the buildings made possible through the generosity of the different communities, which have been erected for the guarding and guiding of youth. The work began in a small way in 1901 and grew slowly until 1901, when it was found necessary to employ a State secretary.

Pictures of social activities, educational groups, physical development, Bible study, extension work, outdoor life and summer camps make up this attractive exhibit. The chart showing the publications of the State committee calls attention to the codification of laws for the protection of children which has had such a wide circulation throughout the State, as well as the cigarette law printed in English, Italian and Armenian, which have been distributed among dealers, schools and placed in country postoffices. [illegible] Camden, is the chairman of the State committee, and Charles T. Kilborne, of East Orange, is chairman of the special committee in charge of boys' work, and the secretary is Charles R. Scott.

Among the other State exhibits at the conferences which have attracted more than passing notice are the charts and illustrations of the work being carried on by the inmates of the State Home for Girls, the Jamesburg Reformatory and the Morris Plains Institution for the Insane. All of these exhibits depict the work being taught and accomplished by the inmates of these institutions.

DR. JAMES L. PERRY DIES IN SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR

Dr. James L. Perry, aged 71 years, a retired physician, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, following an operation on Wednesday for the removal of a part of the leg affected with gangrene. The trouble was one of long standing and while there was slight chance for recovery, Dr. Perry insisted on the operation.

Dr. Perry was a native of Massachusetts, and practiced up to a few years ago. For the past nine years he made his home with his son James Perry, on West Seventh street, who survives. The announcement of the funeral service will be made later.

COLORED MAN'S MISHAP.

Captain Brown Thompson, aged forty-eight years, colored, of 774 East Second street, employed as a driver by Theodore Martin, the expressman, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, suffering with a fractured thigh. Thompson was driving an express wagon and in turning around the wagon upset, threw him out and the wheels passed over his body. The broken bones were set at the hospital, but it will be sometime before the patient will be able to leave the institution.

MISS MARION HOLLINS.

New York Society Woman is a Witness at Beach Trial.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Miss Marion Hollins, prominent in New York society, who was a visitor at the Beach home last February when the attack was made upon Mrs. Beach and who is said to be the only eyewitness, arrived at Aiken, S. C., yesterday. She will appear at the trial in Mr. Beach's defense.

SOCIETY WOMAN TO TESTIFY FOR BEACH

Miss Hollins Was Guest at Time of Attack.

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 3.—Frederick O. Beach's defense to the indictment charging that he slashed his wife in the yard of their winter cottage here about 10 o'clock on the night of Feb 26, 1912, will rest for the most part on the testimony of two women, his wife and Miss Marion Hollins, a young woman prominent in New York society, who was stopping as a guest of the Beaches at the time of the strange attack.

Another woman, Pearl Hampton, a negro girl, employed by the family of J. D. Lyon of Pittsburgh, whose cottage is next door to the Beaches, will be the prominent witness.

The negress will testify that she had been attacked by a man in the rear yard of the Lyon house about five minutes before Mrs. Beach was assaulted. This man, the girl repeated, felled her with a fence paling.

Mr. and Mrs. Beach are here and stopping at the Wilcox hotel. The trial will begin tomorrow. It became evident that there will be a large audience of persons well known in society.

The prosecution is expected to introduce expert evidence on what is called here "nigger work." The local police and judiciary declare that the stabbing of Mrs. Beach was not "nigger work." They declare that the negro uses a knife in such a way that anyone familiar with negro stabbing cases can tell with certainty if a wound has been inflicted by a black hand or not.

The rest of the case against Mr. Beach appears to rest on alleged contradictions of his testimony and that of his wife concerning the manner of the attack upon her, the stories of neighbors and evidence discoverable on the grounds about the Beach cottage.

BRIDAL PARTY IN WRECK.

Automobile Somersaults Over Wall, but Wedding Takes Place.

Passaic, N. J., Feb. 3.—A limousine carrying a bridal party toppled over a ten-foot wall in front of St. Peter's church and was almost struck by a car on the Paterson-Hoboken line. The machine held Miss Josephine Stearns and Stanley Pawley, both of Kingsland, who were to be married, and the witnesses, Mrs. Anna Stearns, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Aucer, sister of the bride; Andrew Labash, Jr., chauffeur, and John Deushak.

Labash was driving along the private road in front of the church when the steering apparatus went wrong and the automobile headed for a wall. Before it could be stopped it had somersaulted over it. The trucks had to be removed before the bridal party could be released.

The men in the front seat were bruised and scratched, but after being brushed off the bridal party entered the church, where Pawley and Miss Stearns were married by the Rev. Leon Grochow.

NAMES FIVE IN ARSON PLOT

Two Men Accused in Chicago Are Insurance Adjusters.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Evidence implicating five more men in the so called "arson trust" was obtained by Frank Johnson, assistant state's attorney. Two of the accused men are public fire insurance adjusters.

The information was given by a well known insurance man. He presented a complete case, and indictments will be sought when the special grand jury is impaneled.

The prosecutor is attempting to connect the men named with thirty-five pending cases of arson.

Weather Forecast.

Snow Monday; Tuesday snow followed by clearing and colder; moderate brisk to southeast winds.

CONGRESSMAN HENRY MAY BE ATTORNEY-GENERAL

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Congressman Henry, of Texas, prominently mentioned for the Attorney-Generalship in the new cabinet is under fifty years of age. He has been in Congress for sixteen years. He is one of the most enthusiastic followers of William J. Bryan in Congress and has the latter's endorsement for what is considered the most important position in the cabinet.

Democrats are preparing for a death clinch between the radical and conservative elements in the House. Mr. Bryan is urging his followers to try to capture the Ways and Means Interstate Commerce judiciary and Banking and Currency Committees so a sto insure radical legislation from those bodies. The best judgment is that the more conservative Democrats will control, however.

UNIFORM FOR LOBBYISTS.

Missouri May Make Them Wear Brown Suits, Red Hats, Green Ties.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 3.—Representative Stark of Cass county is determined to banish lobbyists from the realm of the Missouri legislature. To this end he introduced a bill requiring the members of the "third house" to wear uniforms. And this is the uniform prescribed:

"A brown suit, red hat and green tie." Mr. Stark asked the house to take his bill seriously. "This, I am informed by the attorney general, is a legal measure," he said, "and it would banish lobbyists by making them ridiculous."

SHOE MACHINE TRUST LEGAL.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Feb. 3.—In the case of the United States against Winslow and others, involving the violation of the anti-trust law by the use of patented machines in the manufacture of shoes, the Supreme Court today decided against the Government. This clears the United Shoe Machinery Co. of the charges of being an illegal trust.

TO EXAMINE WM. R.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Feb. 3.—Chairman Pujo, of the money trust investigating committee, announced today that William Rockefeller would be examined Friday at Jekyll Island, off Brunswick, Ga. The examination will be conducted by Chairman Pujo and Counsel Samuel Untermeyer.

AGAINST JACK JOHNSON.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Chicago, Feb. 3.—The appeal of Jack Johnson, the Negro pugilist, affecting his bail bond was decided against him upholding the constitutionality of the white slave act of Illinois.

MENELIEK DEAD.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Feb. 3.—King Meneliek of Abyssinia, died today. His successor, Prince Lidj Jeassu, one of his grandsons, entered the Capitol yesterday.

Chester Galloway, of 228 Leland avenue, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital for blood poisoning, has about recovered and expects to return home this week. The trouble started with a scratch on a finger and it developed to such an extent that an operation became necessary to stop the progress of the disease.

After a year's absence, Dr. Pocock, a veterinary, has returned to Plainfield. During his absence he visited relatives in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SWEET PANCAKES.

PANCAKES are delicious in any form, but combined with fruit or honey they make a special appeal to the small folks or to those of their elders who are blessed with a sweet tooth.

Oddly Shaped.

Pancake Triangles.—With four tablespoonfuls of prepared flour combine enough milk to make a batter. Stir in a scant teaspoonful of salt and fold in the stiffened whites of the three eggs. Melt a little butter in a frying pan and pour in enough batter to cover the bottom of the pan. When the pancake is done on one side turn it. Place the pancakes one on top of another on a plate, strewing each one with powdered sugar or spreading each with jelly or honey. Cut out in the shape of triangles and serve.

Small Pancakes With Jam.—Take three eggs, one pint of milk, a small teacupful of flour and a pinch of salt. Beat the eggs together, then mix the flour with the milk to the consistency of thin cream, add the eggs and mix again. If the pancakes are required very rich no milk need be used and only half the quantity of flour, but add a tablespoonful of water and drop the batter into the boiling fat. When cooked drain on soft paper, serve on a dish upon an ornamental paper, drop a spoonful of jam on the center of each pancake and send to the table quickly.

Fruit Pancakes.

Apricot Pancakes.—Bake pancakes according to your favorite recipe. Spread while hot with a thin layer of canned apricot or good evaporated apricots which have been soaked and stewed slowly and sweetened to make a rich compote. Pile the pancakes on a plate, sprinkle with sugar and serve immediately.

Rice Pancakes.—Take two ounces of ground rice, half a pint of cream, three eggs, two ounces of butter and a gill of milk. Put the rice into a bowl and pour the boiling milk over it. Stir in the butter and some grated nutmeg. When the mixture is nearly cold add the beaten eggs. When thoroughly mixed stir in the cream. Divide the mixture into two equal portions and pour into a well greased frying pan, taking care it does not burn. Cook to a golden brown color. Dish a few at a time and send to the table quickly. Serve with heated jelly.

Charming Things In Evening Wraps. Velvet Coats.

Nearly all evening wraps are big, shapeless mantles, which fall in soft folds. The manner in which these mantles are worn is of much importance. They are tight about the legs and very full about the hips.

Some of the new velvet coats are made in a plain straight shape, with

FADS AND FASHIONS IN THE METROPOLIS

Some of the Latest Fancies of "My Lady" Conceded to Be the Correct Thing.

New York, February 3.—It cannot escape the notice even of the most casual observer that Oriental colors and designs abound in all the newest fabrics displayed in the shops at the present time. East India prints are used on both silk and cotton; embroidery in Turkish patterns decorates lingerie frocks of cotton crepe; the Moorish arch, a lattice work forming a rounded arch wider at top than at bottom, is a novel and popular design in embroidery.

Oriental gauze, hand printed in the heavy rich colors of the Levante, and brocaded in metals, is a charming material shown for evening wear. Japanese crepe and Japanese silks, of wonderful richness are both much in evidence, and Oriental sashes and scarfs, whose colors contrast brightly with the duller and darker western materials with which they are used, are seen on everything from evening dresses to bathing suits.

Crepe of various kinds is to be especially popular in the coming season for washable dresses and waists. A kind of cotton crepe that probably will be among the most popular is checked with lines in ratine yarns. The crepe, white checked with white, shows a colored border of stiff, small flowers, done in rather coarse and heavy cotton. The border is utilized for the edge of the skirt and for collars, cuffs and other touches on the waist.

Another new wash material is harmonica, a woven plaited cotton fabric made either plain or with a small embroidered design. The plaits are very fine and the material has, therefore, a crepelike surface.

Brocaded cotton valours is a washable material which makes the lingerie dress more gorgeous than ever. It is of beautiful velvety texture and is said to launder satisfactorily. A velvet-striped cotton crepe, the crepe white, the velvet stripe in color, is another novelty, for the velvet is made of mercerized cotton in wonderful imitation of silk velvet.

One of the most interesting of the new materials is "chat mouille," or wet cat. This is a light-weight silk plush light enough for summer evening wraps. It is made in changeable colors of great beauty—one especially interesting combination being of golden brown and a dull, soft blue. Its rather sleek appearance doubtless suggested its name. Lined with chiffon, it makes an ideal evening wrap for wear during the warm summer season.

Onduline, another fabric, which bids fair to find favor for Spring wear, is a soft satin whose undulated surface suggests the silk reps of which it is an outgrowth.

The coming season is to be one full of color. Almost all of the new lingerie frocks and blouses show touches of some vivid green, red, yellow or blue or a combination of several of these colors. Lingerie dresses have cuffs or revers of brightly colored silks, pipings of color and colored buttons. Blouses and shirtwaists are relieved by a touch of color somewhere, evening dresses are almost invariably bright in blue, and even coat suits are hardly complete without a gay colored scarf, vest or tie of some sort.

A trimming which answers the desire both for metallic luster and for oriental richness is oriental mirror embroidery, which once before enjoyed a reign of fashion in the West. This embroidery is formed of small, shining, colored bits of metal, suggesting mirrors in their brightness. They are fastened on, surrounded with small glass beads, in a color harmonious with the color of the dress on which the trimming is used and give a bright and attractive effect.

Lace, stiffly flutted, as the peasants of Norway flute the lace on their caps, is found on some of the new lingerie blouses. Narrow lace flutings are also used to top black silk and satin collars of Robespierre and Elizabethan designs. Narrow sideplaited frills of hemstitched mull or batiste, themselves suggestive of flutings, are used to edge the box plait of front closing nainsook or batiste waists.

Rhinestones are in great demand this year. Not only do they appear in the heels of slippers, in garters and as trimming for bathing caps, but they are used as the centers of flowers in heavily embroidered white stockings. They are much used, too, in combination with black silk velvet ribbon, for various little bows and ties and other neck fixings.

A charming shoulder scarf is made of an all-over lace, showing a small rose design on a net mesh. Silver thread is used to outline a fine, running design between the roses. The scarf is lined with white chiffon, and is bordered with a two-inch ruche of the chiffon. Three or four lengthwise ruches of the chiffon band the scarf from end to end and the stitches which hold these ruchings in place, also hold the lining firm.

Colored china buttons are much used to give the necessary dash of color to lingerie waists. These buttons in white, with rim or center of some bright color, are often sewed on with black or colored thread, to produce a three-toned effect. For example, on a blouse made of white crepe, embroidered in black and red, black and red buttons would be sewed with red thread or red and white buttons would be sewed on with black thread.

Metal in the form of beads, gold and silver embroidery, cloth of gold and silver and metallic lace is much used. Silk voile in bordered effect is shown with a mosaic border of flowers with a metal tracery. A new white silk-bordered material has a wonderful band of roses, in deep rich reds, in a tapestry weave with metal brocading in gold and silver threads above and below the roses. The theatre caps made of gold or silver tissue, meshes woven of gold or silver threads and strings of beads are so heavy with gold and silver lace and beads of various sorts that they just escape being burdensome.

Colored cotton tassels are much used on lingerie blouses and dresses. They appear at wrist or elbow cuffs, on the points and corners of flat and turned down collars and, wherever there is a chance to fasten one in order to introduce a bit of color.

Fancy braiding is much worn for separate waists, and there are very beautiful tinsel braids that are used for collar and cuffs, and for trimming waists with little bands broken in military fashion. One must not use a profusion of tinsel, but a little is extremely good.

The shorter the sleeves of separate waists, the more trimmed they are, as a rule. It is only the long sleeves that are plainly tailored. The little puffy undersleeve of fine lace is worn under the full elbow sleeve.

The newest blouse suits for girls have the belts two or three inches below the waist line. To very slender, tall girls they are most becoming.

Leather ornaments for the girdles of gowns are printed in Bulgarian designs and colorings, and have silver ball buttons to finish them.

"Made in Newark" Exposition

Newark's Greatest Industrial Show Set in Motion at 10 o'Clock Today

About a year ago, while we were yet in the old store, we conceived the idea of holding an exposition of Newark made products. We had faith in the great Industrial City and we realized the possibilities of a "Made in Newark" display. Considering the lack of space and other disadvantages under which we were laboring at that time, the exposition was a great success; so great, in fact, that then and there we made up our minds that when we got into our new store we would hold a real exposition. The great show which entered upon its way today is the result of months of careful planning and weeks of almost ceaseless labor. It is, in every detail, the most comprehensive industrial exposition ever held in Newark, and it is with great pleasure and pride that we invite you to visit our store. There are over one hundred local manufacturers represented, half of whom have installed working machinery in their booths. There are looms and machines and presses galore in fact, as we have said before, the "Made in Newark" Exposition is a World's Fair in miniature. Have you ever seen a diamond cutter? Have you ever seen aluminum ware manufactured? Have you ever been in a ribbon factory? Have you ever seen a rug weaver at work? Have you ever seen a glass cutter? Have you ever seen an umbrella factory in operation? Have you ever seen a newspaper press? These and dozens of other wonderful exhibitions are working at the Bamberger store. Come and bring your friends. Welcome! Thrice welcome.

REAL BASKETBALL ON THEATRE STAGE

Two Fast Teams Are Due to Clash at the Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

Although weekly exhibitions of basketball have been run at the Plainfield theatre for the past three weeks, the first real demonstration of the indoor game with real players as demonstrators will be staged tonight when an All Plainfield quintet lines up against the Scotch Plains Parish House five. At the last meeting of these two teams the local aggregation won out by a margin of two field goals and the game tonight ought to be a hummer as the visitors are anxious to avenge the defeat. Among the players on the 'Plains team are John Thompson and Eugene Lidgate, former Plainfield High School players.

The Plainfield team will be a consolidated aggregation composed of players from the Y. M. C. A. first team, Hope chapel and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax. The two teams will lineup as follows:

PLAINFIELD		SCOTCH PLAINS
Coyle	forward	Bellows
T. Heron	forward	Thompson

LEALS AND N. P. H. S. ON PINGRY'S SCHEDULE

Pingry's schedule in baseball has been completed by Manager Waterbury and includes games with North Plainfield High School and Leal's. Thirteen home games will be played and four out of town. Stevens Prep, Columbia freshmen, Rutgers Prep, Newark Academy, Rahway and Roseville High Schools are included. The Roselle contest will be Pingry's big game this season, as athletic relations with Battin have been canceled.

The coach has not been definitely settled as yet, but "Bob" Lloyd, the local player who held a berth in one of the Southern leagues, will probably be picked to whip the team into shape.

Most of last year's team have been lost by graduation. However, there is plenty of new material from which to pick a formidable nine. The schedule is as follows:

April 5—North Plainfield H. S., at Elizabeth.
April 11—Stevens Prep, at Elizabeth.
April 12—Cranford H. S., at Elizabeth.
April 19—Montclair H. S., at Montclair.
April 24—Rutgers Prep, at New Brunswick.
April 26—Horace Mann H. S., at New York.
May 3—Columbia Freshmen, at Elizabeth.
May 7—Leal School, at Elizabeth.
May 10—Rutgers Prep, at Elizabeth.
May 14—Kingsley, at Elizabeth.
May 17—Carlton Military Academy, at Elizabeth.
May 23—Rahway H. S., at Rahway.
May 24—Roselle H. S., at Elizabeth.
May 26—Newark Academy, at Newark.
May 29—Roselle H. S., at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL QUINTET WINS FIRST LEG ON CHAMPIONSHIP

North Plainfield Basketball Players put up a Remarkable Game, But Are Forced to Succumb in Last Few Minutes of Play—Losers Score But One Field Goal in the Initial Period of Play—Individualism Not a Feature—Great Exhibition of Guarding by P. H. S.—Fouling Exhibition Deplorable.

In one of the most exciting, and yet most decisive games ever staged on the Y. M. C. A. court, the Plainfield High School boys' basketball team evened matters up with the North Plainfield High School athletes by taking the first game of their interscholastic championship series by a score of 25 to 19. Although the N. P. H. S. girls decisively beat the P. H. S. maidens the previous afternoon, the boys came back good and strong and set the pace for the Boroughites all the way. At the end of the first period of play the score stood 14 to 3 in favor of the ultimate winners, but the team from the other side of the brook woke up in the second period and nearly swept the local quintet off its feet, scoring a total of 14 points against the 11 made by P. H. S. North Plainfield came within one point of tying the score in this half and after tantalizing the P. H. S. players with their sudden bursts of speed and accurate foul shooting they suddenly dropped behind and the local players got in some short spasms of field goal shooting that practically sewed up the game.

Because of the fact that so much depended on the outcome of the initial game, and because of the closeness of the contest in the final half, the playing was unusually rough and twenty-two fouls were called, seven on the Boroughites and fifteen on the locals. But one field goal was allowed the N. P. H. S. five in the first half, the forwards being held scoreless, while Captain Townley made the lone two-point tally. P. H. S. did the bulk of its field goal shooting in their period, getting a grand total of seven field goals. Both teams exhibited some fine passing and teamwork and the Plainfield representatives got in some sensational shooting at various stages of the contest.

The game was utterly devoid of any displays of individualism and if any one player was singled out as an individual star it would be doing an injustice to his team-mates. Every one of the ten contestants put up fine games and everyone played for all he was worth at every stage of the game. While one or two players on either side excelled in shooting, their success along this line was due, to a large degree, to the passing they were enabled to get in with the help of the fellows who did less shooting. The guards covered their men in excellent style and in only one instance did a forward have an opportunity to take a free shot, and that opportunity was missed by Taylor.

Y. M. C. A. PLAYERS VICTORS ON THE COURT

Ajax Scrubs Are Defeated by the First Team in a Weird Exhibition.

A comedy game of basketball was played in the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday night which resulted in a win for the Y. M. C. A. first team over the Ajax scrubs by a score of 33 to 21. The game was originally scheduled to be played between the Ajax and the first team, but because of the condition of several of the Ajax players after the hard struggle with N. P. H. S. in the afternoon, Manager Hetfield deemed it wise before the game started to make arrangements to play the game under an assumed name. The team was made up largely of Ajax substitutes and one outside player and the team put up an indifferent article of basketball from start to finish.

For the first team Coyle and Taylor proved to be the whole show both in the scoring and passing department. Coyle was particularly adept at passing and his team work resulted in many of his team's goals. The game was one of the roughest played at the local association this year but none of the players suffered from injuries that will keep them out of the game for any length of time. For the Ajax, Glover and Buckle put up good games.

JOLLY FIVE BEATEN BY SECOND TEAM

Visitors Had to Pick up Men to Play but Obligingly Let Plains Aggregation Win.

Although only two members of the Jolly Five basketball team put in their appearance to line up against the Scotch Plains Parish House second five at the latter place Saturday night, enough substitutes were gathered together from the audience to make a game possible and the 'Plains boys had the satisfaction of whipping the consolidated five to the tune of 40 to 8. The visitors were never in it after the first few minutes of play while the home players kept on increasing the gap that separated them from the Jolly Five until the game ended.

ARE 'PLAINS MEN PAID ATHLETES?

Lidgate and Thompson May Be Termed Professionals by A. A. U.

A rumor has it that a local agent of the Amtaeur Athletic Union is considering alleged charges of professionalism aginst Eugene Lidgate and John Thompson, the forwards on the Scotch Plains Parish House first team. Although neither is registered in the Amateur Athletic Union, all athletes in good standing with the athletic organization would be immediately disqualified if it could be proven that they played on the same team, or against either of these two athletes, if the accusation is true. It is a well known fact that both Lidgate and Thompson played on local semi-professional baseball teams but whether or not they received compensation in money is a point that has not as yet been proven.

If action is instituted against either of these two athletes it will probably lead to a widespread reform of athletic in this city as the 'Plains players are not the only ones whose records are tainted with professionalism. A number of fellows in this city and in surrounding cities are playing professional baseball in the summer time and turn to amateur basketball playing as a winter recreation. There are also many basketball players in this vicinity who are taking money regularly for refereeing athletic contests and these would also be subject to disqualification.

As in the case of Jim Thorpe, who has recently created such a stir, it is evident that Thompson and Lidgate play the game merely for the fun they get out of it and think nothing of the compensation end. This fact, however, did not save Thorpe from being disqualified and will probably have no effect on Lidgate's or Thompson's charges if they can be proven.

HOPE CHAPEL QUINTET MAINTAINS ITS SUNDAY SCHOOL BASKETBALL SUPREMACY

Chapelites Are Victors in Clash With Strong First Presbyterian Five—Both Teams Present a Shattered Lineup—Presbyterian Five Was Ahead at the End of the First Half But the Chapelites Engage a Strong Spurt and Pull Out on Top—Dunning and Tommy Heron Star—Big Crowd Witnessed the Contest.

Hope chapel maintained its Sunday-school basketball supremacy on the court Saturday night by taking the First Presbyterian aggregation into camp with a count of 32 to 21. Although both quintets had a substitute in the lineup some good passing and excellent shooting were exhibited on the part of both teams and the game was always in doubt. At the end of the first period of play, the vistors were ahead by a score of 14 to 5 but the Chapelites sprung their old trick of spurting in the final period and easily took the lead and with it went the game, for when they were once safely in the van they never relinquished their lead.

Preston Dunning was the whole show for the Presbyterian five, getting seventeen of his team's 21 points, while Tommy Heron and Jim Doig did the bulk of the scoring for the winners.

PARISH HOUSE FIVE WALLOPS WESTFIELD

One-sided Game Resulted in Trio of 'Plains Players Increasing Their Averages.

Individual field goal records were increased considerably by some of the Scotch Plains Parish House first team players Saturday night in their game with the Knickerbocker A. C., of Westfield, on the Parish House court. The home players won out by a score of 50 to 23 and Dallas, of the victors, caged ten of thefieldvariety, while Marston and Thompson pulled up as close seconds with neat collections of the two point scores.

For the losers, Smith and Traynor did most of the shooting but their team-mates failed to rally round them and their efforts went for naught as far as winning the game was concerned.

WEALTHY GUESTS FLEE FROM FIRE

Many Slide to Trees From Fashionable Hotel.

FORTUNE IN JEWELS GONE

Clergyman, Trapped In Room, Forced to Leap — Old Woman, Unconscious From Smoke, Carried Down Ladder Invalids Conveyed to Safety

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 3.—Fifty men and women, many of them wealthy barely escaped with their lives, so quickly did fire sweep through the Park In the Pines hotel here. Many were invalids and were carried out through smoke and flame filled corridors by their nurses. Others escaped by leaping to the roof of the veranda and sliding down the pillars or by leaping into the trees which cluster close to the hotel.

Among the persons from New York who escaped are Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Mrs. William Andrews, Mrs. Henry Belair, Mrs. W. C. Bergh and son, Mr. and Mrs. E. Oppenheim, Theodore Prince, S. S. Prince, Samuel Newberger and Miss Lillian Smith. The fire was discovered by S. S. Prince and Theodore Prince of New York, who were standing near the hotel in the Goslin plaza. The flames were not visible, but they could see smoke filtering out of the windows in the lower floor. They ran across the street and up stairs, where Mrs. Theodore Prince had a room. They found her half overcome by the smoke and carried her out.

When the sudden spread of the flames menaced the lives of all left in the place it was discovered that most of the ladders of the hotel were in the basement, near where the fire started. These were dragged out by the hotel employees at great risk. As they were raising one to a third story window a Boston clergyman trapped in his room was forced to leap. He landed in the soft ground and escaped with only a few bruises.

Old Woman Saved.

In another room was Mrs. Haffenheimer, eighty years old, who was carried down a ladder unconscious from the smoke. Two aged invalids in an adjoining room were rescued in the same way by hotel employees.

Miss Dick, daughter of the proprietor, was caught in her room on the first floor and overcome by the smoke before she realized her peril. One of the hotel servants who recalled she had been in the room smashed the window and climbed in and carried her out.

The main building, in which the fire started, and the smaller buildings connected with the hotel occupied more than half an acre of ground. All were destroyed. Those who escaped lost everything and the loss in jewelry alone is estimated to amount to many thousands of dollars. The fire started in the basement of the main building, the central section of which is four stories in height, while the big wings run three stories high in either direction.

Escape is Cut Off.

At first the blaze did not seem serious. A small amount of smoke eddied through the corridors for nearly an hour. Then suddenly there was a burst of flames, and the entire structure was ablaze.

Once the flames burst out, the building went up like a pinch of tinder. More than fifty persons had refused to leave the hotel, disregarding the smoke, when the fire took possession of the whole structure. Their escape was entirely cut off by the stairs. Nearly every occupant left his door open as he ventured out into the hall, and the flames followed them back into the rooms and drove them to the windows. The branches of the pine trees about the hotel were sizzling as half of those in the hotel threw themselves from the windows into the protecting branches. Others dropped on to the main veranda, which ran about the building, and easily dropped from there to the ground or slid down the supporting pillars.

It is estimated that a good sized fortune in jewelry was lost by the women, for of those in the hotel at the time few saved any except the jewelry with them.

The men and women who were staying at the Park In the Pines found quarters for the most part in the Palmetto inn, which is close by.

INSIDE THE MAGAZINE

Alfred Holman's account of "Our Alaska Bargain," fourth in The Century's "After-the-War" series, is one of the leading features of the February Century. Pierre Loti's Franco-Oriental "Impressions of New York" begin in the same number. Other features of general interest include James Davenport Whelpley's review of social, political and economic Japan, with a forecast of that nation's future as regards both America and the Far East; the opinions of several college presidents and deans on the good and evil of fraternities in women's colleges; "American Cartoons of Today," by Frank Weitenkampf, with fourteen examples; three Lincoln features, including anecdotes of the President, and hitherto unpublished account of Lincoln's assassination; and J. A. Atkins' discussion of "The Unmarried Woman of England," in which appears a contrast of English and American ideals. The second instalment of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's new novel, "T. Temharom," with synopsis of the opening chapters, leads the fiction. Maurice Hewlett contributes a striking short story in "The Fairy Wife." Other short fiction is by Richard Dehan, Marion Hamilton Carter and Ellis Parker Butler.

President Wilson's personal position will be strongly progressive, and he is evidently intending to surround himself with cabinet officers and political advisers who are as free as possible from those mysterious restraints that large private interests have hitherto imposed upon so many public men. It has been suggested that he may even put in the cabinet a typical progressive who has not been identified with the Democratic party. But about appointments he has been keeping his own counsel. He is proposing to harmonize his party, and to do it on the basis of uncompromising acceptance of the new, progressive, American spirit. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for February.

REGISTRATIONS HEAVY.

Trenton, February 3.—The past month has been one of unprecedented activity in the State Department of Motor Vehicles. More than 18,000 automobile registrations have been issued for the month and there stands to the credit of the department, approximately $290,000. If the present ratio keeps up during the remaining months of the year, the receipts from motor vehicles registration will far exceed last year's receipts. State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott today telegraphed to the tag makers to advance their shipments as rapidly as possible in order to meet the unexpected demand. The department has already made provisions for 40,000 registrations, but from present indications this number will have to be increased to about 55,000.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., will confer the fellow craft degree on three candidates Tuesday evening, February 4, and the entered apprentice degree on Tuesday evening, February 18.

The fair committee of Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a joint meeting Friday night at the close of the Somerset Council's regular business meeting. The members of the various sub-committees gave reports as to how their part of the work was prospering.

The first degree was given to one candidate at the meeting of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., Friday night. The second and third degrees will be administered to the candidate one week from next Friday night.

WILL TEACH HOW TO PREACH.

Madison, Feb. 3.—At a special meeting of the board of trustees of Drew Theological Seminary it was resolved to establish a new professorship in homiletics. This was in response to a unanimous petition of the faculty and in harmony with the general feeling of the trustees that the present chair of practical theology, held by President Ezra Squier Tipple, has been used to cover too wide an area of subjects. A committee was appointed to nominate a man to fill the position, and its members will immediately begin the search for suitable names to be presented to the board at an early meeting and to devise such adjustments in the curriculum as will conform to the new management.

PASTOR ILL, RESIGNS.

Whitehouse, Feb. 3.—Because he has been in poor health for several months and unable to attend to his ministerial duties, Rev. Dr. John P. Krechting, who has been the pastor of the Lutheran church at New Germantown for the past thirty-four years, has just tendered his resignation, which is to take effect April 1. Dr. Krechting is at the home of his son, Warren Krechting, at Scarsdale, N. Y., where he is suffering from a severe attack of heart disease. It is feared he will never recover sufficiently to be able to preach again. The church at New Germantown is one of the oldest in Hunterdon county. Its history dates back to 1745. During the long pastorate of Dr. Krechting it has thrived and grown to be a most influential one.

Gigantic Sale of 152,000 Yds. of A. P. C. Wash Fabrics

An Event We Engineer More Successfully Than Any Store in America

Over 1,000,000 Yards A. P. C. Wash Fabrics Sold by Hahne & Co.

One Million Yards! Turn these figures over in your mind—a million yards of one kind of dress fabrics, sold by one store—that store in Newark, N. J.

This is a startling fact that has made the trade of the whole United States talk and wonder.

They cannot understand the ability of any one store to distribute so many goods of this particular class. It seems too tremendous for belief, yet figures do not lie.

This year's purchases for this great sale aggregate 152,000 yards—enough for fully 20,000 women's full-sized dresses—double that many children's dresses—and we expect to dispose of the entire lot of 152,000 yards in one week's time, beginning today.

Only once a year are we able to give up so much selling space to these fabrics.

You will find them on many counters and tables in different sections of the Main Floor, and every counter and table will be attended by enough salespeople to serve you promptly.

Extra Salespeople, Cashiers and Wrappers have been assigned to these various divisions for Monday and the days following, so that the selling will be speedy and to your entire satisfaction.

Come expecting first-class service, and enjoy selecting from this enormous assortment—

354 Patterns At 6½c Yard

Do not confuse these goods with ordinary qualities and ordinary patterns in wash fabrics, and keep in mind that they are absolutely unfadable.

Keep in mind that there are practically no undesirable patterns or colorings in the whole collection and that no other store can or will present wash fabrics of equal quality in any such patterns as these, at-at anything near the price.

354 Choice Patterns A. P. C. Wash Fabrics All Absolutely Unfadable

Are Here For You to Choose From

We know that you will be delighted with the great collection of patterns which we present in this wonderful sale. Almost all of them are patterns exclusive with us—patterns that will not be on sale in any other store for some time to come, we being given first call because we are the unchallenged leaders in the selling of these goods.

Many of these remarkably pretty patterns are copied from high-grade silks and woolens. You will be astonished when you see them and you will buy them readily enough, because the cost of a dress of these fabrics is so insignficant as to make it easy to buy dozens of them.

Lots of people buy in full rolls and share them with their friends. Many people buy them and donate them to institutions. But the vast majority buy two or three patterns and make them into pretty summer dresses for seashore or home wear or into frocks for the little girls.

It is a great satisfaction to know that in buying these goods you are securing fabrics that are positively unfadable, no matter how many times they are washed or how much they are exposed to the sun.

It stands to reason that we could not have sold so many hundreds of thousands of yards of these goods and sold more with each successive sale, if the A. P. C. Fabrics had not proven unfadable and serviceable and satisfactory in every other way.

Included in this great sale, which started this morning, will be:

A. P. C. Shirtwaistings
A. P. C. Calcutta Cloths
A. P. C. Silver Grays
A. P. C. Polka Dots
A. P. C. New Greens

6½c yard

A. P. C. Solid Colors
A. P. C. Wrapper Styles
A. P. C. Helio Tones
A. P. C. White Grounds
A. P. C. Indigo Cloths

If you find it inconvenient to come to the store order by mail or 'phone, and we will fill your orders carefully and as speedily as possible.

Trust us to make selections; simply indicate colors or the purpose for which you wish to use the fabrics, and we will do our best to please you.

Doctor Revives Woman Who Was Thought Dead.

COULDN'T BE CONVINCED.

Friends Wouldn't Believe Their Eyes. Father and Children, Thinking She Breathed Her Last, Leave Bedside Weeping—Flowers Sent to Home.

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 3.—Mrs. William H. Bratt, daughter-in-law of Superintendent of Schools James Bratt of this city, is looked upon by husband, daughters and relatives as one returned from the grave. And as late as last night some of her friends still believed she had died Thursday night.

For a fortnight Mrs. Bratt, who is matron of the Bergen County Children's Home, has been suffering from kidney trouble. Thursday night a convulsion was followed by unconsciousness. Apparently she ceased to breathe. Her husband and daughters were at the bedside, and when the mother seemingly breathed her last the father led his sobbing children from the house and took them to the home of his father.

Dr. E. K. Conrad of this city and two women neighbors were with Mrs. Bratt at the time. The women thought their friend had died. The physician was so intent on reviving the patient that he did not notice what was going on around him. Half an hour after the husband had left the house he returned so grief stricken that for some time he remained in the library without going upstairs.

When he went to his wife's room he found the physician still trying to revive the patient. Mr. Bratt believed the attempt hopeless, but Dr. Conrad continued his efforts for two hours without intermission. Then there was a flicker of the eyelids and evidence of respiration. An hour later Mrs. Bratt was conscious.

The physician said Mrs. Bratt had narrowly escaped death. Now he believes her chance of recovery good.

Word that Mrs. Bratt had died spread over the town Friday and friends called up Mr. Bratt on the telephone to condole with him. Others sent flowers to the house. All were amazed when they learned that she was alive and likely to recover.

Jersey City Clerk Confesses Naturalization Frauds Involving Officials.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 3.—James F. O'Mara, a clerk in the office of County Clerk John J. Crosby of Hudson county, is said to have confessed that he, in conjunction with a Bayonne alderman and another city official, had issued naturalization papers fraudulently to applicants for citizenship. The confession and other documents containing evidence secured by the federal officials have been presented to the federal grand jury now in session at Trenton. Indictments are expected.

The confession was made to Chief Naturalization Inspector C. O'C. Cowley. O'Mara, who is the brother of Walter O'Mara, secretary to the Hudson county board of chosen freeholders, is now in a sanitarium suffering from a nervous breakdown.

n naming members of the Play-und Commission he dropped dsey Best and Charles B. Morse l appointed R. A. Claybrook and Hervey Doane as their successors. e full board was appointed as fol-s: R. A. Claybrook, five years; J. rvey Doane, four years; H. W. rshall, three years; George L. bcock, two years; George P. Mel-, one year. All of these appoint-nts were promptly confirmed with-a dissenting vote.

Mr. Endress wanted to have four l-men appointed regular members the fire department so as to give a ncient working corps to handle s and other special duty, making plea on the ground that the de-rtment is not progressing in this pect. There appeared to be some estion as to the method employed Mr. Endress to make the appoint-nts, and at the suggestion of both . Calkins and Mr. Mygatt the mat-was referred back to the commit-with the understanding that it uld take it up with the Board of gineers of the fire department and en with Mayor Stewart, who will ubtless make the desired appoint-nts.

Another resolution offered by Mr. dress and adopted, authorized the pointment of four captains of the e department as deputy mar-als, to serve without extra pay in e work of making inspections once twice a month of all public build-gs, including theatres, etc., for the rpose of seeing that fire regula-ns are strictly adhered to with the ea of minimizing fire risk. This solution was amended by Mr. lkins to provide that the marshals all report back to the fire commit-e giving the result of their investi-tion.

CONNELLY NAMED AS COUNTY JUDGE

Stein Nominated Prosecutor and McAdams Gets Dist. Court Judgeship as Balm.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

Terhune for Errors Court—Devlin for Prosecutor of Mercer—All Those Picked by the Governor Are Democrats.

Trenton, Feb. 4.—Governor Wilson sent to the Senate last night a list of five nominations, including a Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals, a Common Pleas Judge for Union County, Prosecutors for Mercer and Union counties and a District Court Judge for the City of Elizabeth. All these named were Democrats.

The Governor picked City Attorney James C. Connolly, of Elizabeth, to be Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Union county to succeed Judge Edward S. Atwater, who recently resigned owing to ill health. His term, however, would have expired this year. There was an active contest among Union county Democrats for this place, some of the other aspirants being former Prosecutor William R. Wilson and former Judge P. H. Gilhooly, of Elizabeth, and Judge Walter L. Hetfield, of Plainfield.

Former Mayor Alfred A. Stein, of Elizabeth, was selected to be Prosecutor of the Pleas for Union county. The Governor appointed Robert H. McAdams, of Elizabeth, to be Judge of the Elizabeth District Court. Mr. McAdams was the Democratic opponent of Carlton B. Pierce, for the State Senatorship in 1911, but was defeated by Mr. Pierce.

Martin P. Devlin, of this city, at present a member of the Mercer County Tax Board and a well known Commission Government advocate, was named by the Governor as Prosecutor of the Pleas for Mercer county to succeed William J. Cressley, Republican. This is a very satisfactory appointment to all the Democrats of this county except Charles H. Gallagher and his followers, who are opposed to Governor Woodrow Wilson.

Former State Senator Henry S. Terhune, of Monmouth county, was named for Errors Court Judge to succeed Judge Garret D. W. Vroom, of this city, whose term would have expired next week, but who resigned last Saturday. Former Senator Terhune practices law at Long Branch and is a nephew of the late Henry Stafford Little, who was for fifteen years Clerk in Chancery, State Senator and long one of the Democratic leaders of the State. Being a former Senator, Mr. Terhune's appointment was immediately confirmed.

CITIZEN-SOLDIERS TO DRILL FOR THE VETS

Company K, of this city, will attend the review of the First Battalion, Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., to be held in the Elizabeth Armory tonight at 8:30 o'clock, in honor of the Civil War veterans of Union county. The local boys will assemble in the armory at 7:20 and will march to the station in time to board the 7:41 train to Elizabeth. Following the drill and review the citizen-soldiers with their friends will enjoy dancing until 12 o'clock. Admission to the review and dance is by ticket, which may be obtained from any member of the company or from Captain Charles A. Peterson on the train en route to Elizabeth.

FOR PARENT AND TEACHER.

A reorganization of the High School Parent-Teacher Association will be effected in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. A new corps of officers will be elected and all parents of High School students are urged to be present. Special speakers have been engaged for the meeting and will include Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the New Jersey Mothers' Congress; Mrs. E. C. Grice, president of the Home and School League of Philadelphia, and Mr. Morris, who will explain the methods and aim of the American Institute of Child Welfare.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Mothers' Association of this city will meet at the Public Library, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the New Jersey Mothers' Congress, will be the speaker. The public is cordially invited to attend.

SENATOR J. M. DIXON

President Taft will be debarred from ever holding the office of President again, as will Theodore Roosevelt, if the House of Representatives passes and thirty-six States approve the Works one term Presidential resolution which passed the Senate by a vote of 47 to 23.

Should final ratification of the amendment be accomplished by March 3, 1917, President-elect Wilson's term would automatically be extended for two years, even though his successor had already been elected to take office the next day. Mr. Wilson would thereafter be ineligible to election as President.

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, progressive associate of Senators Dixon, Poindexter and Bristow, opposed his colleagues by declaring that, with the exception of George Washington, those Presidents who had served two terms would have been better off had they served only one. He asserted that a President's work was often "neglected and badly performed" because of attention to efforts for renomination and re-election.

Senator Cummins was to a large extent responsible for the passing of the resolution. Senator Martine was one of the principal leaders in the fight.

NOVEL CLAIM OF 'RUMP' BOARD

Discredited and Ousted Body of Freeholders Sets up a Rather Unique Plea.

FIRST CLASS COUNTY?

Assert in Supreme Court Papers That Union County is No Longer a Second Class One and Five Freeholders Should Rule.

Trenton, Feb. 4.—As disclosed by a plea filed in the Supreme Court yesterday the principal grounds upon which the old Board of Freeholders of Union county rely in the fight being made to oust them by the new board is that subsequent to the passage of the act of 1902, and prior to its adoption by the voters, Union passed from a county of the second class to one of the first class.

This claim virtually narrows itself to the contention that if there was any authority for electing a small Board of Freeholders in Union county it should have been composed of five members instead of seven.

Under the federal census of 1900, which obtained until after the passage of the act of 1902, Union county had a population of 99,353, while by the census of 1910, its population was 140,197.

When the question of adopting the small board act was submitted to the voters, it was done in the following language: "Shall the act reducing the members of the board of chosen freeholders, approved March 26, 1902, be approved?" Upon this proposition there were 7,682 voted in the affirmative and 6,294 in the negative.

Under the plea of the large board, the adoption of the act in the county was limited to the acceptance of the act at the time of its passage, rather than after the county had passed from the lower to the higher class, which would have entitled it to seven instead of five members on the smaller board. Of the fourteen freeholders joining in the plea, ten were elected in November, 1910, for two-year terms, which expired January 1 last.

These ten claim that they are holdovers, because no successors legally chosen have qualified to fill their places. The other four were elected in 1911, and except for the adoption of the small board act, would have continued in office until next January.

The four elected in 1911 were John N. Cady and William I. McMane, of Sommit, and Adolph H. Gruener and William H. Randolph, of Rahway. The ten who claim to be holdovers are Henry Krouse, Aaron D. Crane, George G. Teller, Elston Darby, Joseph Perry, Charles A. Smith, Samuel P. T. Wilbur, J. Hervey Doane, Peter H. Meisel and Burton P. Hall.

BAYONNE MAN FINED.

Thomas Cahill, aged 22 years, of 84 West Fifth street, Bayonne, charged with assault on Frank Harding, aged 15 years, of John street, on Wednesday, January 29, arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza this morning, was given his choice between paying $25 or spending the next forty days in the county jail. The complaint was made by Harding's father. Cahill paid the fine.

ALL DAY SEWING CIRCLE.

The members of the Alliance of the All Soul's Unitarian church will hold an all day sewing circle at the home of Mrs. G. Willard, at 944 West Seventh street, tomorrow. The meeting will start at 10 o'clock and the members are requested to bring a box luncheon and coffee will be served at the house.

CLEAR THE WAY FOR REED'S APPOINTMENT

As Passed Upon by Judge ing Amendment to Present Ordinance.

Steps were taken at the February meeting of the Common Council, last night, to clear the way for the appointment of former Senator Charles A. Reed as corporation counsel, through an amendment of the city ordinance, repealing the provision that such appointee must have lived and practiced law in this city for at least one year. The amendment was passed on two readings and will take the usual course.

The ordinance as amended provides that a counsel to the corporation shall be appointed annually, such person to be a resident of and a practicing attorney in the city and an attorney and counselor-at-law in the State, omitting the "one year" provision. It is expected that Mr. Reed will be named for the position of corporation counsel after the final passage of the amendment.

COUNCIL RECEIVES THE SEWER CONTRACT

As Appeal Upon by Judge Collins, it May Be Approved on March 10.

The proposed contract for the joint sanitary sewer to be built by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, as prepared by Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, and passed upon by Judge Gilbert Collins for the city, was presented to the Common Council, last night, by Councilman F. E. Mygatt. All the required legal formalities were complied with, the Council resolving itself into a committee of the whole with Francis J. Blatz presiding, for the purpose of passing on the various matters pertaining to the plan.

The required notice of twenty days was authorized published in The Daily Press and Courier-News, stating that it is the intention of the Council to pass the contract and ordinance on Monday night, March 10, and providing that all objections must be filed on or before that time Similar action will be taken by the North Plainfield and Dunellen councils at their meetings to be held soon.

ASSAILANT IS EXILED BY BOROUGH RECORDER

Angered by a reprimand administered because he was smoking while doing his work Louis Landia, of 304 East Fourth street, this city, an employe at Mitchell's Watchung Silk Mills, in Chatham street, attacked the superintendent, William Lambert de Bar, with a pair of scissors. The superintendent throwing up his hands to ward off the blows, received a gash on his left arm.

Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough, was notified and when he arrived at the factory the assailant had fled. Detective John Flynn, of the city police department, arrested the assailant at the latter's home.

Landia was arraigned at 2 o'clock before Recorder Gano who sentenced the prisoner to pay a fine of $10 and leave the borough.

COUNCIL ORDERS BOOKS EXAMINED

President Appoints Committee to go Over Expense Accts. of Health Board.

DESIRE INFORMATION

Endress and Reville to Discharge the Duty—Upshot of Member of Body's Invitation to the City Fathers.

Early at last night's session of the Common Council a communication was received from Dr. T. S. Davis, secretary of the Board of Health, stating that he had heard considerable criticism concerning the board, but which had not come directly to that body. He invited the Mayor and Council and all other interested citizens to attend the board's meetings and become fully acquainted with what was being done as a means for greater efficiency.

Closely following this suggestion, Councilman Fred Endress offered a resolution providing that three members of the Council be appointed to examine the books and accounts of the Board of Health for 1911-1912. The resolution was amended to provide for a committee of two instead of three, and President George S. Clay named Councilman Endress and Reville as the committee.

Mr. Reville explained that this work was not intended to be an audit but an examination. It was explained that the accounts were audited up to May, 1911, but Mr. Reville called attention to the fact that there are some items of expense about which further information is desired, for an instance a charge of $240 for expenses in moving offices from North avenue to Front street, which Mr. Reville said he had been told was excessive

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED AT LICENSES' HEARING

The Common Council at its February meeting, last night, gave official notice that a public hearing on the liquor license applications to be acted upon Monday night, February 10, would be held at the Plainfield High School Friday night at 8 o'clock, and the public is invited to attend and express their views pro and con.

The Federation of Men's Bible Classes and Church Clubs, as well as others opposed to any change in license conditions, including the Christian Endeavorers of the city, have arranged to be represented by a large delegation of members to join in a protest. The liquor interests will also be represented by counsel. This will be the first time in the history of the city that the governing body has arranged a public hearing outside the Council Chamber, it being done in response to a request from the Y. M. C. A., and other religious bodies.

FIRE IN TAILOR'S SHOP.

In response to an alarm sent in from box 34 at 6:30 o'clock last night, the fire department was called to the tailor shop of Abraham Cantor at 325 Liberty street, where a quantity of cloth had become ignited during the process of cleaning. One tank of chemicals extinguished the blaze with little damage to either the store or its contents.

Auditing committee—S. L. Cromwell, Bernardsville; Richard Stevens, Hoboken; S. M. Colgate, Orange.

Although the Governor and President-elect Woodrow Wilson was unable, through the press of State duties, to attend the conference, Mrs. Wilson came over from Princeton yesterday and while here she has been Miss Hartridge's guest. A luncheon was given at Oakwood yesterday in her honor. Invited to meet the distinguished guest were wife of the mayor, Mrs. Percy Stewart, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. G. Frederick Mead, Mrs. George P. Mellick, Miss Munger, Mrs. William H. Murray, Mrs. Frederic Wallace and Mrs. Hugh F. Fox, whose husband is local chaiman of these conferences.

At the meeting last night Dr. Moore welcomed Mrs. Wilson saying that although the honorary vice president of the organization, Governor Wilson, could not be present the conference had the next best thing in the presence of her who is soon to become "the first lady of the land." The speakers referred to the conference held two years ago in Princeton where Governor Wilson presided and of their utter unconsciousness that they were at the time rubbing elbows with a future President of the United States.

Mrs. Wilson attended this mornings' session and visited the exhibits gladdening the heart of a small reformatory boy by allowing him to cut out her silhouette to take away with him. Her charm,

Dr. Frank Moore,
Supt. of the State Reformatory for Boys, retiring president of the Association.

simplicity and gracious cordiality endeared her to every one she meets and her attendance at this time has been not only an inspiration to the workers but a strong impetus to the work for charities reforms and State institution housecleaning that has been put under way. She is deeply interested in every phrase of the work. Mrs. Wilson was obliged to be in Princeton this afternoon and left at noon to catch the train at Metuchen motoring over from here.

"Feeblemindedness from the Standpoint of the Schools" was the topic of an address by Miss Grace M. Bohne, director of the Child Study Laboratory of the Public Schools, Rochester, N. Y. From her wide experience she related many interesting incidents, giving her audience the benefit of her extensive study of this question.

Miss Bohne's address was followed with one by Prof. E. R. Johnstone, who was chairman of this session, who discussed "Institutions." Among other things he said:

"It is generally agreed that every child is entitled to such education as he should have. This should mean every child whether defective, normal or exceptionally bright. A child may be able to learn many things which he should not know and often he is taught things which he can never use.

"Many years ago it was believed that the feeble-minded could be so trained that they would become competent workers of society. Later it was discovered that feeble-mindedness is a condition—not a disease, and is therefore not curable, and in addition it was found that in many cases it is inheritable. Therefore efforts were made to give permanent custodial care to all of this class. Now when we find the large number in our midst we realize that custody at the rate we are going is insufficient and that prevention must be our aim by whatever methods seem most advisable.

"At this time there is a gradual awakening to the fact that a very large percentage of the children now in the special classes are not backward but actually feeble-minded. Several years of the most careful and patient teaching fails to enable them to return to the regular classes and advance to a higher grade. It is difficult for parents and teachers to realize the true state of affairs because the child learns many new things. He is acquiring a larger number of facts and possibilities but they are all on the same mental level. He can broaden out but he cannot rise in the intellectual scale. A feeble-minded child of fourteen having the mental age of a normal child of six, may with sufficient time and training acquire nearly all of the mental activities of all six year old children, but he will never be able to do those things which a normal seven, eight or nine year old child does. No matter what his chronological age, his mental age will remain about six.

"There are some exceptions where the child rises a few years at one-half

RELIABILITY.

A Little Advance Information that Costs You Nothing, But Might Save You Much

It will be the custom of this store to hold a sale twice each year.

Every suit and overcoat will be reduced to such an astonishingly low figure as to make this the greatest value-giving opportunity yet offered to the men of this town.

Don't miss it—don't let it slip by you. The saving is too big to be overlooked—and the things offered are too good to be "passed up."

Remember it commences Wednesday—watch for the announcement of these remarkable reductions.

INFERNAL MACHINE KILLS WOMAN; ARREST HUSBAND

MADELINE AND BERNARD HERRERA

One woman, Mrs. Madeline Herrera was blown to fragments, another injured so severely that her recovery is deemed impossible, and a man, husband of the slain woman, lost an eye and suffered other injuries, when an infernal machine, neatly wrapped in a paper box, exploded in the home, in New York city, of Bernard Herrera, a cigar maker. Mrs. Herrera was taken to an hospital in a dying condition.

Herrera later was arrested and sent to an hospital in custody of detectives for an immediate operation.

The machine was in many respects the replica of the machine which killed Miss Helen Taylor in her apartment on February 4, 1912.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

In discussing the case of Thorpe, the Indian hero of the Olympic games, who by his confession of professionalism has had to surrender his laurels, Rev. William S. McCoy in addressing the Holy Cross congregation on Sunday took the proper view of the incident and pointed out a deplorable condition of affairs in college athletics. He said very rightly that the spirit of the times was largely responsible for Thorpe's act and that the white man is to blame for the situation. There can be no question about the truth of the Indian's assertion that he has "done nothing that is not commonly done by others." By this he means that college men offend in this respect very frequently. As the clergyman remarks, it is a sad state of affairs and puts a shadow on college athletics. It is a grave reflection on American honor in the eyes of the whole world.

And there is another serious aspect of college athletics to be considered, one demanding the attention of institutions of learning. It is that practise of inducing young men known for their prowess in football, baseball, in rowing and other branches of sport to matriculate at college in order to strengthen the college teams. It is not the thought of obtaining an education that prompts this decision to enter college, but it is to shine as a member of the nine, eleven or the crew that furnishes the inducement. It is a strong indictment against the colleges.

THE PEOPLE TO BLAME.

The New York Sun, the "newspaperman's Bible," is the model for English diction and for the idea presentation of the news. Therefore when its managing editor, Chester S. Lord, speaks, all the newspapermen harken unto his words of wisdom. Yesterday, in addessing the New Jersey Press Association, Mr. Lord gave some opinions that should be interesting to the people at large for he gave the proper retort to complaints frequently made against the public press. After admitting that the newspaper is not as literary as it was forty years ago—thank fortune—he declared that it was better than ever today and showed how unfair and unkind the reading public is in judging all newspapers by a few yellow sheets. As a trained newspaper worker, he gave it as his judgment that the people want sensationalism in their papers in the proportion of six to one and that this is why editors are tempted to print what ought not to be printed and what in their own hearts they do not want to print. When it "strikes home," the average person denounces the sensationalism, but when it exposes the wrongdoings of others the subscriber is hungry to devour it. No editor finds its agreeable to publish tales of crime, but as a distinguished statesman once opined, "it is a condition not a theory" that confronts the "man on the desk," for a newspaper is a business enterprise and to live it must supply what the public demands, and the public is fond of scandal.

DR MOORE'S WORK.

Dr. Frank Moore, the man who has made the State Reformatory for Boys, at Rahway, nationally famous as a model institution for the redemption of wayward youths, is among the distinguished humanic workers participating in the proceedings of the State Charities Conference in session here. That body is fortunate in having had so able a man as its president When he was appointed by Governor Fort to the superintendency of the Rahway Reformatory there were some who considered that as a clergyman he was not just the man needed. The institution then was in bad odor. It was not long, however, after he assumed his duties that the reformatory had undergone a great change and today it stands second to none among the institutions of the sort in the various States. The credit for this is due to the ability of the head officer to whom we refer.

The thirty-five thousand dollars appropriated by the Senate for a proper representation of New Jersey in the inaugural parade when our good Governor is raised to the most exalted position in the Nation's gift will be money well spent. It is the greatest honor that can be confered on our State by the people of the land to choose its chief magistrate for their President and we should show our appreciation as best we may.

It is a pleasure to note that William S. Tyler has been re-elected to the presidency of the Plainfield Board of Education.

The Mayor's axe is pretty sharp.

STATE CHARITIES CONFERENCE

to one-twelfth the normal rate, but if feeble-minded, it will never advance beyond thirteen.

"Understanding the above facts we see the waste entailed when children aer taught the same thing over and over in a vain hope that it may some day be retained and used. Teachers often say 'We dare not stop for a day or it will be forgotten. The advent of Monday means do it again and after vacation we must start it all over.'

"We must use the measuring scale, learn all we can of the possibilities at each mental age and train in such things as may be understood and used in later years. The slower mental processes and the simpler moral ideals of the feeble-minded offer exceptional opportunities for study. Our tests must be developed to make them more and more accurate and the activities of childhood must be recorded, translated and interpreted."

"The Inheritance of Human Defects," was the subject of a talk by Prof. H. H. Laughlin, superintendent Eugenics Record Office, Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., in which he illustrated it by an analogy to Indian corn breeding experiments. The similarity was striking.

Perhaps, one of the most interesting features of the morning was the talk by Miss Lydia Y. Hayes, supervisor, of Newark, on "The Work of the New Jersey Commission," as bearing on "The State and the Blind." Miss Hayes is herself blind and her presence aroused much enthusiasm. She told what is being done by the State commission in caring for the blind, offering suggestions.

The morning session was concluded with a paper by Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general of the International Sunshine Society, New York, on the subject, "How to Prevent the Blind Baby from Growing Up Crippled and Feeble-minded." In part she said:

"How to Prevent the Blind Baby From Growing Up Crippled and Feeble-minded," was the subject of an address by Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general of the International Sunshine Society, at this morning's session Mrs. Alden's address was under the general topic of "Feeblemindedness, Eugenics and the Blind." She spoke in part as follows:

"We have no right to assume that because a baby is blind it has no brains; therefore, the education of the blind should begin with the day the child is blinded. A baby born blind presents a strangely pitiful problem. It has a soul. It has a mind that conditions combine to stunt. It has physical organs that need to be kept in normal operation. The eye, through which babyhood receives, commonly perhaps nine-tenths of the impressions that mean the earliest 'education,' is lacking. The baby in its first year works harder than at any other time in life, getting a grip on vital things.

"It is an exception when a child is both blind and idiotic. If there are no brains there can be no mental development, but it is quite evident that a blind child will become feeble-minded and often crippled, if left to the 'mother love' alone for the training of its first eight years of life. Therefore, to prevent a blind baby from growing up crippled in body, and feeble in mind, it should be sent to an institution supplied with doctors to give orders to graduate nurses and trained nurses, and gradnate kindergartners and trained teachers who, with their combined efforts and the companionship of other little ones, see to it that its daily progress is that of a normal seeing child without any of the blindisms that almost, without exception, fall to the lot of a blind child raised alone in a home. Money will not save it. 'Mother love' will not save it. Only special care and training can.

"Other states are realizing this fact. Arizona has passed a law that provides for its baby blind now, so has the State of New York. Bills are being presented in the present Legislatures of Maine, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, North and South Dakota and the State of Washington, all following the example of the State of New Jersey in educating the blind from the day they are blinded and not waiting until they are eight years old when a life time of teaching will not undo the harm that the lack of the first eight years training has done.

"The mortality among blind babies is terrible. There are about 80,000 adult blind in the United States. How many died in babyhood is a pitiful question. Most of the adult blind are absolutely dependent persons, without grace, withful poise, without the inner life that means so much to all of us, the life of imagination which books and thought develop. Taken in babyhood they might in many cases have been made self-supporting. In nearly all cases their lives could have been rendered richer, fuller, better worth living."

"Prisons and Reformatories," served as the topic for last night's session of the conference. The speakers who included Miss May Caughey, superintendent of the Woman's Reformatory, at Clinton; Dr. J. A. Leonard, superintendent of the Reform School at Mansfield, Ohio, and Dr. J. T. Gilmour, of the Central Prison, Toronto, Canada, told of the State Use Plan, and Outdoor Penal Work, which forms the substance of a bill which Samuel W. Kirkbride, of the Prison Labor Committee, will introduce to the New Jersey Legislature today.

Seymour L. Cromwell, of Rahway, president of the State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association, presided and preceding the addresses read the revised constitution of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Corrections, which was unanimously adopted by verbal vote.

Miss Caughey in her address told of three other States—Massachusetts, Indiana and New York—which have women's reformatories. New Jersey is the fourth State to appropriate money for an institution of this kind. She described the work that is done in the other States and said that the one at Clinton in its management would largely be patterned after them. At present the only inmates are girls sent direct from courts in the various counties, but later, when all the buildings are erected, the younger girls will be taken from State prison and the older ones from the Girls' Home at Trenton, making in all about seventy-five wards of the State.

The speaker continued saying that the institution as yet is somewhat handicapped by having no means to give the girls medical care for segregating the whites and blacks. When the institution is in full operation which will be in about a year, it is expected that the whole of the 354 acres will be tilled, the work being done entirely by the young women inmates.

In closing, she urged the assistance of public sentiment for a liberal appropriation from the State to equip the institution properly for the work it is expected to carry on.

Dr. Leonard began his address by asking why people are sent to prison. The best answer he knew of was to preserve social efficiency. Less than one-tenth of one per cent. of the population of Ohio is in prison, he said, but they cost the State more to catch, try and convict than to educate the entire population.

"Years ago," he said, "it was thought that people were sent to prison to expiate their crimes or for retribution, but now it is in order to preserve efficiency.

"In handling these delinquents," Dr. Leonard said, "the State of Ohio holds that there should be nothing to distort, disfigure or demean the prisoners, and to this end no State has the right to hire prisoners to contractors, or use their labor for the profit of any individual. The problem is being solved in the Mansfield Reform School by having the inmates work for the State. To this end all the clothing for other State institutions, furniture and one-fifth of the State printing is being done by the prisoners under his care. There is a well-equipped machine shop, and the soldiers and sailors in the home maintained for the veterans all get their shoes from the Mansfield Reform School shoe factory.

"By means of an honor system 2,300 prisoners have been allowed to work in the fields without guard, and during the years that I have been superintendent, only nineteen of this number have escaped. Upon completion of their time those who have obeyed all rules of the institution are given a bond to show to the world that they are worthy of confidence of those who may employ them."

Dr. Leonard brought forth applause from the audience when he asserted that another criminal developed every time a married man was sent to jail and his family was left behind to struggle for their daily existence.

Dr. J. T. Gilmour spoke on "Outdoor Penal Works," as regulated by our Canadian cousins. As in the Ohio institution, an honor system is in vogue. The prisoners are allowed certain liberties, such as conversing at meals, congregating outside the cells when not at work. All prisoners under his care are "short-termers." Canada as yet has not the privileges of indeterminate sentence or the probation system.

All building materials that can be made of sand, lime, stone and gravel are made in the Toronto Central Prison. At present there is under course of construction a number of large buildings for an insane asylum. The majority of the Government buildings in the Dominion have been built with products from the Toronto prison. In addition to this industry last year six thousand bushels of wheat and four thousand bushels of potatoes were raised, besides corn to feed seventy-five the present winter. The prisoners did all this work, and conduct the large dairy system maintained in connection with the farm. The seventy head of cattle are cared for by them, milked each night and morning; the milk is transported to the market, and all the churning is attended to by the inmates under supervision of the officers.

As a test of the honor system employed by Dr. Gilmour he said that only twenty-two have escaped of the 1,800 prisoners who have been extended the privilege of outdoor work without guard. Even with this small percentage of escapes, however, he does not consider the honor system infallible, and he considers it much over-rated in magazines and newspaper articles.

His closing plea was for a broader and more liberal system of humanics in penal institutions in solving the social problem of delinquents.

Miss Maud E. Minor, secretary of the New York Probation Association, gave a plain talk on "Prostitution," considered as "A Mental Problem." She declared in referring to prostitution that many persons are feeble-minded and that between one-third and one-half of those coming to the association with which she is connected are mental defectives, as are also the parents, brothers and sisters. Such persons live in crowded houses and they meet temptation in their homes, in business and on the streets. Other conditions include low wages, some receiving between $2.50 and $4.50 a week.

These women see others wearing fine clothes and living sumptuously and at once there is a strong desire for such a life. Miss Miner said that three remedies are offered, probation, the reformatory and custodian institute. She asserted that to a very large extent the responsibility rests with the public and everything should be done to impress upon it the seriousness of this condition. Miss Miner said that it was desirable to get hold of young girls and educate them and that in this way they can oftentimes be saved.

Dr. Elizabeth S. Fneiberg, resident physician of Vassar College, followed up the same line of thought, explaining that her experience for twenty years in tenement housework had proved of great value to her. She saw true conditions in that work, with all its dirt and poverty. She said that the most deplorable fact in this work is the perpetuation of these special diseases which is proving such a menace to the country. Those weak in body are more susceptible to disease and it spreads to children.

Dr. Thelberg said that the method of diagnosis is now almost perfect. She believed in strict confinement for those afflicted with special diseases until a cure can be affected. She agreed with Miss Miner that the greatest hope lies in the attitude of the public in arousing sentiment, and she hoped that the public would be thoroughly aroused and awakened as to the importance of doing something to save men and women.

LITTLE GIRLS HURTS CAUSE OF HER DEATH

Marion Cook, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Ninth avenue, Orange, died yesterday, the result of a fracture of the skull received several months ago. The child while asleep in a crib was struck on the head by a large piece of plaster which fell from the ceiling. An operation was performed and the child seemed to be improving when there was a sudden change for the worse.

Another operation was performed at the Memorial Hospital, Orange, but did not prove successful. The funeral was held at the late home at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cook resided here for several years, Mrs. Cook before her marriage being Miss Rachel DeCamp, of the borough. The couple have two other children.

UNION PAYS LARGER SCHOOL TAX IN 1913

This County Must Raise $17,000 More This Year Than it Did a Year Ago.

Elizabeth, Feb. 4.—County Collector Leavitt yesterday received notice from State Comptroller E. J. Edwards of the amount of school tax to be raised in this county during the present year. The amount collected for that purpose last year totaled $390,286.33, which is about $17,000 less than the tax to be raised this year. The statement of Comptroller Edwards is as follows:

The amount of the school tax for the support of the free public schools for the year 1913 levied on the real and personal property in your county for the year 1912 is $414,427.77.

"For the purpose of reducing the State school tax, $100,00 was appropriated by the Legislature of 1912, out of the State fund, to be apportioned among the various counties and will be paid during the month of October, 1913. The amount alloted to Union county is $5,581.49, leaving the amount of the State school tax to be raised by the county for the year 1913, $407,846.28.

"This tax is due and payable in the State treasury on or before the 10th day of January, 1914, pursuant to section 176, chapter 1, laws of the second special session of the Legislature convened October 15, 1903."

HIGH TILES WILL PREDOMINATE IN THE INAUGURAL PARADE.

THERE WILL BE A GREAT DISPLAY OF NEW AND ANCIENT SILK HATS AT THE INAUGURATION

Woodrow Wilson abhors silk hats, but, out of respect for custom, he has consented to wear one at his inauguration, March 4. High hats, new and old, will gleam on every head of prominence. Mr. Bryan will wear one, Governor Sulzer, of New York, who usually wears the slouchiest of slouch hats, will appear in one, and Dr. Mary Walker will wear her.

NEW YORK MOTION PICTURE THEATRE WHERE TWO WERE TRAMPLED TO DEATH AND MANY HURT IN FIRE PANIC

MOVING PICTURE THEATRE WHERE FIRE PANIC OCCURRED.

Two women were trampled to death, eighteen persons were seriously injured and taken to hospitals and more than a score of others were badly shaken up and bruised in the panic at the Houston Hippodrome, a moving picture theatre in New York city, caused by a boy crying fire when a film burned. Although it did hardly one dollar's damage, it was a repetition on a small scale of the Iroquois Theatre disaster, where hundreds of persons plunged frenziedly through the front door and jammed in a struggling, crushing mass at the bottom of a short flight of steps. So terrific was the crush of human beings in the narrow space that firemen and policemen had to crawl over the bodies to go to the rescue.

More than four hundred persons were crowded in the theatre, which formerly was an old church, watching the showing of a melodrama, when a sudden flash from the moving picture machine brought forth cries of "Fire!" and resulted in the horrible panic. Although the fire was quickly extinguished the crowd became so excited that they made a mad rush for the narrow door.

ONE OF THE LARGEST AND MOST FASHIONABLE HOTELS IN THE SOUTH, WHERE MANY BARELY ESCAPED FROM DEATH IN FIRE

THE PARK IN THE PINES HOTEL.

One of the largest fires seen in the State of South Carolina in many years occurred at Aiken, when the Park-in-the-Pines Hotel, one of the largest and most fashionable in the South, caught fire and scores of persons barely escaped a horrible death. Among those staying there were many wealthy New York and Boston women, who lost much of their valuable jewelry in the flames. The structure, which was four stories high, had recently been renovated and refurnished.

PLAN FOR TURKEY SUPPER.

The Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to arrange for a turkey supper. All members are urged to be present and to bring their own sewing as the missionary sewing has been completed.

CLERICUS' QUIET DAY.

Elizabeth, Feb. 4.—The members of the Plainfield Clericus enjoyed a "Quiet Day" conducted at the Grace Episcopal rectory in this city. The meeting was in charge of Dr. Barry, of Elizabeth, and the services held were appropriate to the opening of the Lenten season. The program lasted all day and was spent in the following manner: 10:30 o'clock, first meditation, "I Am the Way;" 12:00 o'clock, intercessions and second meditation, "I am the Truth;" luncheon; 2:00 o'clock, third meditation, "And the Life."

GRAND JURORS.

Eight Plainfielders were drawn by Sheriff Wright to serve on the Union County Grand Jury for the coming term before Judge O'Keen at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon. Those selected were Joseph Van Deventer, Clarence Hetfield, John Caulfield, George H. O'Connell, Peter Harte, Bernard Brady, Alvin Hoagland and Edward M. Christon. Henry Alberts and Phillip Meiser were also drawn on the new panel which will take up its duties some time next week.

SOCIAL CLUB'S DANCE.

The Here-We-go-Boys, a social organization of the city, held its second annual dance last night in Saengerbund Hall, where lovers of terpsichore enjoyed themselves until a late hour. Refreshments were served. A prize waltz held at midnight was won by Miss Edith Meyers and Albert Yeager. The judges were John Muir, Arthur Robinson and Charles Green.

DUNELLEN IS WITHOUT STREET COMMISSIONER

The Dunellen Council last night received a petition for appointment of Jacob Fisher as street commissioner but upon the request of Mayor Richards it was placed on file. James Wilson spoke in favor of the way in which the Council was acting in choosing the street commissioner, endorsing the policy of Mayor Richards in holding over all prospective appointments until they were considered. A vote was taken for the reappointment of Goldson W. Smalley as street commissioner but the Council members could not come to a decision and the matter was laid on the table.

The matter of dog licenses was brought up before the Council again and after discussing the matter it was decided that a house to house canvas should be made and then all the persons who owned dogs and did not secure licenses would be prosecuted.

The borough clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for crushed stone for the coming year. It was voted to join with Piscataway Township and repair Center street, which is the boundary of bothe municipalities. It was also decided to repair Whittier and Rairview avenues, and to raise the salary of the borough clerk. The committee in charge of the lighting of the streets was given power to place new lights on Jackson avenue and ordered to investigate the need of new lights on Porspect avenue.

RECEIVED BIDS FOR STONE.

The Common Council at its February meeting, last night, received bids for furnishing crushed stone, culverts, crosswalks and curbing. The Watchung Stone Company submitted bids for furnishing culverts, crosswalks and curbing, while the Plainfield Trap Rock Company presented bids for furnishing crushed stone. They were referred to the street committee to be taken up with Street Commissee A. J. Gavett.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Services will be held at Grace Episcopal church tomorrow (Ash Wednesday) at 7 o'clock and 10 o'clock in the morning, and at 8 o'clock in the evening. During Lent services will be held at 5 o'clock every afternoon with the exception of Wednesdays, when the services will be held at 8 o'clock. On Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays morning services will be held at 10 o'clock.

FIGHTING AGAINST DEATH.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Feb. 4.—The Norwegian steamer "Nicholas Cuneo," with a crew of twenty-five, is ashore on the Long Island coast. The crew is clinging to the masts while terrific seas are sweeping over it. Lifeboats are only a short distance away. The steamer went ashore at 3 o'clock this morning near the Lookout Life Station.

HOPE BOY SCOUTS.

The ways and means committee of Hope chapel decided at the meeting held in the chapel last night to endeavor to organize a troop of Boy Scouts among the boys of the West End. George T. Leighs, G. Herbert Condit and Walter L. Firstbrook have the matter in charge and will push the proposition to the utmost of their ability.

FAR PARENTS.

Dr. M. P. E. Grosmann will speak at the meeting of the Bryant-Lincoln School Parent-Teacher Association to be held in the Bryant School tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. A similar meeting will be conducted at the Lincoln School, Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, when Henry M. Maxson will speak and answer questions.

ALPHEUS MILLER.

Alpheus Miller, aged twenty-one years, colored, of 820 Richmond street, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, following an operation for appendicitis. He was employed as a butler for T. R. VanBoskerck, of this city. The notice of funeral will be announced later.

A meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Health last night in the Council chambers. John I. Brower the newly appointed member of the board took his seat.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Leinan, of Washington avenue and Second street, Dunellen. Members are requested to take the 2 o'clock Main Line car from Plainfield.

Miss Alice Forsythe, formerly a teacher in this city, has returned home after a visit with Mrs. Hattie Taggard, of East Ninth street.

ST. JOSEPH'S WOMEN ENTERTAIN AT EUCHRE

Members of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church held a successful euchre, followed by an informal reception, last night, in Lebele Hall. Dainty refreshments were served. Those who arranged the affair were Mrs. James Hurley, chairman; Mrs. Stanley Godfrey, Mrs. Joseph Bailey, Mrs. Andrew Kenney, Mrs. Edward Moraller, and the Misses Agnes Fitzgerald and Justina Smith.

The next meeting of the society will be held Monday night, February 10, in Lebele Hall. A program will be enjoyed following the business meeting. As an added attraction to the musically inclined members of the league, a glee club has been formed, which will meet for the first time tonight at the home of Mrs. Alfred Seidel, 80 Jackson avenue.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Elizabeth Jordan, editor of Harper's Bazar and author of a great number of exceedingly well told and popular stories, has finally become a full-fledged playwright. Her first play, a distinctly American comedy in three acts, will be presented at the Plainfield theatre tonight. It is called "The Lady from Oklahoma." Miss Jessie Bonstelle will appear in the title role.

Senator Dixon, from Oklahoma, began life in humble surroundings, and while still in his younger days married a woman of his own sphere. She has not progressed and broadened with him, and when the world is full of honors for the husband, the wife is still the simple-minded, plain, countrified, unpolished, "frumpy" individual she was when he found her. In Washington the Senator's path is crossed by a lady lobbyist of unusual attractiveness and personal charm, and the little wife discovers that her husband is slipping away from her. Taking stock of the situation she figures it out that the road back to his affections lies through acquiring the accomplishments and graces of society. She immediately places herself in the hands of the beauty experts—the hair-dressers, manicurists, deportment tutors and modistes, to the end that she is greatly transformed. During this "building up and tearing down" process, she discovers the real intentions of the Senator's new and sinister friends, and in the end she completely wins him back to herself, in addition to saving him from the pit prepared by his friendly enemies.

There is an abundance of diverting comedy in the play, particularly the scene in the beauty parlor where the lady from Oklahoma is undergoing the process of artificial rejuvenation. Judging from the advance heralds this scene will become as famous as James Forbes' delightful dressing-room reproduction in "The Chorus Lady," perhaps one of the most original and thoroughly amusing pictures on the American stage.

For the present tour of "The Lady from Oklahoma," William A. Brady, the prdoucer, has secured the services of an admirable company, headed by Miss Jessie Bonstelle, who has but recently won well-deserved popularity for her admirable staging of Louisa H. Alcott's "Little Women." Miss Bonstelle will be seen in the title role, supported by a company which includes such representative players as Harriet Sterling, Walter Renfort, Bertha Mann, Walter Hitchcock, Frank Thomas, Ruth Holt Boucicault, Paul McAllister, Terese Michalena, Jessie Robb, Lillian Dixon, Alice Lindahl, Helen Orr Daly and others equally prominent.

PERSONAL.

Russell Miller and David Thickstun, who are attending the University of Pennsylvania, have been visiting their parents in this city. The Penn students are accorded a short vacation while the faculty corrects the examination papers.

Miss Ruth Hubbard, of Westerly, Mass., has returned home after a short visit with Miss Myra Burrage of Central avenue.

Miss Marion Van Horn, who is now registered at Swarthmore College has been visiting her parents on Central avenue.

Harry Smith, of Grandview avenue who is confined in St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick, suffering with scarlet fever, continues to improve and will soon be removed to his home in the borough.

Arthur Freidburg has removed from 422 West Fifth street to 435 West Fifth street.

Charles R. Scott, State secretary of boys' work, was the guest of C. William Bingeman, of the local Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon.

Arthur V. Lindsey, of Brazil, who was formerly a student in the Plainfield High School, has returned to his native country to take a government position.

Jawes Walkinshaw and family, of Central avenue, have left for an extended trip in the West. They are making preparations to attend the 1915 exposition before they return.

Miss Alice Mehl, of Madison avenue, has entered the Montclair Normal School.

He Is Named as Chairman of Public Service Commission.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Justice Edward Everett McCall of the New York supreme court was named to succeed William R. Willcox as chairman of the New York state public service commission. Justice McCall admitted that he had conferred with Governor Sulzer in New York Saturday evening and that the governor had offered him the much coveted post. Mr. McCall said that he had decided to accept. The above is from a snapshot of Justice McCall taken yesterday at his desk.

HEAR ROAR OF GUNS NEAR ADRIANOPLE

Regarded Certain That Fort Will Be Taken.

London, Feb. 4.—The Daily Mail's Sofia correspondent, telegraphing last night at 11 p. m., says:

"I have received a telegram from Mustapha Pasha, on the old Turko-Bulgarian frontier, announcing that a tremendous cannonade can be heard from the direction of Adrianople. The telegram was sent off at 9 p. m.

"Competent opinion here is to the effect that the fortress will be taken within a fortnight at the latest."

The Daily Mail's Constantinople correspondent, wiring at 11:55 p. m., says:

"The official Ottoman agency has just published a statement that the bombardment has been reopened at Adrianople, adding a curious story that a Servian officer brought a message that the armistice had been prolonged for four days more.

"The foreign consuls at Adrianople are said to have sent a wireless message to the ambassadors here asking them to obtain from the Bulgarians either a zone which shall be exempt from bombardment for the foreigners in the town or a safe conduct for them to leave the city."

Although, according to Constantinople and Sofia dispatches, the war has been resumed, hopes are still held that peace will not be long delayed. The Times says that, according to a circumstantial report current among some of the Balkan representatives last night, the porte has already telegraphed to Sofia offering to cede Adrianople on conditions which the Bulgarians are ready to accept.

This report was not confirmed on inquiry at the Bulgarian legation, but in itself it is not incredible. It is a well known Turkish habit to make concessions at the eleventh, or, rather, the thirteenth hour.

CALLS LAWYER EX-CONVICT.

Dramatic Incident Interrupts Case in Ontario County Court.

Canandaigua, N. Y., Feb. 4.—A sensation was sprung in the course of a case heard in the Ontario county court. E. A. Grimth of Geneva arose and accused John Eighmy, also of Geneva, a white haired lawyer, of being an ex-convict. Mr. Eighmy was confronted with the charge by the judge and denied it.

Mr. Grimth alleged that Eighmy was convicted of a felony in Saratoga in 1878 and was sentenced to six years in Dannemora prison and that in 1906 he pleaded guilty to falsifying pension affidavits in Syracuse and was sentenced to three years in Auburn prison.

The charges will be investigated.

TRAINS CRASH IN SNOWSTORM

Engineer Fails to See Flag—Six Hurt. Two May Die.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 4.—Six men were injured, two probably fatally, when two freight trains on the Grand Trunk met in a rear end collision two miles east of Edwardsburg, Mich.

The wreck occurred during a blinding snowstorm, an engineer having failed to see a signal flag while traveling at a speed of ten miles an hour. Several cars were demolished.

Reverse for Six Year Term.

SUN'S EDITOR ON THE NEWSPAPER

Chester S. Lord Tells State Press Association Papers Are Better Than Ever.

SKETCHES THE GROWTH

"All Newspapers Should Not Be Judged by a Few Yellow Sheets"—People to Blame for Sensationalism.

Trenton, Feb. 4.—The New Jersey Editorial Association held its semi-annual meeting here yesterday afternoon and voted to change its name to the New Jersey Press Association. The reason for the change was that the new name is more characteristic. Following the meeting the association served its annual mid-winter luncheon in the large dining room of the Hotel Windsor. The guests of honor were President-elect Woodrow Wilson, Chester B. Lord, managing editor of the New York Sun, and Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, formerly a newspaper man. The association also had as its guests practically all the members of the Legislature and several leading State officers. More than three hundred guests were present.

Augustus S. Crane, of Elizabeth, president of the association, presided at the meeting and officiated as toastmaster at the luncheon. President-elect Wilson was scheduled to speak but was called away by an important engagement at the State House and was unable to do so. In excusing the Governor, President Crane, after welcoming the guests said that not in years had the gathering at the luncheon been so large or so representative. He then introduced Mr. Lord.

Mr. Lord has been with the New York Sun forty-one years, and for thirty-two years its managing editor. He declared that the newspapers today are better than ever before. He sketched the marvelous growth of the modern newspaper, and illustrated the wonderful development by what was accomplished in printing the news of the great Titanic disaster. On that occasion, he said, his newspaper wrote and published 80,000 words in three hours, or as much as an average magazine prints in one month.

Mr. Lord thought the newspapers of today were hardly as literary as those of forty years ago, and expressed the belief that the reason was that the earlier journals were inspired by the golden literature and literary men of the Victorian Era. He pictured the great change of the present day civilization which is reflected in the commercializing of the newspapers. Not commercializing, he stated, in the sense that their opinions can be bought, but in that they now treat of commercial subjects. This is caused by the wonderful spread and influence of modern commerce and all things pertaining to it.

The speaker declared that 90,000,000 daily newspapers are published in New York city every month. All newspapers should not be judged by a few yellow sheets, he contended and then he said that the people want sensationalism in their papers in the proportion of about six to one, and this leads to a temptation to print what ought not to be printed. In conclusion, Mr. Lord said: "You may print your paper in red ink, you may print headings a-foot high, but whatever you do stick to the truth."

Bishop Berry gave some humorous reminiscences of his early life when he was "devil" on a weekly newspaper. He expressed the belief that a conscientious editor is the hardest worked man of all the professions. In view of the growing influence of newspapers and their editors, he urged the newspaper men present to be careful that this influence was exerted in the right direction.

Assemblyman John A. Matthews, of Essex county, made a brief speech in which he referred to the influence of the editorial column of a trustworthy newspaper.

A New Type of STAGE VAMPIRE

PAULINE FREDERICK, THE FAMOUS BEAUTY, CREATES A SENSATION AS A TEMPTRESS

POTIPHAR'S WIFE EXERCISES HER WILES UPON JOSEPH, THE SLAVE

Quite the sensation of the theatrical season in New York is the acting of Pauline Frederick as Potiphar's wife, the temptress, in the spectacular success, "Joseph and His Brethren," at the Century theatre. It will be remembered from the Biblical story that it was Potiphar's wife who tempted Joseph when he had been left in charge of Lord Potiphar's house. Joseph fled from her room, leaving his coat in her hands. This scene has been used with tremendous effect in the Louis N. Parker play, and acted as real drama by Pauline Frederick and Brandon Tynan. So the temptation episode in "Joseph and His Brethern" is already famous as the best thing of its kind ever offered in New York.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CONCERNING ANCHOVIES.

ANCHOVIES are imported fish, and a taste for them, like that for olives, needs to be acquired. The anchovies are bottled in salt or oil, or put up in small tins or tiny kegs.

The salted anchovies should be rinsed in cold water, several baths being used. Then the fish should be allowed to stand in the water about ten minutes before using. Take the fins from the back and halve the fish, discarding the backbone and rear fin. Then drain or wipe, and use as directed in the recipe. These halves may be arranged on a dish surrounded by chopped white of hard boiled egg and parsley. They are served with oil and lemon juice.

Novel Preparations.

Baked Anchovies.—Clean and rinse the fish, dry on a cloth, butter a baking dish, cover the dish with a layer of cracker crumbs. Then put in a layer of anchovies. Add a layer of anchovies and cracker crumbs until the dish is full. Some cooks sprinkle a little sugar in with the crumbs. Place butter on the top layer, which should be of crumbs. Then beat the yolks of two eggs with a half cupful of cream, and add this to the fish. Bake in the oven till the crumbs are slightly browned on top.

Anchovies and Spinach.—Take some crisp, fresh looking spinach, if you can get it, or canned spinach if former is unavailable. Cook the spinach in salted water, chop it fine and press it through a puree sieve. Reheat it with a little butter, salt and a drop or two of tabasco sauce. Fry sippets of bread in butter, spread with a little anchovy paste, and over the paste apply the spinach. Garnish the top with the chopped white of a hard boiled egg and the yolk pressed through a sieve.

Fish and Eggs.

Anchovies and Buttered Eggs.—Take some pieces of buttered toast, cut square, spread on each a morsel of anchovy paste, then beat lightly in a bowl five or six eggs, add cayenne pepper and salt to taste, and pour them into a small saucepan in which one ounce and a half of butter has been melted.

Stir over the fire with a wooden spoon till the mixture begins to set, then pour out on the toast as quickly as possible. Lay two strips of filleted anchovy crossways on each piece and serve immediately.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Smart Hats Young Girls Are Wearing Nowadays.

Young girls are wearing stiff brimmed, round crowned sailor hats, with the least bit of trimming possible on them, these hats being of velvet, in tailored style or of long haired felt.

KIMONO WITH YOKE.

They are rather trying for older faces, however, and should be given a wide range by the woman's whose complexion is no longer that of youth.

The most striking shade for evening wear is apricot.

The kimono that is made full below the yoke is a favorite and a well deserved one. Such a kimono is pictured, which may be made in long or short lengths. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in three sizes—small 34 or 36, medium 38 or 40, large 42 or 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7712, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

SCHOOL CLOTHES.

Girls Suffer When Made to Wear Unbecoming Raiment.

Don't get lingerie so sheer and so lace bedecked that the first laundering will leave it in rags. Nothing is more serviceable for girls' use than French embroidered underwear without lace on heavy linen.

Don't wear yourself out with your daughter's clothes. Too many are only a nuisance, as fashions change so fast.

Don't fail to provide for her as pretty and becoming gowns as you can afford. Appearances count with youngsters, and many a nice girl is needlessly hampered by the poor taste of her mother.

Don't be too sure you know what is best for your daughter to wear. The taste of sixteen may not be so good as your own, but it is less apt to clash with current schoolgirl fashions. While one is still young individuality in dressing is not popular.

Don't have rigid notions on underwear and try to enforce them with cast iron promises. Most schoolgirls discard flannels as soon as they escape maternal vigilance, and many a girl is made hardier because of it.

Don't be too insistent on serviceable clothes. Girls suffer when made to wear unbecoming clothes because of their enduring qualities.

Don't forget that the surest way to keep your daughter well protected in rainstorms is to buy her a stylish raincoat, waterproof shoes and umbrella.

Don't spend so much on your child's outfit that you cripple yourself and must stint her on spending money. A reasonable allowance through the year counts more for a schoolgirl's good time than an elaborate wardrobe.

Don't get too many things at the start. Every school has its own ideals of dressing, and your girl will soon be out of conceit of her pretty clothes if they are not what all the rest of the girls are wearing. Better buy less and fill out when your girl knows what she needs and wants.

TILE FOR KITCHEN FLOORS.

Use Rubber Mats In Front of the Range and the Work Table.

An ideal floor for a kitchen is tile. It is easily cleaned and does not splinter, as does the ordinary pine floor. Some persons object to the hardness of a tile floor. This may be overcome by using rubber mats in front of the range and the work table, says a student in the domestic science course at the Kansas Agricultural college.

It does not pay to have a cheap floor in the kitchen, but if you already have a soft pine floor cover it with a good quality of linoleum. This may easily be cleaned with borax and warm water. Never use strong soap on linoleum, as it will soon fade it. If linoleum is out of the question put a good, heavy coat of paint on the floor and renew as soon as the floor shows signs of wear. The paint will keep the floor from splintering.

A hardwood floor that is well oiled wears well. To clean an oiled floor mild soapsuds may be used if the floor is very dirty, but warm water is better. If soap is used on the floor it will need reoiling twice a year. A hardwood floor will outlast two soft wood floors, provided it is well oiled and carefully cleaned.

Charming Dance Favor.

When presented to the fair dancer this pretty cotillon favor seems to be nosegay of paper flowers. A hidden string is pulled and presto! the bouquet becomes a fan.

THE FLOWER FAN.

Cooking In Aluminium.

Aluminium utensils save fuel, because aluminium ware not only gets hot quickly, but retains the heat. An aluminium coffee pot will keep coffee hot a longer time than will any known metal. Aluminium utensils, with their tight fitting aluminium lids, are small kilns, in which the food retains an even, moist heat. There is a reason for this, just as there is a reason for all aluminium virtues. Aluminium is so fine grained that the molecules of the metal press tightly together, thereby presenting the least porousness to the atmosphere. By their close contact they transmit heat readily to each other and for the same reason protect each other from rapid chilling.

MOST IMPORTANT PICTURE EVER BROUGHT TO AMERICA ATTRACTS ART LOVERS

VIRGIN AND CHILD, ENTHRONED WITH SAINTS, BY RAPHAEL

Raphael's "Virgin and Child, Enthroned with Saints," held by many connoisseurs to be the most important picture ever brought to America, is attracting art lovers from all parts of the United States to New York, where, as part of the J. Pierpont Morgan collection recently removed from London, it is on exhibition during the winter months at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is the "Colonna Raphael," painted for the nuns of the convent of St. Anthony of Padua, at Perugia, who sold it in 1677 to Antonio Bigazzini. It came into the possession soon after of the Colonna family, where it remained until 1902. Mr. Morgan purchased the painting of a French dealer in 1901 for $300,000.

BLACK AND WHITE.

A New Art Craze In Interior Decorating.

The vogue of black and white in interior decorating is one that had its origin in a new school of art that is influencing household furnishing.

Paris has succumbed to the witchery of the black and white fad, and no doubt ere long we shall have it with us. In the hands of an artist these black and white designs are not half bad, but it should be remembered that with the somber tones others of rich hue were intermingled.

A famous Parisian decorator has a room which is a marvel in its way. On the floor is a black carpet overlaid with a rug in white venise lace. Of course the black brings out every line in the pattern of the lace. The walls are covered with tapestry in harmonizing shades of blue, green, rose and brown. The windows are draped with lace and with velveteen draperies printed with roses, bluets and heads of grain.

Many a towering business success owes its first strides to the little modest want ad, timidly bidding for customers.

Your little business may be helped to success in the same way by the Daily Press.

Mail ads are the "Bargain Counter" of newspaper space, and you should have your share of the benefits.

IT WAS A SORE POINT WITH THE LADY'S HUSBAND

"MAC" SAYS

Now that the Interscholastic boys' and girls' league has been started, basketball enthusiasts have put aside their war paint to wait until the second clash. The initial games resulted just as they should, each school winning one of the games.

Somewhat of an innovation in basketball was inaugurated at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon when the Interscholastic League used two umpires at the same time. Wonder what the third man was in the ring for?

North Plainfield High School is noted for springing something new. A new one has just come to light. Frank Dunning is captain and first baseman on the baseball team and is singing second base on the musical team.

We have just found out something we never knew before and something that everyone has been trying to decipher. The real meaning of that O. O. C. girls' basketball team is "Our Own Club." No wonder we could not find out.

Professionalism is trying to crop out in this city. Wonder who will be picked to send his trophies over to the Swedes?

Before the game at the theatre last night it was said that the game scheduled for last night would be the last ever played at that place, but after the contest was over somebody evidently changed his mind. Wonder why?

Wonder how many young shortstops Frank Chance is going to sign up before the season opens? Reports have it that he is trying to land Berger, of the White Sox, now.

Another baseball league has just sprung up in which Plainfield has been named as a factor. This one is known as the Inter-State ball league.

A game between the Mohawk A. C. and the Hope chapel second team will be staged in the Hope gym tonight.

Captain Blatz and his team of Elks will go after the Elizabeth pin smashers on the local alleys tonight.

FIRST BAPTIST TEAM FIRST TO REVIVE SUNDAY SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE IDEA

At least one of the local amateur baseball leagues that flourished in this city last season will be made a reality once more according to dope forthcoming from those interested in the project. At least several of the teams have already signified their intention of starting the organization on another championship series and a number of the contestants in the race last year have already started reorganization. Among the latter is the First Baptist nine that played such a conspicuous part in all of the league workings last year. It is understood that those interested in the athletic department of the church have offered two cups, one for individual batting average and another for the highest individual base stealing average. A letter from the First Baptist manager has been received from Manager Chandler and is published as follows:

Sporting Editor:

With the approach of the baseball season and the beginning of practice by the major league teams, we, the fellows of the First Baptist team, are anxious to see the establishing of a Sunday-school League in Plainfield—a league which must have a permanent standing in our city.

To this end we ask every reader, whether they be a baseball fan or not, to give us suggestions along those lines which will make for clean enthusiastic games.

All suggestions will be gone over by a competent committee chosen from various Sunday-schools, and those available in any part will be used for this purpose.

Thanking you in advance for your moral support, we are

Very respectfully yous,

FIRST BAPTIST BASEBALL TEAM,
N. J. Randolph Chandler, Manager.

If the organization is started again those interested will probably profit by last year's experience and place a competent board of non-partisan men in control. Last season the members of the executive board were made up largely of managers of teams and there is bound to be favoritism shown by a board directly affiliated with the teams. This was shown most prominently when important protests were brought before them, and while none of the members could be accused of haboring grudges against their rivals in the race, it was certainly evident in some cases that the protests were not decided as they should be.

"JIM" THORPE BECOMES A GIANT.

No such scene ever attended the signing of a contract by a baseball player as that which was witnessed in the offices of the New York Baseball Club, in New York, when "Jim" Thorpe put his signature to a one year contract to play with the Giants. The only occurrence similar to that in baseball circles was when Clarkson and Kelly, the great $20,000 battery, were sold by Chicago to Boston more than twenty years ago. In those days that was the greatest of sensations.

Long before the time approached for the Sac and Fox Indian to appear the business offices of the Giants, in the Fifth Avenue Building, were packed to the doors by newspaper men, photographers and some of the rabid "fans" who wanted to have a peep at the redskin. Pictures were taken of Thorpe in every conceivable position, and one enterprising photographer made a brave attempt to dig up a suit of baseball togs for the Indian so that he might have him pose in them. In the above picture Thorpe is shown signing a contract while McGraw stood in the radius of the lens and looked smilingly at the Indian as he wiggled the pen.

PLAINFIELD FIVE TAKES CLOSE GAME

Scotch Plains Parish House Delegation is Conquered After Struggle.

Exceptionally fast basketball was the leading attraction at the Plainfield theatre last night and one of the best games of the indoor sport ever played in this city was put on with the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. and Scotch Plains Parish House quintets as contestants. Although the game resulted in a 49 to 41 count in favor of the locals, the Parish House contingent was in the running all the way and were dangerous up until the final whistle was sounded. Both teams set a lively pace and although the contest was a hummer from start to finish, unlike other games of its nature, the players did not appear to wear out and kept up the lightning pace until the last goal was caged.

Within a minute of the end of the first half the Plains delegation was leading by a margin of two field goals, but a quartet of successive field goals brought the count up to 22 to 18 in favor of the Y. M. C. A. Coyle and Ricketts, who played against each other, did the greatest part of their respective team's scoring, both being loose the greater part of the time. Marsten played his usually consistent game for the visitors at centre and it was partially due to his active work in getting the spheriod started that the Parish House representatives put up such a fine showing. It was the first time that either team had played on the theatre court, and being neutral to both, it was therefore a matter of playing merit that decided the game. For the winners Coyle and Tommy Heron were the leaders in the scoring, but Glover and Stine put up excellent guarding exhibitions. At intervals the game savored of rough house but there was just enough of this element evidenced to make the contest a brilliant one to witness.

The score:

PLAINFIELD.	G.	F.	P
Coyle, f	11	1	23
Heron, f	5	0	10
Glover, c g	1	0	2
McNamee, f c	4	2	10

ELIZABETH ELKS TO BOWL HERE TONIGHT

County Seat Pinners Will Come Here With a Strong Delegation of Rooters.

A home series will be rolled by the Plainfield Elks on the local alleys tonight against the Elizabeth pinners and a hard contest is expected. The locals are below the county seat aggregation in the league standing but they are still second in team average and Captain Blatz's charges claim to have a drubbing in store for the Elizabethians. The "289" bowlers are also confident of victory and forthcoming dope seems to point toward a hot wrangle.

Performing on their home chutes the local tribe is one of the most dangerous teams on the B. P. O. E. circuit. As a matter of fact, the Plainfield team may attribute its big average to the clever pinning done on its own alleys, and the visitors tonight will surely have to show a lot more than they did against Queensboro or Paterson to win. Elizabeth will bring a big delegation of lusty cohorts to this city to supply the vocal encouragement and the local pinners will need the support of all its followers to play this part of the game.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

On the Hope Chapel court tonight, the Hope Chapel second team will lineup against the strong Mohawk A. C., a quintet of junior players from the local Y. M. C. A. Both of these teams are made up of some crack players and the game should be a good one.

MANAGER DOYLE SAYS THE DEXTERS HAD THEIR CHANCE BUT WINCHED

Manager Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, is much peeved over the recent charges of the Dexter eleven of Perth Amboy, which seek to place a blemish on the record of the local aggregation of football warriors and the following statement coming from him should go a long way toward straightening matters out:

"Although at the beginning of the season I advertised for games in all the leading newspapers of the State, the first I heard of the Dexters was on Election Day. During the progress of the game with the sailors I was introduced to two representatives of the Dexters and they asked me if a game could not be arranged between the Perth Amboy eleven and Holy Cross, explaining that their home games were played Sundays and that they would be willing to travel over here some Saturday. I told them that Holy Cross did not play Sundays and that, as our schedule was complete, I could not then promise them a game but in the event of a cancellation, I would give them preference over any other team and they told me to call up the Sporting Editor of the Perth Amboy Evening News any time I wanted to play them.

"On Monday, November 11, the Oympians of New York, advised me that owing to an injury to one of their men they would be unable to play us, as scheduled, on the following Saturday. I immediately called up the Sporting Editor of the Perth Amboy Evening News in an endeavor to book the Dexters and on Wednesday or Thursday he notified me that it would be impossible to bring the Dexters over (I do not recall that he gave any special reason, but I do know that the Dexters had no other game for this date) but that, if agreeable to me, the Raritans would play us, explaining that the Raritans was composed of some of the Dexters and I believe there were five or six of the Dexters in the lineup when they played here, including John Seel, manager of the Dexter aggregation. On Saturday morning I called up the Evening News spokesman to make certain that there would be a game and I was informed that the Raritans' quarterback had met with an accident and that as this would cripple the team, they would be unable to play us. I accordingly notified as many of our players as I could get hold of and put up bulletins about town that there would be no game, but the Raritans arrived at about 3:30, claiming that the game had not been cancelled and that if the Sporting Editor of the Perth Amboy Evening News so informed me he did so without authority. However, rather than turn them back to Perth Amboy wihtout a game, I agreed to play them and give them part of the original guarantee. This caused me a great deal of trouble, as I had to issue new bulletins, announcing that there would be a game and scout all over town for our players, who were by this time scattered far and wide, and the club suffered a financial loss, too, for more than half our patrons had been turned away by the news of the cancellation. We defeated the Raritans by a score of 13 to 3. They put up a very poor exhibition as a whole and appeared on the field with but ten players, using a former Holy Cross player as a substitute.

"After the game, Manager Seel came to me and asked for a game for the Dexters. I told him that our schedule was complete up to an including November 30th, that some of the boys did not appear to be willing to play after that date, but that if we did play, I would be only too glad to book his team. A week or so later I received a letter from him again asking for a game. I was absolutely unnecessary to answer this letter as I had already explained to him very clearly the position in which I was placed. Although I was informed that there was no team in Perth Amboy better than the Raritans, in spite of the way in which the Raritans double-crossed me and regardless of the Dexters turning me down when I did want to play them, I was ready to book them for Saturday, December 7, when I found that the Holy Cross boys were willing to play on that date, but due to John Caulfield's injury, the result of which could not be foreseen at the time, I did not feel as though we should play a game and took no steps to complete the Dexter deal.

"In view of all the facts in the case, I believe that the Perth Amboy boys have no cause for complaint of the treatment accorded them by Holy Cross. I did my best to arrange a game with the Dexters for Saturday, November 16, the only open date I had, and the Raritans were treated very considerately when they came over here after cancelling the game.

"I cannot understand why the Dexters should raise this question now. As far as I am able to learn, they never had the State championship, their only claim being that they were not scored on in four years, and we would not for the world attempt to take this record from them, without doing so on the gridiron.

"It made no difference to me whether a team was not scored on in four years or forty years—if I thought they would put up a good game and were worth the guarantee asked, I would book them. I have not shown the white flag to any team, no matter how strong. I do not play in the game myself and therefore had no fear of the weight or strength of the opponents viewing the games from the side lines. The fact that the Dexters were not scored on in four years did not phase me at all. I was willing and ready to have them play Holy Cross on Saturday, November 16, as aforesaid, and if they were as anxious for a game with us, as they seem now, they should have grasped the opportunity thus offered them. To consider playing a post-season game is entirely out of the question. The weather will not permit of it and even if the weather was favorable, I would not play them, for they were given an opportunity to meet us during the season and so far as I can see they have no one to blame but themselves for not taking advantage of it. If they were not given a chance to meet us or if we had refused to play them, they might have some grounds for complaint but taking everything into consideration, I cannot see that they have any just argument and will state emphatically that there will be no post-season game."

BOUND BROOK WINS ON MILKY COURT

Defeats Hopewell High School Playing on a Creamery Floor.

Cramped on the small floor of a creamery at Hopewell yesterday afternoon Bound Brook High School defeated the Hopewell High School aggregation by the score of 24 to 11. Both teams played poorly and neither side seemed able to locate the baskets. Bound Brook, however, outplayed the Hopewell five and kept the ball around their basket the majority of the time.

Mason and Hastings kept their men so well covered that neither was able to score from the field. Heagney played a fast game and had several personal fouls called on him. Chick, the home team's guard, was the star for the losers, scoring seven out of his team's eleven points.

WILL PLAINFIELD HAVE LEAGUE BALL?

Five Cities Form Nucleus of New Organization in New York and Jersey.

A new Inter-State Baseball League was organized yesterday afternoon at Hotel Cadillac, New York city, in it Newburgh, Kingston, N. Y., Middletown, Paterson, N. J., and Poughkeepsie being represented. These clubs were granted charters and it is expected that a sixth club will be taken into the organization and the new league will be a six-club circuit. Among the applicants for the sixth position in the league were Plainfield, New Brunswick, Easton, Pa., Long Island City, N. Y.; Danbury, Conn., Tuxedo, N. Y., Peekskill, N. Y., and Hudson, N. Y.

At yesterday's meeting, William H. Pfau was elected temporary president with the rules governing the territory, secretary and treasurer. He will consult with the different applicants and recommend other teams for the circuit at a meeting which will be held in two weeks. The new league has been promised protection by Secretary John H. Farrell, of the National Association, if it complies with the rights of National Association clubs. There is still some question about the name of the league, but it will be known as the Inter-State until the next meeting.

The new organization will ask for organization papers as a class D minor league. The salary limit will probably be placed at $1,200 a month. Several details in connection with the organization of the league were discussed at yesterday's meeting, and it was voted that the holder of each franchise should, at the next meet, put up a forfeit of $500.

Although Plainfield has been mentioned and the league directors say that some local baseball magnate has applied for registration, it is doubtful if this city will be represented by a league team. Baseball in this city is not such that would warrant the placing of a league team on the field, as an independent team has all that it can do in order to make both ends meet. Plainfield may have a representative at the meeting but none seems to want to be connected with the project.

President Elect Wilson set at rest the rumors as to who will be secretary to the president after March 4 by announcing he had appointed Joseph Patrick Tumulty, at present his private secretary. Mr. Tumulty's name has been mentioned repeatedly in connection with the office as it has long been known that Governor Wilson has the greatest confidence in this vigorous progressive leader from Jersey City, who has been his chief lieutenant since Mr. Wilson entered politics three years ago.

SCHOOL PUPILS VOCAL CONTEST

From Plainfield and Surrounding Town Children Will Participate.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

North Plainfield's Schools to Be Well Represented and to Make a Strong Effort to Win Past Honors in the Event.

Sixty-five songsters will represent North Plainfield High School at the New Jersey High School vocal competition which will be held at Westfield next Monday night. The contest will be held in the new theatre at Westfield under the supervision of the State School Commission and will be attended by representatives from Bound Brook, Somerville, New Brunswick, Plainfield, North Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Cranford and Rahway. The Borough High School came in second in the school competition held in this city two years ago when Plainfield finished first, and the Boroughites are out to make a strong bid for highest honors this year. Rehearsals are being held regularly at the North Plainfield institution of learning under the direction of Herbert E. Lloyd, who is supervisor of music in the North Plainfield schools.

A final rehearsal will be held at the school tonight at 8 o'clock and all those who are planning to go to Westfield will have to be in attendance at that time. Although it is expected that most of the High Schools in New Jersey will be represented in this song festival the record of the Boroughites is one of the best of any High School in the State, with the possible exception of Plainfield. There is a particularly strong tenor section in the North Plainfield school and Supervisor Lloyd is relying on this group to raise the standard of vocal efficiency in his department. The chorus will sing "Excelsior," and the double quartet will render the "Happy Blacksmith." Both of these selections have been rehearsed consistently by the North Plainfield songsters and they are confident of making an excellent showing even in the individual number.

The following from North Plainfield will sing in the chorus: Sopranos—Mary Bennett, Bertha Boylan, Horace Bunker, Ruth Bunker, Florence Coons, Edith Dalley, Marion Doughty, Miriam Dunham, Katherine Giddings, Ethel Hall, Viola Hauser, Anna Hull, Flora Krausse, Virginia La Porte, Edna Lippincott, Helen Meany, Nora Meany, Mildred McAuliffe, Ruth Miller, Lena Mobus, Emma Ryno, Helen Schmidt, Clara Schmidt, Jennie Sears, Grace Townley, Margaret Vossler, Helen Woodruff; altos—Helen Hughes, Elsie Debele, Marjorie Burtis, Lucy Douglas, Lucile Ewart, Margaret Hogan, Lucy Hughes, Bertha Keller, Jubilee Rowley, Grace Smalley, Anna Warnock, Marquerite Woolston, Helen Yates; basses—Charles Beckman, Ashley Burner, Frank Dunning, Attwood Giddings, Donald Ketcham, Raymond Paine, Leon Larison, Roy Love, Ralph Smalley, Carroll Taylor, George Townley, Augustus Van Deventer, Duclos Van Mater; tenors—Lester Chandler, John Dawe, Edson Day, Oscar Dilts, Godfrey Diplock, Frank Fetherstone, Elmer French, Clarence Schmidt, Warren Townley, Vincent LaPorte.

The double quartet will consist of Carroll Taylor and Augustus Van Deventer as first bass; Donald Ketcham and Frank Dunning as second bass; Clarence Schmidt and Edson Day, as first tenor, and Ashley Burner and Elmer French, second tenor.

ROUTINE WORK OF CITY FATHERS

Sewer Improvements Assessment Commissioners File a Revised Report.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Hearing on Kensington Avenue Extension Set for March 3—Trustees for Firemen's Pension Fund is Named.

Howard C. Tracy, Edward A. Laing and H. B. MacDonald, commissioners of assessment, whose assessments in connection with sewer improvements in the southwestern part of the city, were returned for correction and revision following a storm of protests, presented the revised assessments at the February meeting of the Common Council, last night, and in accordance with a resolution by Councilman F. E. Mygatt, Monday night, March 3, was fixed as the time when a public hearing will be granted those interested.

Another resolution by Mr. Mygatt, which was adopted, fixed Monday night, March 3, as the time when the Council will treat with all interested property-owners in the matter of extending and opening Kensington avenue, between Prospect and Park avenues, as proposed by amended plans.

Resolutions offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph and adopted, authorized the borrowing of $11,000 for sewer extension work, the transfer of $3,000 from the general to the fire fund and the employment of H. F. Rorhback to send two copies of each bill introduced in the Legislature this winter for a consideration of $40.

Judge Walter L. Hetfield, of the District court, informed the Council that George Yorke had been appointed constable of the court, and was entitled to compensation as provided by law. This was referred to the proper committee. The monthly report of Horace Adams, clerk of the court, showed receipts of $214.45, disbursements of $66.55, with a balance of $147.90 turned over to the city treasurer.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of twenty-one permits during the month, and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported the granting of fourteen sewer permits during the same period.

Resolutions by Mr. Mygatt, which were adopted, authorized the painting of the street sprinkling wagons at a cost of $28 each and the purchase of 120 new street signs to replace those worn out and for streets recently opened. Charles A. Peterson sewer contractor, was given an extension of time to May 1, 1913, to complete his work.

Permission was given the Anti-Tuberculosis League to remove its pavilion from Muhlenberk Hospital to Muhlenberg place, with the understanding that a bond of indemnity be furnished to protect the city from any possible damage.

James H. Daly was appointed a trustee of the fire department pension fund for a term of four years, in accordance with a resolution by Mr. Endress. The appointment was made at the request of Fire Chief T. O. Doane.

Mrs. Charles Northern and Robert Murray were granted employment bureau licenses after the payment of the usual fee.

The rules of order of the Council for 1911-1912 were made the rules of the present body on motion of Mr. Mygatt, according to a previous notice. A resolution offered by Mr. Blatz and adopted, provided that competitive bids be received on all printing for the city, except in legal matters, in excess of an expenditure of $30.

Harry Dreier, representing Morris Abrams, Jacob Fass and himself, was present, and informed the Council that in the matter of seeking a permit to erect a building on West Front street for moving pictures, it had been decided to take it up with the fire and buildings committee.

On motion of Mr. vanHerwerden Council adjourned to Monday night, February 10, when the liquor license applications will be acted upon as arranged.

DR. MERINGTON RESIGNS.

Pastor Has No Memory of Cutting Wrist In New York Hotel.

Essex Fells, N. J., Feb. 4.—There was a note of sadness at the services at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church here, and expressions of sorrow were very general over the termination of the pastorate of the Rev. R. W. E. Merington. On Friday evening the vestry met, received and accepted regretfully the pastor's resignation.

Mr. Merington is now almost wholly recovered from his recent accident when he was found in a New York hotel with one of his wrists cut and in danger of bleeding to death. The minister had been suffering from uraemic poisoning and says he has no recollection of cutting his wrist. Mr. Merington has been freed of the charge of having attempted suicide.

It is a fact of some interest that Ohio and New York have had the Presidency of the United States ever since the inauguration of President Hayes thirty-six years ago, with the exception of the single four-year term that the office was held by President Harrison, of Indiana.

John K. Shields, who has just been elected to the United States Senate, has long been known as one of the legal lights of Tennessee. For several years he has held the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of that State. He has the reputation of being a brilliant orator and an exceptionally able jurist.

The present New Hampshire Legislature is expected to pass a bill appropriating a respectable sum for the erection of a statue to Franklin Pierce, the fourteenth President of the United States and the only New Hampshire man ever elected to the office of chief executive of the nation.

Vermont, called for years the political barometer of the United States, soon may lose this distinction. The Legislature now in session has adopted an amendment to the constitution which provides that State elections be held in November and that the Legislature meet in January. In past years the elections have been held in September. The voters will be asked to decide on the amendment at the next election.

CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—Juvenile courts, compulsory education, public playgrounds and numerous other subjects relating to the general problem of child welfare are scheduled for discussion at a three days' conference which met in this city today under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers. Governor Tener, Bishop Darlington, President Noble, of Dickinson College, Mrs. Frederic Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, and Miss Julia Lathrop, director of the Childrens Bureau at Washington, are to address the several sessions.

INDIANS' GREAT COUNCIL.

Cass Lake, Minn., Feb. 4.—Chiefs and other leaders of the Chippewa Indians in Minnesota rounded up here today for a great council meeting, the first that the tribe has held in years. The purpose of the conference is to organize the Indians into a permanent corporate body, with constitution and by-laws, which will enable them to act in unison for the protection of their property and in prosecuting certain claims against the Government.

GOLF TOURNEY AT PINEHURST.

Pinehurst, N. C., Feb. 4.—Auspicious conditions attended the opening at the Pinehurst Country Club today of the ninth annual St. Valentine's golf tournament. The tournament, which will last through the remainder of the week, has attracted a large number of well known players from various sections of the country.

We call this our big "Move- On" Sale—the Shoe Selling Wonder of the entire year starts at VAN ARSDALE'S tomorrow.

Greatly reduced "Move On" PRICES throughout all departments—will MAKE WINTER SHOES DO THE DOUBLE QUICK before Spring Shoes arrive.

This is YOUR sale—YOUR chance to save on FOOTWEAR of QUALITY.

So come in now while pickings are best—AT THE START!

This sale will be conducted on a strictly cash basis, as is the custom with this house; namely—no sale goods charged at sale prices, and no refund or exchanges on sale goods. Both shoes must be tried on to insure a perfect fit.

There are just two reasons why we hold a sale: One is to reduce our stock to make way for spring and summer goods and the other is to get the money.

We buy no goods for the occasion, as is the custom with most houses, and every pair of shoes purchased at our sale price is marked far below their true value.

UNEASINESS ON SEWER PROBLEM

As Fielder and Not Wilson Will Hear Arguments, Friends Are Worried.

APPROVE GOV.'S POLICY

Whether Fielder Will Take Same Stand or Not is What is Causing Anxiety to Friends of the Proposed Public Improvement.

There is some apprehension on the part of members of the joint sewage commission representing Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, as to what attitude Senator Fielder, as successor to Governor Wilson on March 1, will take in reference to the plans in progress relative to building a joint sanitary sewer. The Common Council has fixed Monday, March 10, as the time for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance, a week after Governor Wilson leaves office to become President of the United States.

Governor Wilson stood committed to a certain policy on the sewage question, believing that all power should be invested in the State Board of Health. After considerable trouble and delay, the State board finally approved the joint plan prepared by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, that is, allowing the municipalities to locate disposal beds on the Darling farm in Piscataway Township under certain conditions.

This plan was materially aided by Governor Wilson's veto of the bill which would prevent one municipality from locating sewage beds in another municipality of the State without first getting the consent of the governing body in the latter place, which bill was introduced for the benefit of municipalities in Essex county.

Whether Senator Fielder, who will be Governor after March 1, will continue the policy of Mr. Wilson remains to be seen. Piscataway Township, as indicted by its committee, will fight the plan to locate sewage beds within its territory and will doubtless take the matter before the new Governor and the Legislature. For this reason some of the sewage commissioners were hoping that the proposed ordinance could be passed before Governor Wilson leaves his office.

Others who take a more optimistic view of the situation say that they do not believe that the new Governor will attempt to interfere with the proposed sewage plans on the ground that Governor Wilson being fully acquainted with the matter was in a better position to pass upon them. However, there is some uneasiness felt over the situation for it will be within the province of the new Governor and Legislature to again defeat the sewer project. Both North Plainfield and Dunellen at its meetings Friday night will take the same action that the Plainfield Council did Monday night and arrange for public hearings. Special elections must be held in Noth Plainfield and Dunellen to secure the consent of the voters to proceed with the plans.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR THE SMALL BOARD

Trenton, Feb. 5.—Under a suspension of rules, the Senate today passed House bills 108 and 109, fathered by Assemblyman McLaughlin, of Union county. The first validates, ratifies, approves and confirms the election of members of Board of Chosen Freeholders chosen under the small board act.

Bill No. 109 validates, ratifies and confirms all elections heretofore held for the adoption of the provisions of any law for the reduction of the number of members of Boards of Chosen Freeholders in any county.

MACRORIE WILL BE A LECTURER

Minister Whom the Grand Jury Did Not Indict Will Engage in Business.

STILL AT MT. HOREB

But He No Longer Preaches the Gospel—Will Get $8 Per Day as a Speaker for a Veterinary Clinic in Jersey City.

Assured that there is practically no chance of his being reinstated to the ministry by the Newark Conference of the Methodist Church, Willis S. MacRorie, the former pastor of the Mt. Horeb, Springdale and Martinsville churches, has decided not to make any further attempts along that line. It was announced today that the clergyman has taken a position as special lecturer for a veterinary clinic at Jersey City and will assume his new duties this month.

Before entering the ministry, Mr. MacRorie is said to have been a veterinarian and he believes that he can make more money in that business than by preaching the gospel. The offer to lecture at Jersey City, it is said, carries with it a salary of $8 per day.

The former minister and his family still reside at Mt. Horeb, where it is reported he still has many friends. He plans to remove to Jersey City during the month. MacRorie's exit from the ministry was due to charges of a serious nature preferred against him by the mother of sixteen-year-old Edith Nelson, who belonged to his congregation at Mt. Horeb. Following his arrest, he made a confession to the Union county authorities, but later in an alleged attempt to retain his good standing in the church, is said to have remarked that he did not know what he was doing at the time.

When the case was presented to the last grand jury of Union county no indictment was returned, and soon afterward there was a report that because of the grand jury's failure to find a bill against him he would renew his efforts to be reinstated as a minister. When the Newark Conference meets in March all church relations between MacRorie and the Methodist Church will be dissolved.

CITIZEN-SOLDIER DRILL FOR OLD VETERANS

First Battalion, 2nd Regt. Reviewed by Major Martin in Presence of G. A. R.

Four full companies or about two hundred men participated in the drill and review of the First Battalion, Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., held in the Elizabeth Armory last night in honor of the Civil War veterans of Union county. The four G. A. R. Posts, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, of this city, under command of Captain William Hand; Ulric Dahlgren Post, No. 25, of Elizabeth, under command of Captain George P. Sanders; Kilpatrick Post, No. 64, of Elizabethport, commanded by Captain Julius Lambert, and Barry Post, No. 27, of Rahway, under command of Captain Cook, attended the review with about seventy-five friends. The "vets" were all under the command of Department Commander Terry MacDonald, of Jersey City. The Women's Relief Corps of the Dahlgren Post, No. 27, of Elizabeth, also attended in a body.

Major William B. Martin and staff inspected the Battalion as it passed in review before the veterans and was well pleased in the way that every one of his commands were executed by the citizen-soldiers. Following the review a short exhibition drill and manual of arms was given for the benefit of the old soldiers and was loudly applauded. Dancing followed. The companies participating were Companies F, I and C, of Elizabeth, and K, of this city.

During the drill, Battalion Adjutant Lieut. Albert I. Littell, of this city, read the Major's orders to the commanders of the companies informing them that drills would be dispensed with this and next week and that a week from today the companies would attend the regimental drill and review to be held in Trenton. The local company on that occasion expects to be awarded the two trophies won by them on the rifle ranges at Sea Girt last summer. It is also understood that an announcement will be made at that time about the possibilities of the Second Regiment participating in the Inauguration parade.

FINAL SESSION OF CONFERENCE

Prevention the Theme of Closing Meeting of Charities Annual Convention.

WOMEN AS SPEAKERS

Mrs. Charles H. Israels Discusses Rational Recreation and Miss Askew and Miss Connolly Also Talk on Vital Problems.

After a three days' session, at the Plainfield High School Auditorium, the twelfth annual meeting of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction came to a close late yesterday afternoon, the 450 delegates from all parts of the State leaving for their respective homes. Probably the chief feature of the afternoon's session was the address on "Rational Recreation" delivered by Mrs. Charles H. Israels, the chairman of the committee on amusement resources of the working girls of New York city.

Mrs. Israels said:

"Boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and twenty years are passing through their first years of work and social endeavor and the community in which they live should seek to regulate their amusement and work. In the last fifteen years we have built up an army of boys and girls who form the background of our industrial work. Boys do not crave for exercise any more than girls and if the community provides it for one it should also provide it for the other. A great majority of the girls of the present generation do not have their recreation properly regulated. The nation is careless in its treatment of the working class. It throws them on their own resources to obtain the recreation for which they crave and they make their own friends and find young men of their own liking but who are, in many cases, the kind who lead these innocent girls to wrong doing.

"Every man running an amusement enterprise does it for profit and does not care what kind of a spectacle he presents to his patrons. The working class of boys and girls frequent these places of amusement and in nearly every one of them free dancing is offered. The dancing is free because the proprietor as a rule runs his recreation center in the backroom of a saloon or amusement park and after giving the attendance from three to six minutes of waltzing he is fully repaid by the way in which the dancers quench their thirst at his bar.

"Can there be any decent public places of amusement? Yes, if regulated by the community at large. The dangers in the unsupervised places of amusement are the greatest imaginable. Over eighty per cent. of our so-called bad women of the present day, spent the early part of their life looking for some resort where they could satisfy their craving for amusement. They were not then wise to the ways of the world and were led astray by some profit seeking proprietor. We can control these recreation centers by either of two ways, firstly, by legislative enactment, and secondly by providing some decent but adequate substitute. The responsibility of the community's public amusement rests with the social workers in that community. You can complain about the proprietor of a dance hall which you think is indecent or that you think is dangerous to the welfare of the growing generation, but unless you have actually been there and investigated the existing conditions your complaint will not be recognized.

"Business interests are business interests, and if these places are opposed by public sentiment the proprietors will not attempt to do business. If he knows that public sentiment is against him he will not attempt to break down the barrier. You must seek the co-operation of the proprietors of these places and show them what is bad and what ought to be eliminated and he will have to be enlightened as to the existing evils before he will do anything toward eliminating them. Public dance hall legislation is being adopted all over the country and the leaders of thought in every community are the ones to cope with this situation.

"See that your friends do not lead you where you will be exposed to the temptations of the underworld. Cheap dance halls in the wilds of Newark and the swell country clubs of New Jersey have dances of the same name but the manner in which the motions are displayed in poorly ventilated and cheap Newark halls are greatly exaggerated. Your dresses, manners, carriage and talk are copied by the younger generation who like your "style" and copy it. They will exaggerate your habits to a terrifying degree. Every

TOKEN OF ESTEEM FROM PATROLMEN

Policemen Present Gold-headed Cane to Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy.

President Tobias Nolan and a committee comprising Richard Birmingham, chairman; Arthur McGinley and Fred Bader, waited on former Mayor G. W. V. Moy at his office on Front street, this afternoon and on behalf of the local and honorary members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, presented him with a handsome gold headed cane as a token of appreciation of his efforts and interest in the association.

The cane was presented to Mr. Moy by City Judge W. G. DeMeza and then followed brief remarks by Mr. Nolan and other member of the committee. Mr. Moy thanked the members for the expression of good will and spoke in the highest terms of the association, which he hoped would continue to prosper.

HE FELL FIFTY FEET BUT ESCAPED DEATH

Wm. Rouf's Leg Fractured and He Was Otherwise Hurt by the Mishap.

While engaged in some iron construction work at the International Motor Truck's plant in this city this morning, William Rouf, of Hoboken, an employee of the company, fell from a fifty foot pole and sustained injuries which will incapacitate him for some time. In dropping from the pole Rouf struck a number of iron beams projecting from the sides of the pole and received some severe contusions. Fellow workmen picked the injured man up in an unconscious condition and he was hurried to the hospital in an automobile. At the institution it was found upon examination that Rouf was suffering from a fractured leg and a number of serious contusions.

Rouf is twenty-four years of age. He was engaged in the construction work this morning along with a number of other employes when he was seen suddenly to lose his balance and tumble off backwards from the fifty foot pole on which he was working. The pole was held in place by a number of iron braces and crosstrees through which Rouf's body had its way in falling to the ground.

SACRED HEART EUCHRE A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Under the auspices of the Sacred Heart R. C. church, South Plainfield, a euchre and dance was held at that place, Saturday night. Mrs. Patrick Kaine, of South Plainfield, received first prize and was presented with a ton of coal. Others who were awarded prizes were the Misses Mary Gallagher and Irene Miller; Mrs. Geo. Bradbury, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, William Farrell, J. M. Young and William Teeple. Following the euchre dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

FUNERAL OF ALPHEUS MILLER.

The funeral of Alpheus Miller, colored, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, will be held at the late home on Richmond street, tomorrow afternoon. Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Balch Luerssen, and daughter, Edward Luerssen, of Reading, Pa., spent Sunday with Mr. Luerssen's mother, Mrs. Bartels, of Watchung, at which time there was a family reunion in honor of the eighty-third birthday anniversary of Mrs. Bartels.

CALKINS AGAIN P. C. C. PRESIDENT

Re-elected at Annual Meeting Last Night After Review of the Year's Work.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Decide to Re-incorporate in Order to Enlarge Membership of Trustees' Board—Floating Debt Has Been Wiped Out.

Officers were elected, reports presented and the proposition to re-incorporate the club so that hereafter there may be twelve trustees instead of nine, was approved at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club last night at the Hartridge Auditorium. The reports of the chairmen of the different committees were not read as they will be printed in pamphlet form for distribution among the members.

These officers were elected: President, Leighton Calkins; vice president, J. P. Stevens; secretary, Dr. F. E. DuBois; treasurer, S. D. Lounsbery. Dr. F. E. DuBois, S. W. Merrihew and Arthur M. Collens were elected trustees, and under the plan of re-incorporation, Leighton Calkins and S. D. Lounsbery were chosen as trustees to act with Henry D. Hibbard, Henry W. Brower and George S. Clay in selecting the three new members of the board, making twelve in all. The present nine trustees are Leighton Calkins, J. P. Stevens, Dr. F. E. DuBois, S. D. Lounsbery, S. W. Merrihew, R. S. Rowland, Arthur M. Collens, J. E. Erickson and R. H. Cox.

The chairmen of the various committees for the coming year, chosen at the same time the officers were elected, are House, R. S. Cox; green, J. E. Erickson; golf, R. S. Rowland; tennis, S. W. Merrihew; buildings, Arthur M. Collens. George S. Clay, H. D. Hibbard and H. W. Brower were named as the 1914 nominating committee.

The report of the treasurer, S. D. Lounsbery, showed the club to be in excellent financial condition, with no floating debt, and the club during the past year has kept within its appropriations.

The balance sheet, December 31, 1912, shows assets of $39,107.62, including improvements, and the liabilites, including mortgage bonds, and reserve or surplus invested in property to be the same. The cash statement shows a balance, January 1, 1912, of $16.33, with income per income account, $25,451.07, and bills payable amounting to $500, a total of $25,967.40. The disbursements are the same with a balance on December 31 last of $668.19. The statement of income account for the past year shows receipts of $25,451.07. The excess income for the year amounted to $930.88. The assets are further increased by house committee cash balance in State Trust Company of $127.76.

The annual report of President Calkins was very complete and reviewed in an interesting way the club's work for the past year. In commenting on the fact that the club was fortunate in securing the services of George W. Eke as superintendent, Mr. Calkins said that under has management the restaurant had been run at a saving of about $650 over the year before; the cost of the restaurant service in 1911 exceeded the revenue by about $1,800 and in 1912 by about $1,150. The services of Mr. Eke, as well as those of his wife as housekeeper, and his daughter as office assistant will be continued, Mr. Eke having been put in actual charge of all the club property with absolute authority.

The farm house has been put in thorough repair so that Mr. Eke and his family; also Martin O'Loughlin, the club professional and his wife, may live there permanently. Other improvements during the year have been the painting of all club buildings at a cost of $482.33; the moving and repair of caddie house, costing $448.55, and several other changes have been made in buildings and grounds.

The membership during the past year was 357 active against 332 in 1911; 95 associates, the same as in 1911; 369 juniors, against 380 in 1911, and 21 non-resident members against 18 in 1911. Mr. Calkins said that the club had lived up to its promise to operate within the income and the club is now without a floating debt. The bonded debt was reduced by $1,000 as usual, and now stands at $27,300.

In September of last year the trustees authorized a special voluntary subscription from golfers to complete the golf course. After the subscription list is closed specifications and estimates of the new work contemplated will be submitted to the trustees for approval.

Mr. Calkins referred briefly to the proposed change to re-incorporate, and later Henry L. DeForest, chairman of that committee, presented

BOY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH

Young Bandle Took Iodine Following Quarrel With His Mother.

PHYSICIAN SAVES HIM

Swallowed Wrong Medicine Says Parent on Visit to Newspaper Office—Physician Wouldn't Confirm a Suicide Tale.

Elmer Bandle, 21 years old, of 204 Manson place, is ill today from the effects of a dose of iodine taken yesterday morning, which but for the heroic work of Dr. Raphael Yood, of 401 Grant avenue, would have caused his death. Although Bandle says he took the iodine by mistake for some cough medicine there are suspicious circumstances. Some claim that he had a quarrel with his mother and this was confirmed by Mrs. Bandle in a statement to a Daily Press reporter.

Dr. Yood was summoned to the Bandle home by telephone shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning. When he arrived he found young Bandle stretched prone on the kitchen floor frothing at the mouth. The stomach pump was soon put into operation and after nearly three hours work the victim was restored to consciousness. The physician would not say whether it was a case of attempted suicide or not but would not deny that it was.

So critical was Bandle's condition that Father Sciola, of St. Mary's church, was summoned to administer the last rites.

At his home today, Bandle appeared none the worse from his narrow escape from death, except that his face was very pale. Questioned he said he awoke about 5:30 o'clock in the morning and having a headache went to the bathroom to get some cough medicine. He did not explain why he was going to take cough medicine for a headache. Continuing he said he drank the contents of a small bottle of iodine by mistake and his shrieks of pain brought other members of the family to his side. At this point his statements were conflicting. He said some girls across the street summoned the doctor, but did not give any excuse for the girl's being out of bed at so early an hour.

Hardly had he finished his story when his mother interrupted with these words, addressing the reporter:

"Are you here about Elmer's trouble?' He and I had a little quarrel and he took the stuff just to scare me a little." At this juncture she received a message from her son in the "sign language" to keep still.

Throughout the interview Mrs. Bandle was ignorant that their interrogator was a news reporter and when learning this, uncermoniously helped him from the house. She later called at the Daily Press office and denied that her son had attempted to take his life, asserting that his story about the cough medicine was true, which conflicts with her statement about her son trying to scare her.

Less than a year ago young Bandle ran away from home as the result of a family quarrel and was gone some time.

YOUTH DISAPPEARED ON WAY TO SCHOOL

Andrew Greve, Fifteen Years Old, Last Seen on a Main Line Trolley Car.

Andrew Greve, aged 15 years, of 762 St. Mary's avenue, disappeared from his home, yesterday, and his parents have sought the aid of the police in finding him. The lad started for the Stillman School yesterday morning, but according to the teacher he did not report there. Through investigation the police learned that Greve, in company with three boys of his own age, boarded an eastbound Main Line trolley car during the morning, and fares for the quartet were paid by Greve, who offered the conductor a $10 bill.

Mrs. Greve does not know where her son secured $10, for to the best of her knowledge he had no money when he left home in the morning. When the lad failed to return from school at the usual time his parents became worried and they immediately notified the police. The police have thus far been unable to learn the names of the three boys who went away with Greve. It is thought that when the money is spent the lads will return home. The police of other nearby cities have been requested to be on the lookout for the runaways.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will conduct an all day sewing meeting in the chapel rooms tomorrow. Luncheon will be served at noon.

CONNELLY NOW COUNTY'S JUDGE

Senate Confirms Governor's Appointment to Which There was Objection.

HOW LONG IS TERM?

Some Contend That He Will Serve Only Until Next April—Stein is Confirmed as Prosecutor of the Pleas.

Trenton, Feb. 5.—The Senate this morning confirmed the appointment not only of Mr. Connolly as Common Pleas Judge of Union county, but also those of Alfred Stein, as prosecutor of Union and Robert H. McAdams as judge of the District Court, Elizabeth. The Republicans opposed the confirmation of Mr. Connolly on the grounds of uncertainty as to whether the appointment was for the full term or for the unexpired term of Judge Atwater.

Elizabeth, Feb. 5.—Governor Wilson's appointment of James C. Connolly as county judge to succeed Judge Edward T. Atwater, has stirred up a hornet's nest and has also raised some questions which it will probably be up to the Attorney-General to decide. Some people contend that Mr. Connolly's appointment is for the unexpired term of Judge Atwater, expiring April 1 next and not for the full term of five years from date.

Judge Atwater has resigned, but his resignation has not been accepted. The appointment of Mr. Connolly does not state, it is said, that his term begins April 1, 1913. In the meantime the county court is without a regular judge, it being necessary to borrow Judge Paul Queen, of Hunterdon county, until the place is permanently filled.

Much opposition to the naming of Mr. Connolly came from friends of William R. Wilson and Judge Peter Gilhooley, both of whom were candidates for the office and also from those who object to the appointee on the ground of his strong friendship for Gen. Dennis F. Collins, the head of the Peter Breidt Brewing Company, of this city.

Senator Carlton B. Pierce objected to the confirmation of Mr. Connolly on the ground that a better appointment could have been made. Senators have questioned the right of the Governor to name Connolly for anything but the unexpired term because of the resignation of Judge Atwater. The appointment is generally considered as strengthening the prestige of Gen. Dennis Collins, who is a member of the State Democratic Committee, as well as that of Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., and United States Senator James E. Martine, who are credited with securing the office for Mr. Connolly.

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

Dunellen & Vicinity

George Apgar, of Front street, who has been laid up for the past week with the grip, has recovered.

Several members of William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a benefit dance last night for one of their members who has been detained at his home for the past month through injuries which he received while at his work. The affair was largely attended and a good time was had by all present. Edgar Starker and Harry Gise were the chairmen of the committee in charge.

Washington Camp, No. 98, P. O. S. of A., will hold a class initiation tomorrow night at the close of the regular business meeting. Five new members are expected to be present to "ride the goat."

John Rinehart, of North avenue, has been forced to take another short vacation because of ill health.

The Dunellen girls' basketball team will go to Scotch Plains tonight to meet the Scotch Plains Parish House five. Several games have been arranged to take place between these two teams, but for some reason or other they were cancelled at the last minute. The game booked for tonight will without a doubt be played.

The Public Service gas department street gang was in town yesterday morning repairing the leak in the gas mains at the corner of Washington and North avenues.

Bergen Naylor, the husky guard of the Baraca Class basketball team, who has been forced out of the game owing to an abscess on the back of his foot, is again in good condition and will undoubtedly appear in the church lineup against the Company K aggregation tomorrow night in the gymnasium of the Presbyterian church.

Work on the boiler sheds in the rear of the round-house has been held up again on account of the inclement weather. The walls of the new shed are erected and the roof partly laid. With a week's clear weather the building should be completed.

The work on the Standard Oil Company's storage and pumping station is nearing completion. The concrete walls have been erected all around the building except in the front, where a high steel picket fence has been erected.

Classified advertising will sell that piano for its cash value.

A cottage prayer-meeting will be held at the home of Harry Denison, in Park avenue, tomorrow night.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews will conduct the weekly prayer-meeting which will be held tonight in the Baptist church.

Up to late this afternoon Instructor Burnett Brodziak was puzzled to know whether the O. O. C. girls' basketball team of Plainfield was to put in an appearance for the game scheduled for tonight at the Parish House against the Nonpariel feminine five, for the female basketball championship of Plainfield. Numerous and varying reports have been circulated, some members of the O. O. C. team claiming the game had been cancelled, others denying this, while some knew nothing of the arranged game at all. Should they show up, however, a sterling exhibition can be looked for.

The game for the feminine championship of Plainfield will not be the only attraction at the Parish House tonight. The local girls' team is scheduled to lineup against the strong Dunellen aggregation.

Instructor Burnett Brodziak, who is managing the bowling team, is anxious to book games to be rolled on the local alleys. Any amateur team will be accommodated.

The candidates for the bowling team that will represent the Parish House the balance of the season practiced last night and the following eight men were selected: George Vanderbilt, Joseph Alberts, John Alberts, O. C. Rhenhart, Edward Hatfield, C. Eller, T. Denitzio and F. Weldon. Three of this number will be dropped by the wayside in the next three games. Who they will be depends upon each man's score.

Jacob Jacobs has purchased the Lawrence Sirisky property along the Central Railroad in North Raritan.

Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, has granted the Hungarian residents privilege to erect a church edifice. They recently purchased the old Reformed parsonage property for this purpose.

At the monthly meeting of the Raritan Board of Commissioners on Monday night several young men asked that the board take some action to have the Central Railroad provide an early train from this place, about 6 o'clock preferred. At the present time many of them are compelled to go to Somerville by trolley in order to take the 6 o'clock train from that place. In case the trolley is late, which happens quite often, particularly in the winter time, they miss the train. The counsel of the board was directed to lay the matter before the Public Utilities Board. An ordinance was introduced for the licensing of circuses, moving pictures, dance halls, pool and billiard rooms, etc. The license fees were also fixed. It was reported that a new crosswalk is being laid at the corner of Thompson and Somerset streets. Mr. Reger, the counsel, stated that February 14 had been set for the trial of suits aginst a number of property owners who had failed to pay assessments for curbing and flagging. It was also reported by the chief of police that a number of windows about town had been broken by boys throwing stones, but that the police were unable to catch the culprits.

High Bridge-Califon.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious recurrence of my former trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

JUSTICE PITNEY'S BIRTHDAY.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—Associate Justice Pitney, of the Supreme Court of the United States, attained his fifty-fifth birthday anniversary today. Two weeks hence he will have completed his first year of service on the supreme bench. In point of age Justice Pitney is one of the youngest members of the highest tribunal. His only juniors are Justice Van Devanter and Justice Hughes. Justice Van Devanter is only a few months younger than Justice Pitney, but Justice Hughes is his junior by several years.

MEXICO'S DAY TO CELEBRATE.

City of Mexico, Feb. 5.—All Mexico was en fete today on the anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution. Free performances were given in the theatres for the poor and military bands gave concerts in the principal plazas. Crowds thronged the Zocalo, in front of the National Palace, throughout the day. The demonstrations in the capital and in other of the leading cities were of an orderly character.

Old Hats Refinished Made Equal to New

Have you ever realized the amount of money wasted every year on hats that are cast aside simply because they are soiled or out of shape or the trimmings have become shabby? They can be refinished and retrimmed to look like new. Now is the time to have your old hats fixed over as it will not be long before straw hats will be worn. You will save the price of a new felt hat before the straw hat season opens. Bring in your old hats and we will convince you it is worth while having them fixed over. Shape changed if desired.

The Classified Advertisements

in the Plainfield Daily Press are result-producers and the best investment for the price paid. They cost one cent a word undisplayed and cover the entire field—Wants, to let, for sale, board, furnished rooms, real estate exchanges, automobiles, etc. Strict supervision is given to admit only those that are unobjectionable. A ten-cent advertisement has often closed a transaction that has amounted to hundreds of dollars. Property-owners who are seeking the best paying tenants or those who have money to buy real estate; business men who want help above the average; manufacturers who are looking for skilled labor; housewives who want to reach competent help for their homes—these and others will find the logical medium. Experience aplenty has proven that the Daily Press supplies the best help, secures the best tenants and makes the best sales of real estate and other needs. It goes among its readers in the evening when there is time to consider the subject properly; it is read by a class of people who want and seek the best.

There are vacant rooms and desirable real estate that would bring owners quick returns if advertised in the Daily Press and hundreds of small businesses could be economically and resultfully advertised at one cent a word.

1912—King George and Queen Mary arrived home from India.

Plainfield, N. J., February 5, 1913.

HOW TO ADVERTISE.

No man in America has profited more from the use of advertising space in daily newspapers than the "Merchant Prince," John Wanamaker, at once the pioneer in the department store business and in display advertising in public mediums. Wanamaker's bills for publicity are enormous but as he has persistently bought space in reliable publications day in and day out and year in and year out for the last thirty-six years he knows that advertising pays.

These few words of wisdom from the brain of the greatest of all merchants of all generations, Mr. Wanamaker, commend themselves to all shopkeepers:

"To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick to it like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It is likened to a team pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic, jerky pulls will not budge that load, while one-half the power in steady effort will start it and keep it moving."

This is Ash-Wednesday and it marks the Lenten season of forty days. The annual penetential period this year begins earlier than it has since 1858 and earlier than it will again until 2008. As for Easter Sunday it will fall on March 23, a date earlier than in very many years. The season of self-denial is rigorously observed by the Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran communions throughout the world.

The Newark Evening Star lets loose its wrath because Woodrow Wilson, vexed by newspaper correspondents, actually gave vent to the word "damn." Courts have held that the word is not profane, but as "Jim" Smith, of course, never befouled his lips with such an utterance, the dethroned boss is much incensed.

Both appointments made by Governor Wilson for Union county on Monday, judge and prosecutor, were given to Elizabethans. There are very few jobs not held by county seat politicians from the three Assemblyman down to the clerical forces, and one is beginning to wonder why Elizabeth doesn't grab everything.

Now that another New York 'cop' has confessed that he collected fabulous sums as graft for the last five years, it is to be expected that Gotham's fosselized mayor will come out with a denunciation of the public press for daring to attack the corrupt police department.

It was the late Frank Runyon who referred to the Public Service trolley schedule as a zig-zag service. He must have referred to the Netherwood line service during the early evening hours when seldom if ever is a car on time or anywhere near on time.

The "rump" Board of Freeholders has reversed the adage, "the office should seek the man and not the man the office," but there is a terrible awakening coming to these office-hungry politicians very shortly.

After a most instructive and entertaining meeting, the State Charities Conference adjourned yesterday. The local committees are deserving of the highest praise for the success of the convention.

The Assembly has passed a bill providing a punishment of two years in prison for wife deserters. The whipping post would be more effective.

What's the Mayor going to shake-up next?

NAME COMMITTEES ON SCHOOL BOARD

Instruct Dr. Maxson to Attend Nat. Supt.'s Convention at Philadelphia.

When the Board of Education met last night, President William S. Tyler named the following members to serve on the various committees for the ensuing year: Teachers, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, James F. Buckle and W. S. Tyler; book, James F. Buckle, Calvin E. Brodhead and Mr. Tyler; building and grounds, Floyd T. Woodhull, Dr. Hedges and Mr. Tyler; financial, Mr. Woodhull, Dr. Hedges and Mr. Brodhead; fuel, Mr. Woodhull, Mr. Brodhead and Mr. Buckle.

It was unanimously decided to have Superintendent of Schools Dr. Henry M. Maxson attend the National Superintendents convention to be held in Philadelphia the latter part of this month. Mr. Tyler was elected to represent the local schools on the executive committee of the County School Board Association for the ensuing year. The finance committee, through its chairman, reported that the portion of taxes collected to date to be spent for educational purposes amounted to $4,442.50. Invoices rendered to the Board in the amount of $1,300 were ordered paid.

Following the business session, Dr. J. F. Van Horn, medical inspector of schools, gave an account of his work in the local institutions.

ALLIES REPULSED AT ADRIANOPLE, REPORT

Bombardment Began at Exact Hour Armistice Expired.

Constantinople. Feb. 5.—The garrison of Adrianople easily repulsed the attacks by the Bulgarians on the north and east fronts of the fortress, according to the official report issued here.

Although no serious fighting has occurred along the Tchatalja lines, the Bulgarian troops are not idle. The village of Tchatalja, which has hitherto marked the limit of the Bulgarian lines, is in flames. Its destruction was apparently decided on for tactical reasons by the Bulgarian commander.

An encounter between Bulgarian and Turkish troops took place at Malatepe, near Gallipoli.

London, Feb. 5.—A full division of Bulgarian infantry advanced to the attack of Adrianople under cover of a fierce bombardment, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia. The result of the assault is not yet known.

Throughout the night the great siege and field guns of the allies maintained an incessant fire, sending thousands of shot and shell upon the string of forts surrounding the Turkish city, and it is believed that not even the residential district was spared.

Some quarters of the city are in flames, the bombardment having been resumed with even more intensity in the morning, according to unofficial advices received here from the front.

The bombardment began promptly at the hour when the armistice expired. The striking of the hour was the signal for the renewal of the war, and the roaring of the huge guns of the besiegers continued all night, while the cannon of the Turks flashed in defiance.

ADMITS BOMB MURDERS.

John Paul Farrell Torn to Hysteria by Police "Third Degree."

New York, Feb. 5.—John Paul Farrell, worn to the verge of hysteria by the unrelenting process of the police "third degree" pursued for twenty-four hours, confessed to Deputy Commissioner George S. Dougherty to being the infernal machine murderer.

He said that he had made the bomb which killed Grace Walker, sometimes known as Helen Taylon, in her apartments at 103 West Seventy-seventh street, just a year ago yesterday.

He made and sent the engine of murder that exploded in the apartments of Judge Otto Rosalsky, 611 West One Hundred and Tenth street, on March 16 of last year.

He contrived the mechanical bomb which exploded last Sunday night in an apartment at 1475 Fulton avenue, the Bronx, instantly killing Mrs. Madeline Herrera, blinding her husband, Bernardo, and seriously wounding Miss Sarah Soughtman.

POINCARE AND WIFE.

New President of France Married Woman of Italian Birth.

The charming Italian woman—her maiden name was Henriette Benucci—having cause for divorcing her husband, appealed to M. Poincare, then one of the leading lawyers of Paris, to represent her before the courts. Her excellent character and noble qualities of mind, as brought out at the trial, so appealed to the eminent lawyer that he was later led to pay court to his former client, and he won her hand.

ROUTS ROBBER WITH JABS OF HER HATPIN

Athletic Young Woman Aids In Thief's Capture.

Hoboken, N. J., Feb. 5.—Miss Alice Tome, athletic and twenty-two, ascended the elevated station at Ferry and Washington streets last night at 9 o'clock to catch a trolley car and go to her home, 126 Jackson avenue, Jersey City Heights.

As she reached the station a man dived from underneath a shed and seized her by the throat. Miss Tome put her purse in her pocket and gave fight. She broke the man's clutch on her throat and screamed. Then she ran a long hatpin deep into the man's body. He jumped back and again she jabbed him. He began backing toward the stairs, she following him, screaming.

Her cries were heard by Justice of the Peace Henry Behrens and several other men. They ran to her assistance.

The robber dashed down the stairs, Miss Tome following. The men took up the chase. Two blocks away Detectives Weinthal and Schaeffer joined in the pursuit and the fugitive was overhauled. Miss Tome was near when the man was caught.

He was taken to police headquarters, where he said he is Henry Miller of Buffalo. He was arraigned before Recorder McGovern and held without bail for the grand jury.

SUFFRAGETTES CHOSE PRISON

After Plastering London Police Station With Posters.

London, Feb. 5.—Three suffragettes armed with buckets of paste and big brushes plastered the facade of Marlborough street police station with "Votes For Women" posters and Women's Social and Political Union proclamations and then stood by and allowed themselves to be arrested.

Arraigned in Bow street, they refused to give their names, and the choice was given to them of five dollar fines or a week in jail. They chose imprisonment.

5 DAYS OLD, ENGAGED TO WED

Parents Agree, and Wedding Will Take Place Many Years Hence.

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 5.—Miss Clara Carter Madett and Mallett Carter, born in the same flathouse here last Thursday, are engaged to marry. The wedding is scheduled to take place many years hence.

It seemed so remarkable to the parents of the children that the stork should visit both homes within four hours that they agreed to bring up the children in the knowledge that they were engaged to each other.

WRECKED ON THE OHIO.

Passengers Have Narrow Escape When Boat Sinks In Storm.

Gallipolis, O., Feb. 5.—Fifteen passengers of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet City of Parkersburg had a narrow escape from drowning when that boat sank in the Ohio river. The vessel struck Bear Trap pier, near here, during a heavy snowstorm, and went down a few minutes later.

The crew and passengers camped on the river bank until daylight. The City of Parkersburg was a new boat, valued at $35,000.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. P. P. Gates, of Asbury Park, will lead the Bible lesson for the Christian and Missionary Alliance Society, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the German Reformed church. He is superintendent of the work of the Alliance for the State of New Jersey. Mrs. George Webster, of North Plainfield, will conduct the evening service.

The Agoga Bible Class of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold its regular monthly business meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the class rooms of the church.

PRODUCERS SIGHED.

Lee Shubert and William A. Brady were among the notable producers at the "try-it-on-the-dog" performance of "The Girl From Oklahoma" at the Plainfield theatre last night. Elizabeth Jordan, editor of Harper's Bazaar, the author of the play, was also present. The producers were just as enthusiastic as the audience. "The Oklahoma Girl" will take the cold storage treatment, no doubt.

CHAMPION TYPIST.

Rose Fritz, of New York, the champion typist of the world, will give a demonstration of speed writing in the Plainfield High School and the Plainfield Business College and School of English on Friday afternoon. Prof. Herr extends an invitation to the public to attend the demonstration in the assembly room at 2:30 o'clock.

BLIND DEAF MUTE INSANE.

Sister Says He Wants King George and Richard Croker Drowned.

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser named Harry D. Brown a commissioner to inquire, with a sheriff's jury, into the sanity of Samuel Koffman of Mount Vernon, who has been an inmate of Bloomindale since Dec. 17 last. The petitioner is a sister, Mrs. Minnie Louise Salinger of Bronxville. She says in her affidavit that her brother, who is a deaf mute and blind, has delusions and that he wants Richard Croker, King George and Queen Mary either killed or drowned.

Koffman has deposits in the Manhattan Savings bank and the Greenwich Savings bank and a life interest in the property at 223 Greenwich street, New York city. Ephraim Koffman of 572 West One Hundred and Eighty-seventh street, New York and Michael A. Koffman of London, England, are brothers of Samuel. Two other brothers, Abraham and Louis of Walden, N. Y., are deaf, dumb and blind.

—A dog, said to be owned by John Wirth, the baker, was run over by a wagon on Park avenue late yesterday afternoon and was badly hurt.

—The 6:30 o'clock west bound Main Line trolley was delayed at the corner of Front and Somerset streets last night because a team attached to an ash carter's wagon slipped and fell on the icy pavements.

HIGH BRIDGE BANK IS AGAIN OPENED

Ex-Governor Voorhees Elected President of Institution.

SHUT DOWN ON JAN. 23.

Beavers, Who Was Cashier of Bank and Who Confessed Being Defaulter, Is Still at Liberty In $10,000 Bail. Trial Comes Up Feb. 13.

High Bridge, N. J., Feb. 5.—The First National bank of High Bridge, which closed its doors on Jan. 23 following a confession by Abram L. Beavers, its cashier, that he was a defaulter, reopened. The directors held a meeting and provided for the resumption of business.

Ex-Governor Foster M. Voorhees was elected president in place of Percival Christie, who resigned on account of poor health before he knew of Beaver's doings. Mr. Voorhees will take Beaver's place in the directorate. Herbert L. Staples was elected cashier to succeed Beavers. He has long been cashier for the Taylor-Wharton Iron and Steel company. E. P. Baylor was chosen a director in the place of ex-President Christie.

Beavers, who surrendered himself on Jan. 28, is at liberty in $10,000 bail. The case against him will come up in the United States district court in Trenton on Feb. 13.

It is reported here that proceedings will soon be taken against C. I. Hudson & Co., brokers, of 36 Wall street, New York, to recover bonds hypothecated by Beavers.

7TH-DAY BAPTIST JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS ENTERTAIN

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church gave a successful entertainment last night. It included two acts from "Little Women," recitations, piano and violin duets and a tableau. Candy and other sweetmeats were on sale. "Little Women" was presented by the Misses Margaret Kimball, Jean Cottrell, Beatrice Cottrell, Marion Worden, Stephena Shaw, Elizabeth Kellogg and Helen Dalberg. Recitations were given by Estle Vars, Margaret Kimball and Robert Reid Spicer; piano and violin duets, Miss Violet Johnson and Harold Whitford. The tableaux, which was accompanied by a song by four boys, was given by Constance Shaw, John Reid Spicer, Thatcher Cottrell and Leonard Hunting. Those that sang were Louis Kimball, Elston Shaw, Robert Spicer and Harold Whitford.

The money raised by the entertainment will be used to defray the expenses of the society in the work of assisting to relieve the sufferings of the poor.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO MONROE AVE. FLOCK

Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, delivered his regular bi-monthly children's sermon last Sunday morning. As the result of this talk twenty-nine members of the Sunday-school joined the church on probation out of the forty-eight who signed cards showing that they desired to be Christians. The next of these bi-monthly sermons will be delivered by the pastor on Sunday morning, April 6, and it is expected that a number more of the two hundred and thirty members enrolled in the Sunday-school will join the probation class.

The mid-week prayer service will be conducted by the pastor tonight in the church.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold an all day sewing meeting in the Epworth House tomorrow. During the morning and afternoon session plans for teh coming year's work will be discussed. Rev. F. J. Hubach, the pastor, will deliver a short talk on "Parliamentary Rules" before the women in the afternoon.

The cantata chorus, which was recently inaugurated by the pastor, will meet for the regular weekly practice tomorrow night.

The Epworth House library will be open Friday night for the circulation of books.

MOTION PICTURES.

The program for the motion picture entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Saturday will include the following films: "At Home in the Water;" "Easter Babies;" "An Army of Two;" "Ancient Egyptian Temples;" "Jimmie's Trick;" and "$500 Reward." The film "At Home in the Water" shows George H. Corson, the great swimming expert who taught many Plainfield boys to swim, in a demonstration of swimming, diving, life-saving and water sports.

MISSIONARY WORK.

At the close of the regular business meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church held in Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon, Miss Josephine Corbin, field secretary of the Women's Home Missionary Societies, gave a short talk on the general work done by the societies for the Indian, negro and poor whites of the southern mountains. During the meeting the mite-boxes which have been held by the members for the past year were opened and about $60 was realized. This money will be used to help pay the educational expenses of a girl in Porto Rico. The annual meeting of the society will be held Thursday afternoon, March 6.

STATE VIGOROUS IN BEACH TRIAL

Defendant Worried at Unexpected Turn of Affairs.

SEEKS TO PROVE STABBING

That Murderous Attack on Mrs. Beach Was Committed by Negro, and Not by Husband, Lawyers For Defense Expect to Prove.

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 5.—The trial of Frederick O. Beach the wealthy New Yorker, who is accused of having stabbed his wife, Camilla Morse Havemeyer Beach, with intent to kill her last February, was resumed here today. When the little group of New Yorkers, friends of the Beaches, came to court they were plainly crestfallen at the hitch in the accused man's vindication.

The first day of the trial came to an end late yesterday and with it the apathetic attitude of native and official Aikenites toward the case. Instead of being cleared up at one brief session with a prompt acquittal, as was freely predicted, there is every assurance that it will take up all of tomorrow and perhaps Friday.

Yesterday was consumed in the examination of six of the state's main witnesses and four who were in the main corroboratory. Prosecutor Gunter announced at adjournment that he had seven more witnesses to put on the stand before he would be ready to sum up his case. The plans of the defense have not been disclosed, but its chief counsel, Daniel S. Henderson, declared that Mrs. Beach would be called upon to testify in behalf of her husband. The showing made by the prosecution is generally believed to have made such a step necessary and inevitable.

Adjournment came at 5:30 yesterday after a sharp clash between Prosecutor Gunter and Mr. Henderson in the course of the examination of H. H. Howard, formerly chief of police and now sheriff. This last witness proved of unexpected value to the state by his account of the events on the night of the attack on Mrs. Beach and subsequently and in his assertion that he had dropped his investigation of the affair on account of what he termed the undue part played by Mr. Henderson, who is the leading lawyer of the town, in the preliminary examinations of the participants.

Accused Sits With Wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Beach sat together and heard the prosecuting attorney attempt to prove to the jury of farmers and mill hands that the wealthy New York man had made the murderous attack upon his wife with a penknife in Aiken last winter.

Mr. Gunter, the prosecutor, directed his efforts to attacking the story told by Mr. Beach and substantiated by his wife, to the effect that Mrs. Beach had been attacked by a negro when she left the house to give her dogs an airing.

Dr. Hastings Wyman and his son, Dr. Marion Wyman, who examined Mrs. Beach's wound soon after she was cut expressed the opinion that the stab was inflicted from behind. The theory of the prosecution is that Beach attacked his wife while she was running away from him.

Dr. Wyman testified that he heard three distinct sets of screams by women at the Beach home, which is opposite his, and later heard a knock on the door and a voice saying, "Let me in, this is Beach."

The prosecutor, Mr. Gunter, opened the case by having read the testimony of Lallah Wyman, a girl who heard Pearl Hampton, a negress, scream after being attacked and saw a man run away after Mrs. Beach was stabbed in the neck.

She could not say whether the man was white or black.

PROPOSED IN CEMETERIES.

Bigamist Says He Always Pointed to "First Wife's" Grave.

Boston, Feb. 5.—How Percival H. Dunn, given a hearing on a charge of bigamy, had taken her to a cemetery, pointed out a gravestone and led her to believe that it marked the resting place of the body of his first wife was told in court by Mrs. Dunn No. 2, formerly Miss Catherine Sheehan. At that time she was not married to Dunn.

Dunn broke down and admitted that whenever he had a new sweetheart he would take her to a cemetery, point out some grave as that of his "first wife" and then propose marriage. He pleaded guilty of bigamy and was held in heavy bonds for the superior court. Two of his wives appeared in court.

TRUANTS NOVEL EXCUSE PROVES OF NO AVAIL

Two small colored boys, giving their names as Richard Tate and Clarence Richards, who said they lived in West Fourth street, were apprehended by Patrolman Muir near the North Avenue railroad station this morning and taken to police headquarters as truants. Questioned they said they were pupils of the Washington School, but that they were staying away because of a case of diphtheria in the house in which they lived.

Inquiry at the Board of Health offices brought the fact to light that at present there is not one case of this disease throughout the city. The boys were taken back to their class rooms in the Washington School.

ORDER OF MOOSE PLAN FOR WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, Loyal Order of Moose, at an open meeting in Junior Hall on East Front street Monday night, took steps toward organizing a women's auxiliary. Mrs. John J. Carroll, organizer, was present and after explaining the proposition, succeeded in getting twenty-seven names for charter membership. It is proposed to institute the auxiliary within two weeks.

After the business session short addresses were made by Supreme District Deputy Dictator Rev. Mr. Bye, of the Elizabeth Lodge; David W. Kelley, district deputy organizer; Dictator William Addis; Charles L. Holstein, treasurer. There was also a musical program, including piano and vocal solos by Mrs. David Kelley, Thomas Parson, George Luhr, George York and William Addis. At the close of the program refreshments were served. The committee in charge comprised Louis Feiring, Albert Smith and James T. McCarty.

COURT WILL NOT DECIDE CRONEY LIABILITY CASE

Elizabeth, Feb. 5.—Judge Paul Queen in the Union county court today decided that he would not give any decision in the case of Mrs. George H. Croney, of Plainfield, who through her counsel, is seeking damages for the death of her husband under the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act. Croney was employed by the Union County Mosquito Commission and died on October 15 last as the result of injuries received while working for the commission.

There has been a question as to the liability of the county or the commission, and the case when settled will probably establish a precedent. Judge Queen has decided to let the matter come before Judge James C. Conolly, the new appointee, if the latter's nomination is confirmed.

William R. Codington, the county Connolly, the new appointee.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

MARKET, HALSEY & WASHINGTON STS.

"Made in Newark" Exposition

When the Greater Store opened its doors last October the people of New Jersey marveled at the hugeness of the enterprise, its perfection of detail and its vast importance to the community. Monday, when the Mayor of our city turned the switch which sent the electrical fluid coursing through the wires into the various motors and dynamos and set in motion the great Industrial Exposition, the people marveled again, this time at the ENTERPRISE of the Greater Store, its resourcefulness and perseverance. The Bamberger "Made in Newark" exposition is a huge success, an accomplishment worth while—a milestone in the way of civic progress. The Bamberger store is a Newark institution, run by Newark brains and capital, therefore it is fitting that the city's greatest industrial show should be held here. It is indeed the logical outcome of events. Thousands of people visited the exposition yesterday and went away enthusiastic. Other thousands will come today. This big industrial show is NOT a commercial enterprise in any sense of the word. It is a fair—an exposition—a civic function. Don't miss it.

ASH WEDNESDAY OBSERVANCES

In Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches Prescribed Services Were Held.

MARKS LENT'S START

Self-denial for the Next Forty Days Throughout the World by Episcopalians and Catholics—Services Daily.

Ash Wednesday, which marks the beginning of the Lenten season, was observed in all of the local Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches to-day, the prescribed services being held. In the Roman Catholic churches the ancient custom of sprinkling ashes on the heads of the penitents who kneelt at the altar rail after mass, was observed.

Services were held at the Holy Cross church this morning with the rector, Rev. William McCoy, officiating. Holy Communion was celebrated at 7:30 o'clock; litany, penitential office and sermon at 10:30 o'clock, and evening prayer, with a sermon, will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, was in charge of the services at the Grace Episcopal church, which included services at 7 and 8 o'clock. Services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Ash Wednesday services at the St. Stephen's church were held as follows: Holy communion, 9 o'clock; matins, litany and penitential office at 10:30 o'clock. Evensong, with an address, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight, with the rector, Rev. Warner E. Le Ward, in charge, and Herbert Peck as lay reader.

More elaborate services consisting of special music and the distribution of ashes were held at the two Catholic churches and will be continued this evening for the benefit of those who found it impossible to be present this morning. At St. Mary's church masses were celebrated at 6:00, 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock, and at St. Joseph's church at 7:30 o'clock. Ashes are distributed at St. Mary's church in the morning and evening and at St. Joseph's church in the evening.

FINAL CONFERENCE SESSION

place of public amusement in your city should be so safe that any boy or girl could be just as safe in these places as he could in his or her own home."

Miss Askew is the Library Organizer for the State Commission, at Trenton, and she delivered an excellent address on "The Place and Power of Stories and the Problems of Childhood." She began her talk with a series of pleasing stories showing how Giant Fear, Giant Hopelessness, Giant Weakness and Giant Vice may be overcome. How weakness may be aided by strength, how illness may result from sorrow and pain and how morality, imagination and religion are developed by stories.

In telling her tales the worker for the State Commission said the stories are calculated to arouse energies and forces for building up the best there is in the child, to counteract the evil influences that surround so many children from birth and to drive home certain specific points that will improve the temper and general character. "Stories give great pleasure to the children who live in the underworld," said the speaker, "who delight to hear of the beautiful outside world and [illegible]. Stories also develop attention and this trains the mind so that larger things can be absorbed." Miss Askew was loudly applauded when she declared "The child is practiced upon by everyone who desires to exploit a new theory."

Vying with Miss Askew in promoting mirth, came Miss Louise Conolly, Educational Expert from the Newark Free Public Library, who spoke on "Moving Pictures as a Social Factor." "Motion pictures," Miss Connolly held, "are like suns in the world. They are the most wonderful examples of modern mechanism and advance science and are highly educational. They teach history, geography and literature, and give material for beautiful imagination. They reduce facts that are too big for children to a proper size, and things too small so that they can be seen and understood."

The speaker then outlined the history of the motion picture machine since its invention and told of the rapid growth of the motion picture business. She said that over $200,000,000 was at present invested in motion pictures and that the pictures of Dante's "Inferno," that were shown in this city some months ago, cost over $125,000 to produce. She said the State Legislature requires every moving picture film that is shown in this State to be brought before a Board of ensorship and if not passed by this board the owner is not allowed to exhibit the film in this State.

AS TO SKEETER REPEAL.

Elizabeth, Feb. 5.—The Union County Mosquito Commission at its meeting here yesterday decided to offer no amendments to the "repealer" act which it is proposed to introduce in the Legislature abolishing mosquito commissions. It was the belief that the act should be allowed to pass or fail in its present form. Louis J. Richards, of Union, together with William DeLany, of Hudson, and Dr. Hunt, of Newark, held a conference on the subject a few days ago. At that time the proposed amendment was presented, but the Union county commission does not take kindly to it and will take no further action.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION BILL HELD TO BE ILLEGAL

Trenton, Feb. 5.—Assemblyman Richards, of Atlantic, the Republican House leader, received an opinion today from Attorney General Wilson ruling that the Hennessey bill for a constitutional convention is unconstitutional. He held that the only way the present constitution can be changed is in the manner therein prescribed, namely that the amendments be passed by two subsequent Legislatures and be then submitted to the people. When the Governor was asked about the opinion he said he had no comment to make. Assemblyman Hennessey declared that twenty-seven States have changed their constitution through the convention method. He said he had given six months' study to the proposition and thought this bill was a legal one.

JERRY GINN of Dog Watch Hollow

Jerry Ginn has reformed! Not for any puny principle of a New Year's resolution, but a really-truly-both-hands-up-cross-my-heart-hope-I-die resolution never, never, never to imbibe too freely again of that which inebriates. Should this resolution hold—and we devoutly hope it may—Ginn will be a stranger to his former acquaintances and likewise to himself.

Jerry Ginn lives near Dog Watch Hollow, which is in the northern part of Somerset county. Dog Watch Hollow is not on the map, yet it is well known to many nature lovers, as it is here that the first dogwood blossoms bloom and the first spring flowers come peeping through the ground. Here in a windowless hovel Ginn abides with his mother—who, by the way, is reputed to be a witch, and from her appearance the neighbors are almost led to believe it.

During a wayside nap, which took place near the Bound Brook cemetery on a July evening, a local wag, one David Dupont by name, placed a large giant firecracker near Jerry Ginn's head. As the "cracker" exploded Jerry rose suddenly and started rapidly for home. In his course was a wooden footbridge spanning a creek some twenty feet wide. David states and affirms that he was listening attentively and as Ginn passed over the structure the resounding detonation indicated that his foot struck it but once in the passage, so great was the man's haste.

When questioned the next day as to his unusual celerity in passing homeward, Jerry Ginn explained that while resting quietly in the above mentioned place a ghost crept up and said "Boo!" right in his ear and immediately he had a desire to reach safety behind the protection of his home.

This protection, by the by, is unique, and consists of a number of dogs tied in a circle to trees surrounding his shanty. So numerous are the canines, and so closely are they tied each to the other, that it is impossible to reach the cottage without being exposed to the attack of one or more of the beasts. No, this is not how Dog Watch Hollow gets its name. The name was there before Ginn came. Rather from the name of the locality did Jerry get his idea of fortification.

Jerry Ginn is not a musician. Yet he has a harmonica of powerful sound which he plays in season and out of season—plays rather by main strength than by any conception of harmony. Likewise he sings—volume of sound counting more with him than subtle melody. These two accomplishments he practices alternately on his homeward way from his daily carousals, to while away the time if it is daylight, and to keep away evil spirits if it is dark. His favorite ballad, both instrumental and vocal, is "My Gypsy Daisy, My Gypsy Daisy," reiterated on the same key, but varying in volume.

Jerry Ginn has a firm belief in the supernatural, mysterious and occult. This belief has been fostered by practical jokes of his friends, such, for instance, as the removal of his store of winter pumpkins from his cellar to the well. No power can convince Jerry that this was not the work of witches. Perhaps witches are rampant in Dog Watch Hollow as is seemingly indicated in the following incident:

One afternoon, while strolling over the Watchung hills, I heard below me the ballad of "My Gypsy Daisy" rising in volume of sound as the singer ascended the hillside, and I knew my friend Jerry was approaching. Then came an ominous silence followed by the rapid clatter of a horse's hoofs on the rocky road-bed. The horse with broken and dragging harness sped by me. Clinging to the belly-band beneath the animal was Ginn. Fearing for his safety I rushed after him and followed the steed to his stall. There was Ginn, unhurt, sitting on a pile of straw and ready to explain how the witches had served him such a scurry trick.

With badly shaken nerves he led me to his hut. Now comes his reformation. In a little lean-to he had for private consumption a barrel of what had once been sweet cider. Here was hanging an ever ready tin cup—a cup that had heretofore ever proved a solace in time of woe. As Jerry stretched forth his hand for the cup, a serpent, which lay coiled upon the barrel, reached forth a darting head for Ginn. He drew back his hand; the serpent drew back its head. Ginn looked at me with pitiful, bulging eyes, but I had no time for him as I was already focusing my camera. Again he essayed to stretch forth his hand, and again the serpent stretched out its neck. The camera clicked. Jerry Ginn sank to his knees, raised both hands above his head and, to purchase immunity from evil spirits, witches and other supernatural powers, took upon himself of his own free will and accord a most solemn obligation to refrain and abstain from the future use of all malt or spirituous liquors. And the snake silently slid off the barrel and disappeared.

BEGINNING OF LENT.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—Today, Ash Wednesday, marks the beginning of the Lenten season. The annual fast of forty days observed from very early times in the Christian church, in commemoration of Christ's forty days' fast, continues until Easter, for which feast the fast serves also as a season of special penitence and preparation. Easter this year falls on March 23, which is the earliest date that it can possibly come in any year. The day is regulated by the Zodiac. Days and nights are of equal length on the 21st of March and the first Sunday after the first full moon, after the days and nights are equal is always Easter.

TRUST CO. FOR MOORESTOWN.

Moorestown, Feb. 5.—George M. La Monte, commissioner of banking and insurance for New Jersey, has authorized and approved of the incorporation of the Moorestown Trust Company, to be located here. The company has an authorized capital of $100,000, all of which has been subscribed. The company has secured an option on a central public location in Moorestown for the site of its banking house.

CHINESE CELEBRATE NEW YEAR'S TODAY

'Chuck' Connors, Chinatown's Oracle, Says Change to New Year's is "Bunk."

New York, Feb. 5.—Can it be, after all, as set forth in the unconventional but expressive language of Mr. "Chuck" Connors, the oracle of Chinatown, that the story of the Chinese adopting the fashion of celebrating the Occidental New Year was pretty much "bunk?" The adoption of the western calendar, it will be remembered, was among the many important changes ordered by the new Government soon after the establishment of the Republic of China. According to all report the Chinese in America were delighted with the change and with all the zeal of recent converts they celebrated their New Year on January 1 last. Of the fact of the celebration there were many outward and visible signs in the little district bounded by Pell, Mott and Doyer streets, known as Chinatown. The store fronts were profusely decorated with the emblem of the new republic intertwined with the Stars and Stripes. And some of the young Celestial "bloods" celebrated the birth of the New Year in approved Western fashion by eating chop suey and drinking wine in the Oriental until almost the peep o' day.

But it is evidently hard to break away from a custom that is centuries old. Today marked the beginning of Sun Uin, or the old Chinese New Year, a season of celebration with the Chinese long before republics and reform administrations were dreamed of in the Flowery Kingdom. And in this fact, perhaps, is to be found the reason why the local Chinese, in spite of queueless heads and occidental clothes, today went about their preparations for a fortnight of jubilation in precisely the same manner as they did before they hung the Caucasian calendar on their walls.

The narrow streets of Chinatown are bright with flags again and great red placards bearing words of greeting are pasted at the side of the doorways. Within doors immense pictures of the great men of China, peacock feathers and bright colors adorn the rooms, while immense quantities of nuts, candies and imported wines and liquors, with generous pots of tea, are placed where callers may help themselves.

Some of the younger Chinese, when questioned as to the double celebration, were emphatic in their declarations that their countrymen were sincere in their adoption of the Occidental New Year and that only the old men and the women were adhering to the custom of their venerated ancestors. A more satisfactory explanation probably lies in the statement of one of the leading Chinese merchants, who expressed the opinion that while it might be more progressive to pay $20 for a table at a cafe on the night of December 31, it is better business to celebrate in the old way on the wane of the twelfth moon. For the old-fashioned celebration with flags and firecrackers never fails to attract a multitude of visitors to Chinatown.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES.

BAKING potatoes is one of the most wholesome ways of preparing them. There are many methods of serving them thus besides the simple, old fashioned one of bringing them to the table baked au naturel.

Among these methods may be mentioned the following:

Potatoes With Onions.

Stuffed Potatoes With Onion.—Take large, even sized potatoes and for each potato allow a tablespoonful of stale grated cheese, a teaspoonful of minced cold bacon and a teaspoonful each of chopped onion, parsley and drippings.

Scrub the potatoes and bake them until they are soft inside. Cut one end off each and scoop out the interior with a small spoon. Mash this smoothly and mix it with the cheese, meat, parsley, onion, warmed drippings and seasoning. Refill the skins with this. Reheat until hot through and serve at once.

Spanish Potatoes.—Scrub and bake six medium sized potatoes, cut open lengthwise and take out the inside. Mash the potatoes with grated onion, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of butter and a cupful of cream or milk. Replace the mashed potato, dividing equally among the twelve shells. Place a slice of bacon on the top of each and brown in the oven.

Potatoes and Ham.

Stuffed Potatoes With Ham and Peppers.—Peel good sized potatoes and hollow out a space in each, leaving a canoe or boat shaped piece. Fill the hollows with a mixture of chopped ham, chopped hard boiled egg and chopped green peppers, seasoning to taste with salt, pepper and melted butter. Bake until the potatoes are done.

Stuffed Potatoes With Eggs.—Take six potatoes; put them in the oven without peeling. When done take out the insides, but preserve the shape of the potatoes. Put the insides of the potatoes in a basin and add one and a half ounces of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Mix together until light and add two well beaten whites of eggs and stir all together. Fill the potato skins with the paste, first rolling each piece in beaten yolk of egg; then bake in the oven. Serve as soon as the tops are well browned or in from ten to fifteen minutes.

FADS AND FANCIES.

The Little Things That Count For Much In Dress.

Pretty little "dog collars" of strung gold or aluminium beads are much in vogue. Only fine beads are used, and these are strung on silver wire, the rows of eight or ten strings being confined at intervals into a paste slide.

AN ATTRACTIVE HOUSE GOWN.

Pretty and attractive house gowns are essential to economy as well as comfort. Such a design is seen in the illustration. It is easy to make and very comfortable to wear.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7872, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Suffrage Year.

"The New Year is barely a month old, and already three State Legislatures have voted by overwhelming majorities to submit constitutional amendments giving full suffrage to women. In New York there were but five dissenting votes in the Assembly and two in the Senate. In South Dakota the vote was 70 to 30 in the House and 41 to two in the Senate. In Montana there were only two dissenting votes in each House. In New York it must pass another Legislature, but in Montana and South Dakota it now goes direct to the voters. In Nevada, it passed the last Legislature by a large majority; in the present Legislature it has passed the House with only three dissentients, and it will probably pass the Senate at an early date. Certainly 1913 starts out as an equal suffrage year!" writes Alice Stone Blackwell.

In New Jersey it is certainly suffrage year, with an equal suffrage bill before a very progressive Legislature, many of whose members have already promised their support. In one instance a strong opponent of equal suffrage promises his vote because his constituents are favorable to the bill. Personally, he says, he prefers "women on the pedestal" but if they will get down that is their own look out.

In Washington they are waking up to the fact that they are in the midst of the greatest woman suffrage crusade ever attempted in this country. There will be a big suffrage parade on March 3d, and recruits of General Rosalie Jones' army have begun to gather. General Jones' army will walk from New York to Washington, starting February 12. The procession on March 3 in the National Capital will end in a meeting at Continental Hall, at which leaders of the movement will speak. All woman suffragists should unite in making this procession a convincing argument by force of its numbers. There will be groups of women by states and groups by professions or occupations. The social workers' group is receiving constant additions. One of the latest recruits is Mrs. Maude Nathans, president of the New York Consumers' League.

In the Magazines.

"Katharine's Mother" appears in the Outlook of January 25. It is not a suffrage story but the excellence of its vivid portrayal of character recommends it to every reader. To New Jersey suffragists it is particularly interesting because it is written by Mrs. Minnie J. Reynolds, who is working for the Joint Legislative Committee of New Jersey Woman Suffrage Associations.

Josephine Goldmark contributes to The Survey of January 25 an article on Labor Laws for Women, accompanied by five striking maps, showing the States that are white, gray or black, as to the length of the legal working day for women in factories and stores, the length of the working week, the prohibition of night work, etc. These maps should be kept on hand by suffragists, to be shown as a refutation of the inaccurate claims of Minnie Bronson and other antis; and also for the nobler and more salutary purpose of reminding ourselves how inadequate the legislation for working women still is in most States of the Union. Forty-two State Legislatures meet this year. See how your State now stands, and try to better its complexion in the color scheme. Send ten cents to The Survey, 105 E. 22d street, New York city, for the issue of January 25.

Coming Events.

The Newark Equal Suffrage League will hold a public meeting at Proctor's theatre, Newark, on Sunday, February 16. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw will speak. As the suffrage bill comes up before the Legislature on the 18th this meeting is in the nature of a rally.

BANK HAS $4,000 UNCLAIMED.

New Brunswick, Feb. 5.—A statement has just been issued by the New Brunswick Savings Bank that it has $4,000 in unclaimed money. The amount represents twenty-two deposits, which range from $450 to $1,500. The bank has notified the commissioner of banking and insurance as well as advertised. Some of the depositors have moved away, while some have died.

MOODY SCHOOL DEDICATION.

Northfield, Mass., Feb. 5.—Today's celebration of Founder's Day at the Mt. Hermon boys' school, one of the institutions founded by Dwight L. Moody, was made notable by the dedication of the new Schauffler Memorial Library. The library is a gift of Mrs. A. F. Schauffler, of New York, in memory of the Rev. Dr. William C. Schauffler, long connected with educational and missionary work in Turkey.

BASEBALL NOTES

George Bell, the former Brooklyn twirler, has signed with the Newark team, of the International League.

Of the eleven recruits who will go on the Spring training trip with the Giants nine of the youngsters are pitchers.

In signing Catcher Gonzalez it is said that the Boston Braves have copped the greatest ball player in Cuba.

Manager Joe Tinker, of the Cincinnati Reds, is back on the stage for a few weeks doing a vaudeville turn.

Pitcher Dubuc and Catcher Dondeau, of the Detroit Tigers, will compose the first genuine French battery ever formed in the major leagues.

The St. Louis Browns believe they have a star in pitcher Carl Weilman on account of his great showing during the closing weeks of last season.

Shortstop Mike Doolan, of the Phillies, has asked permission to cut the Spring training trip in order to complete his studies at the dental school.

Captain Heine Wagner, of the world's champions, thinks that if the Red Sox head the Athletics it will be another pennant for Boston next Fall.

The Austin franchise in the Texas League has been purchased by George Leidy, who has had several years experience as a manager in the Texas organization.

The Providence Club has purchased Pitcher Jensen from Detroit. He pitched for New Haven last season and was one of the stars of the Connecticut League.

Manager Chance, of the New Yorks, will have the tallest pitching staff in captivity next season. McConnell, Caldwell, Green, Keating and Schultz are above the six-foot mark.

President Chivington, of the American Association, is out with a denial that any clubs have been given the right to invade A. A. territory. It was recently reported that the Northern League would place teams in Minneapolis and St. Paul, the Wisconsin-Illinois League would add Milwaukee to its circuit and Central League teams would play in Indianapolis and Columbus.

WITH THE BOXERS

Jack Dillon and George Brown, the Chicago middleweight, have signed to box in Indianapolis, Feb. 12.

It is said that Luther McCarty collected $14,985 from his three fights with Al Kaufman, Jim Flynn and Al Palzer.

Ex-Champion Tommy Burns is doing light training and declares that he will re-enter the boxing game in the near future.

Losing two decisions, to Spike Kelly and Tommy Howell, within ten days has caused the stock of Ray Bronson to drop several points.

"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien is trying to sign Eddie McGoorty and Jack McCarron for a clash to take place in Philadelphia, Feb. 17.

SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT.

Ed Petroskey vs. Sailor Grande, 20 rounds, at Vallejo, Cal.

Losing two games out of three on the alleys of the Plainfield Elks last night, the Elizabeth team, which held fifth place in the Elks' League race, is now compelled to share the honors of the position with the Jersey City team. The Elizabeth five had a total of 921 in the first game and won handily, being forty-nine pins ahead. Plainfield then came back strong with 994 and won by an even one hundred pins. In the final and deciding contest the battle was an interesting one, the Plainfield five, with 924, being thirty-three pins ahead. Nash rolled 229 for Plainfield, Blatz had 212 and 204, Campbell 212 and Stout 205. Henry Clauss was the star performer for Elizabeth, having counts of 214, 213 and 224, for an average of 217. COLLEGE LEAGUERS HAVE SNAP UNDER Seventeen Junior Athletes Contest Novel Event at Y. M. C. A.

A snap under for distance was contested by the College League members in the Y. M. C. A. junior department yesterday afternoon and considering the nature of the event some exceedingly good mark were made by the midget contestants. The event consisted of a stationary spring from a horizontal bar and was won by Arthur Stout, of the Penn team, with a leap of 6 feet 3 inches. For his performance Stout received 64 points, which will be credited to his team. Causbrook, of Yale, was second, 5 feet, 10 inches, and annexed 59 points. The records made by the seventeen contestants are as follows:

"MAC" SAYS

Nothing has been heard from the Dexter football team of Perth Amboy within the past two weeks. They must have gone into winter hiding. Manager Doyle says that the football season is over and he ought to know.

North Plainfield High School and Plainfield High School appear to be facing the same puzzling problem of developing a pitcher for this year's baseball team. N. P. H. S. has only Newton Spencer to do the box work while Plainfield will have to rely on Edson Woodhull and Mathew Coughlan unless some new phenom jumps into prominence.

Bill Coyle, the forward on the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team, seems to have a habit of running up high field goal scores against Scotch Plains. When his team played at the Parish House two weeks ago he secured eleven field goals and duplicated the trick at the theatre Monday night.

Manager Leighs, of the Hope Chapel aggregation, and Manager Hetfield, of the Ajax, have been seen quite often lately with their heads together. Some trouble must be brewing.

Because of the examinations that have been in progress at the local High School this week no basketbal games have been held, but the team is scheduled to loosen up some stiff joints against New Brunswick High this afternoon.

N. P. H. S. basketball players have also been enjoying a vacation recovering from the effects of the speedy interscholastic clash last Saturday

Interest seems to keep up in the Y. M. C. A. Color League and the attendance is averaging thirty every night. Some good marks are being made in the athletic events that are being held weekly for the league members.

Christy Mathewson will begin his "spring training" on the evening of February 13 in Monclair, when he will be the guest of the Commonwealth Club at a dinner to be given to the club's baseball team. Mr. Mathewson will tell the Commonwealth men how to turn out a championship team for the season of 1913.

Manager Frank Chance, of the Yankees, has changed his mind again. Some time ago he announced that he would not play first base any more, but would manage the club from the bench. Yesterday he stated in Los Angeles that he was feeling so well that he would play first base during the coming season. If Chance gets back into the game, Hal Chase may get a chance of realizing his ambition to play second base.

New York University is so pleased because the Giants have chosen the college color, violet, for their uniforms during the coming season that officials of the university have written to Manager McGraw thanking him for the honor. The New York home uniforms will be Colonial cream with a fine stripe, the same as last season. The monogram on the sleeve will be of violet and the stockings will have a wide band of violet. Violet trimmings will also decorate the Giants' caps.

Arthur Shafer, the Giants' utility infielder, may have to play ball next season after all. Shafer is getting very reckless out in Los Angeles with his automobile, and yesterday he was caught exceeding the speed limit and was fined $35 and costs. Shafer is an automobile enthusiast, and this isn't the first time he has been caught going too fast. If the Los Angeles police courts keep on taxing him, he will have to return to baseball to get enough money to pay his fines.

Big Ed Sweeney's signed contract was received by Secretary Davis, of the New York Americans, yesterday. Sweeney wrote to Manager Chance recently to say he wanted to catch as many games as possible this year. He also predicted he would be among the .300 hitters.

SPARKS BY "SKID"

L. Hampson says it's about time for another blow-out.

Election of officers for 1913, Thursday, February 13.

N. Thul and J. Dickhundt are busy getting their machines ready for the first spring run.

Detective Hughes, on a Harley-Davidson, has made a number of important captures of opium smugglers on the Canadian border.

Edward Reusch was elected president of the Bay View Wheelmen, of Newark, for 1913. Ed. and the boys are always here in force for the Decoration Day race of the P. C. C.

Paul Thomas was elected president of the Century Road Club Association for the 1913 season. Those boys will be with us on the big race day.

William Boone Eldred, a descendant of Daniel Boone, passed away at the age of 87 at his home in Wakefield, Mass. At the age of 70, Eldred started to ride a bicycle, and it is said that the aged cyclist covered 20,000 miles in 17 years.

Anybody hearing of the whereabouts of W. DeW. Miller will please notify the club.

The ground hog looked out yesterday. So did A. Herrlick. Both went back again.

Joe Delaney is having a drop forging made for his clutch. Oh! you clutch.

J. J. Moore cleaned his machine yesterday.

L. Hampson joined the Indian club. Poor Les.

Jack Horner, on the advice of L. Hampson, J. Dickhundt and other members of the club who don't care what happens to him, has ordered a side-car. Flowers should be sent at once.

Who has a sweet disposition? All together now, "Our little Leslie."

HUNTING AND FISHING

Sportsmen throughout the State are beginning to realize that something must be done to shorten the hunting season, as another season like the last one will kill off every bird that inhabits New Jersey. There is no reason why forty-five days should be needed, and, in fact, a season of fifteen days, at the rate of three days a week, or less, might be far preferable.

The boats that went out to the Cholera Banks from the Long Island fishing stations Sunday all brought back fish. Some of them were more fortunate than others and hit the cod, while the general run was hake, ling, whiting, cunners and a few stray blackfish. One boat is reported to have brought in a conger eel, but that is hardly possible.

We have more rainy Mondays than any other day in the week. If you don't believe that, just ask the anglers that go out to the fishing banks all winter and they will verify it. Some of them say that it is a good thing to let the fish alone for a day, as it gives them a chance to become acquainted with the banks without having an anchor dropped on their backs.

Flounders were caught from the long pier at Atlantic Highlands, Sunday. Some boys went out there and caught a few early in the morning, and by noon every man in the village heard of it and those that were not opposed to the sport tried it or looked on at the others. While the fishing was at its height a large flock of ducks were seen feeding a little ways off shore.

The weather was just right Sunday and many fishermen went down to their favorite fishing grounds to look things over. The natives at the Highlands sat on the porches and saluted the crowds as they walked by, and each one wished that the winter would pass along in a smooth manner. The clammers are feeling much better down there, as they are doing fairly well with their clams in the markets.

The muskrats did not pay much attention to the building of their houses last fall, and that is looked upon as a sure sign of a mild winer. Coons didn't pay much attention to their bedding, either, but they made sure that they moved into homes that were handy to a good supply of food.

An effort is to be made this week to have a law passed that will permit Sunday fishing. Many local anglers are in favor of it, as they will then be permitted to fish Weequahic and Branch Brook lakes, according to the statement of one of them. No attempt was ever been made to stop fishing on Sunday, but the old blue laws say so, and so it is on the city lakes.

ENTRIES FOR A. B. C. MEET.

Toledo, O., Feb. 5.—Entries closed today for the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which is to be held in this city from February 22 to March 12. When the entries are finally tabulated it is believed they will be shown to exceed the figures at the Chicago tournament last year, in which nearly 600 five-man teams, 1,400 two-man teams and nearly 3,000 individual bowlers participated. Preparations for the tournament here are well advanced. Within a week or ten days the directors expect to have completed the work of installing the alleys in the big Terminal building where the tournament will be held.

AJAX GAME OFF.

The game scheduled to be played between the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and Scotch Plains at the Y. M. C. A. next Saturday night has been called off by the Ajax management owing to a number of engagements which the Ajax players have made and cannot break to play basketball. The dance to be held at the local High School Saturday night will attract a number of the Ajax who are students in that institution.

BATTIN MAIDENS HERE.

Feminine basket tossers from Battin High School will appear at Saengerbund Hall next Friday afternoon to engage in a return game with the North Plainfield High School girls. The initial game resulted in a win for the Elizabethians but the Boroughites are confident of reversing the score on their home court.

NONPAREILS AT TRENTON.

The Nonpareil girls' basketball team, of this city, will go to Trenton Saturday afternoon to engage in a game with the Trenton Y. W. C. A. five. According to previous season's records, if the local girls take this game they are entitled to lay claim to the New Jersey feminine basketball title.

P. H. S. AT WESTFIELD.

The Plainfield High School basketball team will play a return game with the Westfield High School aggregation at Westfield next Friday night. This is one of the games looked forward to by the local school boys as they are always treated to a program of dancing following the game in the Mt. Ararat gym.

TWO OF THE TEAM OF BULLDOGS RECENTLY PURCHASED IN ENGLAND BY MR. ARNOLD W. LAWSON, OF BOSTON, MASS.

BEAMING BLUNDERBUSS.

IRISH BOY.

Irish Boy, who won the championship at Birmingham last month, after Mr. Arnold W. Lawson had bought him, although born in 1908, was not shown until he was three years old. His chief success prior to his victory at Birmingham was when he defeated Beaming Blunderbuss at Richmond. He is a son of the very noted sire Maybank Major. Beaming is a red fawn in color and is considered by English experts to be the best headed dog of his breed alive. He is fifty-four pounds in weight and is a son of Pleasant Bertie.

Mr. Lawson, who has just returned to America after spending a month and a half in Europe, has brought back with him several other blue ribbon winners, which he claims are England's best. They are to be exhibited soon in New York and Boston.

Quick Heat

SQUARE POT BOILERS develop full heating capacity in a few moments and are rightfully called "quick heaters." The reason can be seen by a glance at the sectional view herewith. Interior surfaces in SQUARE POT BOILERS are brought low, in direct contact with the fire, and also trend sharply upward, thus providing instantaneous water heating and lively circulation. The result is a free-steaming boiler that gives quick and satisfactory house heating.

SQUARE POT BOILERS are economical of coal, require little attention and are easily regulated for either mild or severe weather. Call on the nearest dealer for a full demonstration.

LIDGATE QUITS THE 'PLAINS-QUINTET

Will Devote His Time to Getting Into Trim for Opening of Diamond Season.

Eugene Lidgate, the star forward on the Scotch Plains Parish House basketball team has given up his favorite indoor sport for the remainder of the season and will devote his time to getting into trim for the opening of the baseball season. Lidgate has been signed up by the Baltimore team, of the International League, and is expected to report for training during the early part of next month.

Lidgate has been troubled with a bad ankle since he was captain of the Plainfield High School quintet, when he severely wrenched it in an interscholastic contest, and the injured member has accorded him much concern during the past season. Several times he has been forced to quit in the middle of a game because of the ankle and rather than injure it permanently and endanger his chances of sticking with the league baseball team he has decided to sacrifice basketball. The Baltimore manager expects the big catcher to report in the best of condition and "Liddy" feels it his duty to make good on this end of the deal.

THIRTY-TWO STRONG ARM MEN COMPETED

Event Calling for Strength in Pull Up Was Closely Contested.

Color Leaguers at the Y. M. C. A. last night competed in a bar chinning competition, an event calling for an unusual amount of strength and endurance in the arms. Gunzelman, a member of the Green team, and Carouso, a White man, tied for first place, pulling themselves up to the horizontal bar fourteen times each. Kennedy came in for close second honors with a mark of thirteen to his credit. The summary:

Gunzelman, Green	14 times

TWO GAMES TONIGHT.

A double bill of girls' basketball will be run off at the Scotch Plains Parish House tonight when the Scotch Plains and Dunellen girls meet in the preliminary and the Nonpareils, of this city, will meet the Westfield High School girls. Both of these games promise to be unusually close and exciting exhibitions of girls' rules.

COMPANY K AT DUNELLEN.

The Company K basketball team, of this city, will trioley to Dunellen Friday night to engage in their first game of the season with the Baraca class team of the Dunellen Presbyterian church. The soldier boys have been playing all season but the Dunellenites have engaged in but few games.

SCOTCH PLAINS WANTS GAME.

Owing to the cancellation of the game scheduled to be played at the Y. M. C. A. with the Ajax next Saturday night, Manager Burnett Brodziak, of the Scotch Plains Parish House first team is without a game and is desious of booking a game with some fast quintet in this section.

MOHAWKS FAILED TO APPEAR.

The game scheduled to be played at Hope chapel last night between the Hope chapel second team and the Mohawk A. C. failed to materialize, as the visitors did not put in their appearance. This left the Chapelites without a game but they indulged in some good practice nevertheless.

HOPES VS. ROYAL A. C.

On the Hope chapel court next Saturday night the Hope basketball quintet will lineup against the fast Royal A. C., of Orange. Both teams have been traveling along at an even clip all season and a good game is expected.

CUPS OFFERED FOR BIBLE CLASS TEAM

Probasco Baseball Nine Accepts Trophies From Supt. Arthur M. Harris.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco, leader of the class, and Randolph Chandler, president of the class, participated in discussions on the subject of baseball for the coming season at the regular monthly meeting of the Probasco Bible class of the First Baptist church at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Superintendent Arthur M. Harris offered to donate two silver loving cups to be awarded to members of the team, one for the highest batting average and the other for the best individual fielding average. Harold Robins spoke on the play which the class is now rehearsing and said that he was much encourged with the progress being made. Heber Cubberly, who was appointed as chairman of the committee on class yells, gave a report containing several yells that were tried.

Joseph Sattel's orchestra entertained the class with a few classical numbers. Joseph Sattel, Jr., a member of the Bible class, played the piano for the orchestra. Dr. Probasco spoke of the narrow escape of William Thickstun, a member of the class, from death last Sunday. Young Thickstun was operating a wireless station at his home on Central avenue and came in contact with an electric spark which entered his body. He is at presnt recovering but Dr. Probasco took occasion to remark how near the boy had come to death and warned the members of the class to be always prepared for the final reckoning. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

J. F. H. MEYER DIES.

Was Long Associated With Hamburg-American Steamship Line.

Hoboken, N. J., Feb. 5.—J. F. H Meyer of the firm of Kunhardt & Co., general agents of the Hamburg-American line from 1847 to 1889, died at his home in this city.

Mr. Meyer was born at Bremen, Germany, in 1837. He became connected with the firm of Kunhardt & Co. in 1854. At that time the service between New York and Hamburg was by sailing vessels only. In 1855 Mr. Meyer saw the first steamship of the Hamburg-American line enter the port of New York and later wrote a book entitled "Reminiscences of Early Steamship Days."

Mr. Meyer, as a partner in the firm of Kunhardt & Co., was in charge of the Hamburg-American line affairs in the United States for many years and was well known in shipping circles and was often referred to as "Steamer Meyer."

Mr. Meyer retired in 1855 on account of ill health. He is survived by two daughters and four sons, one of whom, J. P. Meyer, is vice director of the Hamburg-American line in New York.

GUN DUEL WITH BURGLAR.

Watchman Wounded In Battle Witn Intruder In Jersey City.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 5.—Charles Reiner, fifty years old, of this city, night watchman at the Magnus Metal company's plant, on reaching the ground floor of the plant on one of his trips was greeted by pistol shots. Three shots were fired at him.

Reiner drew his revolver and fired at the flashes across the big room in which he was. He says then a man bolted, jumped through a window and ran off. After the man had gone Reiner discovered one of the bullets had hit him in the left thigh. He called the police and was sent to the City hospital, where the wound was found to be slight.

RESIGNS AND DISAPPEARS.

Gloucester Bluecoat Writes Chief Letter, Then Leaves Home.

Gloucester City, N. J., Feb. 5.—A sealed envelope addressed to Charles Vanmeter, chief of police here, which James Warburton, a policeman, left with his wife before he left his home, was opened by the police official. It contained Vanmeter's resignation.

Vanmeter received his monthly salary Saturday morning. He was seen leaving the city in the afternoon. His wife doesn't know where he went.

RED BANK HAS STRIKE.

Over 600 Garment Workers Quit Work. No Rioting as Yet.

Red Bank, N. J., Feb. 5.—More than 600 men and women employed at the Sigmund Eisner uniform factory are on strike. No disorder or tendency to rioting was indicated, although many members of the Garment Workers' union are coming in from New York to assist the strikers.

According to the strikers, the Eisner factory has several government contracts now under way.

Boy Accidentally Shoots Sister.

Summit, N. J., Feb. 5.—Five-year-old Jennie Deiducco, whose father is Angelo Deiducco, town committeeman of Berkeley heights, is dying in Overlook hospital because of the curiosity of her six-year-old brother Michael and a boy companion. The boys found a loaded revolver in a bureau and began playing with it. It was discharged, the bullet going through the little girl's head.

SMALL BOARDS LAW ARGUMENT TOMORROW

Quo Warranto Proceedings for Four Counties to Be Aired Before Judges.

Trenton, Feb. 5—Counsel for the small Boards of Freeholders of Union, Bergen, Mercer and Morris counties met here Monday afternoon and arranged for the argument on the quo warranto proceedings brought to compel the old Boards to vacate the offices. The argument will take place before Justices Swayze and Kalisch at the Court House in Newark tomorrow morning. All of the counties will be represented at the hearing, and it is understood that all the questions raised in the several counties will be brought up and disposed of in these proceedings.

County Counsel John Zisgen, of Bergen county, said today that he felt sure that the courts would sustain the new Boards and that all doubts as to the standing of the new Boards would soon be dispelled.

CALKINS AGAIN PRESIDENT

resolutions, etc., carrying out the purpose, which were unanimously adopted. Mr. Calkins further explained that while the club has always been privileged to apply for a liquor license, under the Act of 1891 it would be obliged to abolish the associate and junior associate classes of membership, which he said he did not think there was any likelihood of doing; neither is there any likelihood of a two-thirds vote being obtained under the constitution, in favor of removing the liquor restriction.

Referring to these restrictions, Mr. Calkins said that while the original officers and trustees wisely provided against serving liquor at the club or allowing Sunday golf, they forgot to include gambling, but he said he had no fear that that would ever become a serious question in the club.

EXPOSITION AT BAMBERGER'S.

L. Bamberger & Co.'s "Made in Newark" Exposition opened Monday in that city. Special wires had been run to the stage in the auditorium where on Monday morning, Mayor Haussling, in the presence of the various members of the Board of Trade, moved a lever which set in motion the machinery in the various exhibits. The "Made in Newark" exhibition will be an important industrial exhibit. In fact, from a standpoint of machinery, in actual motion it easily takes precedence over the Armory show, of last spring. There are upward of 100 exhibitors, 50 of whom show the actual progress by which their wares are made. The "Made in Newark' idea originated with L. Bamberger & Co. last year, at that time, however, it was impossible to do full justice because of the cramped quarters of the old store. The new building, however, affords extraordinary facilities for such an affair. A great deal of space has been given over to "Made in Newark" products, booths and those who are interested in seeing how things are made will find much to interest them. Practically every branch of local manufacture is included. The exhibits un the gamut from diamond cutting to candy making. The local manufacturers have co-operated with L. Bamberger & Co. to a surprising extent, some concerns sending as many as fifteen operators to the store.

WRESTLER HERE.

George A. Keene, mnager for Gus Peterson, the lightweight wrestling champion of America, was in this city yesterday afternoon trying to arouse some enthusiasm here in the wrestling game. He is planning to bring Peterson, who is instructor in athletics at Princeton University, to this city, and start a class in mat instruction.

ELECTION BILLS ARE MURRAY'S

Plainfielder Drafted the Measures Introduced by Senator Read, of Camden.

EXPLAINED BY AUTHOR

Former Assemblyman Defends Provisions Radically Changing the Present Laws—Says Read is Independent.

Former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, of this city, was the drafter of the bills introduced last week in the Legislature by Senator Read, of Camden, proposing numerous amendments to the Geran election law. Mr. Murray has written a letter about the bills, in which he defends their provisions. He says they are not in the interest of the retention of power by the old-style party bosses, and he declares positively that Senator Read is absolutely independent.

It is the claim of Mr. Murray that the bill intended to take from the rank and file of the party the right to elect State committeemen, and to give to the county committees the power to appoint members of the State body, is in the interest of party harmony and efficiency.

"I feel," Mr. Murray writes, "that the members of the county committee, elected by the direct vote of the people, are better able to pick such a man than the people, when more than ninety per cent. of the voters of any party in a county would not know the qualifications of any of the candidates."

Mr. Murray says he looks upon a political party the same as a corporation. The voters are the stockholders, the county committeemen are the directors and the State committeemen are the officers. Of course, he says, the officers should be appointed by the directors.

The claim is made by Mr. Murray that it is not difficult for a voter to secure a transfer unless he is a poor man and lives a long distance from the courthouse. One of the bills he drew, therefore, is intended to give local courts the power to issue transfers, which he says, will be in the interest of the poor man.

In defense of a third bill he drew and which Senator Read introduced. Mr. Murray says he would prevent any independent nominations from being made after the primaries so that all candidates, whether named by parties or by petition, would start their campaign at the same time.

APPOINTMENT IS DISPLEASING

Elizabethans Surprised That James C. Connelly Should Be Named.

OBJECTION IS RAISED

C. B. Pierce Led Fight Against Confirmation—Expected That Gilhooley Would Be Named for the Berth.

Elizabeth, Feb. 6.—The appointment by Governor Wilson of City Attorney James C. Connelly, of this city, as Common Pleas judge of Union county, which was confirmed by the Senate yesterday, came as a distinct surprise to a large number of citizens of this city as well as throughout the county who had been backing either former Judge Patrick H. Gilhooly or former Prosecutor William R. Wilson for the place. Lawyers, former judges, ministers and men prominent in the affairs of the county had united in urging by letter and interviews with the Governor that he appoint Judge Gilhooly to succeed Judge Edward S. Atwater, who resigned.

Until Monday the friends of Judge Gilhooly believed that his chances were unequalled, and now they are speculating on why things went wrong. They declare that the Governor suddenly changed his attitude Monday and for some reason gave ear to General Dennis F. Collins and Congressman William F. Tuttle, who were Mr. Connelly's main supporters. General Collins is president of the Common Council and holds large brewing interests in this city, besides being the big figure in county politics.

Some of the clergymen who urged the Governor to appoint Judge Gilhooly are said to have declared that the appointment should be one by which the power of the liquor interests would not be extended in the county, and to have pointed to the fact that Common Pleas judges may grant liquor licenses in municipalities

ASK ALL TO ATTEND LICENSE HEARING

Clay to Preside at Public Meeting on Liquor Application Tomorrow Night.

George H. Batchelor, Walter H. P. Veysey and Arthur M. Harris, representing the Federation of Men's Bible Classes, the Federation of Men's Church Clubs and Religious Organization, the last named being chairman of the license committee of these organizations, have made an urgent appeal to all persons who signed the petitions protesting against any change in local license conditions, to attend the public hearing at the Plainfield High School tomorrow night.

The statement says: "It is most important that all who hold these views attend this hearing, for if the Council be expected to heed your protest they should be backed up by your moral support, which can be shown in no better way than by your presence that evening. We appeal, therefore to all who signed the protest to actively show their real interest in this matter by attending the public hearing. Those seeking licenses and their friends will certainly be there. Let us show our interest and public spiritedness by turning out in full force."

President George S. Clay of the Common Council, will preside at the hearing and the other members of the Council will be present to hear the arguments pro and con as a "court of inquiry," it being the purpose to get all the facts bearing on the matter This will be the first time in the history of the city that the Council has arranged for such a hearing outside of the Council Chambers. All interested in the license question is invited to be present and express their views.

NASH STATE TRUST CO. SECRETARY-TREASURER

The Board of Directors of the State Trust Company yesterday held its regular monthly meeting and appointed H. C. Nash as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Nash became identified with the company on January 15 and has already made a large number of acquaintances during the short time he has been in Plainfield.

The company has been fortunate in their choice of a successor to Mr. Coriell.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEET.

The February meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Boice-Runyon building, 238 Park avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock. It is expected that a report will be presented regarding the plan to advertise Plainfield through a contest arranged by a special committee.

PUBLICITY PLAN FOR PLAINFIELD

Manager of Brooklyn Eagle Submits His Ideas for Advertising City.

WILL DECIDE CONTEST

Plainfield Chamber of Commerce Will Arrange Tonight to Pick Winners in its Prize Competition.

When the Chamber of Commerce meets tonight arrangements will be made to decide upon the winners in the publicity campaign contest, which closed on February 1, when more than 150 plans had been submitted. Among the many is an excellent one contributed by Herbert F. Gunnison, manager of the Brooklyn Eagle, a brother of Stanley B. Gunnison, of this city.

Mr. Gunnison reasons that the advertising should be centered in Manhattan and Brooklyn and explains why. As to how best to reach these people, saying incidently:

"A series of well-written advertisements in two newspapers, one in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn; smaller advertisements in two magazines and with possibly a limited amount of street car 'slogan' advertisements will, in my judgment, produce the best results."

He gives an outline of suggested advertisements in the form of diagrams, and then the advertising expert says:—

"The series to continue with full and complete information about Plainfield and its manifold advantages as a place of residence. Its advantages as a place of business, of industries not to be considered as the two propositions cannot be exploited at the same time.

"Statistics should be carefully compiled showing health records, water analysis, climatic conditions, sunshine, sewerage disposal, etc.

"The cost of buildings, the rental values of different style and size of houses with comparisons of similar accommodations in the city should be given.

"The social life, the club life, the church activities and the many other attractions of the town to be given in detail.

"The story to be told in a series of 36 two column 100 lines deep advertisements, to run three times a week in the two newspapers for three months.

"Three of the best advertisements to run in two magazines.

"A limited number of street car and subway cards during the same period."

—Neuman Bros. will offer for tomorrow's trade a large and choice assortment of fruit and fresh vegetables of all kinds. ***

—Press Wants show many chances for advancement.

Made possible by the popular subscription campaign inaugurated a year ago when the citizens of Plainfield contributed $137,000 towards a greater Muhlenberg Hospital, a private pavilion ward is being erected as an addition to the group of structures at the institution and will be competed early in the spring. At that time it is expected that the Closson-Edgerton maternity building will also have been finished and that the hospital then will be the most up-to-date in New Jersey.

The new private room pavilion is now up to the first story. Its floor plans, heating and ventilating systems, electrical installations, duty rooms, sun parlors, wide corridors and pleasant private rooms, are all built around the cental idea of the greatest comfort, convenience and sanitation.

This splendid three-story structure, almost severe in its architectural simplicity, will be the largest of the complete group of hospital buildings. The new private ward pavilion, designed especially for those who wish every comfort and convenience, will attract the favorable attention of residents of many communities less fortunate than Plainfield in the possession of an up-to-date hospital, as all of these advantages will be provided at a much less cost than Metropolitan hospitals of equal grade. The scope of this undertaking, made possible by the generous response of the public during the hospital campaign last year, gives opportunity for the admission and care of a much larger number of non-resident patients.

Even with her present facilities, Muhlenberg cares continually for out of town cases. Today every department of the institution is full, and there are operative cases on the private room waiting list. With the completion of the new buildings, many of New York's prominent specialists and the leading physicians and surgeons of other cities will be quick to realize, for their patients, the many advantages of good air, quiet surroundings and complete equipment offered. The increased revenue from this new pavilion will make possible, to a far greater extent, the development and expansion of work in the Edgerton maternity building, the new children's ward, the public wards and the dispensary. Both the Edgerton Memorial and the building illustrated herewith will be completed early next Summer.

The private ward pavilion faces Park avenue, is 40x100 feet, three stories, and is built of Fisk "tapestry" brick with stone trim. Massive stone columns adorn the entrance portico, and with the tapestry brick and heavy cornices, give a most pleasing architectural effect to the whole. The building is of fireproof construction. Walls and floors are sound proof. An elevator for patients, a roomy, home-like solarium on each floor, a complete house telephone system, frequent nurses stations in the corridors and a system of electric light calls to replace the present noisy call bells, are but a few of many interesting features of the building. When the button is pressed to call a nurse, the lights will show simultaneously in four places—

HETFIELD WILL HOLD ON TO JOB

State Civil Service Chief Examiner Colby Says Asst. Prosecutor is Protected.

ATT'Y-GEN'L OPINION

Bright Young Lawyer Declines to Make Any Statement But It is Known That He Will Not Surrender Without a Fight.

Assistant Prosecutor of Union County Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city, will not relinquish his office without a fight. This became evident when Mr. Hetfield declared in this paper a few days ago that he was protected by the civil service law and that his office came under the exempt clause in that act.

Gardner Colby, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, takes sides with Mr. Hetfield. The commissioner cited an opinion given by the attorney general two years ago, in which it was stated that all assistant prosecutors come under the exempt class.

"The attorney general," said Mr. Colby, "at that time put into the exempt class all assistant prosecutors and the legal assistants in the law departments of the State, the different municipalities and the men in the office of the prosecutors actually engaged in trials or who appear in court. All of these, according to the attorney general's opinion, are in the exempt class and cannot be dismissed for political or religious causes.

"The only difference," continued Mr. Colby, "between the exempt and competitive class is that the latter must be notified in writing before being dismissed and they have the right to file an answer, whereas, the exempt class may be dismissed without previous notice. But in any event, neither can be dismissed without cause, and even the exempts may appeal if they have reasons to believe that they are discharged for political or religious causes. Under this classification are also placed the tax office, probation office, court officers and others coming under similar classification."

"Why was this ruling not acted on by other assistant prosecutors?" Mr. Colby was asked.

"Because," he said, "they were willing to relinquish office when a change came in the political complexion."

Mr. Hetfield said yesterday that he would not make a statement at this time. Those who are siding with him, however, declare that he will contest any attempt to remove him from office.

JUDGE I. P. ON BENCH.

Judge Isaac P. Runyon, of Plainfield, is sitting today at the Elizabeth District Court for Judge Whittemore.

RUNAWAY CONFESSES TO THEFT OF MONEY

Young Greve Who Disappeared Implicates Others and Arrests Follow.

When Mrs. August Greve and her 15-year-old son Andrew Greve, of 762 St. Mary avenue, appeared before Police Chief Kiely yesterday afternoon, the boy, who ran away from home Tuesday and took a trolley trip with several other boys giving the conductor a $10 bill to pay the fare, gave testimony that will probably implicate himself and several others in a series of thefts recently committed in the West End section of the city.

Mrs. Greve said she was at a loss to explain where her son secured the $10. Questioned by the chief he confessed that he was one of several boys who had received part of $99 stolen from Mrs. Margaret Esaldo's store, at 801 St. Mary avenue last January. He named William and John Garretson as the thieves and distributors of the loot. The theft had been puzzling the police department until this information was given.

When seen by a Daily Press reporter, Greve said other boys who benefited by the theft were Michael Antil, James Schrado, Stephen Parello, Alexander Calucci, Casaldo Diano and Frank Esaldo. Esaldo is a son of the victim.

Following Greve's damaging statements, the Garretson boys were arrested by Sergeant Flynn and will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza Saturday morning.

Should the charges against the Garretson boys be proven, they face a long confinement in reformatory or prison. They were in the hands of the authorities in March, 1911, when they were arrested by Sergeant Flynn, and later convicted, of systematically looting the grocery store at 1354 West Third street, the property of Lawrence Kerwin. This offense showed deliberate planning. The perpetrators at night cut their way through the store floor from the cellar, replacing the boards after their visit. In this way they stole considerable merchandise and money and the thefts had the police puzzled until the miscreants were apprehended by Sergeant Flynn.

Young Greve also has a police record, having been arrested lately by Flynn for breaking the seals on numerous Central Railroad freight trains. It is said that his mother has long sought to reform him but finding her effort futile wants him sent to an institution.

SWACKHAMER'S GIFT.

S. S. Swackhamer, president of the Plainfield Bar Association, presented the Plainfield District Court with a steel engraving picture of the members of the Bench and Bar of Union county. The picture has been framed and at present it adorns the District Court room.

FIRE COMMITTEE CONSIDERS NEEDS

Automobile Engine and More Regular Firemen Discussed as Department's Wants.

TALK ABOUT BUDGET

May Make a Change, Arranging to Have One Man Devote His Entire Time to Job of Building Inspector.

The questions of purchasing a new automobile fire engine, additional hose and hiring more regular men for the department were discussed at the meeting of the Councilmanic Fire and Building Committee, last night. There was also a consideration of the budget for next year and if the proposed improvements are made an amount in excess of $45,000, last year's appropriation, will be needed.

Residents in the Netherwood section are complaining about the lack of fire protection, claiming that insurance companies have increased their rates from forty cents to $1, because of inadequate protection. If a new apparatus is purchased it could be stationed at headquarters and the auto apparatus now at that place could be transferred to the Netherwood fire house. There also seems to be an urgent need for additional men in the department.

The committee agreed that Mr. Endress was in order Monday night in offering a resolution providing for the selection of four additional men in the department, but they must first be recommended by the committee to the Mayor for appointment. The usual physical examination is required of all applicants before appointment is made.

There has also been some talk of separating the position of building inspector from that of fire chief, and appointing a new man for inspector. This matter is to be taken up within a short time and it is expected that Mayor Stewart will name some one for the inspectorship. Among those mentioned is J. V. F. Dilts, who would make a good man for the place. When Fire Chief Doane's salary was raised last year it was with the idea that he should be relieved of the work of building inspector.

The growth of the city and increasing building activity requires that a man give his whole time to this work, it is said.

COMMUTERS SEE AMAZING THINGS

Just Take the 8:30 Crowd This Morning for Instance.

THEY SAW A BLACK CAT

Which Came Out of An Extraordinary Place—Everything Considered—and, Which Was More Extraordinary Still, Went Right Back!

Many are the oddities that go to make up the strange, wild life of the commuter. He sees ice cakes floating in the river, and trumps his partner's ace, and never eats lunch at home on week-days, and so on and so on—one simply can't detail all the striking and unusual things a commuter encounters.

Take the 8:30 squad at the eastbound station this morning. When Edward Martin, the porter, opened the door of the ash-pit under the station stove what do you think they saw? A big black cat walked right out of that ash-pit door. Can you beat that? A perfectly reliable observer, who is also a reporter, said in a professional statement on the occurrence:

"The feline walked out of its warm resting place, stretched itself and then deeming it too cold to be comfortable outside turned around and re-entered the place. It is thought that during the night the cat had crawled into the ash-pit after the fire had been banked and had snuggled down there going to sleep."

In every office and workshop and money mart where the 8:30's went today the current of events was halted while they told of the black-cat-that-came-out-of-the-stove-when-the-porter-started-to-rake-up-the-fire-whatcher-know-about-that!

BURGLARS.

Charles Harned, of 203 Liberty street, reported to the police this morning that thieves had entered his blacksmith shop, in West Second street, near Liberty street, last night by forcing a rear window. He could not determine what had been taken, the stock being strewn in disorder over the floor of the establishment.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Miss Henrietta Harbeson, formerly a teacher of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades in Public School No. 1 and girls' instructor of gymnastics at the Parish House, will not return to Scotch Plains to resume her duties on account of the death of her mother recently. Several weeks ago Miss Harbeson left for her home in Danville, Ky., because of her mother's serious illness. She was popular among the young people and will be greatly missed. Miss Walker has been promoted to Miss Harbeson's place and a new teacher, Miss Barkman, will fill this vacancy.

Leonard M. Smith, physical director at the Newark Y. M. C. A., has notified Instructor Burnett Brodziak of the Parish House, that the gymnastic team of the Newark association will come to Scotch Plains and give an exhibition on any date selected. Their program of "stunts" will include feats on the horizontal and parallel bars, a dumb-bell drill and a jumping jack dance. The Newarkers are experienced and skilled performers and rank with the top-notchers of the country.

A cottage prayer-meeting will be held tonight at the home of Harry Denison, in Park avenue.

The Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, the pastor, conducted the prayer meeting in the Baptist church last night.

As was expected, the "championship" game between the Nonpareil and O. O. C. feminine basketball teams of Plainfield scheduled to be played last night on the Prish House court did not materialize. For some reason the O. O. C. five cancelled the game. However, a team compoed of the Misses Stewart, Durar, Lucy Douglas, M. Duncan, Ruth Douglas and Burtis, played against the fast Plainfielders and were defeated by the score of 43 to 19.

In the first game of a double bill of feminine basketball at the Parish House last night, the local girls' five was defeated in a close contest by the crack quintet of lassies from Dunellen, the score ending 16 to 12. For the visitors the Misses L. Stryker, H. Bennett and N. Fisher were the shining lights. Miss Sadie Lee starred for the local five.

In the second half of the Nonpareil-Plainfield girls' game last night, Miss Lucy Douglas sprained her left ankle in a tussle with Miss Helen Hummel. She was forced to retire from the fray, her place being taken by Miss Mary Alice Duncan, of the Hope chapel girls' five. Dr. Ray Munger, of Fanwood was summoned and bandaged the injured member.

The girls who are to take part in the entertainment to be held Washington's birthday, in the Parish House, held a rehearsal yesterday afternoon. They are being coached by Mrs. F. G. Urner, who has the affair in charge.

The regular weekly prayer-meeting will be held tonight in the Methodist church.

Members of the Parish House bowling team practiced last night for coming games.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cole, of Westfield, visited friends in town yesterday.

Miss Katherine Arndt, of Westfield, was the guest yesterday of Miss Eleanor Walsh.

Following the basketball games in the Parish House last night the players enjoyed refreshments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anson, in Park avenue.

Miss Lizzie Woodruff, of Westfield road, is visiting her uncle, William Woodruff, of New York.

Miss Ritta Demott is entertaining her sister from Gladstone.

Miss Louise Nichol has entirely recovered from an attack of scarlet fever. The quarantine was raised yesterday.

Warrenville.

The State councilor of the Daughters of America at Mt. Bethel expects to be present at the Grand View Council, No. 55, meeting, on February 18. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Agnes Hawkins, of Mt. Horeb, has returned home from a visit to New York city. Mrs. Hawkins expects to leave home the latter part of this month for a six weeks' trip to California.

Miss Ruth I. Miller, of Sunnyside, has returned home from a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Randolph Giddis, of Watchung avenue, North Plainfield.

Benjamin Bornmann, of East Second street, Plainfield, is the guest of Richard Faulkner, of Mt. Horeb.

Mrs. George Jennings, of The Cedars, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Andrew Stangle, of Martinsville.

Miss Margaret Faulkner, of Mt. Horeb, has been visiting Miss Dora Bornmann, of East Eecond street, Plainfield.

WEALTHY MINE OWNER TO TAKE THIRD WIFE

Josiah V. Thompson.

From a cot in the West Penn Hospital, Pittsburg, Pa., Miss Mabel Moredock, of Jefferson, Greene county, is making arrangements for her forthcoming marriage to Josiah Van Kirk Thompson, the wealthy coal mine owner and banker of Johnstown. Mr. Thompson is fifty-eight years old and his bride to be, who will be his third wife, is twenty-one.

Mr. Thompson got a divorce on January 20 from his second wife, who was Mrs. Blanche Gardner Hawes, widow of a race horse owner at the time of the marriage in New York in 1903. In settlement at the time of the divorce Mr. Thompson paid to the second Mrs Thompson $1,000,000 in cash.

UNION COUNTY ORPHANS COURT.

In the Matter of the Estate of ELIZA A. VANDERBEEK, deceased.
On Petition for Sale of land to pay debts.
ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

GEORGE M. GRIFFEN and ELIAS H. BIRD, executors of the last Will and Testament of Eliza A. Vanderbeek, deceased having exhibited under oath a true account of the personal estate and debts of said testatrix whereby it appears that the personal estate of the said Elizabeth A. Vanderbeek, deceased, is insufficient to pay her debts and requesting the aid of the Court in the premises.

It is thereupon on this twentieth day of December, nineteen hundred and twelve, ordered, that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate of the said Eliza A. Vanderbeek, deceased, appear before this Court at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth on the twenty-first day of February, 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as they can be heard to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate of the said Eliza A. Vanderbeek, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay her debts, and it is further ordered that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State, as by the statute directed.

WEALTHY WOMEN ARE DETECTIVES

Mrs. Edison and Mrs. Colgate After Clean Streets.

CHEER RESIGNING MAYOR

Find Themselves In Dramatic Scene When They Went to Report to West Orange Council—Executive Quits Because Saloon Gets License.

West Orange, N. J., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the inventor, and Mrs. Russell Colgate, both of this city, told how they had watched houses in town for several days in order to make up a list of the persons in the habit of littering the streets with tin cans, peelings and other refuse. Both are enthusiastic reformers, and they asserted they had thoroughly enjoyed their detective work in the civic cause.

When they went to the meeting of the West Orange council to report on their task they found themselves in the midst of a dramatic scene. They cheered Dr. Samuel A. Muta as he resigned the office of mayor because the council had voted for another saloon.

Mrs. Colgate, whose family is wealthy and prominent in society, is head of the committee that tries to keep the streets clean, while Mrs. Edison is president of the West Orange Town Improvement association, of which the committee is an arm. When the town scavenger reported he could not tidy the streets to suit the standard of the West Orange women because the residents would not quit throwing out their refuse indiscriminately, Mrs. Edison and Mrs. Colgate began their detective work.

While they were waiting to be heard the council was arguing the matter of granting another saloon license. When the vote was taken it was found that the license had been granted by a vote of 6 to 5.

Mayor Muta leaped to his feet and cried:

"I resign! I will not be a member of such a body! I quit as mayor of this town!"

As he walked down the aisle and out of the hall Mrs. Edison and Mrs. Colgate jumped up and applauded him. Their example was followed by others. Outside the room Dr. Muta got a sheet of copy paper from a reporter and on it wrote out his resignation as mayor and sent it into the council. The council took a vote and rejected the resignation.

SAYS MURPHY SENT THEM.

Gave Gunmen Money to Shoot Burke, Says Wildhaber.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 6.—Ernest Wildhaber, the gunman held in this city in connection with the shooting of Thomas Conroy in a saloon last Friday night, made a full confession to Captain Dan Lee of the police and Lieutenants Crosscup and Carey of New York, in which he said that Peter B. Murphy, who is a traveling agent for the Structural Iron Workers' union in Brooklyn and a Jersey City politician, paid "Big Slim," "Kid Dynamite" and himself to assault John W. Burke, an officer of the Steam Hoisting Engineers' union in Jersey.

The deal between Murphy and the gunmen was made in the Buffalo cafe at 2½ James street, New York, according to Wildhaber. The gunmen then went to a saloon in Jersey City to "do" Burke. In the row Conroy, a friend of Burke's, took his part, and "Kid Dynamite," Wildhaber says, shot Conroy. Both "Kid Dynamite" and "Big Slim" made their escape.

DIES FROM BULLET WOUND

Vineland Woman Succumbs In Hospital After Week of Suffering.

Vineland, N. J., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Lester Walton, who was shot in her home here a week ago, died in the Physicians' hospital. The bullet penetrated her breast.

Mrs. Walton's husband declared the shooting accidental and explained that she was examining a revolver when it exploded. This was accepted by the police, and Walton was not held. Coroner Gray has ordered an inquest and will continue the investigation into the woman's death.

DELIVERY MAN DROWNED.

Falls Into River While Carrying Groceries Up Gangplank to Tug.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 6.—Julius Feddler, a clerk, thirty-five years old, of this city, was drowned when about to deliver groceries on board a Pennsylvania railroad tug at the foot of Morgan street.

Feddler was going up a gangplank from a float to the tug when he slipped and fell into the river. He was unable to swim and sank before help could reach him.

Elizabeth's Mayor Warns.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 6.—Mayor Victor Mravlag of this city gave it as his opinion that it was against the law for members of the board of excise to receive salaries, although the council passed a resolution providing that an annual salary of $250 be paid members of the board. He will veto the resolution.

The desirable boarders are not all satisfied with their present boarding houses. Your ad will interest some of them.

Plainfield, N. J., February 6, 1913.

It is not surprising that few, if any, favorable comments are heard on the appointment of James C. Connelly as judge of the Union county courts to succeed Edwin S. Atwater, resigned. As the Governor must rely on his party's organization leaders for advice in deciding appointments of this sort, he can not be held blameable for undoubtedly Gen. Collins recommended Connelly. Connelly, by the way, is a warm friend of the General, who is the head of the Peter Breidt Brewing Company. Both of the other candidates, former Prosecutor William R Wilson and former Judge Patrick Gilhooley are able lawyers and either would have been an ornament to the bench. Strong pressure was brought to bear in their favor, but the Governor was persuaded to nominate Connelly. Senator Pierce, it is reliably reported, was adverse to confirmation in the Senate, but the fact remains that the appointment was approved. We hope sincerely that Judge Connelly's career on the bench will refute the opinions of him entertained by those who wished that another would be given the honor.

Assistant State Commissioner of Education J. B. Betts, of this city, has decided that the law passed by the last Legislature providing for the retirement of public school teachers who have served for not less than thirty-five years is mandatory and not permissive. This means that no discretionary power is vested in local boards of education. The case upon which Mr. Betts bases his opinion was one in Ocean county where a teacher, who had served for more than the required time, asked to be retired on half pay as the statute provides. His request was refused, but by the commissioner's order the application must be granted. There is a clause in this law, however, that the petitioner must have been employed during the last twenty years of his service by the board to which he applies for retirement.

The Wisconsin plan whereby the second choice of voters figures in the election of candidates may be fused into the New Jersey election laws. Governor Wilson is very favorably impressed with this plan and he is having a similar measure drafted for early introduction in the Legislature. The Wisconsin law provides that every man who votes for a candidate shall also name his second choice. If a majority is not obtained by a candidate, the second choice shall be figured in and a majority arrived at in this manner. The New Jersey law at the present time only requires a plurality to nominate. As the Governor says, when the second choice is counted in, it will be found that candidates will be eliminated one by one until by that process a majority is produced.

Those who are interested in the equal suffrage question should not miss the opportunity to hear able speakers present the favorable side of the agitation at an open meeting to be held at the Hartridge auditorium tomorrow night. Among those to advocate the cause will be former Mayor William L. Saunders, who has devoted much time and study to the question, which every day is becoming of greater prominence and importance as a National issue.

In our news columns today will be found a picture of the new pavilion now in the course of erection at Muhlenberg Hospital, and which when completed some months hence will be a decided improvement and big addition to the institution. The interior arrangements and facilities of the pavilion are fully described in the news article. This structure was made possible by the citizens of Plainfield, who a year ago subscribed the magnificant sum of $137,000 for the institution.

As Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., has made good in the performance of his duties as Assistant Prosecutor of Union county, it is encouraging to learn that he is protected by the Civil Service laws and he cannot be ousted to make a place for some office-hungry lawyer.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will be a clergyman, who will discuss a matter of much interest just at this season of the year.

VASSAR GIRL LOSES LIFE TOBOGGANING

Miss Mylod Drowned In Lake; Four Rescued.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Five young women, seniors of Vassar college, were borne down Sunset hill last night in a toboggan that crashed through the ice of the artificial lake on the Vassar campus. One of them, Miss Elizabeth B. Mylod, twenty-one years old, daughter of John J. Mylod, corporation counsel and Democratic leader of Poughkeepsie, was caught under the frozen surface of the water and drowned.

Heroic aid came to the other girls from a classmate, Miss Phoebe Briggs, a daughter of Dr. William L. Briggs of Sacramento, Cal. An expert swimmer and athlete, she plunged into the icy water and drew four of the young women to the ice's edge. There they were able to cling until Professor George B. Shattuck pushed out a plank and dragged them to safety.

Besides Miss Mylod, the girls on the toboggan were Mildred Kenniston, daughter of Fred A. Kenniston of Cambridge, Mass.; Myra Hulst, daughter of C. J. Hulst of New Hamburg, N. Y.; Laura Reiner, daughter of John Reiner of Kingston, N. Y., and Annie J. Oldham, daughter of J. R. Oldham of Cleveland, O.

Professor Shattuck heard the cries in his laboratory and hastened to the lake. He tore away one of the "danger" planks and thrust it out to the imperiled young women. Then he crawled out on the plank and drew the girls one by one out of the water.

Miss Mylod's father was informed, and gardeners and other attendants were put at the work of breaking the ice and dredging for her body. After an hour it was found.

APPOINTED BY SULZER.

Governor Names Managers For State Institutions.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Governor Sulzer sent the following appointments to the senate: Manager state industrial farm colony, Isaac Dalrymple of Preston to succeed Joseph Beal of Oneida; manager state reformatory for misdemeanants, Dr. George M. Parker; James E. Dougherty, James F. Boyle, Herbert H. Lehman, Cyrus L. Sulzberger, Jacob Ruppert, Jr., all of New York, and John J. Brady of Albany. Mr. Ruppert succeeds Liberty H. Bailey of Ithaca, and Mr. Lehman takes the place of George D. Davidson of Buffalo.

Surrogate of Columbia county, Samuel B. Coffin of Hudson to succeed George McClellan, resigned. The appointments were referred to the finance committee.

BURGLAR TRAPS HIMSELF.

Robs Saloon and Then Yields to Craving Thirst.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—"Every saloon its own burglar trap!" is the triumphant slogan of Gustave Feldman, a saloon keeper of 567 West Madison street. Opening for business he found Bill Littner, of repute among crooks, stretched out in a deep sleep on the floor of his place with a bag of loot and all available cash prepared for transportation.

Bill's breath was the answer.

HOUSE REBUKES THE UPPER BODY

Senate's Bill to Include Its Members in Washington Trip Defeated.

SCORED AS JUNKET

Assembly After Killing Measure Offers One to Send Only the Acting-Governor and the Militia to Inauguration.

Trenton, Feb. 6.—Overwhelming defeat was administered by the Assembly yesterday afternoon to the proposition to send members of the Legislature to the inauguration of President Wilson at Washington at State expense. By the vote of 45 to 3, the House killed the Nichols bill appropriating $35,000 to send the entire division of the National Guard of the State to participate in the inauguration. It was defeated because it had been amended to provide that all the members of the Senate should also attend the inaugural ceremony at the expense of the State. The Assemblymen who voted for the measure were Adams and Moore, of Mercer, Republicans, and Richards, the Republican leader, of Atlantic.

Before the bill was killed it was amended so as to include the sixty members of the Assembly in the junketing trip. Mr. Egan, of Hudson, the Democratic leader, offered this amendment and it was adopted, 49 to 0. This was done with the understanding that the measure was to be defeated and to show contempt to the Senate for its action in only looking out for itself. As soon as the amendment had been voted in the rules were suspended and the bill was put on final passage. Several members spoke against it, characterizing it as providing for a junket.

Mr. Egan immediately introduced a new bill providing an appropriation of $35,000 to pay the expenses of the Acting Governor, who will be State President James F. Fielder, of Hudson county, and his staff to the inauguration ,and such part of the National Guard as the Governor may designate. It was referred to the Committee on Militia. This measure will probably be enacted. Senator Harry D. Leavitt, of this city, opposed the amendment in the Senate and voted against it.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dobbs, of Philadelphia, are spending a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobbs, of South avenue.

Kenneth H. Stuart, of Grove street, has returned home after spending several days in South Framingham, Mass.

Edward Bremble, of East Seventh street, has returned home after spending several days with friends in Philadelphia.

Charles Post, of East Third street, returned home yesterday after visiting with relatives in Elizabeth.

The Misses Bessie and Frances Kline, of Somerville, are spending a few days with their sister, Mrs. Nat Bernstein, of Craig place.

Herbert Johnson, of Park avenue, returned home last night after a two weks' business trip through New York State.

Miss E. F. Hall, who has been a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital for many weeks for treatment of a fractured leg, the result of an accident at Bound Brook, has returned to her home, 429 West Fourth street. She is now able to get around with the aid of crutches.

Hugh Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Reed, of Park avenue, underwent an operation yesterday for appendicitis. His condition today is reported favorable for an early recovery.

T. S. Armstrong, the druggist of 221 Park avenue, who has been confined to Muhlenberg Hospital with appendicitis for some time, left the institution yesterday for his home in Duer street, much improved.

HESS STOPPED RUNAWAY TEAM

John Hess, of West Third street, a lineman in the employ of the New York Telephone Company in the Elizabeth division, stopped a team of runaway horses at Cranford yesterday afternoon, preventing them from plunging headlong over an embankment and being killed. A large gang of men is being employed constructing a new trolley bridge on South avenue, Cranford, and each one failed to stop the team. Hess took a desperate chance and succeeded in throwing one of the horses. When it regained its feet the other horse was headed for the street leading into the business section of the town and the team was finally caught without doing any damage.

ANOTHER PHASE OF FREEHOLDERS' FIGHT

Two Bills Introduced by Union Co. Member as to Weights & Measures Job.

Trenton, Feb. 6.—The term of office of all county and municipal Superintendents of Weights and Measures are made to terminate December 31, next, in a bill introduced in the Assembly yesterday afternoon by Mr. Leonard, of Union county. He also put in a bill permitting the governing bodies of counties and municipalities to appoint superintendents of weights and measures.

The bills relate to the fight between the new small Boards of Freeholders and the old Boards as far as the appointment of county Superintendent of Weights and Measures. is concerned. The county Superintendent in both Mercer and Union counties is affected by the fight. If the new Boards finally win it will throw out of office Superintendent Mulheran, of Mercer county, Republican, and Superintendent Schwartz, of Union, Democrat.

State Superintendent of Weights and Measures William L Waldron, of this city, said today that he knew nothing about these bills. He did not even know they had been introduced until his attention was called to them.

MOVING PICTURE SHOW CENSORS ARE DESIRED

Trenton, Feb. 6.—The appointment of boards of censors to pass upon the propriety of moving pictures intended fo rexhibition, is provided for in a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Leavitt, of Mercer, yesterday morning. The bill stipulates that the boards shall be appointed by the boards of education by resolution. The board shall be made up of three members. A companion bill, introduced by Mr. Leavitt makes it a misdemeanor to permit any child under the age of 16 years unattended by parent or guardian, t oenter or remain in any theatre or other performance or moving picture show.

SENATOR C. B. PIERCE INTRODUCES TAX BILLS

Trenton, Feb. 6.—A series of measures effecting the tax laws were introduced in the Senate yesterday morning by Senator Pierce, of Union county. One amends the general tax act by authorizing tax collectors, with the consent of governing bodies of municipalities, to designate one or more policemen as collectors of tax arrears. Another requires cities other than those having charter provisions for a public record of tax liens on land, to file with the county clerk annually, a list of all unpaid taxes on real estate for the preceding year.

The remaining bill provides for publication of personal tax delinquents, in second as well as first class cities.

An act to abolish poll tax assessments was also introduced by the member from Mercer. The Moore bill, a similar measure has passed the House and has the endorsement of the State Tax Board.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

An informal talk on books and authors will be given by Mrs. Robert Lowry in the association rooms every Tuesday evening. The first of these new meetings was held last Tuesday and the life and works of Charles Dickens, the novelist, were discussed. Next Tuesday Thackeray, Tennyson and the Brownings will be erated in a like manner. The discussions are membership privileges and all members are invited to attend. At the next gathering old English ballads will be rendered by singers in old English costumes.

A new class in advanced cooking will be started next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock with Miss Tabor, the domestic science teacher in the local public schools, in charge.

A class in millinery will be conducted by Miss Adelaide Marsh every Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon.

Mondays and Tuesdays, both in the afternoon and evening, classes in beginning and advanced dressmaking will be conducted for members.

The Monday evening embroidery class is being conducted Monday evenings and has already become a fixture in the association work.

A second term gymnasium membership campaign has been inaugurated with Miss Marion Mair and Miss Ellen Doughty as the rival captains. As is the case in all of the Y. W. C. A. membership contests, the losers will treat the winners to a spread after the contest closes.

The second term will begin during the week of February 24.

Don't fail to hear Miss Angy Manning Taylor speak at the vesper service, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Taylor comes from the Moodey Institute of Chicago and has been identified with the Thursday evening night course.

Many inquires have come to hand asking for information concerning the Y. W. C. A. class schedule which has been compiled as follows:

Semi-advanced class — Monday nights at 8 o'clock.

Advanced class—Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Folk dancing—Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Basketball practise — Thursday nights at 8 o'clock.

Beginners' class—Friday nights at 8 o'clock.

Class for juniors, 8 to 11 years—Tuesday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock.

Class for juniors, 11 to 14 years—Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Children's class, boys and girls under 8 years—Monday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock.

COLLEGE CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the College Club was held at the home of Mrs. William H. Murray, on Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon and the members were entertained with a short play. The characters were taken by the Misses Margaret McCutchen, Blanche Buttfield, Frederica Mead, Margaret Townsend and Edna Hayes.

MRS. CHARLOTTE BURNETT DEAD; AGED SEVENTY-SIX

Mrs. Charlotte Burnett, aged 76 years, died at noon today at her home in Watchung from a complication of diseases. She was born at Meyersville and had lived on the farm where she died since 1860. She was a member of the Presbyterian church of Meyersville.

Mrs. Burnett is survived by five sons, John, Edward, George Burnett, of Watchung; Henry B. Burnett, of Stirling; Charles Burnett, of Plainfield, and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Bodenheimer, of Plainfield, and Mrs. Lyle Compton, of Summit.

U. S. SNATORS AT ODDS.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Feb. 6.—The fight for control of the Senate organization by the radical Democrats has broken out afresh. Efforts will be made to displace Senator Simmons from the chairmanship of the finance committee and Senator Martin from the leadership of the Senate. Both are conservatives. It is claimed that President-elect Wilson is in sympathy with the movement.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY IS EXPECTED AT THE TRIAL OF FREDERICK O. BEACH NOW GOING ON AT AIKEN, S. C.

COUNTY COURT HOUSE, AIKEN, S. C — JUDGE SPAIN

That the trial of Frederick O. Beach, charged with having slashed his wife, will not last very long is the general belief at Aiken, S. C., where the case is now being heard. It is expected the prosecution will soon ask that it be dismissed and the jury ordered to acquit the defendant at once. This move will, however, be fought by the lawyers for Mr. Beach, as they wish to get a complete exoneration for their client and are also anxious to call to the witness stand the men who were instrumental in having him indicted

In the above photographs are shown Mr. and Mrs. Beach, Judge Spain, who is hearing the case, and the county court house where the trial is going on.

"SMILE A LITTLE AND BE HAPPY," IS HER FAVORITE RECIPE AT AGE OF 95.

MRS. MARY BORGOS

"Eat two meals a day, drink a glass of cold water every morning before breakfast, and be merry all the time. This is the true rule of three for a long life and a happy one.

"If in addition to the rule of three you dance every little while and laugh lots there is no reason why you cannot pass the century mark with all the brightness and buoyancy of youth. Shake your feet. Smile a little. Be happy!"

Mrs. Mary Borgos, of the rosy winter apple face, is the ninety-five of the story, although she admits to but twetny-five of these years.'

Mrs. Borgos is well known in many cities. She has travelled extensively and knows the world thoroughly in all its many phases. One of her principal hobbies is to arise at half-past four every morning and "watch the world wake up."

MRS. JOS. W. YATES DIED THIS MORNING

Mother of F. W. Yates, Who Resided Here Nearly Half Century, Passes Away.

Mrs. Susan G. Yates, widow of Joseph W. Yates, died this morning at her home, 128 East Seventh street, following an illness of a trifle over two months. From the time she was taken ill, which was on Thanksgiving Day, she failed gradually. That her condition was so serious was not generally known among her friends.

Mrs. Yates was born in Providence, R. I., being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Jackson. She came to Plainfield in 1864, and had resided here ever since. She was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and was deeply interested in various charities of the city to which she was a benefactor in a quiet and unassuming way. She was especially active in the work of the W. C. T. U., and for eight years was its president, and since then an honorary president. She possessed unusual womanly qualities and was beloved by all who knew her.

Surviving are four children, Mrs. C. Dudley Holman, of Pittsfield, Mass.; Mrs. Harry V. Borden, Miss Margaret G. Yates and Frederick W. Yates, of this city; and one sister, Miss Sarah F. Jackson, of Pittsfield, Mass. The funeral will be held at the late home, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

which have no excise boards.

Political opponents of Mr. Connelly declared yesterday that would give a good deal to know what brought his appointment about. Friends of the new judge, when asked about it, point to Mr. Connelly's record as an ardent Wilson supporter during the campaign.

In a previous executive session of the Senate over those nominations, a question was raised, presumably by Senator Pierce, of Union, as to the right of the Governor to name Judge Connelly for a full five-year term to succeed Judge Atwater, whose term had not expired.

Whether that question was pressed yesterday could not be learned definitely, but the reluctance with which the Senators met questions about the session left the impression that at least the county judgeship confirmation was by a strict party vote. Immediately after the executive meeting the Senate adjourned until Monday night and the Democrats went into a conference.

The [illegible] session for more than an hour and various explanations were heard as to the object of the meeting. The one thing that every Senator was willing to admit was that the conferees had a distinct understanding that the public was to get nothing of the doings that went on behind the closed doors.

One of the stories heard in connection with the confab was disquieting to the adherents of Governor Wilson. President Fielder and others declared, however, that it was simply a discussion of matters of legislation.

Majority Leader Davis hurried from the conference and went to the Governor's office, but Governor Wilson had gone to lunch.

UNION CO. WANTS A NORMAL SCHOOL

Elizabeth Takes Initiative to Have New Institution Located There.

Elizabeth, Feb. 6.—The Board of Education at its meeting last night passed resolutions urging the State Board of Education and the Union county legislators to give their assistance to the movement to establish a State normal school in this city. Superintendent of Schools Clement, who took the initiative in the matter and has been sucessful in securing the endorsement of many people in the county on the ground that Elizabeth is the most logical point in the northern section of the State for such a school.

The State Board of Education is said to be on record as approving plans for another normal school and has been favorably impressed with Elizabeth's claims. It is pointed out that the new school would be available for the students in Union, Somerset counties; part of Hudson and part of Middlesex counties, who find present conditions inconvenient. Appropriations will be asked the Legislature, it is said, for the building of normal schools in both Southern and Northern New Jersey.

PLANNING TO IMPROVE MANY THOROUGHFARES

Tentative plans for improving a number of residential streets were discussed at the meeting of the Councilmanic Street Committee last night. It was agreed that while considerable attention has been given to streets in the centre of the city there are many others in the residential part which needs macadamizing. Among those likely to be improved in the early spring are the following:

Woodland avenue, from Prospect avenue to the city line; Manson place, from West Third to West Fourth streets; McDowell street, Hillside avenue to Randolph road; Wallace place, Watson avenue and George street, West Fourth street to city line, South Second street west of Clinton avenue, Clinton avenue to Rock avenue; Earl place, Leland avenue from East Front street to Green brook.

It is the opinion of the committee that a mile of permanent pavement should be laid each year, and that all macadamizing should be from curb to curb with concrete gutters. The committee also favors dividing up the street sprinkling contract, placing an equal number of wagons in the east and west end of the city. This matter will be taken up later.'

Miss Rose Spillane, of this city, has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Boston and is now residing at 475 West Front street.

BEACH DEFENSE DRAWS TO CLOSE

Stains on Knife Not Blood, Says Doctor.

JURY INSPECTS WEAPON.

Mayor Gyles Testifies That Mr. Beach Offered to Pay For Negro Detective to Help Find Assailant—May Reach Verdict Tonight.

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 6.—When court opened today for the trial of Frederick O. Beach of New York, accused of slashing his wife "with intent to kill," the defendant's lawyers planned to place Mr. and Mrs. Beach on the stand. The case may go to the jury by nightfall.

When court adjourned yesterday the defense was only half through. The first witness for the accused was Dr Partridge of Augusta, Ga. He was shown the diamond studded knife of Mr. Beach, and he identified it as one which was submitted to him last March to be tested for the presence of blood stains. Dr. Partridge said his examination showed no trace of corpuscles whatever.

Several witnesses put on the stand by the prosecution had told of finding stains on the knife, and one, a physician, said he thought they were made by corpuscles. The knife was closely examined by the jury.

Mayor Gyles of Aiken testified that Mr. Beach, at his request, willingly handed over the penknife to a detective the mayor had employed. Witness said he examined the knife closely and saw stains near the base of a broken blade that might have been merely rust.

Mayor Long on Stand.

Mayor Gyles occupied the witness chair during the greater part of the session. He told of numerous conferences with the Beaches within a few days after the assault. He said Mrs Beach was still in bed suffering from the effects of the wound in her throat, but that she answered questions freely and made some suggestions.

The witness admitted that Mr. Beach gave him every assistance and proposed the employment of a negro to assist the white detective engaged on the case, sending him a check for the purpose. The mayor said the money never was used.

Mr. Beach's penknife was an object of much interest and close scrutiny by the jury when it was offered in evidence. Mayor Gyles said Beach gave it to him on request about three weeks after the assault, and later he turned it over to Dr. Hastings Wyman, Jr., for microscopic examination.

Stains on Penknife.

Dr. Wyman testified that he had examined the knife under a glass and had discovered what he believed to be blood stains. This view was sustained, he said, by the opinion of Dr. Boydon Mims, an analyst, of Columbia, to whom he submitted the knife.

The prosecution offered in evidence a report from Dr. Mims declaring that in his opinion several stains appearing on the knife were blood cells. It was admitted, however, that the tests were microscopic and not chemical

On cross examination Dr. Wyman admitted that he had taken the knife to an Augusta expert, Dr. Partridge, before submitting it to Dr. Mims He said that Dr. Partridge examined the knife, but declined to express an opinion.

"Didn't Dr. Partridge tell you that he couldn't find any trace of blood?" demanded Colonel Henderson.

"If I remembered that he did I'd say so," replied Dr. Wyman.

"Didn't Dr. Partridge cut his finger and put it on a blade of the knife in order to make a comparative test?"

"I didn't know if he did."

Dr. Wyman said he told Dr. Partridge when he took the knife to him that the "happiness of a great many persons depended on whether there was any blood on it or not."

KAISER'S SON IN TRAIN WRECK

Prince Wilhelm Eitel-Friedrich Helps to Rescue Injured.

Vienna, Feb 6.—Prince Wilhelm Eitel-Friedrich, second son of the German kaiser, narrowly escaped death when an express on which he was traveling from Bucharest to Berlin crashed head-on into the rear of a train of oil tanks near Mediasch. The collision caused an explosion of oil, and this was thrown blazing over the wrecked coaches, setting them afire. Many persons were reported to be fatally injured.

The prince and his suit were not hurt, and the young man at once set about to aid those rescuing the injured.

OF MISS LILLIAN DUNN ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Lillian Camila Dunn, daughter of former Councilman and Mrs. John E. Dunn, of West Front street, and Leland Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manning, of Myrtle avenue, was made at a pink tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Dunn. Covers were laid for twelve. Assisting Mrs. Dunn and her daughter were Mrs. James C. Manning and Mrs. Laura Vaughan, of New York.

The prevailing color in the decorations was pink, roses being used chiefly throughout the reception room, parlor and dining-room. The announcement of the engagement was made through attractive favors presented to the guests. No date has been set for the wedding.

MEETING OF INTEREST TO PLAINFIELD MOTHERS

Under the auspices of the Mothers' Association of Plainfield, at the High School, this afternoon, an outline of the accomplishments and the policy of the American Institution of Child Life was given by John B. Morris, a member of the board of directors of the society. The address will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Edward C. Grice, founder of the Philadelphia Home and School Association, who is a member of the administration board of the American Institution, will also speak.

The American Institution of Child Life is an endowed corporation. It purpose is to interpret the best tha is known about children to those wh love and care for them, and to give the young people advice and conns to fit their individual needs.

Those who arranged the interest ing program are Dr. Henry M. Mix son, G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. P. G Munro and Mrs. William M. Sandford Jr., and L. M. Best.

MEMORIAL TABLET FOR COURT HOUSE

Elizabeth, Feb. 6.—The Board o Trustees of the Union County Bar Association is trying to locate several missing books from the law library. It is quite certain that all of them are in possession of the members, as they alone have access to the rooms. Among the missing books are those most recently received, and which have not been stamped. As soon as the books are received Custodian Hulskamper affixes the regulation stamp, but as some of these books have been imperfect and could not be exchanged if stamped, he has not followed the custom.

The proposition to have erected in a suitable place in the Court House a memorial tablet to the memory of the county's oldest lawyers is progressing. The data for the inscriptions is now being compiled and from the work thus far done those in charge say that the labor involve is considerable.

MAY GET PERMISSION FOR "MOVIES" BUILDING

The Councilmanic Fire and Building Committee at its meeting last night considered the plans of Harry Dreier, Jacob Fass and Morris Abrams for permission to erect a moving picture theatre on West Front street and after carefully examining the plans, agreed that as there is no provision in the building code covering moving picture theatres it might be advisable to present a supplement to the code for this purpose and allow the promoters to erect the building.

The plans show a number of exits on Madison avenue, West Second street, as well as on West Front street, and it is claimed that the building can be emptied within two minutes. If the supplement is passed it will allow for an eighteen foot entrance as desired. It is understood that the theatre is to be used for moving pictures only, and will not include plays or vaudeville.

VESPER SERVICE SPEAKER.

Miss Anny Manning Taylor, who has been conducting the Thursday evening lecture course at the local Y. W. C. A., will speak at a Vesper services to be held in the association parlors next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Taylor for several years has been associated with the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, as a field worker, teaching the Bible to college and factory women, to groups of Christians in churches of all denominations in many cities, and always with the most far reaching success. She has lately been connected with the World's Morning Watch, of New York City, and is a most interesting speaker.

TWO COLORED TRUANTS.

Henry Richards, of 534 West Fourth street, and Robert Tate, of 617 West Fourth street, both colored, who were taken into custody by Patrolman Mulk at the North avenue station yesterday for playing truant and taken to their class-rooms in Washington School, did not make their appearance in the afternoon and were taken to headquarters a second time. This morning they were placed in the hands of the probation officer by City Judge DeMeza.

MISS CASE AS SOLOIST.

Miss Anna Case, formerly soprano soloist of the First Presbyterian church, but now of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was the soloist with the Russian Balalaika Orchestra at the concert in Aeolian Hall, New York, and was received with much enthusiasm, that the audience frequently interrupted her with applause while she sang the aria from "Traviata."

PLANNING CELEBRATION.

Rev. Solomon Porter Hood, of Trenton, State organizer of the movement among colored churches to celebrate the jubilee anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, will preside at a conference to be held at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church at 8 o'clock tonight, through the courtesy of Rev. Leton S. Sturges, pastor. All colored people are invited.

OUSTER PROCEEDINGS ARE ARGUED TODAY

Quo Warranto Suit Against Large Boards Being Heard at Newark.

Newark, Feb. 6.—Argument is being heard today at a special session of the Supreme Court before Justices Swayze and Kalisch in the quo warranto cases between the large and small boards of freeholders and the contesting factions now have hopes that a decision will be given within a short time. At first it was decided to hear the case of Union county, but afterward it was decided to include Morris and Mercer counties.

John R. English and William R. Wilson are representing the small board of Union county, while Judge Gilbert Collins is repreesnting the large board of the county. Former Attorney General Robert H. McCarter is representing the large boards of Morris and Mercer counties. The whole argument is based on the question as to whether the Gill act includes second class counties, such as Mercer, Morris and Union. Bergen county, it is understood, did not take out a writ.

BIG BATTLE RAGING AT GALLIPOLI TODAY

Conflicting Reports Received But Belief Grows Turkey Wants War Ended.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, Feb. 6.—Hard fighting between Turkish troops and the allies was going forward at five widely distant points in southern Europe today. The Turkish war office announced that the Turks were making brilliant defence at every point and that the allies were being held off with comparative ease. In addition to Gallipoli Turkish troops are engaged with the allies at Adrianople, Ichaialja and Scutaria. After a meeting of the cabinet council it was announced that Rechard Pacha, leader of the Turkish peace delegation had been instructed to remain in London indefinitely. The war is levying a heavy toll of misery upon the Turkish people. Famine prevails everywhere.

Sofia, Feb. 6.—The battle of Gallipoli is still raging with the Turks giving way before the repeated assaults of the Bulgarian army under General Racho Petroff.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—Belief is growing in high diplomatic circles that the Balkan War will be of short duration. The Turks are suffering reverses at several points and M. de Giers, the Russian minister to Turkey, reports that the Turkish people have become apathetic, clamoring that hostilities be ended.

CO. K TO PARTICIPATE.

Orders have been received by Captain Charles A. Peterson, of Company K, directing the local soldier boys to go to Trenton Wednesday next. The time of leaving is stated as 12:51 but owing to the fact that a number of the men cannot get a train at that time arrangements are being made to have the train leave about 1:30. Brigadier General Dennis Collins will review the troops in the Trenton armory in the evening. The afternoon will be given over to a regimental drill in field manoeuvres. After the review at night dancing will be enjoyed by all present.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 20 degrees; 11 a. m., 22 degrees; 1 p. m., 23 degrees.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Foreigners usually condemn and freely criticise the efficiency of American military training schools. They are not competent critics because their criticisms are colored and biased by ideals that are entirely at variance with the spirit of freedom in America. At least this is the conclusion Lyman H. Howe arrived at a short time ago, and in order to prove that American institutions of this nature far excel those of foreign countries he despatched his photographers to a typical (and model) military academy at Culver, Ind. There they photographed comprehensive scenes of the methods and curriculum of military training in America which discounts entirely the prejudiced opinions of foreigners. The scenes demonstrate that rigid discipline is not inconsistent with the spirit of freedom in a land that knows no class distinctions. They form one of the most vital features in Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Plainfield theatre tomorrow and Saturday. In every phase they convince spectators that the methods employed are such that American students profit by all the merits of a military training without being impaired by any defects of such a training. The ability of each student to do exactly the right thing in the right way at the right moment is vividly demonstrated in the reproduction of such activities as cavalry drills, artillery manoeuvres, building a pontoon bridge, target practice, etc. The entire series, by its sheer excellence, carries the conviction forcibly to every spectator that instead of our military training being inferior to that imparted in England and on the Continent, it actually is superior. Mr. Howe's views are so vivid and comprehensive that they compel foreigners, who usually criticise and condemn American military institutions, and whose opinions have been accepted even by some Americans, to revise their conclusions entirely.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Halifax, N. S., has three stock companies.

Henry E. Dixey is again appearing in vaudeville.

A new tabloid musical comedy is called "The Money Girl."

"Everywoman" has been breaking all the records in the South.

Nance O'Neil is playing a tabloid version of "Leah the Forsaken."

A stock company in Ottawa, Ont., is to give three shows a day of tabloid dramas.

Charles Dingle has joined a stock company in North Adams, Mass., as leading man.

Paul Doucet has been re-engaged to play the part of the priest in "The Confession."

Dolly Castles has been engaged for an important part in "The Man With Three Wives."

Holbrook Blinn is to revive "The Boss.' He wants to play Napoleon some time in the future.

John Cort is to produce a new play entitled "The Iron Door," by Allan Davis, of Pittsburgh.

Cecil De Mille is to produce an automobile comedy by Lee Wilson Dodd, author of "Speed," shortly.

Cyril Maude has made a success in London with "The Headmaster," by Wilfred Coleby and Edward Knoblauch.

Francis Wilson is to appear in a play by himself called "The Spiritualist." He will be under the management of John Cort.

Fraunce Franholz has left the stock field in which she was a great success to accept an offer with a moving picture firm.

Eva Tanguay has written a sketch of stage life called "When Chickens Come Home to Roost." It is booked for early production.

Fay Templeton, who has not been on the stage, except on special occasions, for some time, is to appear in vaudeville in New York.

John E. Kellerd, who has been very successful with "Hamlet" in New York, is going to appear as Shylock, with Amelia Gardner as Portia.

Forbes Robertson celebrated his sixtieth birthday in London on January 17. He spent the day rehearsing "Hamlet" for his farewell engagement.

Gladys Unger, an American girl, has completed a new play "The Son and Heir," which Louis Beyer is to produce at the Strand theatre, London, this month.

William Gillette is to return to the stage. Towards the end of the season he will be seen in New York in a new play. Mr. Frohman is sure that the new part will be unlike anything that Mr. Gillette has attempted since "The Private Secretary."

NEW SERVIAN STAMPS.

Vienna, Feb. 6.—Of interest to stamp collectors is the news from Belgrade that the Servian government has in preparation a new series of national postage stamps in commemoration of the Servian victories in the recent war. The stamps will bear portraits of famous Servian rulers and scenes in the re-conquered provinces.

REMEMBER SIR HENRY IRVING.

London, Feb. 6.—Today was the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of Sir Henry Irving, who died in 1906, and tokens of remembrance were placed by admirers on the slab covering his grace in Westminster Abbey, and on the pedestal of the actor's statue beside the National Portrait Gallery.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME STEAMED PUDDINGS.

A STEAMED pudding is generally wholesome. The steaming may be done by cooking in a steamer and by contact with the steam, or it may be done by cooking the pudding in a double boiler by means of the heat from the steam in the surrounding vessel.

Fruit Puddings.

Lemon Pudding.—Butter a small pudding dish, fill it with slices of thinly cut stale bread and butter sprinkled with sugar and grated lemon peel. Make a custard by mixing half a pint of milk with two well beaten eggs. Pour this over the bread. Let it soak for an hour. Cover with buttered paper and steam for an hour and a quarter. Turn out and serve with fruit or lemon sauce.

Date Pudding.—Take a quarter of a pound of stoned dates, half a pound of suet, half a pound of breadcrumbs, one tablespoonful of sugar, two eggs and one cupful of milk. Chop suet and dates and add other ingredients. Place in a buttered baking dish and steam.

White Pudding.—Take the yolks of three eggs and beat until light. Add gradually one cupful of granulated sugar, stirring all the while. When very light add two tablespoonfuls of milk, one cupful of flour and stir again. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth. Add quickly to the batter one teaspoonful of baking powder. Fill well buttered cups two-thirds full and steam for twenty minutes. Roll in powdered sugar and serve.

Sweet Desserts.

Sirup Pudding.—Take two eggs, two ounces of moist sugar, two ounces of butter, one-half pound of flour and a little milk. Beat all together, butter the baking dish well, pour in one-half pound of sirup, then fill the dish with the mixture. Steam two and a half hours. When done the sirup will form a brown crust.

Caramel Pudding.—Take three eggs and make a custard with two ounces of sugar, half a pint each of milk and cream and six drops of lemon essence. Into a mold put the juice of a lemon and two ounces of sugar. Stand the mold on the stove till the contents turn a golden brown. Then move the mold round that the sides may be covered with the caramel. Stand the mold in cold water till the caramel is set. Pour in the custard and steam slowly for twenty minutes.

Things Accomplished by Parent-Teacher Associations in 1912.

As reported they are: More patient, sympathetic relations between parents and teachers.

Education of parents as to their duty to the children.

Lightening the teacher's work through intelligent co-operation.

Introduction of domestic science and manual training in many schools.

Better equipment of school buildings in regard to hygiene and beauty.

Serving school luncheons.

Establishing school gardens.

Working for the kindergarten as part of the school system.

Saving the kindergarten when its continuance was threatened.

Helping needy pupils in quiet sympathetic ways.

Providing sanitary fountains and individual drinking cups.

Establishment and equipment of playgrounds.

Improvement of roads between home and school.

Baby saving work through education of new mothers.

Securing courses of hygiene in schools.

Securing sane celebration of July 4.

Giving home culture to girls.

Campaigns for pure food.

Securing a school housekeeper to superintend the janitor.

Visits to moving picture shows and securing censorship.

Giving Christmas gifts to needy children.

Providing maternity bags fitted with all necessaries for needy mothers.

Teaching children how to sew.

Securing medical inspection in schools.

Paying trained nurse for a school.

Giving lecture courses in biology and psyscology.

Giving flower seeds to children.

Prizes for boys growing vegetables and to girls for cooking and housework.

Screening school windows.

Planting grass in school yard and a grove of trees in one corner.

Supplying school with window shades and lamps, swings and a giant stride; little chairs for primary department.

Providing sand boxes for boys and for girls.

Rest rooms for teachers and pupils.

Worked for enforcement of cigarette law.

Simplifying the dress of school children.

Providing probation officers.

Employing a visiting nurse.

Paying board of poor children in a good school.

Established a milk depot for babies which was so successful the Mayor incorporated it under city expenses.

Incorporated the pass book system of school savings bank.

Built a community centre house.

Bought sewing machine for domestic science class.

Organized night schools for those who work in the day.

More than thirteen out of every hundred children in the lower grades of the New York public schools are underfed. This is the conservative estimate of the Health Department. These children go to school hungry. Their efficiency as pupils is seriously impaired by lack of food. If they go home at the noon recess they get no food or ill-prepared food. At the afternoon session they droop and lag more than in the morning. They make slow progress. The committee on school lunches has grappled with this condition. Nourishing meals are now served each noon to fifteen hundred boys and girls in eight schools. A leading paper proposes, with the aid of its readers and this committee, to establish the luncheon in additional schools. What is the proportion of underfed in our Plainfield schools and what are we going to do about it?

Much interest has been shown in the reorganization of the Parent-Teacher Association of the High School this evening. Mrs. Hervey Doane will preside. Mrs. Augustus H. Reese, president of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, will be present. Mrs. E. C. Grice, first president and founder of the N. J. Congress of Mothers, now president of the Home and School League, of Philadelphia, also Mr. Morris, representing the American Institute for Child Welfare, will address the meeting. All interested in child welfare in school and at home, as well as the parents and teachers of the High School, are invited to attend.

CAPTAIN WALSH BARES GRAFTING

On Sickbed He Names Inspector Sweeney.

BELIEVES HE IS DYING.

Precinct Commander Sends For Whitman and, Saying He Wants to Purge Conscience, Makes Dramatic Confession—Admits Fox's Charges Are True.

New York, Feb. 6.—Police Captain Thomas W. Walsh, accused of grafting by the patrolman who for five years acted as his collector, believing himself to be dying and wishing to purge his conscience, sent for District Attorney Whitman and made a full confession.

Walsh, without saving himself, his voice, weakened by a long illness, taking on the hysteria of excitement, corroborated in full the statement made by Policeman Eugene Fox, who on Monday last pleaded guilty and then turned state's evidence.

In the presence of Frederick Groehl, an assistant district attorney; Mrs Walsh and another man the police captain poured his heart out to Mr. Whitman.

He swore that every cent collected by Fox in the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth precinct had been shared with Inspector Sweeney. Out of every dollar that Fox brought to him Walsh had given 50 cents to his superior, the collector having first helped himself to 10 per cent of the total. This method applied to all the money received as the cost of protecting illegitimate enterprises, some of which were handled by others than Fox. Once a month, Walsh said, he would meet Sweeney either in his office or in the inspector's in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and there pay him in cash.

He could not recall offhand the total amounts thus paid the inspector, but as near as he could figure it he thought it reached somewhere between $25,000 and $50,000. Walsh had no personal knowledge of the payments from the other precincts in the inspection district, of which there are four, but he gave it as his opinion that each had produced equally large sums.

Whitman Gets Word From Walsh.

District Attorney Whitman received the word that Captain Walsh wanted to talk to him at 10 o'clock last night He jumped into a taxicab and, picking up his assistant, Mr. Groehl, on the way, reached Walsh's house, 1958 Madison avenue, about 10:30.

Walsh had just been treated by his physician, Dr. Upton, under whose care he has been almost a year for affections of the heart, stomach and kidney. The excitement following Fox's confession caused a relapse, and it was the fear of dying before he had set himself right that caused the captain to take the desperate step of sending for the prosecutor.

When Whitman entered the room Walsh greeted him tearfully. It was evident that the man welcomed the opportunity of telling all. First he talked to the district attorney alone, being warned that all he said could be used against him. The warning seemed to act as a greater spur.

Then, with Whitman beside his bed and his wife on the other side of him, while Groehl and the other man listened, Walsh told Whitman that every word Fox had spoken was true; that Fox had not overstated the case. Fox had been his collector, Walsh admitted and he mentioned other names as having been used in the same way.

Scene Is Dramatic.

But the district attorney feared that the man's tongue might run away with him if too many subjects were permitted, so rigorously held him down to the two points of Fox and Sweeney. After Walsh had run on for a time the district attorney said solemnly:

"Walsh, answer this: Did you receive money for protection from the Baltic hotel, as Sipp has sworn, which was paid to Fox each month, and did you pay half of this money over to Inspector Sweeney?"

"I did," came the fervid answer. "Sipp paid Fox for me each month, and I turned over half of all Fox paid me to Sweeney. I gave it to him in cash, and I have been doing it for years. I want to tell everything. It's my only hope. There was nothing else for me to do. They expected to pay the money, and I was expected to get it and pay it."

FINISH INAUGURAL PLANS.

Wilson Committee Follows Details of Taft Ceremony.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The official program for the inaugural ceremonies have been completed. It follows in detail the plans for the inauguration of Taft and Sherman four years ago.

Platforms across the east front of the capitol, where President Elect Wilson will take the oath of office and deliver his address, will be built to accommodate 8,000 spectators, 2,000 more than four years ago.

Postmasters Nominated.

Washington, Feb. 6.—President Taft sent to the senate the following nominations for postmasters: Delaware—Frank F. Davis, Laurel; John R. Black, Milton; George W. Vantine, New Castle; Irwin M. Chipman, Seaford, and Thomas Jefferson, Smyrna.

THE NEWSPAPER INSTINCT IS EVER UPPERMOST IN SCOOP

"MAC" SAYS

When a hard luck championship is staged by sport promoters in this city it is safe to say that the Dunning family will be right in the running. June had his arm broken in the N. P. H. S.-Leal's game; Preston severely wrenched his shoulder in the Presbyterian-Hope Chapel clash and Bill strained his wrist in the same game. All three are good players and their absence considerably weakens their team.

N. P. H. S. will try to get another lead on P. H. S. this afternoon in the Interscholastic League when they meet Leal's. What a surprise it would be if the versatile private school athletes pulled out ahead.

A little change in the name of the fifth girls' basketball team that has sprung up independently in this city is now in order. The O. O. C. aggregation are after the title of O. O. Wait and C. They say they will positively not play the Nonpareils now but wait until they do decide to. They may mean it at that.

Company K will journey to Dunellen loaded to the teeth tomorrow night to lead an attack on the Dunellen basketeers.

What happened at that Manufcturers' Baseball League meeting the other night? Haven't seen any of the officials around since it was called. If their silence means consent we "may" have another Manufacturers' League this year to worry about.

Randolph Chandler, the Sunday-school League spokesman, says that the coming year will be a banner one in baseball in this city. The Bible school leaguers are already trying to index their protests. Wonder who will accept the task of deciding them this year?

Results of games played at the Scotch Plains Parish House last night: Nonpareils, 43; All-Plainfields, 19; Dunellen, 16; Scotch Plains, 12. Both of the contests were between feminine basketball artists and were exceptionally fast for girls' rules.

In Miss Stryker, the Dunellen girls have a forward and captain who would be hard to surpass in agility and shooting. Her clever passing and quick shots were the one redeeming feature of an otherwise slow contest last night.

Some discussion arose as to the naming of the feminine quintet playing against the Nonpareils last night and because everyone on the team wanted a different name it was decided to call the aggregation the All-Plainfield and give everybody a chance.

The team consisted of players from Hope Chapel, N. P. H. S. and the recently organized O. O. C. club. Incidently they scored the largest number of points against the Nonpareils of any team so far this season.

An effort was made by Miss Bennett, manager of the Dunellen team, to arrange a return match with the Scotch Plains girls to be played at Dunellen, but her efforts were unavailing, the Plains girls having been well convinced that the Dunellenites were their masters.

P. H. S., 60; New Brunswick, 13. And this is the team that has been playing such great basketball all season. Manley appeared to just about two-thirds of the visitor's attack. His classy shooting from all angles on the court was worthy of better company.

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL QUINTET TROUNCES NEW BRUNSWICK PLAYERS

A severe drubbing was administered by the Plainfield High School basketball team to the New Brunswick High School aggregation on the local court yesterday afternoon when it rolled up a scord of 60 against the visiting combination's 13. The opening period of play was slow and uninteresting, Plainfield scoring at will, with little or no opposition. Neither of the teams did any noticeable amount of brilliant passing or shooting in this period and at the mid-station the game stood 19 to 9 in the local's favor.

In the final half, however, things began to liven up and the P. H. S. players struck their stride and proceeded to walk away at a pretty lively gait with the game. The visitors appeared to be unusually hampered by the small P. H. S. court, their home court being decidedly larger. Manley, the New Brunswick captain, who was selected as the All-Scholastic State half-back during the past season, showed that he could play basketball just as well, if not better that he could the gridiron game. His playing was the one redeeming feature of his team's work and without him it is doubtful if the Brunswick five would have scored a single field goal. He was in every play that the lossers started and time after time shot the length of the floor only to have the ball circle the ring of the basket and roll off. Polinski came in for second Brunswick honors and he did what Manley left undone in the scoring line.

Heron and Woodhull led the victor's attack with sixteen points each, closely followed by Good with fourteen tallies. The New Brunswick is the same team that administered a 28 to 22 beating to N. P. H. S. earlier in the season and are due to play a return game at Saengerbund Hall next Saturday afternoon. In yesterday's game a new referee was unearthed in the person of "Big Skip" Woodhull, an old P. H. S. player, and brother of the present captain.

HUNTING AND FISHING

The baymen of Ocean county are hot after protection for the muskrat. Rats at $1 apiece are more profitable than shooting ducks or cutting ice. They want a law to prohibit the destroying of rat houses and a closed season.

For the first time in the memory of the writer the fish and game committees of the Senate and Assembly are working hand and glove with the State commission. Last Monday they held a joint meeting in the commission rooms and went over many proposed bills.

Every gunner should ask his Assemblyman to vote and work against any bill that seeks to repeal the gunners' license law. The gunners now pay the entire cost of maintaining the Fish and Game Commission and they willingly pay the dollar, but a few disgruntled farmers and baymen object and drill it into the ears of their representatives.

Skates are causing the pound-netmen considerable trouble. Not the kind the some people speak disrespectfully of, but the skate of the ray family, the flat, slimy, long-tail chaps. The demand for fresh fish is so great the pound-netmen have to work overtime to keep up the supply, and now great schools of skates are filling up the pound pockets and keeping the food fish out. With Lent at hand, the situation is alarming, and many net owners talk of removing the tackle until the skates pass by.

At attempt is to be made to legalize Suday fishing at Branch Brook and Weequahic lakes. Several anglers were at Trenton Monday night stating their case. They claimed that the man who worked six days a week should have this privilege, but the Essex County Park Commission refused them permission because of the old blue laws. Happening to be standing by during the conversation, we added our few words to help along the anglers.

Here's a chance for the mighty hunters of New Jersey: Chief Uhler Coyle, of Oak Ridge, while walking along the edge of Petersburg Lake Monday discovered the tracks of a bear and followed them as far as Longwood Valley, where he stopped when darkness came on. The chief went after the bear again yesterday, but lost track of bruin in the mountains. This is a true bear story, and here is sport ahead for any hunter who goes after the bear. It is many years since a bear was known to be so close at hand, and when Coyle gets a chance he will bring the animal to Oak Ridge, unless someone beats him to it.

Commissioner Ernest Napier, of the Fish and Game Commission, returned from Washington, D. C., Monday with the best news we have heard in a long time. He went there purposely to talk fish and game, and when he left he had the promise that 6,000,000 fish would be sent to New Jersey during 1913. Bass, pickerel, perch, catfish, calico bass and crappies will come here by the millions for distribution throughout the State. Mr. Napier and his fellow-commissioners comprise the first official body to seek aid from the Federal fish and game authorities, and they responded willingly. When he returned from the successful errand he removed his topcoat and immediately started in to point out to the legislators the good and bad bills, and the manner in which his suggestions were received proved conclusively that they had confidence in him. This was New Jersey's chance and the commissioner clinched it.

MANY STARS IN GAMES.

New York, Feb. 6.—Seldom before has an athletic meet in the metropolis attracted so many classy athletes as are entered for the annual carnival of sport of the Irish-American Athletic Club, at Madison Square Garden tonight. In addition to the cream of the athletic talent in the metropolitan district the entries include the star performers of Boston, Philadelphia and a number of other cities. Every kind of a champion is entered and in some of the events it will be champion against champion. The 1,000-yard scratch race for the McAleenan Trophy is the big event on the program. In it such great distance runners as Melvin Sheppard, Al Kiviat, Ira Davenport, J. E. Meredith and several others, any one of whom is capable of travelling the distance near record time, are entered.

M'GRAW PAYS $9,000 TO SIGN JIM THORPE

Indian Receives $500 Bonus for Accepting $6,000 Contract With the Giants.

It leaked out yesterday that the signing of James Thorpe by Manager McGraw, of the Giants, last week involved an outlay of $9,000. According to a story told by baseball men who were in touch with the negotiations for the noted Indian's services as a ball player, Thorpe's contract calls for a salary of $6,000 for one year. When he attached his signature to the document Thorpe, it is said, received an extra bonus of $500, while Glenn Warner, who brought the redskin here and exerted his influence to help McGraw, is reported to have pocketed $2,500 on the side.

A relative of McGraw, so the story goes, made the first proposition to Warner and Thorpe in Carlisle, Pa., before Frank Bancroft, of the Cincinnati Reds, and the agents of the Pittsburg club arrived there. This relative, it is reported, had instructions to offer a $6,000 salary and a $500 bonus to the Indian, which in McGraw's opinion would stagger the other clubs who were in the hunt. Bancroft in behalf of August Herrmann offered $4,500, which was spurned. The Pirates' representative boosted the figures to $5,000, whereupon, it is said, Warner and Thorpe made it known that the New York club would pay more money. That ended the bidding and McGraw"s elative over the long distance telephone informed the Giants' manager that he had pulled off the trick.

Baseball men have been retailing several other stories about Thorpe's decision to become a professional ball player. The Sun can name a man who says that Thorpe offered to sign with a certain major league club ten days ago for $500 a month, but was turned down by the club owner, who didn't believe that the famous athlete could make good on the ball field. The story that the Pittsburg club had signed Thorpe last fall for $7,000 was repeated frequently, with no positive denial from Barney Dreyfuss, which created the belief when McGraw secured the Indian that the Pirates merely had reached a verbal agreement with Thorpe in November.

The statement that Warner received $2,500 from the New York club in return for his influence is said to have been made by a Baltimore man who is a close friend of McGraw's relative. It is given here for what it is worth, and probably will be denied by the Carlisle coach, but the story is going the rounds in baseball circles, and McGraw's enterprise is generally commended.

McGraw, while extremely liberal in naming the terms in Thorpe's contract, has cast an anchor to windward. It is said that Thorpe has signed a regular form of baseball contract which contains the usual ten days notice of release. In other words, if Thorpe fails to measure up to the McGraw standard of play he can be turned loose in midseason. But McGraw doesn't believe for a moment that he will have to resort to such measures. It is the intention of the Giants' leader to try Thorpe out in Texas, and if the Indian shows sufficient skill to warrant his retention as a regular he will receive pay all season. If there is any minor league club willing to furnish the money for Thorpe's salary and there is no room for him on the New York team it is said that McGraw will "farm" him, so that he may be developed.

At any rate Thorpe has the distinction of being the highest salaried untried major league player in the history of the game. McGraw, like all baseball managers, doesn't believe in discussing players' salaries, so it is probable that he will refuse to make public the figures in the case of the former amateur.

FOUR TEAMS OF FEMININE BASKETEERS PLAY AT SCOTCH PLAINS PARISH HOUSE

A couple of unusually fast and at the same time rough, girls' basketball games were decided on the Scotch Plains Parish House court last night, three visiting teams and one Plains team furnishing the amusement. The two games played last night were by far the most interesting feminine tussels ever presented before a Parish House audience, the trio of visiting aggregations being the kind that understand the game and can play it accordingly. In the preliminary attraction the Dunellen maidens defeated the Parish House representatives by the close score of 16 to 12, while the main clash resulted in a 43 to 19 decision rendered in favor of the Nonpareil five over a consolidated combination from this city.

The preliminary was featured by the work of Miss Sadie Lee, who lent frequent spasms of sensationalism to the affair by her long shooting. This is Miss Lee's initial season as a basketball player and even the player herself was somewhat amazed at some of the long distance connections she made with the iron ring. The Misses Jahn also put up good games for the home team, especially along the guarding line. The losers were somewhat handicapped by the absence of Miss Southard, who plays forward on the Parish House quintet. Her place was filled by Miss Johnson, a new player in the game.

The main event of the evening brought out the cream of feminine basketball material in this city and the exhibition presented was a remarkable one for girls' rules, which are slow in the extreme. Numerous fouls for over guarding were called on both sides but a weakness was displayed on the part of both aggregations in making the penalty throws count. In scoring 19 points against the undefeated Nonpareils, the team last night did something that no other aggregation has accomplished this season and at times the losers' playing appeared to be just about on a par with the winners. Miss Durar was especially adept in the shooting department for the Plainfields, getting two field goals and a trio of fouls, while Miss Jessie Stewart caged a quartet of the two-point variety. For the Nonpareils, the Hummel sisters were, as usual, the mainstays in the scoring end of the game, each chalking up eight field goals, and Miss Helen Hummel topped off her work with a trio of foul goals. It fell to the lot of every member of the winning team to score at least one field goal, which speaks well for the all around work evidenced on the part of that quintet. Miss Smith and Miss Debele were probably responsible for holding the Plainfield forwards in check so that they were not allowed to pass the Nonpareils and the passing of these two guards was a feature of the contest.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN GOLFING RULES

St. Andrews Approves New Definitions Announced by the U. S. G. A.

Several important changes in the rules of golf were announced yesterday by the United States Golf Association. It was said at the recent annual meeting of the association that changes were being considered, as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews last September.

Under the new rules definition 6 provides for a local ruling on a "ditch" as a hazard. The new rule provides for a local exception.

An entirely new definition is 22, in which it is provided that "an umpire decides questions of fact; a referee decides questions of golfing law." Under "General and Through the Green" Paragraph 1 of Rule 2 provides that a ball played from outside the limits of the teeing ground may be at once recalled by the opposing side, and may be reteed without penalty. In the same rule it is provided that if a ball is knocked off a tee by the player when addressing it it may be reteed without penalty.

It is now provided that if a player in a threesome or foursome plays when his partner should have played his side shall lose the hole. Practically a new paragraph is inserted under the caption "Information as to strokes played," as follows: "A player is entitled at any time during the play of a hole to ascertain from his opponent the number of strokes the latter has played; if the opponent gives wrong information as to the number of strokes he has played he shall lose the hole unless he corrects his mistake before the player has played another stroke."

Rule 18 provides that if a player's ball, when in motion, be interfered with in any way by an opponent, or his caddie, or his clubs, the opponents' side shall lose the hole. The subject of claims and how to make them is gone into quite deeply, as shown by the following:

"If a dispute arise on any point a claim must be made before the players strike off from the next eeeing ground, or, in case of the last hole of the round, before they leave the putting green. If no umpire or referee has been appointed the players have the right to determine to whom the point shall be referred, but should they not agree either side may have it referred through the secretary of the club to the executive committee of the United States Golf Association, whose decision shall be final. If the point in dispute be not covered by the Rules of Golf the arbiters shall decide it by equity. If the players have agreed to an umpire or a referee they must abide by his decision."

Dealing with "Match Play Competitions," Rule 2 provides that a competitor shall not waive any penalty incurred by his opponent under penalty of the loss of the hole, instead of disqualification. In events of this kind it is provided that the decision of the committee in charge, in case of a dispute, shall be final unless an appeal, under certain provisions, is made to the executive committee.

New rules have been made for the conduct of stroke competitions, while in many instances the changing of words either restricts a rule or makes it more comprehensive. One important change is that in Rule 2, Paragraph 1, which now reads as follows: "If a player lift a ball in accordance with this rule he shall tee and play a ball behind the place from which the ball was lifted; if this be impossible, he shall tee and play a ball as near as possible to the place from which the ball was lifted, but not nearer to the hole."

RECORDS MADE BY 'PLAINS PLAYERS

Out of Seventeen Contests the Parish House Representatives Have Won Ten.

A summary of the games played to date by the Scotch Plains Parish House first team shows that the team has played seventeen games, out of which it has won ten and dropped seven. A total of 580 points have been chalked up by the 'Plains delegation against 443 made by their opponents. An individual summary of the field and foul goals made by the respective players is compiled as follows:

AJAX-HOPE CHAPEL GAME ON MARCH 1

Play-off Will Be Decided on the Saengerbund Hall Court.

The third game of the series between the Hope chapel and Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball teams will be played at Saengerbund Hall, Saturday, March 1. This was the decision arrived at by Manager Andrew Hetfield, of the Ajax, and Manager George Leighs, of the Hope five, after a conference they held last night. A neutral court had to be selected for the deciding game and after considering several courts in and about Plainfield it was finally decided that the Saengerbund floor presented the best all round possibilities. The court is large, the audience can be amply provided for, neither team has played a game on the court and it is one of the most centrally located of any in the city.

To make the battle for the third game more interesting a cup has been offered for presentation to the winning team and will be inscribed with the title of winners of the Hope chapel-Ajax series. Each team has won a gave to date, each have come out ahead in the game played on its own floor so little can be determined as to the relative strength of the two aggregations on a neutral court.

STOCKHOLM'S WINTER GAMES.

Stockholm, Feb. 6.—A series of competitions in sport and athletics, rivaling in interest the Olympic games held in Stockholm last summer, was inaugurated here today under the patronage of the King of Sweden. The contests, known as the Northern Games of Stockholm, will continue ten days and will be participated in by lovers of winter sports from many of the countries of Europe.

After the game the local boys will be the guests of the Westfield athletes at a reception and dance.

WHEN BILLY ROCHE DIDN'T QUITE UNDERSTAND JIMMY JOHNSON.

"Billy Roche," spouted Jimmy Johnson, the well known manager of fighters, recently, to the Adonis manager and referee, "you remind me of a Spanish toreador every time I gaze upon your manly face."

"Them's kind words, Jimmy," responded Willie, as his chest expanded, "and I appreciate the remark, for I know it comes from the heart."

When Johnson blew the office Roche turned to Charley Harvey.

"Say, Charles, what's a Spanish toreador?"

"One who tosses the bull," was the reply.

Now Roche refuses to allow Johnson's name to be mentioned in his presence.

N. P. H. S. SENIORS DEFEATED JUNIORS

Close Game in the Interclass League Resulted in a 17 to 11 Score.

One of the fastest basketball games yet played in the North Plainfield High School interclass league was contested yesterday afternoon when the Seniors defeated the Juniors by a count of 17 to 11. This is the second win of the Seniors over the Juniors and both contests have resulted in close and interesting battles. The first half ended with the score 6 to 2 in favor of the upper classemen. Spencer and Kenney starred for their respective teams.

HERRMANN STIRS UP ORGANIZED BALL

Will Lead the Battle Against "a Folly and a Sham."

Organized baseball, under the direct leadership of August Herrmann, president of the Reds and chairman of the National Baseball Commission, is about to demand a showdown from the governing bodies now in control of amateur athletics. It is more than likely that Herrmann, Lynch and Ban Johnson will hold a conference shortly and then move upon the strongholds of the A. A. U. with some extremely direct and wholly pertinent questions as to why a college student should not be permitted to play professional ball during vacation.

"The Thorpe case has proved the straw to fracture the vertebrae of a long suffering camel, and the powers of the big leagues are to be used in a concerted effort to annihilate a folly and a harm,' said a baseball man last night.

Among other things the powers in baseball want to know are these particulars:

Why is professional baseball in any way less reputable or honorable than working on a farm or selling books during the vacation season?

Why should a track athlete be considered a professional because he has played a wholly different game from his track exercises?

How many athletes are there before the public today who have not at some time or another accepted a few dollars for a game of Sunday baseball?

Why should the governing forces of amateur athletics make fish of one victim and flesh of another?

Will the amateur athletic chiefs ever venture to assert that as many as 1 per cent. of their spotless champions would be rightfully counted that way if their back records could be dug up?

Plan Big Yacht Races.

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club plans international yacht racing on the St. Lawrence next summer. The club proposes to challenge the Thousand Islands Yacht club to a race on the river this year. Lionel Ekers offers a handsome trophy for annual competition to become the absolute property of the club gaining three successive victories. Commodore Doble of the Royal St. Lawrence club states that the proposed race would be sailed on Lake St. Louis.

MUHLENBERG'S NEW PAVILON

over the patient's door, at the nurse's station, in the diet kitchen and in the duty room.

The solariums face the South. They are of glass on three sides. Each is 14x20 feet in floor area. The furnishings will include lounging and easy chairs, couches, reading tables, rugs, palms and potted plants.

Everything that modern hospital practice can suggest to add to the comfort of patients or facilitate the work of attending physicians and nurses has been taken under advisement by the committees in charge of the present work, yet nothing has been adopted without the most searching investigation as to its entire practicability.

As an indication of the character of equipment for the hospital, it is interesting to note that within a month Muhlenberg will possess one of the most modern and complete X-ray machines ever constructed. There is nothing better in its line in any hospital in the country. With this machine even the most complex and deep seated fractures can be reproduced on the photographic plate in a few seconds. Formerly an hour or more was required to obtain a shadowgraph of a difficult fracture, and then with very unsatisfactory results. The new machine will be of great value in post-operative examinations.

In the new buildings every detail of construction and equipment has been most carefully worked out. Even the shelter pavilion at the entrance to the hospital grounds, while attractive architecturally, is designed for the greater convenience of hospital visitors while waiting for the trolley cars.

The approach to the new private ward pavilion is by a broad flight of granite steps. The vestibule, lobby, corridors, duty rooms, diet kitchens and lavatories will have tile floors throughout. Hard wood floors laid on hollow tile, are in all the private rooms. Of these private rooms there are five on the first floor and eleven on the floor above. The main floor will also contain two semi-private wards, each capable of accommodating four patients. These wards are so arranged that they can be divided by partitions into private rooms if this should be found desirable at a later date.

The diet kitchens are equipped with dumb waiters, steam tables and every essential for the proper care and dispatch of patients' meals. In the duty rooms are steam dryers for heating linen and blankets to the desired temperature for sick room use. Lavatories are conveniently located on all floors, and at one end of the building the private rooms have bath adjoining.

The third floor plans include five semi-private rooms, each for the accommodation of four of five patients. Unfortunately this floor cannot be completed at present, as the financial demands occasioned by the other improvements renders it inexpedient. These semi-private rooms are intended for the accommodation of those to whom the publicity of the wards might be unpleasant, but who feel unable to engage a private room during their stay in the hospital.

The basement of the building will contain elevator and machinery rooms, incinerator room, janitor's room and large store rooms. Taken as a whole the new private ward pavilion is almost a complete hospital in itself.

Not only this splendid building, but every other unit of the group which goes to make the "Greater Muhlenberg," will be arranged to insure the most effective and economical operation and maintenance. When the doors are open from the lobby of the new building, the visitor will be able to look down the service corridor to the Edgerton Memorial obstetrical pavilion, 150 feet distant, at the eastern end of the group.

The Edgerton Memorial faces north toward Randolph road, and is on a line with the present administration building and the operating pavilion. It is of brick, 38x68 feet, one story, and fireproof throughout. The walls of this building are now up. The floor plan includes a public ward, nursery, preparation room, operating room, lavatories, linen room, nurses' duty room, diet kitchen and four private rooms, cut off from the central corridor of the building by double doors. A solarium will face the south. In design the Edgerton Memorial will balance the present operating pavilion.

A stone tablet set in the north face of the building bears this inscription:

Clesson-Edgerton Maternity Pavilion
the gift of
Minnie Closson Edgerton
In loving memory of her brother
James T. Closson and her son
James Closson Edgerton.
MCMXII.

The building and equipment cost $25,000 and the balance of $25,000 remains as a fund for its maintenance.

In keeping with the other progressive developments, the present administration building will undergo extensive improvements. The staff dining room will be more than doubled in size, a new waiting room where the drug room and a storeroom now are, will front on the lobby, and the elevator will open on the main service corridor connecting all the buildings. Changes on the second floor include a children's ward, to occupy the entire east end, over the dining room. The building will be made fireproof.

In the Greater Muhlenberg Hospital, soon to become a completed fact, patients will have as restful and cheerful surroundings and as careful and intelligent attention as can be offered in any hospital in the country.

MISS JANE ADDAMS ANSWERS MISS BRONSON

During the speech of Miss Minnie Bronson at the Suffrage discussion at Vincent chapel on Jan. 28, she said: "While in charge of the Social Service exhibition at the Jamestown Exhibition, I met Miss Addams in the Capitol at Washington one day and asked her if Hull-House would have an exhibit at the Exposition. She replied, 'I am going to have nothing whatever to do with it because of the array of warships which has been assembled in Hampton Roads. I do not feel that I can take part in a Government Exposition of which warships are made so great a feature, and be consistent in my work for universal peace and arbitration.'" Miss Bronson then went on to say, "During the late unpleasantness, and I am sure that everyone must acknowledge that the political campaign which closed on November 5 was unpleasantness. Miss Addams quite willingly put aside her opinions and came out in support of a party which stood for an enlarged navy. So you see that even Miss Addams is sometimes governed by the question of expendiency."

Resenting the atack upon one who is quite generlly considered one of the greatest women in the country, one of the members of the Plainfield League sent her the quotation given above from Miss Bronson's remarks, and the following reply has been received from her:

"I do not remember having met Miss Bronson in Washington during the Jamestown Exposition. I did sign a protest, with many other people, against the great prominence given to the warships there. I have not changed my opinion in regard to an enlarged navy, and am still a very active member of the Chicago Peace Society. I am afraid all of the platforms excepting the Socialists' are alike on the question of urging an adequate navy., so that being identified with the Progressive party would scarcely justify Miss Bronson's conclusions."

Following their return from a honeymoon abroad, Mr. and Mrs. Untermyer will make their home in New York.

GEORGE V. CLOSELY GUARDED

Suffragette Attack Feared as He Goes to Inspect Warship.

Portsmouth, England, Feb. 6.—King George, closely guarded against suffragettes, came here by special train from London to inspect the new battle cruiser New Zealand, which is the gift to the British navy of the New Zealanders. His majesty went over every part of the warship, and he complimented her warmly.

On board the special train were numerous Scotland Yard detectives. All persons were barred from the station platforms passed by the king's train.

Extraordinary precautions were taken because of the threat by Mrs. "General" Drummond to seek a personal interview with the king.

ACKERMAN SEES NEEDS OF PARTY

Former State Senator Reviews Republican Record and Discusses Situation.

WOULD HAVE HARMONY

Plainfielder Describes the Qualifications Necessary For An Ideal Candidate for the Governorship of the State.

Trenton, Feb. 7.—Eliminate error and misunderstanding now existing, join hands in a movement for harmony and then nominate for Governor a clean man of ability who has proved his usefulness and faithfulness to the people and who has generally conserved the interests of the people without class distinctions. This is the program suggested today by former State Senator and former Acting Governor Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union county, upon being requested to state his opinion as to the present need of the Republican party in New Jersey. Discussing further the question of the gubernatorial candidate former Senator Ackerman said the Republicans should nominate a man who is trained in business principles, experienced in public affairs and who will devote his whole time and energies to the duties of the office. He continued:

"The Governor is really the head of a big business enterprise and he should see to it that the laws are enforced and should make regular visits of inspection to the various departments and institutions of the State. A man like that will inspire confidence and the people will recognize merit and gladly install him as chief of the executive of the State. The way to keep the standard high is to unite and to demand the highest service and the most expert efficiency in administering the affairs of the State.

"It seems to me that the best way to clear up the political situation is to eliminate error and misunderstanding. By way of illustration, let us consider what a prominent Progressive leader was recently reported in the newspapers as saying: 'In this State the Republicans have fought every progressive measure we wanted for years and now they insert them in their platform when we know in their hearts they do not believe in them and do not want them. For the last fifty years both the Republican and the Democratic parties have been holding companies.' Let us reason together on this proposition and see if such a statement agrees with the facts. I do not believe the gentleman seriously intends to imply that Republicans are hypocrites be-

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION HEARS MRS. REEVE

Mrs. Grice Also Addresses High School Parent-Teacher Organization.

A reorganization meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association was held in the High School auditorium last night and attended by over fifty mothers and friends of the High School pupils who were received into active membership in the new association. Mrs. G. Stuart Simmons was re-elected president of the organization and the other officers installed were these: First vice president, Lindsey Best; second vice president, Mrs. St. John Fitch; secretary, Mrs. Russell R. Derr; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. F. Updike; treasurer, Mrs. Charles A. Dall.

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the New Jersey Mothers' Congress and of the Parent-Teacher Association of New Jersey, delivered an address, making a plea for the co-operation of parents and teachers and for the promotion of social gatherings of this nature. Mrs. E. C. Grice, president of the Philadelphia Home and School League, who was the first speaker heard in Plainfield on Parent-Teacher association work, also spoke. She offered a number of suggestions which will probably be carried out.

Henry Morris, representing the American Institute for Child Welfare, outlined the aims and methods advanced by the institute, which has a direct bearing on work with children all over the country. Dr. Maxson briefly commented on the progress made by the associations in this city.

'RUMP' FREEHOLDERS PAYS COUNTY BILLS

Though Voted out of Office the Old Board Assumes the Responsibilities.

Elizabeth, Feb. 7.—The old and large Board of Freeholders, which was voted out of office at the general election last fall, met yesterday afternoon and voted to pay thousands of dollars in outstanding debts against the county. Although the meeting was scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock, it was two hours later before there was a quorum. Several times it was suggested that the meeting be declared off, but at the last minute another member arrived, making just a quorum.

The board passed the following appropriations: Compensation and legal expenses of the freeholders and committees, $7,500; salaries of officers of the board, $13,900; elections, primaries, etc., $45,000; election expenses deficit for 1912, $121.94; record books, repairs and new index system, $1,800; sinking fund and improvement bonds due in 1940, $1,802.26; tuberculosis bonds, due in 1941, $819.40; due in January, 1942, $1,229.25; due in September, 1942, $1,139.15; county road bonds, $2,473.70; bridge bonds, $673.20; for erection of bridges, culverts, salaries of tenders, etc., $35,000; repairs to county roads, $20,000; cleaning and maintaining gutters, $2,500; roads built by State aid, maintenance, $2,000.

A report was received from the Bonnie Burns Home that it had expended so far this fiscal year $177,833.36.

An order for $2,000 was drawn to the credit of Sheriff Wright. The money is to be expended for court expenses. The special auditor employed to go over the county's books reported that he had found everything regular. Dr. Horace Livingood was named as jail physician at a salary of $400 a year. Muhlenberg Hospital, of Plainfield, asked the freeholders to name a member of the board as one of the board of directors of the hospital.

POLICE CHIEF TO BRING AN ASSAILANT BACK

James V. Tate, wanted by the local police on a charge of atrocious assault with intent to kill, who was arrested Jan. 24 in Chicago, will be brought to this city by Police Chief Kiely, who left this afternoon for the Windy city. On Nov. 25, Tate shot Mark Lovell, a servant in the household of Richard A. Claybrook, of 403 East Seventh street. Four bullets were fired, one of them taking effect in Tate's head, nearly causing his death. The attempt upon the victim's life was the result of a quarrel between the two over the affections of a Miss Virginia Booker, also a servant in the Claybrook home.

During Chief Kiely's absence the police department will be in charge of Captain Frederickson.

JOHN J. LOFTUS WEDS A PERTH AMBOY GIRL

John Joseph Loftus, of 12 Stony Brook place, North Plainfield, was married to Miss Marie Catherine Lant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Lant, of Perth Amboy, by Rev. C. C. Cain at the parsonage last night. Mrs. Richard Fairclough, a sister of the bride, was bridemaid, and Richard Fairclough was best man.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will take up their residence at 12 Somerset place. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Loftus, of the borough, and has a large circle of acquaintances in this city.

ALLEGED ASSAILANTS.

Arrested as two of the participants of a small riot and stabbing affray which took place Saturday night, Feb. 1, in a Bound Brook dance hall, Charles and Larry McLane, of East Sixth street, are being held at the local police headquarters awaiting the arrival of the Somerset county authorities who swore out the warrant for their arrest. They were apprehended in West Front street by Sergeant Flynn.

REV. GEO. HAUSER IS MADE PASTOR

Minister Formally Installed at the German Reformed Church.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Revs. Edward E. Davis, Charles B. Condit, Albertus and John Y. Broak Take Part in the Service.

After three years' retirement from the active ministry, Rev. George Hauser, of Warrenville, was installed last night as pastor of the German Reformed church. The little edifice was crowded to its capacity by members and friends of the church. The ceremonies were solemn and inspiring and it was a particularly happy occasion for those who remembered Rev. Mr. Hauser when he was in charge of the pulpit from 1894 to 1902.

The installation ceremonies were begun with a prayer by the presiding officer, Rev. Edward E. Davis, president of the Classis of Newark, following which a song, "The Day of God," was rendered by members of the singing section of the Gaesang and Turn Verein. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Albertus T. Broek, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, of Newark.

The solemn pledges and promises contained in the forms read by Rev. Mr. Davis, which were addressed to Rev. Mr. Hauser, were answered by him with these words, "Yes, truly with all my heart," and the members who stood to take their oath to support the new pastor made reply to the forms in the three words, "Yes, we do." He was then proclaimed pastor of the church by the reader, and the singing section sang, "We Greet You," in German.

In his charge to the new pastor, Rev. Charles B. Condit, of the Trinity Reformed church, Newark, opened his address saying, "Dr. Hauser, I am a younger man than you and you could undoubtedly charge me tonight instead of conditions being reversed. You have had more experience than I and have been in the ministry longer." Continuing he added: "In these days of temptation it is hard for us to keep to our ideal and noble task. The life of a minister is a life of sacrifice. We are called not only to serve but to dearly sacrifice. But while our life is a life of sacrifice, it is also a life of joy and in our life of cross-bearing and work to lift humanity and to bring souls to God, we can still pray to Him for what he has done for us as his ambassadors."

The charge to the church members was made by Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, who extended the congratulations of his congregation. He told the members to reverence their pastor. "Know one another," he said, "and reverence him for his name but moreover for his work's sake. Stand by your pastor through all the strife and struggle that may cross your path. And remember that the vows you have taken here tonight are no less serious, solemn or binding, than those taken by Dr. Hauser. If you expect him to keep his, you must keep yours."

Concluding the services, the singing section sang "The Home Dale," led by Henry Von Hofe.

gathering will be notable by reason of the attendance and participation of many of the prominent leaders of the association movement. Delegates are expected from the ninety city, railroad, student, industrial, colored, army and town associations of the State. The theme of the convention will be "Jerseymen In Service For All Jersey, the City, the Village and the Country." The program admirably reflects the spirit of this theme in its provision for the discussion of subjects, all of which relate to it.

The opening session will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Saturday morning, February 15, at 9 o'clock. At that time Edward W. Hearne, State secretary of the Massachusetts Y. M. C. A., will conduct a "Quiet Hour." The convention will be called to order by F. Wayland Ayer, of Camden, president of the thirty-sixth convention, and an address of welcome will be given by Mayor Percy H. Stewart. At 10 o'clock President W. H. Demarest, of Rutgers College, will speak on "Vocational Guidance For Students." The convention address will be given by B. B. Farnsworth, secretary of the Twenty-third Street Association, New York. His topic will be "A Religion For Today." At 12:30 o'clock all the delegates will have luncheon at the Park Club.

In the afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, a song service will be held, led by M. L. Beebe, of Montclair. The organization of the convention will follow, after which Dr. David G. Latshaw will speak on "The Association and Industrial Men." At 4:30 a special conference for boards of directors will be held.

In the evening, at 6 o'clock, the convention dinner will be held at the Park Club. There will be speaking by Frank Moss, Esq., assistant district attorney of New York county; former Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach, of Trenton, and Albert E. Roberts, of New York.

Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock, a round table conference on "Extension Work" will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building. At 10:30 from the pulpits of several churches the work of the association will be presented by prominent association men.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, a meeting for young men will be held in the Plainfield theatre. The speaker will be Albert E. Roberts, international secretary. His topic will be "A Man For the Times." Music will be furnished by the double quartet of the Probasco Bible Class and by the Elite Musical Club and Orchestra.

Sunday night, a farewell service will be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The service will be preceded by an organ recital by S. Frederick Smith. Bertram F. Talamy, baritone soloist of Grace P. E. church choir, will sing. Dr. D. G. Latshaw and others will speak on "The Association of the Community."

The convention will be preceded by an employed officers' conference on Friday, February 14. Employed officers will come for this conference and remain over for the convention.

ANNIVERSARY OF A LOCAL CHURCH

Seventh-Day Baptists to Observe Seventy-fifth Year as Congregation.

AT SPECIAL SERVICES

Rev. Dr. Main, Dean of Alfred University, and Rev. Dr. Gardiner, Editor of Sabbath Recorder, to Take a Part In the Exercises.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of the local Seventh Day Baptist church will be observed by special services tonight, tomorrow morning and afternoon and Sunday evening. The exact date of the anniversary is Sunday, February 9. This evening there will be a service of song and prayer, followed by personal reminiscenses of the past twenty-five years by Rev. Dr. A. E. Main, a former pastor, and by Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Gardiner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, and by others of the church and congregation.

The anniversary sermon will be preached tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. A. E. Main, dean of the Theological Seminary of Alfred University. Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor, will have charge of the service and will be assisted by Rev. Dr. Gardiner.

In the afternoon the Sunday-school will have a session of special interest. William C. Hubbard, the superintendent, will preside. The primary department of the school will have the regular lesson, but for the rest of the school and for all others present, in place of the lesson study there will be four historical papers dealing with the work of the church and especially for the past twenty-five years, as the early history has been written and published in book form. There will be special music, a flute solo by Clarence W. Spicer and a selection by the Sabbath-school choir. The papers will be as follows:

"The Work of the Women of the Church," written by Mrs. F. A. Dunham and read by Mrs. W. C. Hubbard; "The Work of the Sabbath-school," by William C. Hubbard; "The Work of the Three Christian Endeavor Societies," by Irving A. Hunting; "The Music of the Church," David E. Titsworth.

Rev. Dr. Gardiner will preside at the service Sunday night and beside special music by the choir and devotional exercises the following historical papers will be presented: "The Work of the Men's Club," Otis B. Whitford; "Church Finances and the Church Edifice," written by William M. Stillman and read by Frank J. Hubbard; "Membership and Officers of the Church," Asa F. Randolph; "The Church Pulpit," Rev. Edwin Shaw.

During the services letters will be read from a former pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw, now of North Loup, Neb., and from the only living constituent member of the church, Mrs. Daniel B. Rogers, of Horseheads, N. Y., who is almost ninety years old and who has been a member of the local church seventy-five years. She is the mother of Lewis T. Rogers, of this city, and sister of Mrs. W. B. Maxson and Mrs. Davis L. Randolph, also of Plainfield.

The history of this church is full of interest. Early in 1836 a number of Seventh Day Baptists, living

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON FLOWERY KINGDOM

Under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Irving and Jefferson Public Schools, a superbly illustrated lecture on "Japan" was given last night at the Irving School by John M. Whiton. The lecture attracted a large number of friends and parents of the children. The views displayed were taken by Mr. Whiton while traveling through Japan, and they are unusually good ones, most of them being finely colored slides.

Mr. Whiton described the conditions and customs of the people in Japan, telling of their peculiar dress, their modes of travel and other interesting incidents of his trip. Mr. Whiton collected many curios while abroad which he explained to his audience.

MACHINIST INJURED.

While engaged in transferring some iron from one part of the shop to another, Michael Doyle, of 680 West Fourth street, an employe of the Pond Machine Tool Company, dropped a piece of the material on his foot sustaining a gash that required four stitches to close. The accident happened this morning and the injured man was attended by Dr. Cregar after which he was removed to his home.

PUBLIC TO BE HEARD ON LICENSE MATTERS

All Taxpayers Invited to Attend the Meeting at High School Tonight.

The federation of men's clubs, Bible classes and religious organization including all the Christian Endeavor Societies and taxpayers generally will be present at the Plainfield High School tonight when the Common Council will hold a hearing on the liquor license applications now before that body. The religious organizations will be there to enter a strong protest against changing excise conditions in this city, while the liquor interests will also be represented by counsel who will endeavor to show that their clients are entitled to licenses.

The Christian Endeavorers who intend being present at the hearing are requested to meet at the trolley station on Watchung avenue at 7:30 o'clock and proceed in a body to the High School. It is fully expected that the High School Auditorium will be filled with interested citizens and a lively debate is anticipated both pro and con.

President George S. Clay, of the Council, will preside at the hearing and the other members of that body will be present to listen to the arguments. No action will be taken on license applications tonight, Monday night, February 10, being fixed as the date when the applications will either be granted or rejected. No arguments will be heard at the meeting of the Council Monday night.

FELL FROM CAR TOP OF A MOVING FREIGHT

James D. Kane, 40 years old, of 1547 Fifth street, Elizabeth, a trainman on the Jersey Central Railroad, while walking along the top of the long line of freight cars passing through here at 4:45 o'clock this morning, missed his footing and fell to the ground near the Washington street bridge. The fireman, whose name could not be learned, hearing his cries, gave the "stop" signal and police headquarters was telephoned for the ambulance.

Kane was picked up unconscious and taken to the office of Dr. Albert Pittis, of East Front street, where his injuries were dressed. He was then taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. Although suffering from numerous contusions about the face, head and shoulders his condition is not considered serious.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IN SERIOUS CONDITION

William Roufs, of Hoboken, the eighteen-year-old boy who was severely injured by a fall from a pole at the International Motor Truck plant in this city on Wednesday, is reported to be in a serious condition today and his recovery is said to be doubtful. At the time of the accident young Roufs was engaged in erecting an iron pole in the company's shops and while on the top of the pole, which was over fifty feet in heighth, he lost his balance and fell to the ground, striking on a number of steel cross-arms.

He landed flat on his back and was picked up in an unconscious condition and hurried to the hospital.

Upon examination it was found that Roufs had sustained a broken leg besides other contusions from which he lost a considerable amount of blood. Internal injuries have since developed, however, and much anxiety is felt for his recovery.

AN ORGAN RECITAL.

Charles L. Gulick, of New York city, assisted by Miss Mary C. Hubbell, contralto soloist, entertained a large congregation of music lovers at the monthly organ recital at the Crescent Avenue church last night. All of the numbers on the program were well received and both Mr. Gulick and his assistant were forced to respond to many encores.

TO PUT LIFE IN THE CIVIC BODY

Chamber of Commerce Members Plan to Make it a More Active Organization.

MEETINGS BI-MONTHLY

Mayor Stewart Heads Committee to Decide On the Publicity Campaign Contest Winners—Mfg. Committee Named.

Suggestions for increasing its usefulness and efficiency were discussed at the February meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night. The argument finally resolved itself into a spirited debate between the progressive and conservative members, in which the progressives won out. A motion prevailed that a special meeting be held in two weeks and that efforts be made to secure the attendance of as many members as possible. It will be proposed then that the city stand the expense of the campaign of publicity as outlined by the chamber and suggested by the answers in the contest recently held as to the best way to advertise the advantages of Plainfield and secure a slogan. Several speakers will present reasons why the city should stand this expense. Secretary Paul H. Burns stated that about 200 answers had been received. President George L. Babcock appointed a committee of judges comprising Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield; Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield; Father B. M. Bogan, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, Harry N. McMenimen, P. J. McDonough and Paul H. Burns to go over the answers for the purpose of awarding the cash prizes.

It was the opinion of Mr. McMenimen that the chamber is practically standing still and that it should adopt some method to become more progressive. He suggested holding a special meeting bi-monthly and offering attractions to get the members out. To this end he suggested that those present secure a list of people living in their neighborhood and especially invite them to these meetings.

Winfield S. Angleman, counsel for the chamber, who has been in close touch with the efforts of the Board of Trade and the Merchants' Association, of which the chamber is the outgrowth, took exception to Mr. McMenimen's views declaring that he did not know the situation. Mr. Angleman said that the trouble heretofore had been that the body tried to reach out too far, do big things and as a result had found itself in the "hole" with a heavy indebtedness.

EXPLAINED WORK OF MOTHERS' ASSN.

Mrs. A. H. Reeve and Mrs. B. Loucks Speak at the Session.

The Mothers' Association met in the library of the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the New Jersey Mothers' Congress, speak. She gave a brief talk on the work being carried on by the organization of which she is the head in the rural districts of the State. Incidently she outlined the work accomplished in nine counties showing the methods used to promote enthusiasm and how the associations are held together.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Loucks, state secretary of the American Institute of Child's Rights, explained the work being carried on in this State by that body and the harvest it has already reaped. She said that the institution seeks to save the organizations now in operation by supplying the material gained by the researches of educators who specialize in child life.

RUNAWAYS RETURN.

Frightened because they thought they were going to be arrested for firing a repeater rifle, which is in violation of a city ordinance prohibiting the use of firearms in the city, James Ellis, 13 years old, of 951 Arlington avenue, and Frank McCarthy, 14 years old, of 639 East Sixth street, ran away from home yesterday afternoon and were arrested early this morning by the Elizabeth police. The local police were notified and they told the Ellis boy's father, who went to Elizabeth this morning and brought the runaways home. The boys were arraigned before Judge O. P. Mahon, in the Elizabeth court, on a technical charge of vagrancy and were discharged.

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

'Plains & Fanwood.

Eugene Lidgate, the crack forward of the Parish House basketball team, will not be seen in the local's lineup again this season. He hurt his weak ankle recently and will take things easy until summoned to the spring training camp of the Baltimore "Orioles," with whom he has signed to play during the 1913 baseball season. While in the south Lidgate will keep the Daily Press posted of his "doings" on the diamond which will be watched with unusual interest by the 'Plains enthusiasts.

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carrol conducted the prayer-meeting last night at the home of Harry Denison, in Park avenue.

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Lend-a-Hand Society was held this afternoon in the Baptist church.

Instructor Burnett Brodziak went to Plainfield yesterday to call on the managers of several basketball teams for the purpose of arranging games. Although he was unsuccessful in booking any contests he got the assurances from players of several quintets that they would notify him of their first open date in which event a game can be arranged.

As the attractions on the Parish House court tomorrow night, Instructor Brodziak has secured the Y. M. A. and W. F. A. fives, of Bound Brook, who will make an attempt to take the measure of the local first and second teams, respectively.

Although from the time that the first athletic contest was staged in the Parish House the younger people have taken a decided interest in these affairs and filled the balcony to its capacity, it has been noticeable lately that the older folks are patronizing the basketball games and other exhibitions more heartily each week.

In the future all feminine basketball players taking part in the games staged on the Parish House court will be requested to wear caps to hold their hair in place. Much disatisfaction was expressed by the spectators at Wednesday night's games because "time" was called so often to allow some player to retire to the looking-glass to rearrange her hair which had become distorted in the course of the contest. The caps are fashioned after those prominently used for bathing at the seashore and are worn by many feminine basketball enthusiasts.

Spencer hill is now the afternoon attraction for the youngsters who enjoy coasting.

With every sign indicating the continuance of the cold weather, the ice skates are again being brought from their resting places by the lovers of this form of winter sport.

$25,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN PATERSON

Paterson, Feb. 7.—The building leased last week by Bedell Brothers, women's suit and cloak makers, of New York, Philadelphia and Newark, was swept by a fire that originated in the stockroom of Fulds Brothers' shoe store, adjoining the engine-room of the building, yesterday.

The building is four stories high and of brick construction. Only one store intervenes between the building that was burned yesterday and the property devastated in the $500,000 fire two months ago.

Two stores in the building were occupied by the shoe dealers and by Park Commissioner Edward Sceery, a florist. Dense smoke hampered the work of the firemen.

The destruction of the Fuld and Sceery stores leaves but two concerns doing business on the westerly side of the principal business block of the city.

Other tenants, whose property was badly damaged by smoke, are Dr. J. H. Kenna, dentist, and the New York Dental Company. The Socialist party of Passaic county and the Industrial Workers of the World were also smoked out. The damage is estimated at $25,000.

AT BANK'S HEAD AGAINST HIS WILL

High Bridge, Feb. 7.—That the First National Bank of High Bridge, which reopened its doors this week, was virtually without a president from January 14 until a few days ago, was admitted in a statement made by Percival Chrystie, its former president. Mr. Chrystie declares that he was re-elected on that date to the office of president without his knowledge and in direct opposition to his expressed orders.

At that time, according to his statement, Mr. Chrystie was in California. Two days prior to the date of the election of officers, January 12, Mr. Chrystie, he says, sent a telegram to Abram L. Beavers, the then cashier of the bank, stating that he would not accept a re-election.

Mr. Chrystie asserts that Beavers failed to present the telegram to the directors and neglected to inform them of his refusal to accept the presidency.

"Notwithstanding the action of the board," said Mr. Chrystie, "I did not qualify as president. I never accepted the office. In fact, I knew nothing about the withholding of the contents of my telegram until some time afterward."

Mr. Chrsytie stated that in his unwillingness to be re-elected president he went so far as to declare his desire to dispose of his stock in the bank and to be released from all interest in the institution.

The former president explained this action on his part by saying that he had taken up other interests in California. "I have just completed negotiations which will keep me in San Diego and I expect shortly to return there," said he. "For that reason it was my desire to be released from my connection with the High Bridge bank."

With the closing of the bank following Beavers' confessed defalcations, Mr. Chrystie declared that he had changed his mind about disposing of his stock.

"My stock is not for sale now," said he emphatically. "Nobody can buy it. I'm going to hold it and stand by this thing to the end."

When Mr. Chrystie was asked at what time he first heard of his reelection he stated that he heard something of it before he left California about the same time he received word of the bank's troubles. He added that immediately upon receiving the information he started at once for High Bridge.

As the bank reopened its doors Wednesday former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, the newly elected president, was in complete charge.

A notice giving assurance of the bank's solvency was posted on the front window. It was declared that the bank was in better shape than ever and that confidence among the depositors was restored.

It was announced that $39,000 had been raised by the directors and the amount increased to $50,000 by the stockholders complying with the double liability clause of the national banking laws.

E. P. Baylor, a lumber merchant, of Hampton, was placed on the board to take the place of Beavers, and Herbert L. Staples, who was cashier for the Taylor Iron and Steel Company, was elected cashier.

According to the general belief among residents of High Bridge, the defaulting cashier has not been in the town since January 22, the day before the doors of the bank were closed. It is believed that Beavers took the 9:25 train on that day for New York, and reports of his presence in High Bridge since that time are received with much incredulity.

Although it is thought that Beavers is at present in Brooklyn with relatives, his whereabouts, it is said, are known only to his bondsmen and his counsel. They decline to say where the cashier is spending his time awaiting his appearance February 17 before the United States District Court at Trenton.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Netherwood Reformed church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Horace J. Martin last night. One new member was received into the membership rolls and the musical committee submitted a report of the recent musical which proved to be most satisfactory to all. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Agoga Bible class of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school held its regular monthly business meeting in the class rooms of the church last night. Reports were submitted by the chairmen of the various committees which proved activities of the entire class for this year will be unequalled and that the prospects were never brighter. After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed by the members, vocal and instrumental music being a predominating feature. The social committee, of which F. V. Mills is chairman, had charge of the program and the serving of refreshments.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

UTILIZING COLD RICE.

WHEN you have cold boiled rice set it aside and serve it a day or so later in some one of the many palatable concoctions in which it may be an ingredient.

Rice fritters, waffles or griddlecakes may be made by following the ordinary recipes for these and using cold rice instead of the flour called for, adding flour to make a thin batter.

Fried Rice.—For this the rice should have been boiled until quite soft. Mold it and when ready for use slice and fry in butter or lard. It may be eaten with pepper or salt or served with sugar or maple sirup.

Rice Salad.—Take a cup of cold rice, a cup of diced beets and two cups of celery. Season with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of made mustard, one teaspoonful of powdered sugar and a dash of cayenne. Moisten with equal parts of cream and vinegar.

Nice Side Dishes.

Rice With Tomato Sauce.—Stew half a sliced lemon in a half pint of tomato liquor strained from stewed canned tomatoes. Let the onion simmer in the tomatoes for fifteen minutes. Take it out, cook a tablespoonful each of butter and flour together and make a tomato sauce. If the tomato is tart, as it usually is, add a teaspoonful of white sugar at the time the salt and pepper are put in. Place the rice in a baking dish and pour the sauce over it. Place in the oven for about ten minutes and serve hot.

Toasted Rice.—Take squares of cold boiled rice, butter and toast them These may be eaten with sugar, jelly, preserves or vegetables. They keep hot much longer than a piece of toasted bread and therefore are an excellent substitute for the bread in dishes that cool rapidly.

Steamed Rice.

Casserole of Rice and Meat.—Chop any cold meat which you have on hand very fine and season with half a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of pepper, a fourth of a teaspoonful of celery salt and a teaspoonful of finely chopped onion. Beat an egg, add it to the meat, together with two tablespoonfuls of cracker crumbs, and moisten with a little water. Take a casserole dish, line the bottom and the sides with rice half an inch thick. Then put in the meat and cover it closely with rice. Steam for forty-five minutes and serve with tomato sauce poured over it.

Corporation Notice.

Commissioners of Assessments' Supplemental Report for Sewerage Construction on Consideration before the Common Council, Plainfield, N. J.

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., held on Monday, the third day of February, 1913, there were presented and laid before the Common Council (the same having been first filed in the office of the City Clerk on the same day), the Supplemental Report and Amended Assessment of Howard C. Tracy, Edward A. Laing and Harry E. MacDonald, the Commissioners of Assessments for said City heretofore appointed under the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of Commissioners of Assessments to assess damages and benefits under and by virtue of the act entitled 'An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State,' approved April 7, 1890, and acts supplementary thereof and supplemental thereto," which said ordinance was approved February 5th, 1905; containing the assessments of damages and benefits or expenses, as the case may be, for the laying and putting in complete operation sewers in and through the following streets and avenues and rights of way for sewer construction, or particular sections thereof, to wit:

East Front Street, from Berckman Street to Leland Avenue;

Central Street, from East Seventh Street to Woodland Avenue;

Monroe Avenue, from West Third Street to Sherman Avenue;

Hobart Avenue from West Seventh Street to West Eighth Street;

West Fifth Street, from Prescott Place to Monroe Avenue;

West Sixth Street, from the line of Prescott Place produced to Monroe Avenue;

West Seventh Street, from a point 571 feet east of Monroe Avenue to a point 1,100 feet west thereof;

Plainfield Avenue, from Randolph Road to the southerly City Line;

Radcliff Place;

Lenox Avenue;

Cameron Avenue;

Laramie Road;

Emerson Avenue, from George Street to a point 900 feet northwest therefrom; including house connections and including appurtenances of said sewerage system in connection therewith; the streets, avenues and rights of way for sewer construction, or particular sections thereof, in which the sewers were so laid and put in complete operation, and the location and dimensions of the several lots, tracts and parcels of land and real estate so assessed being delineated on a certain set of maps and designated Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, "Sewer Construction Assessment Maps, Dated October, 1912," and attested by the signatures of said Commissioners and filed in the office of the Collector of Taxes October 7, 1912.

And it was ordered by said Common Council that said Common Council will proceed to consider, review, alter, ratify and confirm the said Supplemental Report and Amended Assessment at a meeting of said Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., on Monday, the third day of March, 1913, at eight o'clock p. m., at which meeting all persons interested in or affected by said improvements on account of which said assessments were made, will be given ample opportunity to be heard upon the subject of said assessments.

The character of the work and improvement for which said assessments have been made is shown by the foregoing, and in general is the construction of said sewers and appurtenances (including house connections), and the laying and putting in complete operation of sewers, and the streets, avenues and rights of way for sewer construction, or particular sections thereof, which are included in said assessments are those hereinabove particularly set forth.

BEST MANAGERS IN BASEBALL

American League Scores on National by Securing Chance.

HAVE SIX TRIED ONES.

Old Circuit Has but Two That Rank as First Class Leaders—Younger Organization Has Two Who Appear Very Promising.

The acquisition of Frank Chance gives the American league the strongest set of leaders that it has ever had. The American league's gain is the National league's loss. In the passing of Chance from the National to the American some have seen the final action which will stamp the younger organization as the foremost of the two major leagues.

The strength of a league unquestionably depends much upon the strength of its leaders and the drawing power of its principals.

The National league possesses just two managers who have won the right to be termed successful leaders. They are John J. McGraw and Fred Clarke. Johnny Evers at Chicago is an experiment, with all the odds against him. He has the worst boss in the major leagues. Joe Tinker at Cincinnati is in a position similar to that of Evers, though his troubles will not come from those higher up. Garry Hermann is an ideal boss. But Tinker has the most rabid fans in the world to contend with. The vision of the horde of managers who have preceded him and who have been driven out of Porktown is enough to rob Tinker of half of his confidence.

Charley Dooin of Philadelphia, while gifted with a set of players the equal if not the superior of any in the National league, has been deprived of success principally because of a combination of misfortunes which would drive almost any man crazy. Misfortunes are rarely taken into consideration in estimating the worth of a leader. Dooin has never carried his team close enough to the leaders to win for him the stamp of efficiency.

George Stallings at Boston is an experiment pure and simple. He has piloted numerous champions in the minor leagues, but his reputation hasn't been such as to make him a great drawing card, and likewise he does not possess the material to cause predictions that the fans will turn out in droves next year to see him and his performers.

Bill Dahlen at Brooklyn likewise has not been smothered by brilliant records of his teams and the glowing tributes which come with them.

In competition with that set is Connie Mack, one of the wisest managers the game has ever known, a man without a peer as a judge of players, a man whose connection with a team will always guarantee a good drawing power for that team.

Then there is Jake Stahl. Jake still has the flush of a world's championship hanging on his brow. It will take several disasters to remove it and to remove his power as an attraction.

As for Clark Griffith, we need only recall the campaign of 1912, with the succession of startling performances by his men. His wisdom long ago won for him the title of "Foxy Grif." Even when the tide of fortune went heavily against him he retained that title and was generally admired.

Hughey Jennings' attractiveness will probably never wane, especially as long as he has Ty Cobb to assist him in choking the turnstiles.

Then there is Jimmy Callahan, one of the two most popular men in Chicago. The other is his boss, Charley Comiskey.

Two young managers are Joe Birmingham at Cleveland and George Stovall at St. Louis. By piloting the Naps out of the rear of the second division into third place in 1911, and likewise by reconstructing the Brown outfit so that the fans, scribes and players are now shouting, "Just watch the Browns," Stovall has labeled himself as being one of the coming managers.

Taking up the managerial work where Harry Davis left off last Labor day, Birmingham rapidly changed a dead, disorganized outfit into a high powered machine. Joe, like Stovall, must still be considered a recruit in the managerial game, but his presence in the new role will not by any means weaken the general strength of the American league in its team leaders.

Finally comes Chance, probably the most advertised man in baseball and probably one of the greatest drawing cards in the national game. Behind him is a conglomeration of successful performances which is unexcelled. He has the confidence of players and fans.

From his own men he has received the greatest tribute that man could receive. He has ever been recognized as a driver, a fierce, strong tempered leader, who ruled with an iron hand. He will have his hands full this season handling the Yanks. The material he has is nothing to speak of, but he may spring a surprise.

Placing Chance, Mack, Stahl, Jennings, Birmingham, Stovall and Callahan up against McGraw, Clarke, Stallings, Dooin, Dahlen, Huggins, Tinker and Evers and comparing the two leagues according to the strength of the managers—which is the most proper comparison—the odds all favor the Ban Johnson thriving young organization.

MARATHONS DEFEAT HOLY CROSS FOR SECOND TIME

Another victory was garnered by the Marathon basketball team at the hands of the Holy Cross second team last night when they turned the trick with a count of 33 to 29. The game was an unusually fast one for junior players and was in doubt until the final whistle was sounded. For the winners Linwood Marsh and Clarence Krausse were the principal point winners, while the loser's end was upheld by Coudray.

The lineup:

HOLY CROSS		MARATHONS
Adams	forward	Coudray
Dilts	forward	Boose
Marsh	center	Dawe
Hummell	guard	Hull
Krausse	guard	Steward

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

With the State feminine basketball championship at stake the Nonpareil girls' quintet, of this city, will play the Trenton Y. W. C. A. five at the capitol city tomorrow night. The local team will go to Trenton tomorrow afternoon and will be entertained by the Trentonians until Sunday night. In stacking up against the capitol city aggregation the locals have a stiff proposition on their hands as their opponents have been coached by Percy Hough, the former University of Pennsylvania captain, and considered to be the fastest feminine deputation in the State.

TWO GAMES AT 'PLAINS.

Two basketball games have been scheduled by Manager Burnett Brodziak, of the Scotch Plains Parish House, to be played on the Parish House court tomorrow night. The main attraction will be staged between the Parish House first team and the Y. M. A., of South Bound Brook, and the preliminary will be taken care of by the 'Plains seconds and the W. F. A., also of Bound Brook.

DUNNING RECOVERING.

Frank Dunning, who was injured in the first basketball game between Leal's and North Plainfield High School has so nearly recovered from the accident that he is now able to get in a little light practice on the Saengerbund Hall court. Dunning says he will be back in the game on or before February 22, when the N. P. H. S. five plays P. H. S. for the Interscholastic title.

ANOTHER CANCELLATION.

Hope chapel is without a game for Saturday night as the result of a letter received by Manager Leighs from the Royal A. C. pilot, of East Orange, this morning. The Royal A. C. was supposed to play in this city Saturday night but for some unknown reason called the affair off.

JOSEPH SATTELS, JR., HAILED AS 'PHENOM'

Sixteen Year Old Local Boy Accorded a Draw With French Champion.

For sometime past the game of chess has been occupying the minds of the sporting public of the metropolitan district and the enthusiasm over the table sport has been at a fever heighth because of the exciting matches that have been played between Capablanca and other entrants in the international masters' tournament. Those in this city who have been following the tournament probably did not know that a coming chess champion is enrolled in their midst, but such, however, is the case. The recently unearthed phenom is president of the Plainfield High School Chess Club, the only organization of its nature within a wide radius of this city, and has not only been winning consistently in that club but broke into more experienced company last night. Joseph Sattels, Jr., of East Sixth street, is the coming wonder, and if the way he was received last night by the wise ones in the Manhattan Chess Club, in New York, is any symbol of his future at the game, he ought to be recognized as a junior champion before many more years have passed.

After D. Janowski, the French champion, had put it all over nearly thirty challengers, young Sattels decided to take a hand at the challenging and he was readily accepted by the title-holder. After thirty moves Sattel was accorded a draw with the Frenchman and those present, among them many experts in the game, marveled at the sixteen-year-old phenom's prowess. He was congratulated by the champion and the secretary and vice president of the club and had the honor of being elected to honorary membership in the metropolitan club. Sattels was also tendered an invitation to compete in the clubs' prize games that are held every Saturday night and it is likely that he will accept the offer.

WARNER DENIES HE RECEIVED MONEY

Says He Induced Thorpe to Sign With Giants Without a Fee.

Glenn Warner, physical director of the Carlisle Indian School, denies that he received $2,500 from the New York National League Club for inducing James Thorpe to sign a contract. Warner is quoted as saying that he brought Thorpe on here to see John McGraw simply as a friend and adviser and that there was nothing in it for him except the satisfaction of seeing the Indian well taken care of. Warner also is reported as saying he wired McGraw asking him to make an official denial of the story.

At the offices of the New York Giants yesterday, Secretary John B. Foster said that he had no knowledge of a telegram of this nature sent by Warner to McGraw.

One of the scouts of a prominent major league club is responsible for the story that Thorpe's contract with the Giants calls for a salary of $6,000; that the Indian received a $500 bonus and that $2,500 went to Warner in return for his influence. This scout wrote these figures in a letter to his employer, and further stated that he had tried to get Thorpe and Warner to meet him secretly in Harrisburg, Pa., while Frank Bancroft, of the Reds; Billy Murray, of the Pirates, and other scouts were hurrying to Carlisle to make offers to the Indian.

In this letter it also was stated that John McGraw's brother-in-law beat everybody to Thorpe and clinched the deal by naming the terms already stated.

The figures have been corroborated by the unsuccessful agents of the Western clubs in various newspaper stories, the conclusion being drawn that they got their information from McGraw's personal representative. The latter may have been misunderstood or he may have been bubbling over with enthusiasm when he discussed Warner's part in the transaction, but the fact remains that he is said to have talked enough to provide plenty of material for the gossips.

WRESTLING REVIVAL DUE TO TAKE PLACE

Gus Peterson, Physical Director of Princeton, to Appear in This City.

One of the few sports that has not been promoted in this city during the past few years is wrestling and if the revival now being planned by a certain faction of athletes in this city becomes a reality it goes without saying that this heretofore dead strength giver will become one of the liveliest games existing in this city. The new movement has been started by an advance guard of Gus Peterson, the Princeton University physical director. Peterson was represented in this city by George A. Keene, editor of the Health Magazine, of Holyoke, Mass. While here yesterday Mr. Keene visited several local sporting circles trying to get a line on the athletes in this city interested in the catch-as-catch--can game. He is trying to arrange matches for Peterson who is at present the welter weight wrestling champion of America and who proposes to come to Plainfield and establish classes in the mat game.

Among those who he visited with an idea to arranging an exhibition match was E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Ostlin is an old hand at the game, having won several notable matches before coming to this city to take up his work at the local association, and is willing to take Peterson on for the best out of three matches as exhibitions in this city. His offer will no doubt be welcomed with open arms by the Princeton trainer and the mat contests will be staged in this city in the very near future.

CO. K'S RIFLE TEAM TO PRACTISE FOR SHOOT

The members of the Co. K rifle team will meet in the armory tonight for a practice shoot. From now on the men who run up high scores will be selected to represent the company in the rifle matches to be held with the Co. L team, of Princeton. Lieut. A. R. Phillips is giving his time to the perfecting of the rifle team and under his supervision the men are all showing up very well. Practice shoots will be held for the company men on Wednesday and Friday nights. The school of rifle shooting, a new feature of the National Guard, will be started in the local company in the near future. The men scoring a certain number of points or more will be taken to the Sea Girt range in the spring to try for a place on the New Jersey State rifle team to represent the State in the National Rifle Association matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, next summer.

N. P. H. S. QUINTET MAKES HIGH SCORE

Leal School Boys Are Handicapped by Slippery Floor and Are Vanquished.

Sixty steps were taken by the North Plainfield High School basketball team against the Leal School representatives' twelve in their second interscholastic match of the season at Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon. The Boroughites had little difficulty in runing away from their rivals and scored and passed at will. The winner's passing was a feature of the contest, and seldom, if ever, has such a sterling exhibition of manipulating the spheriod been given in this city. Time after time the North Plainfield schoolboys took the ball the entire length of the court on short, snappy passes and then topped off their work by nestling the ball in the ring.

The mountain of field goals began to pile up almost as soon as the game was started on its way and never ceased until the final whistle sounded. In the last part of the game the players on the losing side resorted to fouling and frequent penalties were enacted for violations of the rules. At times the private school players showed signs of real basketball ability, cleverly blocking the shots of the N. P. H. S. fo wards, but these brilliant moments were few and far between and the Borough basket cagers scored almost at will.

The score:

CO. K AT DUNELLEN.

Loaded to the teeth in the hopes of bringing home a victory the Company K basketeers, of this city, will take a trip to Dunellen tonight to clash in a court battle with the quintet representing the Baraca Class of the First Presbyterian church. The team will leave the local trolley station on the 7:45 Main Line trolley.

BATTIN GIRLS CANCEL.

Manager Elsie Debele, of the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team, received word from the Battin High School manager cancelling the game scheduled to be played at Saengerbund Hall this afternoon. The Elizabeth High School is now holding its examinations and have suspended all basketball until after February 10.

N. P. H. S. HOME GAME.

On the Saengerbund Hall court tomorrow afternoon, the North Plainfield High School boys' team will lineup against the New Brunswick High School representatives in their second meeting of the preesnt season. The first contest resulted in a 28 to 22 victory for the Brunswick players and the Boroughites are out for ample revenge this trip.

TWO GREAT FINNISH RUNNERS

Kolehmainen Brothers, Hannes and William, Best In Game Today.

Two brothers who have won world-wide recognition as distance runners are Hannes and William Kolehmainen, the wonderful Finnish athletes.

Hannes is well known for his achievements in the recent Olympic games and is at the present time considered the best amateur long distance runner in the world, while William leads among the professionals.

The wonderful accomplishments of Hannes at the Olympic games at Stockholm will long be remembered. To capture three races against the best athletes in the world was honor enough, but to surpass the previous marks gave him even greater credit. He got new records in the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs and the 3,000 meter race. In the

HANNES KOLEHMAINEN IN ACTION.

5,000 and 10,000 meter runs his time at the various distances surpassed those made by Alfred Shrubb, the famous coach of the Harvard university cross country team.

Counting heats and finals, Hannes took part in five races in the events preceding the Marathon. It was reported that Hannes also ran in the classic race, but this is erroneous, as it was another brother, Tatu, who took part in that event.

Although Hannes Kolehmainen has not been in the best of shape while competing in this country during the last few months, he has shown that he is without doubt the best amateur long distance runner in the world.

William Kolehmainen came to the United States a few years ago, but did not win any recognition in competing against the best professional long distance runners. However, since the Olympic games he has won recognition all over the world. It was last year that he distinguished himself by winning the Powderhall Marathon in Scotland. This achievement was followed by even greater accomplishments since his arrival in this country, for he has shown his heels to the best runners that have opposed him.

The greatest victory credited to him in this country was the winning of the national professional Marathon championship, succeeding Hans Holmer as title holder. The latter was a contestant in that race and was badly beaten.

P. H. S. AT WESTFIELD.

Plainfield High School will send its basketball representatives to Westfield High School tonight to engage in the second contest of the season with the Mount Ararat delegation. After the game the home team will entertain the local players at a reception and dance in the Westfield gymnasium.

Boarders wanted advertising will bring new faces to your table.

"MAC" SAYS

B-r-r-r, too cold for baseball and too cold for basketball at Saengerbund Hall. What are we going to do for recreation?

Leal's basketball team came on the Saengerbund Hall court yesterday afternoon to engage in their interscholastic contest with N. P. H. S. wrapped in furs. The floor was as slippery as ice and this coupled with the chilly atmosphere gave the hall the appearance of an ice skating rink.

The game itself appeared to be a little out of season, the private school taking an unmerciful walloping from the speedy N. P. H. S. aggregation. Some of the finest passing ever seen in this city was pulled off by the Boroughites against Leal's.

Ice hockey is being promoted at the Cedarcroft on Jark avenue. The tennis courts at that place have been frozen over and make a couple of excellent rinks. Arrangements are being made to stage a game between the Cedarcroft representatives and some outside aggregation.

Manager Leighs, of the Hope Chapel five, has just received word from the Royal A. C. manager, of Orange, cancelling the game scheduled to be played on the Hope court tomorrow night.

P. H. S. goes to Westfield tonight to play and be entertained by the Mt. Ararat athletes.

The State feminine championship will be decided at Trenton tomorrow night, when the Nonpareil girls, of this city, line up against the Trenton Y. W. C. A. quintet.

Company K goes to Dunellen tonight to engage in a basketball sham battle with the Dunellenites. Yes, "Cutey" Glover is in the soldiers lineup. Special preparations are being made by the home players to receive a "large" delegation.

When Thorpe was accused of professionalism some friend of the redskin's forwarded the excuse that he was ignorant of the white man's ways. He appeared to know enough to pull a $500 bonus from the foxy McGraw.

Since Jim Thorpe has signed a contract with the Giants, the New York nine can boast of the best football team in baseball circles. With a Giant eleven made up of Thorpe and such good pigskin warriors as Mathewson, Meyers, Merkle, Snodgrass and Stock, all of whom have played the game, even the Holy Cross team would be given a good run for its money. The Red Sox may be the world's champions at baseball, but at football, pooh, pooh,—mere bushers, and football is more seasonable at present.

Glenn Warner, physical director of the Carlisle Indian School, denies that he received $2,500 for inducing James Thorpe to sign a contract. Wonder if he was ignorant of the white man's ways or just naturally thick? Who ever heard of a physical director who was afraid of becoming a professional especially when some long greens were the consideration?

Woolworth Building	750
Eiffel Tower (steel skeleton)	984

New York, Feb. 7.—Two thousand workmen are engaged day and night in putting the finishing touches upon the Woolworth Building which is to be completed within a week or two and the completion of which is to be celebrated at a big banquet to be given next month. The building now almost completed holds the record for height among all buildings ever erected by men. It is true, the Eiffel Tower in Paris is 234 feet higher, but it is a mere steel skeleton and cannot be classed as a building in the sense accepted for that term. The building proper, which occupies an area of 30,000 square feet, is 384 feet high and is surmounted by a tower, 86 by 84 feet, rising 366 feet above the main part of the building.

The work of excavating for the foundations was begun on November 4, 1910. Sixty-six caissons were sunk to a depth of 115 feet until they reached solid rock and the sixty-six concrete piers, resting upon the rock, constitute the foundation of the structure. The foundation was completed in the Fall of 1911, when the erection of the steel frame was begun. The latter was completed in July of last year and the brick and stone work was completed at the beginning of the present year. Twenty-four thousand tons of steel went into the making of the building and the total weight of the structure is estimated at 250,000 tons.

The building has 55 floors, 25 of which are in the tower, and the aggregate floor space is about 33 acres. The building and tower together contain about 2,000 offices, with 3,000 windows and as many doors. To enable the occupants of the building to reach their respective floors there are thirty-four passenger elevators of which twenty-four are grouped near the Broadway entrance, while the others are near the entrances from Barclay street and Park place. The equipment of the building, when fully completed, will be thoroughly modern and as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it. The fifty-fourth floor will be used as an observatory and on top of the structure, beneath the gigantic flag, will be placed a powerful searchlight. The twenty-eighth floor will be occupied by a luncheon club and in the basement there will be a swimming pool, a restaurant and a Rathskeller.

The total cost of the building is estimated at about $13,500,000, of which amount $4,500,000 were paid for the ground. The building was erected for F. W. Woolworth, who was born pobr at Rodman, N. Y., April 13, 1852, went through public school and a business college and in 1879 opened the first "Five Cent Store" at Utica, N. Y. The venture prospered, he extended his business to other cities, and now has a chain of more than 300 such stores throughout the country, from which he derives an enormous income. More than one half of the capital required for the erection of the Woolworth Building was contributed by capitalists in France. The rent roll of the building is expected to be about $2,500,000 a year.

German Valley.

Rev. Charles B. Roach, of Park Ridge, is visiting Elmer C. Searles, Sr., in Chester.

Louis C. McPeak, of near Chester, will retire from farming this season.

The trustees of the Chester Cemetery have already expended more than $700 in making repairs and estimate that it will take about $1,000 more to make contemplated improvements.

Many new books have been added to the Chester Free Library. The library will be open Saturday afternoon.

Miss Ethel Hildebrant, of Chester, who has been ill, is convalescing.

The Chester Cornet Band will give a benefit dance in Day's Music Hall Friday night.

The young child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Messler, of German Valley, is recovering from bronchitis and complications.

WINDING UP A WEEK OF WONDERFUL SELLING OF

A.P.C. Wash Fabrics at 6½c

This has been, as we anticipated, the greatest sale of A. P. C. Fabrics any store in America has ever held—we bar none, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. No other store has ever disposed of so many thousands of yards in a single week, and we know whereof we speak. Alongside of this sale all others are pigmies.

Tomorrow again you may come and pick from the hundreds of patterns and colorings, most of them exclusive with us, in these wonderful, durable, unfadable dress fabrics for morning dresses for grown folks and for all day dresses for the little ones, particularly for girls' school dresses, and pay us the same low price.....6½c

Added Features to the Wash Goods Sale

In addition to the sale of A. P. C. Fabrics, the great particular star round which many satellites revolve, we will present these new and startling features for tomorrow's selling—

Great Anticipation Sale

Looking Forward to Your Spring and Summer Need And to Our Need of Room.

In anticipation of the early arrival of big lots of Spring goods, we have determined to make a clean sweep of our present holdings of best makes of Refrigerators, Screen Doors, Window Screens, Lawn Mowers, Oil Stoves, and such summer necessities carried from last season, and we are going to cut the prices about one-third as an inducement for you to take them now and have them ready for the warm weather.

We guarantee these to be equal to the new goods that are coming in; there might be slight differences of color or finish, but nothing that has anything to do with the wear.

These prices for Saturday only—

HIGH-CLASS WINES and LIQUORS

The subject of medicine must be of absorbing interest to the people, and they should exercise the greatest care in the selection thereof. Liquors, Wines and Beers are a great Medicine when Pure. I carry a large stock of well-made old liquors. Old liquors do not affect the body detrimentally but serve as the best tonic for invalids, stimulating and feeding the system. To persons wanting pure Wines, Liquors and Beers, I will say that I have the goods.

WONDERFUL VALUES—These Really Nice Women's and Misses'

Stunning Cloth Dresses AT $5.98

Dressiness and durability, tastefully combined, are the prevailing features of these winsome frocks. The styles are smart and exclusive, displaying here and there deft little trimming touches of a clever designer. A handsome piece of brocade or a dainty ruffle of lace, with bands of imported braid, form nobby finishes to the waists. The skirts, modish in their cut, are simple and graceful. The materials are serges and bedford cord; the colors, brown, blue, gray, Copenhagen, black and striped.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

An eight-hour law has been passed by the State Legislature of Oregon.

A Brotherhood of Chauffeurs has been organized in Washington, D. C., with 35 members.

Governor Sulzer plans a thorough overhauling of the labor laws of the State of New York.

A yearly salary of $7,500 is paid to the president of the Teamsters' International Union.

A union printer was elected State Senator from the Twenty-eighth district of Illinois.

Over one thousand flat dwellers in New York have organized a "tenants' union" to force lower rentals.

Minnesota State Federation of Labor will propose a minimum wage bill to the present Legislature.

The receipts of the American Federation of Labor have grown from $174 in 1881, to $207,373.60 in 1912.

A modern Chinese trade union has recently been formed in Shanghai by about 3,000 goldsmiths and silversmiths.

The colored waiters of Indianapolis have organized and have selected a delegate to the State Federation of Labor.

A total membership exceeding seventy-five thousand is claimed now by the Painters, Decorators' and Paperhangers' Union.

A general campaign of organization is being conducted in Porto Rico under the auspices of the State branch of the American Federation of Labor.

The anthracite miners averaged more working time in 1911 than the bituminous miners, working 246 days, against 211 days for the bituminous miners.

In Winnipeg, Manit., classes in building construction and steel square have been instituted by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

A workmen's compensation act has been drafted by a commission appointed by Governor West, of Oregon, which, if enacted, will go into effect on July 1.

More than ten thousand accidents, causing disability of seven days or longer, were reported to the State industrial accident board of California during the year 1912.

The International Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance of Way employes has decided to move its headquarters from St. Louis to Detroit, and to erect a permanent building.

A determined effort is being made by the National Consumers' League to secure a minimum wage of $8 or $9 a week for self-supporting women in the larger cities of the country.

The management of the packing houses in Cambridge, Mass., recently announced an increase of $1 a week to all employes. Fifteen thousand persons will participate in this increase in wages.

CLOSED PORTALS.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night the members of the guard attended in their new uniforms. Following the regular business meeting a class initiation was held and four candidates were given the first and second degrees. The third degree will be conferred on them next Thursday night.

The third degree will be conferred on two candidates at a meeting of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., tonight. A special meeting of the Franklin and Somerset councils committees on the fair matters will be held at the close of the regular business meeting.

At the meeting of Royal Council, O. U. A. M., Wednesday night six candidates were given the first two degrees for incoming members.

BRADLEY BEACH IN GAS WAR.

Bradley Beach, Feb. 7.—Bradley Beach has joined the crusade for cheaper gas. This borough is served partly by the Consolidated Gas Company of New Jersey and partly by the Coast Gas Company of Belmar, the Martin Maloney corporation. The Belmar concern charges $1.50 per 1,000 feet, whereas the Consolidated rate is $1.25. Belmar, too, is expected to take action on the gas question, and appoint a committee to join similar committees of neighboring municipalities to carry a complaint to the Public Utility Commission. Belmar pays a flat rate of $1.50 per 1,000 feet. Gas from the Belmar plant, however, is pumped to Lakewood, where the Lakewood Gas Company, a subsidiary concern, sells it for $1.25 per 1,000.

SILVER CUP FOR MOTHERS.

Asbury Park, Feb. 7.—Mothers whose children participate in the annual baby parade are eligible to compete for a silver loving cup which Thomas F. Summers, a grand judge, has donated. Mr. Summers' trophy is designed for the mother with the largest number of children. It is the first time such a trophy has been offered.

'Made in Newark' Exposition

Show Has Educational Value

"The Made in Newark" Exposition, now in progress at the "Great White Store," is admittedly one of the most unique industrial shows ever held in the State. Visitors to the exposition are surprised at the number of interesting displays. The show has an educational value. One can learn a great deal about Newark and her great manufacturing enterprises by spending a day or two at the big show. Don't think of missing the exposition. A rare treat awaits youp. COME.

DOLLAR SIZE BUTTONS A RELIEF TO HUSBANDS

TRYING OUT THE MISSOURI BUTTONS.

Missouri is on the verge of a boom such as history has never recorded if a bit of legislation introduced in that State should become a law. To be specific, Missouri is about to offer an asylum to the downtrodden husbands of the whole country, who are now literally upon their knees engaged in the nerve racking, soul destroying task of buttoning their wives' dresses up the back.

When a law results from the bill of Representative Hay, of Butler county, prohibiting women from wearing dresses that button up the back unless the buttons are at least the size of a silver dollar—and imposing a jail sentence for persistent offenders—a stampede Missouriward is expected that will make the dash of the Argonauts to California in '49 look like a string of coal miners on their way to a highbrow lecture.

ELECTRIC PROBE SCOPE TO BE DEBATED FRIDAY

Trenton, Feb. 7.—The Board of Public Utility Commissioners is sending to every municipality served by the Public Service Electric Company copies of the report of Chief Inspector Philander Betts, bearing upon the proposed investigation of the rates charged by the company.

The board also suggests the desirability of having each municipality represented at the hearing to be given at the Newark Courthouse, at 10 o'clock, Friday, February 14. At that time there will be taken up the question of the scope of the investigation and the method to be followed in making the inquiry.

Mr. Betts estimated that the cost of a State-wide investigation would be not less than $100,000, a sum entirely beyond the reach of the board, unless provided for by a special legislative appropriation.

At the preliminary hearing held last week, President Thomas N. McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, contended that it would be impossible to conduct an investigation by zones, the method followed by the board in the investigation of gas rates. One of the important questions, therefore, to be taken up at the next hearing will be whether the investigation is to be State-wide, or made zone by zone.

ACCEPTED COMPROMISE ENDS PORCELAIN STRIKE

Trenton, Feb. 7.—Definite terms for the settlement of the strike in the nine porcelain plants of Trenton were reached yesterday when a conference was held between the three arbitrators and representatives of the trades unions involved in the strike.

As a consequence of the agreement the 1,500 strikers returned to work today. They will receive an increase in wages which is a compromise between the present scale and the wages originally asked for by the strikers. Another feature of the agreement is that all the strikers shall be reinstated in their old positions and that their future employment shall not be prejudiced by the fact that they joined the strike.

Some few details still remain to be settled, but most employers and employes agreed yesterday to abide by the decision of the arbitrators upon these points. The arbitrators who brought the strike to a peaceful conclusion were Hugh V. Reilly, business agent of the machinists of Newark; Frank H. Hutchins, vice president of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters of America, and James C. Tattersall, a Trenton business man who is president of the Chamber of Commerce. Only a few days ago the strike, which had been of short duration, threatened to assume serious proportions. Efforts to end the strike by the employment of strikebreakers precipitated several riots and some bloodshed, although no one was seriously injured.

"SUICIDE" MAY BE MURDER MYSTERY

Girl's Father Says She Was Badly Beaten.

FOUND DEAD IN BROOKLYN

Chorus Girl Believed to Have Committed Suicide Had Been Assaulted, and Then Gas Was Turned on, Declares Her Parent.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 7.—John J. Walsh of this city went to the district attorney's office in Brooklyn and declared that his daughter, Mary Ellen Walsh, who, it was reported, had killed herself by gas in an actors' boarding house in Brooklyn three days ago, had in reality been beaten almost to death and then the gas turned on to make the case look like one of attempted suicide.

Mary Ellen Walsh was a chorus girl. She was found dying in her room at 149 Lawrence street, Brooklyn. She was taken to the Brooklyn hospital, where she died almost immediately. The case was set down as suicide by gas poisoning and the body shipped to her father here, where he conducts an undertaking establishment.

He said that he found that his daughter's body was black and blue from head to foot.

"She must have received a fearful beating from somebody," he declared excitedly.

Coroner Rooney dispatched Coroner's Physicians Hartop and Pabst to this city to make an autopsy. In the meantime the district attorney's office set detectives to work on the case. The Walsh girl at the time of her death was with a burlesque show playing an engagement in Brooklyn. It was said at the boarding house that she had often threatened to kill herself.

NEPHEWS CONTEST WILL.

Charge Undue Influence of Young Wife, Like Other Relatives.

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 7.—Two more contestants are in the field to break the will of the late John S. Lyle of Tenafly, who died last July, aged ninety-three, leaving the bulk of his estate, valued at $20,000,000, to his young widow. They are Isaac and James Lyle, sons of Alexander Lyle, a brother of the deceased testator, and they live at Cape Negro, Shelburne county, N. S. Their appeal was filed with Surrogate Robert A. Sibbald.

These contestants make the same claim of the six other contestants—that John S. Lyle was of unsound mind when he was married at the age of ninety-two; that Julia Gertrude Lyle, "claiming to be his widow," had exercised undue influence over him, and that the testator was incapable of making a will when he did, a few hours before his death.

REFUSES FOOD, SENT TO JAIL

Realty Man Sentenced on Fraud Charge Fasts For Week.

Freehold, N. J., Feb. 7.—David H. Liddle, real estate operator, who formerly maintained offices at Belmar and Asbury Park, was sentenced by Judge John E. Foster to not more than seven nor less than three and a half years in state's prison upon conviction of fraud in obtaining title to valuable property at Spring Lake belonging to Mrs. Martha P. Moore, widow of the Rev. S. J. Moore of Asbury Park. Liddle is married and has a son twelve years old and a daughter ten.

He has refused to partake of food of any nature the past seven days. At times he became violent. He was so weak in court he had to be supported.

GAYNOR MUST PAY $5,800.

Jury Renders Verdict In Favor of Dr Arlitz of Hoboken.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 7.—After hearing the testimony of Henry S. Thompson, water commissioner of New York city, taken in New York, read the case of Dr. William J. Arlitz of Hoboken against Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York went to the jury in the United States court. The jury after two hours' deliberation gave Arlitz a verdict for $5,800.

The case, involving a bill of $7,500 for twenty days' services for attending Mayor Gaynor when he was shot by James J. Gallagher on Aug. 9, 1910 was tried before Judge Rellstab. Mr Thompson was with Mayor Gaynor when he was wounded.

CROWDED FERRY RAMS SLIP

Passengers In Panic as Boat Wrecks Part of Jersey City Wharf.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 7.—The Pennsylvania ferryboat Newark crashed into her slip at the Exchange place terminal, this city, and wrecked half the ferry house.

Women fainted, and for a time the guards and the policemen had their hands full quieting the passengers until the ferry could be backed out of the slip and into an adjoining one. It was a badly frightened throng that finally hustled off the boat.

The boat was loaded with passengers mostly women, and trucks. Some of the horses nearly plunged into the water.

The desirable boarders are not all satisfied with their present boarding houses. Your ad will interest some of them.

WIFE OF WIZARD EDISON LEADS CRUSADE FOR CLEAN STREETS IN NEW JERSEY TOWN

MRS THOMAS A. EDISON

West Orange, N. J., will soon become known as "Spotless Town" if Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the wizard, has her way. Mrs. Edison is president of the West Orange Town Improvement Association and heads a committee which tries to keep the streets clean. She discovered that the town scavenger was not keeping the streets clean, and when he reported that he could not do so until the residents quit throwing refuse into the streets Mrs. Edison went out to investigate. For several days she watched houses and then appeared at the Council meeting with a long list of the names and addresses of persons whom she said she saw throwing cans and refuse into the streets. As a result the Town Council has promised to get busy.

THE STATE HIGHWAY.

State Commissioner of Roads Stevens has fully described the New Jersey highway system, as provided by a recent act of the Legislature, in a report just made to the State Commission. His lengthy and most interesting statement outlines all the routes included in the proposed system, the total number of miles included being 1,489, of which 1,210 are already improved.

The number of miles of these roads in cities is ninety-seven. Of the 1,391 miles of the highways outside the cities, 1,114 miles are now improved.

The law provides that the State highway system shall include such roads as will form main-traveled roads of reasonably direct route between the county seats of the State; existing improved highways that are chief lines of travel between seaside resorts and large centres of population; important roads affording outlets at the boundaries of the State; such roads as by their character and the amount of travel upon them place an inequitable burden for their maintenance upon local districts, and the ocean highway and the Delaware River drive.

The report shows that the total mileage designated outside the cities leaves 108 miles that can be hereafter added to make up the 1,500 miles allowed by law. The report continues:

With the approval of the system the first steps in the providing of State highways have been taken. Before proceedings to take over any of the roads as State highways the financial consideration involved must be considered. There is a larger demand for roads than at any time since I have taken office. The demand for aid in repair work is daily increasing. I have no knowledge as to whether the amount usually appropriated for new work is to be increased. The motor vehicle fund will probably yield about $500,000 for repair work. To maintain properly the whole of the system I have suggested will take even a greater sum, probably $1,000,000.

Before any road is taken over as a State highway it should be surveyed and plotted. In connection with this work I am asking the Legislature for $20,000 in the supplemental bill and $10,000 in the regular appropriation to extend the work of plotting out a road system, so as to cover a system of secondary or county roads in each county. I am also asking for an appropriation of $50,000 for State highways maintenance and repair.

The State Highway Commission has approved the commissioner's report, and it has also been approved by Governor Wilson. The purpose of the State highway system is that the roads now designated shall be taken over by the State as State highways and hereafter be maintained by the State, thus relieving the counties through which they pass of this burden.

THE INCOME TAX.

Shortly after Woodrow Wilson is installed as President of the United States, Congress will provide means for the levy and collection of the income tax. Considerably more than the required number of States, two thirds being necessary, have approved the proposition as passed by Congress more than three years ago and among the most recent to place its endorsement on the scheme was New Jersey.

It is expected that by this means an annual revenue of more than one hundred millions of dollars will go into the United States Treasury. The law levies a tax of one per cent. but this is confined to incomes of and over $5,000 a year.

Very few people have a clear idea about this new tax, and the explanation furnished by the Jersey Journal is well worth perusal. That paper says:

During the operation of the income tax levied during the Civil War and for some years after, the income up to the limit was exempt and only the surplus above the limit was taxed, but the exemption was $800 a year at the beginning and $600 a year during the later years of the tax. The present plan would apparently exempt an income of $4,999, and tax $5,000 without exemption.

The theories underlying the income tax are that the burden of tax will fall on those most able to bear it, and that the income will enable the Government to reduce the tariff and thus cheapen the cost of living. These are good theories, but it is far from certain that they will work out the way their advocates expect.

The tax on individual incomes will be paid, but that the cost of living will be reduced is another matter. Anyway, the change is to be made and the people will learn the result by experience.

VOTES FOR WOMEN.

The women suffragist advocates propose to storm the State House at Trenton next Tuesday, but their demonstration will be in marked contrast to those for which the English women are known, for there will be no disorderly scene. The purpose is simply to make an impression on the lawmakers favorable to the proposed constitutional amendment on which a hearing will be held on Tuesday, February 18. While no Eastern State has as yet provided for equal suffrage, there has been a notable victory in Pennsylvania where but a few days ago the Assembly by an overwhelming vote stamped its approval on a proposed constitutional amendment for that purpose. It is expected that the Keystone State's Senate will also pass the measure, but unfortunately the matter cannot be put up to the voters until 1915.

"Votes for women" is a political issue that has not met with success so far except in Western States. Last November Michigan defeated the proposition by a slight margin, and before then Ohio gave a decisive verdict against it. But, withal, the East is aroused and the campaign of education conducted by the advocates of equal rights is sure to bear fruit. It would not be strange to see New Jersey, now the most progressive of all Eastern States, lead the way.

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be the Rev. Currier, the popular curate of Grace Episcopal church. The clergymen will discuss a subject of special interest just at this time.

COUNCILMAN BARRED OUT OF THE MEETING

No Welcome on the Door Mat for Reville at Police Board Session.

The Councilmanic police board at its meeting last night, established what is considered a precedent in refusing to allow a member of the Common Council, who is not a member of the board, to attend its meeting. Councilman P. J. Reville appeared at last night's meeting in his official capacity to bring some important matters before the board.

Chairman Leighton Calkins, of the police committee, it is said, upon entering the room, wanted to know if the session was to be a police board meeting. Being answered in the affirmative, he wanted to know why those other than members of the board were present. The meeting was called and a motion put that those other than members of the committee be required to retire.

Councilman Reville gracefully retired. Later he was approached by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who requested him to remain in waiting for a time, but the councilman refused to do so and he informed the Mayor that he considered the action of the board very discourteous and uncalled for. Mr. Reville, in view of the action of the board, notified the Mayor that he would bring the matter before the Council at its meeting Monday night.

IT'S A SIGN POST TO ROAD OF HAPPINESS

One of the conspicuous features of a recent and very remarkable gathering of philanthropists in Plainfield was the strong under-current of religious conviction. No man could listen to the continued and repeated account of the work of redemption actually being accomplished throughout the country by these intelligent, well-trained and devoted men and women, without observing that their enthusiasm for the lives of men had its source in the enthusiasm of the Man Jesus. This was a conference of scientists. Religion was in no sense involved; but it was profoundly and deeply Christian, nevertheless.

And the best philanthropy of the day is directly or indirectly Christian. Why does a man have any regard for his neighbor at all? Because Christianity has thoroughly stamped Jesus' conception of brotherhood upon humanity. It is difficult for us to get away from it. Whence the origin of our hospitals, asylums, homes, refuges? Christian in their origin every time. Whence the Red Cross Nurse, the mitigation of the cruelty and barbarism of war? Christian influence is the answer. Back of every means of betterment for human needs, and human relations, stands Christianity. Has Buddhism or Confucianism, or Mohammedanism contributed any grain of real sympathy with human ills, or real endeavor for human relief? If you wish a contrast between the Mohammedan and Christian view of human life, read in any newspaper or magazine the graphic pictures of the grewsome and hideous human suffering within the Turkish lines during the present European war.

The product of Christianity is brotherhood, helpfulness, mercy, kindness. It Can't be anything else. Its application may be delayed by the selfishness of some Christians, but people like these substantial men and women whom we have been listening to this very week, whose voices ring true, are bound to come to the top. No power upon earth can stop them, they are bound to prevail, because the world needs them, and Christ is behind them.

Why should not every man have a place in that splendid helpfulness of Christianity? Why should you not be doing something for somebody else and not living out a life of mere absorption? The avenue is open to you. There is not a Church or religious organization in town which would not welcome and use your services. Why not hunt one out and learn the great happiness of helping others?

BEACH ACQUITTAL LOOKS CERTAINTY

Evidence All In, Summing Up Is Begun.

MRS BEACH GOOD WITNESS

Swears She's Positive It Was Negro Who Stabbed Her—Prosecution's Case Falls—Wife Dramatically Relates Events on Night of Assault.

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 7.—Although there is a bromidion that "there's no telling what a jury will do," it is regarded as certain that before the day is over Frederick O. Beach will be freed of the charge of murderously assaulting his wife. Mrs. Beach's testimony in behalf of her husband dissipated utterly whatever doubt existed as to the verdict which the jury will bring in.

Mr. Beach acquitted himself on the stand also in a way which redounded very greatly to his advantage. This morning the defense was limited to two hours in which to sum up its case. Daniel S. Henderson, Judge W. Q. Davis and Representative James F. Byrnes of that counsel spoke. County Prosecutor Robert Gunter said that he will require no more than an hour. It is not believed that the jury will be out long.

At the end of yesterday's session the jury was taken over the premises covered in the evidence presented. Mrs. Beach, pale and tired looking, showed the reaction from her strain of the morning, but she stood for awhile in the courtroom, the center of a group of laughing, chatting friends who have been at her elbow constantly during the trial. Mr. Beach went off to the Aiken club in high good humor. Upon the facts before the jury the case against Frederick O. Beach is of the slimmest.

Mrs. Beach's Dramatic Story.

Mrs. Beach told a dramatic story of the assault, and the jury and spectators listened eagerly. It was evident that she had made a favorable impression on the jury. She corroborated the testimony of her husband, who had preceded her on the stand.

Mrs. Beach said that the negro entered the grounds as she went outdoors to give her dogs an airing and struck her over the head with a heavy stick. He then stabbed her in the neck and fled as her husband came running out of the house to her assistance on hearing her screams.

Mrs. Beach denied the story, as did her husband, that while in the mayor's office Mr. Beach asked her to "lay it on Pearl Hampton's brother."

Mr. and Mrs. Beach and Miss Marion Hollins, who was a guest at the Beach home on the night of the attack, were the only witnesses examined when court took a recess. Their examination took up the greater part of the session yesterday. Miss Hollins told of hearing screams and, going downstairs, saw Mr. Beach carrying his wife into the house.

Mr. Beach did not depart materially from the tale he has told since the attack—that his wife was struck by a negro when she went outside her cottage with her dogs. He maintained his accustomed calm through the grilling cross examination to which he was subjected by the prosecutor, Mr. Gunter. He contradicted himself once or twice, but speedily corrected his statements when reminded and apologized for his faulty memory.

SAYS ALASKANS MAY DIE OUT

Tuberculosis Threatens the Race, Says Dr. Brulish.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The terrible ravages of tuberculosis will exterminate the entire native population of Alaska in sixty or seventy years unless the disease is eradicated at once, according to the report of Dr. Emil Brulish of the public health service.

"I am of the opinion," he said, "that 15 per cent of the population is infected with tuberculosis in either the active or latent stage. With the advent of the white man the native has contracted his disease, which is degenerating and depopulating the race."

Dr. Brulish was sent to Alaska to investigate the health of the natives.

SHAPIRO GETS NEW LICENSE.

Rosenthal Murder Car Driver Reinstated on the Books.

New York, Feb. 7.—Mitchel May, secretary of state, has written to District Attorney Whitman that he has directed that a new license be granted to William Shapiro, who drove the gray automobile that carried the gunmen who shot Herman Rosenthal.

Mr. May's letter follows a communication from District Attorney Whitman, who asked that Shapiro get a new license. In it Secretary May states that he thought at first that Shapiro knew the gunmen's errand and had aided them in their crime. Mr. Whitman's letter, he adds, has shown him that he was mistaken.

150 Miners Entombed.

Fukuoka, Japan, Feb. 7.—One hundred and fifty miners were entombed by a natural gas explosion in one of the collieries near here. Many were supposed to have been killed instantly, and there was small hope for the rescue of possible survivors.

ENCOURAGING REPORT FROM BONNIE BURN

Sixty-six patients, thirty-six males and thirty females, have been admitted to Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, since the opening of the institution, November 29, 1912, and of that number four male patients have died. Two female patients and one male patient have been discharged. Five female and one male patients were in the incipient stage when received, while fourteen men and as many women were in the more advanced stage of the disease.

Twenty-seven patients have been admitted from Elizabeth, nineteen from Plainfield, five from Westfield, two from Summit, one from Scotch Plains, five from Rahway, one from Lyons Farms and one from Kenilworth. Five patients have been admitted from other counties, who have paid cost of maintenance. Since January 1 last, twenty patients have been admitted, eleven men and nine women. Among the five women that are classified as incipient are three children in whom the lung lesion is negligible, but have bone and joint lesions.

ANNIVERSARY OF LOCAL CHURCH

here, without church privileges, discussed the necessity for a house of worship, and on October 30, 1836, a meeting was held at the home of Isaac D. Titsworth, to consider the advisability of building a church. On December 11, of the same year, plans were approved and on December 19, 1837, the committee reported "the house now erected," and it was then decided that on February 8, 1838, the house should be opened for divine worship. The church was located at Third and Centre streets, now Central avenue.

The charter membership roll comprised fifty-seven names. On February 8, the house was formally dedicated and on the following day the Plainfield Seventh Day Baptist church was organized. Rev. William B. Maxson delivered the sermon. The church continued to occupy this first house of worship until 1864, when it having become inadequate to the demands of an increased congregation, and the lot on which it stood being required by the New Jersey Central for its new roadbed, it was sold to the company for $7,500. Immediately after the sale of the first house, action was taken toward securing a new site, which was at Central avenue and West Fifth street. The corner-stone was laid August 1, 1866. The house was finished about the first of March, 1867, at a cost of $31,000. Rev. T. R. Williams preached the dedicatory sermon.

During the first twenty-five years 264 members united with the church. Later the present handsome edifice was erected on the present site and the old church was removed to West Fifth street and Madison avenue, where it has been used as a school. There was also erected a commodious parsonage adjoining the present church. Among the pastors of recent years who were widely known were Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, who resigned to become editor of the Sabbath Recorder, and who died several years ago; Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Main, now dean of the Theological Seminary at Alfred, N. Y.; Rev. George B. Shaw, now of North Loup, Neb. Rev. Edwin Shaw, the present pastor, succeeded his brother.

The Plainfield church is a sister to the Seventh Day Baptist church, New Market, founded in 1701, and which is perhaps the oldest church of the denomination in the country.

TARIFF AND INCOME TAX HER SUBJECTS

Miss Janet Richardson Continues Her Discussion of Vital Political Topics.

"The Tale of Two Cities," was the topic of Miss Janet Richards' address in the Hartridge Auditorium yesterday afternoon. But unlike Charles Dickens, from whose works by that name she probably received her inspiration for such a discourse, she chose Washington and London for her story, instead of London and Paris.

The speaker said taxes were collected on imported goods to secure money to run the government. "And they say," she added, "this custom was inaugurated to protect the wage earner." Miss Richards informed the audience that the tariff causes the consumer to pay considerable more for the necessities of life than he or she should, an assertion which the Democratic spellbinders impressed upon the people in the last campaign.

The policies of the Democratic party were next discussed by the lecturer. She said the Democrats propose to reduce the tariff and make an income tax, which will force all men to part with one per cent. of their yearly income over $5,000, which she said would produce over 100 millions of dollars.

Miss Richards told of her enjoyable experience at a reception in Washington, D. C., given by a Mrs. Henderson. In the grand-march which was included in the program of terpischore, she said Senator James E. Martine was her partner.

In conclusion Miss Richards discussed affairs in London; told of the trouble with the suffragettes and gave a brief account of the Parliamentary sessions being held there. The Balkan situation was also touched upon during her discourse.

OPPOSED TO REPEAL OF MOSQUITO LAW

Union County Board of Agriculture Urges Solons to Fight Annulment.

Elizabeth, Feb. 7.—Members of the Union County Board of Agriculture adopted a resolution at a meeting yesterday to urge the Senator and Assemblymen from Union county to oppose the repealer which has been introduced to abolish the counties' mosquito commissions. The sentiments of those present were strongly in favor of allowing the mosquito fighters continue their battle against the pests, as it is acknowledged that considerable progress had been made by the commission.

In an address on "Mosquito Extermination," by Russell W. Giles, assistant chief inspector on the commission, the long and careful preliminary work necessary to launch a successful campaign against the Jersey insect was explained. He contended that if the commissioners were abolished at this time the efforts made and money spent to date in the warfare would be wasted.

An acknowledgement was read from Governor Woodrow Wilson, in reply to a communication sent by the Board asking that David T. Magie, a farmer of Elizabeth, be appointed on the County Tax Board. The Governor said he would give the matter his earnest consideration. It is claimed by the Board that the farmers have been discriminated against in the matter of taxes and for this reason they ask that a tiller of the soil have something to say regarding the assessments.

DR MAXSON ADDRESSES PARENTS AND TEACHERS

Dr. Henry M. Maxson was the guest of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Lincoln School at the social meeting held by the organization in the school auditorium yesterday afternoon. He spoke to the mothers and friends of the children present giving many helpful suggestions and caused a large amount of enthusiasm for the work planned by that body. He compared the child to a hedge with a trimmer on either side. If the workers on either side failed to co-operate, an ugly hedge was the result. "The aim of education," said the speaker, "is to harmonize the trend of the individual with the trend of the life about him, and if this harmony is not effected the individual will become a failure in life."

The children of the school entertained those present with a number of patriotic songs which they sung with true American spirit. The meeting was one of the most successful yet held by the organization.

IN POLICE COURT.

Albert Peterson and Miss Margaret Lane, both colored, who have been living thirteen years at 551 South Second street, were arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning on a serious charge, preferred by the former's wife, of Hartford, Conn. Robert Newton Crane, counsel for Peterson, admtted that his client was married in this city thirty-four years ago, but had long been separated from his spouse. J. Henry Crane, who represented Mrs. Peterson, tried to show that Miss Lane was a married woman also, but the evidence submitted was not sufficient to convince the court. After testimony had been given, which included statements from Peterson's father, who says he is 102 years old, Judge De Meza held the former in bonds of $100 to await the action of the Grand Jury and dismissed the complaint against the woman.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Proctor & Sanderson have booked the following strong attractions for The Plainfield theatre: Wednesday, February 12, afternoon and evening, special motion pictures; Friday, February 14, matinee and night, "The Traveling Salesman;" Saturday, February 15, matinee and night, "The Master of the House;" Monday, February 17, Andrew Mack in "tA Bay;" Saturday, February 22, matinee and night, William Hodge in "The Road to Happiness."

VIOLATED SUNDAY LAW.

Rubin Sminck, of Liberty street, arrested Sunday for violating a city ordinance which prohibits the selling of cider on Sunday, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, who after hearing the testimony suspended sentence. Sminck was arrested by Sergeant Flynn and admitted his guilt. He said he was ignorant of the law, however, and promised to obey the ordinance in the future.

The members of Old Glory Council, No. 62, Daughters of Liberty, will hold a lunch-box social in its rooms the Babcock building, Saturday night, February 15. The women are requested to put up box lunches and the men will be expected to buy them. All members and friends are invited.

Roderick B. Thaw, of New Germantown, who has been visiting relatives in this city, has returned home.

Miss Gladys Sullivan, of Watchung, is confined to her home with an attack of diphtheria.

WHITMAN ANGRY AT POLICE TRICK

Headquarters Emissary Calls on Captain Walsh.

WALDO SUSPENDS ACCUSED

Inspector Sweeney and Captains Hussey, Thompson and Walsh Relieved of Their Commands—Walsh Refuses to Talk to Commissioner Newburger.

New York, Feb. 7.—Suspensions by Commissioner Waldo of Captain Thomas W. Walsh, who confessed to being a grafter on Wednesday night; Inspector Sweeney, who was accused by Walsh; of Captains Hussey and Thompson, who were formerly inspectors and were assigned for a time to the district of which the precinct commanded by Walsh formed a part, and a shakeup among the detectives assigned to Inspector Sweeney were the big developments in the attack District Attorney Whitman is making on the graft system in the police department.

But what District Attorney Whitman considered as a most important link in his chain was the discovery that police headquarters had tried to take Captain Walsh away from him as a witness for the people against other grafting policemen and use him for the purpose of an individual hunt for graft within the department.

Deputy Commissioner Newburger was assigned to the task of discovering just precisely what Captain Walsh had confessed to, and the deputy commissioner set about the work with a good will. The lines laid by Mr. Whitman were soon crossed. He found this out very early in the day, and he dropped many other important duties and started out for the purpose of getting his hands on the man who had crossed them.

Looked For Lawyers First.

Mr. Whitman was sure at first that some of the lawyers he had been trying to catch were at the bottom of the trouble. He told one of his assistants to find these lawyers if he could and to learn what they had been doing. In a short time it was learned that no lawyer was engaged in the work of rescuing any of the threatened officials. Then Mr. Whitman hurried straight to the house of Captain Walsh. There he struck the scent. A few minutes' talk with the captain convinced him that the interference came from men assigned by headquarters and that the orders issued to them were to the effect that they must get Captain Walsh as a police witness against big policemen and take him out of the service of the district attorney.

Captain Walsh was very ready to tell all about it. Mr. Newburger had come to him from headquarters with orders that he should make an affidavit covering all the points of the story he had related to Whitman. He was told that he must leave out nothing, because the commissioner wanted it to help him in cleaning up the department itself.

Lends Him to Whitman.

Captain Walsh could not see where any protection would come to him from any police source. He suggested that the police go to Mr. Whitman for any statement they wanted of the things the captain had talked about. The captain was not told that an effort had already been made to get the captain's full story from Mr. Whitman and that it had not been successful. Mr. Newburger argued the matter for a long time, but the captain was obdurate. He would not say a word without Mr. Whitman's permission.

Mr. Newburger, it was said was very anxious that Mr. Whitman should not know that the police were interfering in the case. News of his suspension had not yet reached the captain and an intimation, it is said, was made that if the captain did not obey orders heavy punishment would fall upon him. But the captain saw no danger in this. He said he was certain that his usefulness as a policeman had already been destroyed. Then his loyalty to the force was appealed to, but still the captain refused to say a word about the things he talked of to Mr Whitman.

Before Mr. Newburger departed Mr. Whitman appeared at the captain's house. He was in a highly nervous condition. He remembered the police interference in the case against Fox and the frantic efforts of the police department to whitewash Fox by causing his arrest during the absence of Sipp and the discharge of Fox because no witnesses appeared against him.

Captain Walsh finally told Mr. Newburger from headquarters that he would not say a word to him, that he was very ill and that he would be obliged if he would leave him in peace.

HOSPITAL FOR ANIMALS TO BE ERECTED AT COST OF $50,000.

FIRST ANIMAL HOSPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES SOUTHWEST CORNER OF BOND AND LAFAYETTE STREETS, N.Y.

Work on the new hospital for animals, which is to be the finest of its kind in the world, will begin next week. Plans for it have been completed and have been given out by Mrs. Speyer, president of the New York Women's League for Animals. The hospital will be ready to receive animals in September, it is hoped.

The new building will occupy a plot at the southwest corner of Lafayette and Bond streets, in New York city.

As leader of the animal league and one deeply interested in the welfare of dumb creatures Mrs. Speyer made a thorough study of animal hospitals in Europe, and on her return much of the best that she had gleaned from her investigation was incorporated in the plans now completed. Every device known for handling injured and ailing animals will be installed in the building, which is to cost $50,000.

ACKERMAN SEES PARTY NEEDS

cause it seems to me that the record of the Republican party clearly shows, if he is correctly quoted, that his memory is enjoying a vacation and is not as yet in harness again.

"As Governor Wilson truly says in this year's message to the Legislature: 'It was impossible that everything should be accomplished in a single session.' Accepting the standard fixed by Governor Wilson, what is the record? Starting with 1905 and 1906, in which years the Legislature was overwhelmingly Republican, the record in New Jersey is one of steady, progressive legislation and of a character that no one man or set of men can appropriate exclusively to himself or themselves. It has been said of the legislation of 1905 and 1906 that it was incomparably greater in its importance and far-reaching beneficial effects than the sum of all the previous legislation in New Jersey since the adoption of the Constitution in 1844. The greatest achievement of those years was the legislation on the railroad tax question which had been a great problem ever since the first railroad received a charter from the State. The Legislature of 1905 passed an act providing for the taxation of second-class railroad property at local rates. That is to say, that terminals, switches, stations and railroad property of every kind, outside of the main line tracks, is assessed locally for the benefit of the municipalities wherein the property lies.

"The Legislature of 1906 passed a railroad tax whereby the main line of the railroad never exceeding 100 feet in width is taxed by the State at the average tax rate of the State and the money returned to the counties for the benefit of the public schools. Millions of dollars have poured into the treasuries of the cities and counties as the result of these acts of Republican legislation. The Legislature of 1906 also passed the limited franchise act.

"The Democratic leaders at that time looked upon the Republican record with jealous amazement and vainly attempted to claim credit, as the Progressives are now doing, for Republican enterprise and statesmanship. The Democratic platform of 1907 said: 'The legislation of taxation exacted since the ascendency of the Republican party in New Jersey has been the result of Democratic initiative.' That language was the highest tribute one political party could pay to another rival organization.

"The Legislature of 1907, the responsibility of which was divided between the two parties, passed the laws providing for direct primaries and direct primary votes for United States Senator. Also a bill creating a railroad commission.

"The Legislature of 1908 passed the Civil Service law giving ability and character a preference over pull and politics.

"The Legislature of 1909 enacted the first employers' liability law ever placed on the statute books of New Jersey.

"The Legislature of 1910 passed laws on the subject of child labor and an act providing for the creation of a public utilities commission.

"The Legislature of 1911, divided between the two great parties, passed acts relating to cold storage, extended the direct primaries to congressmen and governor, and extended the corrupt practice act aiming to absolutely protect the purity of the ballot. This Legislature also passed election laws which are proving effective instruments in guarding against repeating and other crimes on election day, and it also amended the public utility act giving the commission the power to fix rates.

"The workman's compensation act was the result of the work of the Legislatures of 1910 and 1911.

"The Republican Legislature of 1912 passed an act arranging for the abolition of grade crossings which was vetoed by the Governor. This statement of facts clearly shows a fulfilment of party pledges and is a complete record and evidence of sincerity, because the reforms and progress advocated by the people were written into the laws of the State by the members of the Legislature.

"In addition the Legislature has passed many other bills in the interest of the people, such as pure food legislation, amendments to the Orphans' Court act of benefit to poor people, advanced tenement house regulations, woman's reformatory, laws of benefit to women who work in factories and stores, and acts providing for an improvement of the roads of the State.

"Acting on the wise old precept that it is good to speak well of your brother, I do not hesitate in declaring that there is much, 'yea, very much,'" Mr. Ackerman said to the correspondent, "in the Progressive program which Republicans can and do endorse, which I have been advocating many years, long before, as I can prove, any 'New Idea' movement or Progressive party was contemplated, and if those who have so much in common can see their way clear to reserve for future adjustment their differences on other matters, the harmony thus resulting will have not only great economic benefits but will also prove a stimulus to our Democratic brethren to push forward at an accelerated pace the reforms they have promised and will soon have the power to enforce."

TO PUT LIFE IN CIVIC BODY

not attend the meetings, Mr. Angleman said that the merchants had frankly told him that they did not want to be identified with a bankrupt organization. "The trouble is," said Mr. Angleman, "we have been trying to do big things, when we should have been going along quietly carrying out the purpose of such an organization without making a big splurge. You cannot compare Plainfield with New York, Detroit, Rochester, and other big cities. In fact I think that the name 'Chamber of Commerce' is too big for Plainfield, which is nothing more than a suburban town.

"The chamber formerly had spacious quarters, paid a secretary $1,200 a year and incurred other expenses which have not yet been paid. We tried the monthly dinners for business men and other schemes which have been successful in larger cities, but they would not go in this town."

J. J. Varley was of the opinion that there was something wrong with the chamber when the business men failed to attend meetings. One reason for this he thought was the springing up of civic organizations in the east and west end of the city, apparently formed he said for the same purpose as a Chamber of Commerce.

During the business session, Paul H. Burns resigned as secretary, but the chamber refused to allow him to retire. Instead an assistant was given to him in the person of J. J. Varley. Mr. Burns explained that with increasing duties he could not properly attend to the office alone.

Captain J. E. Curtis, Stanley E. Gunison, Jr., and R. M. Adkins were named as a manufacturers' committee. Harry N. McMenimen, J. J. Varley and George Clarke were appointed a committee on delinquent dues. Mr. Gunison, who was chairman of the committee appointed to take up the question of the collection of garbage, reported progress, as did also Mr. Angleman for the committee on lights. The Magnet Manufacturing Company, makers of women's underwear, sought information as to a probable factory site and the matter was referred to the proper committee.

FATHER BYER TRANSFERRED TO UNION HILL CHURCH

Westfield, Feb. 7.—Announcement was made yesterday by Bishop O'Connor of the appointment of the Rev. Robert J. Byer, rector of Holy Trinity church, Westfield, to the rectorate of St. Augustine's church, Union Hill, succeeding the Rev. William T. McLaughlin, who has been appointed to the rectorship of St. Lucy's church, Jersey City. Father Byer's successor has not yet been named.

The transfer follows that of the Rev. Edward A. Kelly, who was recently named rector of St. Patrick's church, Jersey City, from St. Lucy's to succeed the late Monsignor John A. Stafford.

"HIGH LIFE IN JAIL."

"High Life in Jail," a cleverly written and acted satire on prison life, is one of the big hits of the Proctor show this week. It is a scream from start to finish. Sam Bernard's brother, Dick Bernard, and a capable company present "The Animal Stuffer," a wonderful character sketch. Mr. Bernard as the quaint old German taxerdemist, is a gem. The Paul Durand Trio of high class singers, excellent voices and good musical selections; Belle Onra, aerial artiste, and Dave Ferguson, monologist, a real funny chap, complete an exceptionally fine bill.

EXCESSIVE CAB RATES IN BOROUGH

North Plainfield Mayor to Confer With City Mayor to Stop Exorbitant Prices.

COMPLAINTS ARE MADE

Sewerage Legislation Committee Named With Mayor Clark as Chairman—County Tax Board is Heard From.

The licensing of Plainfield hackdrivers who do business in North Plainfield was discussed at a meeting of the Borough Council last night and a resolution was adopted authorizing Councilman Allan Cowperthwaite, chairman of the Public Affairs committee, to confer with Mayor Percy H. Stewart on the subject.

The matter was introduced by Mayor Clark, who claimed that the tolls demanded by many of the hack drivers were excessive. Others claimed they had to pay fifty cents to be driven from the North avenue railroad station to their homes, an amount which they claimed was double what it should be, considering the distance was less than a mile. Former Councilman W. J. Buttfield said the hackmen charge twice as much when it rains as they do in clear weather.

A communication was received from the Somerset County Tax Board stating that in view of the fact that they have been charged with discrimination against the borough and that considerable annoyance had been caused, a conference with a committee of the Council in the matter of taxation in all its phases was decided. This request will be complied with and the clerk was authorized to send a reply to this effect.

A Sewerage Legislation Committee was selected to look after the interests of the borough in the joint sewerage matters and to aid in preventing the passing of any legislation detrimental to the furtherance of the project. The committee consists of Mayor Clark, chairman; Councilmen Allan Cowperthwait and W. S. Boyer, and former Councilman W. J. Buttfield.

Frank Haulenbeck was appointed special marshal for the ensuing year.

The laws and ordinance committee was ordered to draft an ordinance to regulate openings or excavations in the streets. The borough engineer will be notified to prepare specifications and the necessary drawings for the proper filling-in of West End avenue, near the bridge. The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for the work.

Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker was granted $150 and the Boards of Health was appropriated $300 to pay current expenses. Following is the disbursements for the month of January, 1913, of the various departments: Borough, $682.88; police, $472.88; fire, $272.99; street, $157.65; special school appropriation, $5,000 on account; interest, $263.57; light, $485.59, and sewer, $7.94.

WITH THE COMPLIMENTS OF THE PLAINFIELD PRESS

With the issue of today, the Plainfield Daily Press delivers to every local subscriber a parcel post map which will be of value to all. The map is large, and shows every unit in the United States, the zones radiating from unit, 767, which is the one in which Plainfield is located. The rates for mailing packages to the different zones, the hours of mails at the Plainfield postoffice, as well as the city and borough fire alarms, and other information are also on the card. The map is large enough to make it possible for all to read the figures on its entire face. The zones as laid out on the map do not apply to Bound Brook and Somerville, as those towns are in a different unit from Plainfield.

If any local subscriber does not get a copy of the map, the Daily Press will consider it a favor to be notified, and one will be delivered. The maps are printed on durable cardboard. In the preparation of the map the State Trust Company and the Allen B. Laing Company have co-operated with the Daily Press, and credit is due these two progressive local houses.

The list of fire alarm boxes is up-to-date as included is one which was added on Wednesday, February 5, No. 73, located at West Seventh street and Hobart avenue.

DR. DAVIS PRESIDENT OF HEALTH BOARD

The Three New Members Take Their Seats at Organization Meeting.

Dr. T. S. Davis was elected president, Dr. H. D. Corbusier secretary and S. H. Voorhees treasurer at the reorganization meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health last night. Dr. Corbusier, Elliot T. Barrows and Hugh Reilly, the newly appointed members, succeeding Dr. W. H. Murray, A. E. Force and W. M. Wherry, Jr., were all present.

The reports showing the sanitary condition of the city for the past month were presented. The following communicable diseases were reported during January: Scarlet fever, 1; tuberculosis, 5; chicken-pox, 9; whooping-cough, 13; measles, 3. At the present time there are no houses under quarantine. During January eight houses were disinfected. Twenty-six cultures were examined, twenty throat cultures and six examinations of sputum.

The work of systematically inspecting the dairies supplying milk in Plainfield was begun during the month, thirty-one dairies being inspected. Samples of milk from the regular dealers and six samples of cream were collected and analyzed. A sample of the public water supply was sent to Trenton for analysis and the report showed it to be of excellent quality.

There are at present twelve dumping grounds maintained in the city, beside the public dump at the extension of Myrtle avenue. Permits for maintaining these dumps were granted on condition that they be kept in a sanitary condition. All dumps will be closed May 1, except the one public dump.

These inspections were reported during January: Plumbing, 143; milk supply, 89; general work, 1,306. A permit was granted to John Powers to conduct a barber shop at 167 North avenue, succeeding Charles Suhr.

Elliot T. Barrows and Hugh Reilly were appointed as a standing committee for the examination of plumbers desiring to register as master or foreman plumbers. The president and secretary were appointed as a committee to consider the best method of recording and following up cases of tuberculosis.

An inspection of all places where public drinking cups are used, was ordered with a view to abolishing this means of propagation of communicable disease. Before the meeting adjourned the members informally discused the work of the health department and its possibilities.

SAVINGS CLUB ABOUT TO RESUME ACTIVITIES

A great deal of interest was taken last year in the Christmas Savings Club then introduced by the Plainfield Trust Company for the purpose of providing an easy method of saving money for Christmas. The plan was at once so novel, so practical and so simple that it became popular at once and about 3,800 people were enrolled in the club's membership, over $70,000 being distributed at Christmas time. Besides its primary object of creating a fund for the purchase of gifts, the club has had many other adaptations. Property owners have used the money to pay taxes, some have applied it on accounts of the purchase of the winter's coal supply or the payment of life insurance premiums, and still others have used their check for such benevolent purposes as hospital and church subscriptions or for the starting of permanent savings accounts.

The 1913 club will be operated for forty-two weeks and will be divided into five classes, as follows: Class 2 in which the weekly payments begin with 2c and end with 84c; Class 5 in which the weekly payments begin with 5c and end with $2.10; Classes 2-A and 51A in which the order of payments is reversed, the largest amount coming first, and Class 100 which calls for an equal payment each week of $1.00.

The Christmas Savings club is one of the most effective schemes for saving that has ever been invented and many who have heretofore been unable to accumulate any money for such special objects as Christmas gifts admitted at the close of the club last year that the weekly payments had required but little effort on their part. Nor were the individual members the only ones who benefited for a very large proportion of the $70,000 fund went into the pockets of the local merchants.

The 1913 club is scheduled to open on February 17 and between that date and March 1 those who wish to join may call at the office of the Plainfield Trust Company and be enrolled.

A few lines of To Let advertising will stop all anxiety about it!

SUFFRAGE PLEA BY 'GEN.' JONES

"Votes for Women" Crusaders Commandant Explains Purpose of "Hikes."

DR. SAUNDERS HEARD

Boro's Former Mayor Shatters the Arguments of the "Antis" at Big Meeting Held by Local Suffrage League.

Much interest had been taken in the coming of Miss Rosalie Jones, of New York, better known as "General Jones" since her famous "hike" to Albany, and many who gathered at the Hartridge Auditorium last night to attend the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League meeting expected to see a large woman of aggressive, commanding type. Instead, they saw a little woman, full of womanly sweetness and charm and exceedingly good to look at and to listen to. She plunged at once into the question that she knew was in the minds of many of the audience—"Why the March to Albany?" Miss Jones said that from earliest times people had walked for a great cause, and followed briefly in outline the pilgrimages of history through to the Crusaders, to the present times. They walk for an ideal, and to spread knowledge of that ideal.

In this instance the suffragists could easily have taken the train to Albany of course, but in so doing they would have lost the opportunity to talk to groups of farmers on the way, in district schools, in town halls, at business meetings, before audiences at moving picture shows, and to individuals who followed them as escort from village to village all along the way. A constantly increasing trail of adherents to the cause of equal suffrage was left everywhere they went, and that was one of their aims.

Miss Jones spoke of the difference between the English and American methods of advertising, and in no way condoned the acid-throwing, window-smashing tactics, but she said that the aim of both was the same—following the advice of Sir Henry

UNUSUAL WIRELESS FEAT BY AMATEURS

Leon Moran Communicates With William Thickstun 300 Miles Away.

Something unusual in amateur wireless telegraphy was accomplished by Leon Moran, of Mercer avenue, last night when he received a message at his private station coming a distance of nearly 300 miles. Not only does the distance which the communication traveled make it interesting to friends of Moran but because of the fact that is was sent by a Plainfield boy on board an Old Dominion Line steamer off Cape May and received by one of his closest chums makes the incident particularly significant. Moran was with William Thickstun, of Central avenue, when the latter was severely shocked by an electric spark escaping from the wireless condenser he was handling and entering his body two weeks ago. Young Thickstun has never fully recovered from the nervous shock his system underwent at that time and left Thursday for a southern trip in the hopes of regaining his health.

It was while on the Old Dominion Line steam en route to Norfolk, Virginia, that Thickston thought he would like to investigate the interworkings of an up-to-date wireless system and he obtained a pass for admittance into the ship's wireless room. The operator in charge immediately ascertained that the Plainfield boy was well versed on the subject of wireless telegraphy and consented to let him relay a message with his objective point as Moran's home.

The two local amateur operators have a secret code of their own and when Moran was sitting at his instrument last night he was surprised to receive a message from his chum telling him that the steamer was due to arrive at Norfolk this morning. Thickstun intends to spend four or five weeks in the southern climate and while away will probably keep in touch with his friends in this city, although not always by the invisible system.

J. E. WOOLLEY TO SPEAK.

John G. Woolley, the widely-known temperance advocate, will occupy the pulpit at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tomorrow morning. Mr. Woolley is considered an orator and doubtless many will welcome the opportunity to hear him tomorrow.

William R. Causbrook.

The contributing editor announced for todays' issue, Rev. John G. Currier, the curate of Grace church, has requested that his time for taking charge of the editorial page be deferred. William R. Causbrook, the district manager of the Public Service Corporation, who had promised to serve in that capacity at an early date, kindly consented to act as editor for this issue.

YOUNG HACKMAN IS ONCE MORE IN THE TOILS

John Lacey, 19 years old, of 30 Harmony street, a hackdriver, was again brought before City Judge DeMeza this morning for raising a disturbance around the North Avenue station. As on the previous occasions, Frank Dobson, the baggage master, was the complainant.

In suspending sentence on the offender the court promised him a prison term if he was brought before him again. He also told Dobson to put a stop to the custom of allowing the hack drivers to congregate in the station tunnel and other parts of the building. Numerous complaints have come to the police recently by commuters and travelers regarding the hackmen, whom they say are boisterous, use offensive language and indulge in indecent practices which make a trip through the station decidedly unpleasant.

AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

The special preacher at Holy Cross Episcopal church tomorrow night will be Rev. Thomas A. Conover, of Bernardsville, who has many friends in Plainfield who will be glad to hear him. The evening service is at 7:45 o'clock, and the public is invited. The organ recitals by Charles Davis, the parish choirmaster and organist, will be discontinued for the present. The recitals have been very successful. At the morning service the preacher will be the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy, whose theme will be "Breaking Up the Fallow Ground."

NEW DANCING CLASS.

WIDOW ACCUSED BY CONTESTANTS

Grandsons of D. J. Garth, Who Died Here in July, Allege Undue Influence.

ONE MILLION ESTATE

Mrs. Garth, Who Resides on Gresham Road, is Away at Present—Say Garth Destroyed First Wife's Will.

Mrs. Lillie P. Garth, second wife of the late David J. Garth, who makes her home with her brother George R. Cornwell, at 1126 Gresham road, this city, but who is at present in California, is accused by Dr. William Garth Clopton, of Baltimore, Md., and Wyeth Clopton, of British Columbia, grandsons of the deceased, with exerting undue influence over their grandfather and her late husband and have begun action in New York State to have his will set aside on these grounds. They allege that they have been practically disinherited by their grandfather, who upon his death in this city Thursday, July 18, willed them but $5,000 apiece as their share of the $1,000,000 estate, the greater part of which was left by provisions of his will to Mrs. Garth.

The contestants further state in their claim that their mother, the late Mrs. Mary C. Clopton, was the millionaire's favorite child, and that when their grandmother died in 1892, forty-nine years of married life as Mr. Garth's first wife, she left her entire fortune to their mother, but that she never received a penny because the will mysteriously disappeared. Soon afterward they allege Mr. Garth met his second wife, who was Mrs. Lillie P. Lutz, a widow, of Washington, D. C., and who at that time for forty-five years old. They became engaged within a week after meeting, at Hot Springs, Va., say the contesting grandsons.

Mr. Garth and Mrs. Lutz were married in January, 1894. The contestants allege that she caused him to sell 296 acres of land at Scarsdale, which is now valued at $10,000 an acre, for $500,000, and that much of this property belonged to

BORO MAYOR UMPIRE ON 'SUNDAY CLOSING'

North Plainfield's Council Puts It up to Municipality's Executive.

Resolutions placing in the hands of Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., with power, all matters pertaining to the enforcement of the Sunday closing law, were adopted at the February meeting of the North Plainfield Council last night. Expecting that public action would be taken on the "blue law" petition signed by 90 per cent. of the merchants of the borough, the Council chamber was filled with interested citizens, including many of the merchants.

Shortly after the Council convened, the members of the Dunellen sewage commission appeared and with the Borough Council went into executive session to discuss sewage matters. The crowd in the lobby got tired of waiting and all with the exception of Lafayette Rosenstiehl, the father of the "blue law" petition, went home.

Upon reconvening, Councilman E. S. Boyer offered the resolution which gave to Mayor Clark the power to settle the Sunday closing matter. It is the opinion that he will adjust matters to the satisfaction of the petitioners. When questioned today as to what disposition he had made of the petition, Mr. Clark said that he wanted more time to consider the matter.

While no official statement was given out concerning the conference on the sewage matter, it is understood that the discussion had to do with probable future action and plans for a special election. The proposed ordinance drafted by Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, which is to be adopted by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, was also discussed.

FROM POLICE BLOTTER.

Grant Gossby, colored, of 607 West Third street, was arrested last night on the complaint of his wife who charges him with disorderly conduct and treating her cruely. Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning he promised to behave himself in the future and the court suspended sentence.

MRS. ERNEST ROWE.

Mrs. Anna Ellen Rowe, wife of Ernest Rowe, of 341 Manson place, died at her home this morning following a short illness. Notice of the funeral will be given hereafter.

MIGHTY PROTEST MADE AGAINST GRANTING ANY MORE LICENSES

Representative Men Plead With Common Council at Public Hearing and Great Crowd Applauds Their Utterances—Only One Appears to Speak in Behalf of New Applicants.

That the sentiment of the people is overwhelmingly in favor of having excise conditions remain as they are at present and against increasing the number of licensed places or granting any renewals or extending the "licensed zone," was clearly demonstrated at a public hearing on the subject at the Plainfield High School last night. The weight of argument appeared to be so strongly in that direction that a majority of the people left the meeting satisfied that the Common Council will not change the present conditions.

Arguments in protest against any change were made by former Councilman George P. Mellick, R. Henry Depew, Arthur M. Harris, representing the Federation of Men's Clubs, Bible classes and other religious organizations; Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, representing the Plainfield Ministers' Association; James E. Kimball, president of the Y. M. C. A.; Thomas C. Vail, president of the West End Civic Association; former Councilman W. S. Tyler, E. E. Parson, H. C. Runyon, J. W. Harrison, Reuben Knox, representing the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and Isaac Houston. William Newcorn who stood alone in his attempt to show why Christian Gloekler should have his license renewed and Morris Latzko should be granted a wholesale license to do business on North avenue and why John Clark, who holds a saloon license at West Third and Liberty street, should not be denied a renewal of his license. He appeared as the lawyer for those on whose behalf he made a plea.

Throughout the half-hour talk of Mr. Newcorn there was not the slightest sign of approval of his arguments by the large audience. In marked contrast was the frequent hearty applause given the speakers on the other side and if such a show of sentiment counts for anything the members of the Council must have been strongly impressed. The gathering was an orderly one, it only being necessary for Patrolman John Kelly to remove one man from the audience. He insisted on talking in a way that disturbed the meeting.

The members of the Common Council, with President George S. Clay presiding, occupied seats on the platform. Just after the meeting was called to order, Mayor Percy H. Stewart was greeted with applause as he entered and took a seat beside Mr. Clay. Throughout the hearing, the city officials listened attentively.

Mr. Clay in explaining the purpose of the hearing, stated that inasmuch as there would probably be a number of speakers, he had decided to limit each one to ten minutes. Those favoring a change in excise conditions by granting new licenses or renewals were given first opportunity to speak, and Mr. Newcorn took the floor. He stated at the outset that he was present to speak in favor of a change in one retail and one wholesale license, and he first took up the application of Christian Gloekler for a renewal of his license at West Front and Somerset streets.

Mr. Newcorn in referring to the petition from the Federation of Men's Clubs and Bible classes said that he had made a personal investigation and stated that he had found actually 801 names, eliminating duplicates. Of these 260 are property-owners, 100 have their property in the wife's name, 125 did not pay poll or other tax, 75 reside in the Fourth ward, 125 in the First ward and the balance in the Second and Third wards. While giving the religious organizations credit for their campaign, Mr. Newcorn said that it showed that all of the rest of the thousands of residents must be in favor of licenses. This was the only remark by Mr. Newcorn that seemed to stir the audience to laughter, except that later when he told Mr. Knox to submit his argument in brief, the sharp retort of the latter in which he told Mr. Newcorn that he had been allowed ten minutes, but had taken twenty, brought forth a round of applause.

In arguing for a wholesale license for Morris Latzko, he explained that the latter has been doing business in North Plainfield and it was distinctly understood that should he receive a license in the city he would give up his borough business. He made a plea for Latzko on the ground that there should be more than one or two wholesale places in the city. In conclusion he made a plea in behalf of Clark Brothers' saloon, and stated that the law prohibiting such places within a certain number of feet of a church, school or armory did not apply in this case as that provision of the law referred to new places, passed as an amendment to the Werts law in 1905. Mr. Newcorn presented a petition signed by seventy property-owners living in the vicinity of Clark's saloon, some of whom he said are members of the Mt. Olive and Shiloh Baptist churches.

Former Councilman George P. Mellick was the first to speak in protest. He said that the preceding speaker had confined his remarks to an immediate neighborhood and disregarded the needs of Plainfield. While he was in favor of saloons he thought it wise and just to refuse new applicants, or give back any taken away or refused renewal. He thought the people were well cared for now and he wanted to enter a protest against renewals or extension of territory. He could see no reason for additional wholesale licenses as the people can get all the liquor they want now. If additional wholesale licenses are granted this year, next year there may be three or four more applicants and in a few years there might be seven or eight such licenses. Mr. Mellick urged the Council to maintain the present high standard of the city. He did not think that if there was to be an election tomorrow any man would be willing to stand as a candidate in favor of more saloons.

Representing the Federation of Men's Clubs and Bible classes, R. Henry Depew said that the important question to be decided was whether Plainfield is to be benefitted or injured by increasing licensed places, whether it will mean an uplift or the reverse. Mr. Depew quoted from the police court records to show that in 1911 there were 1,194 arrests, 559 being indirectly or directly chargeable to drink and in 1912, out of a total of 1,059 arrests, 466 were for drunkenness and disorder, he thought the reduction of 114 arrests last year was significent in view of the fact that there were two less saloons.

Mr. Depew said that the reports from the Charity Organization Society show that 99 out of 100 appeals for charity are attributed to drink. In answering Mr. Newcorn's statement that there are three times as many people now congregating at Front and Somerset streets as when there was a saloon there, Mr. Depew said that Mr. Newcorn did not have a word to say regarding the difference in the character of the people.

E. E. Parvin, representing the Federation of Men's Clubs, in protesting against additional saloons, said he had no quarrel with the saloonkeepers, but the previous policy of the Common Council should have some weight with the present body. He recalled the circumstances under which Findlay and Gloekler lost their licenses, and closed with a pathetic incident showing how several Plainfield boys had been sent to an institution for the reclamation of boys through drink obtained here.

Arthur M. Harris, another representative of the religious organizations, emphasized the fact that the policy regarding excise conditions here was established. "We do not settle the question of more licenses by coupling it with this or that application," said Mr. Harris, "but I urge that we stand for the principle already established by saying to these men—gentlemen, this is not personal—it is the business—Plainfield has established the policy of limitation to the number already granted—wholesale and retail, and also the further policy that all who hold these licenses must keep not only within the letter, but the spirit of the law as well, or the license will not be renewed, or if necessary it will be revoked.

"At a banquet a sword was hung over the head of Damocles, suspended by a single hair, that he might realize the necessity of happiness. So must the holders of a license understand that his permit to continue in business hangs by a single hair and that beneath it is the fire of public opinion as represented by the honest men of our board of Councilmen and that just so sure as our laws and ordinances are violated literally or in spirit that just so soon that single hair will break and into the fire of public wrath will fall his license to be destroyed beyond recovery then or ever after."

It having come to the knowledge of some of the protestants that an effort would be made to establish a saloon at West Front street and Clinton avenue, Arthur M. Harris presented a petition signed by 184 employes of the Saurer Motor Works, a branch of the International Motor Company, protesting against the granting of a license at that place.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, representing the Plainfield Ministers' Association, pertinently remarked that he was a resident, a legal voter and a taxpayer in Plainfield. Referring to statistics, Dr. Anderson said that 80 per cent. of the crime in this country is the result of alcoholism, 75 per cent. of pauperism and 55 per cent. of lunacy is due to the drink

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Monday is the day fixed by the Senate for taking a final vote on the much-discussed Sheppard-Kenyon bill prohibiting shipments of liquor into States where prohibition laws are in effect.

Hearings in the suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation are to be resumed Monday. The Government has practically concluded its introduction of evidence. The corporation will now present its side of the case. Among its witnesses probably will be Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation; James A. Farrell, president, and Henry C. Frick and other of the directors.

The two houses of Congress will meet in joint session in the hall of the House on Wednesday for the purpose of counting the electoral votes and formally declaring the election of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall as President and Vice President, respectively.

Monday morning is the time set for the start of the suffragists from New York city on their "hike" to Washington. The marchers expect to arrive in the capital on March 1, in time to participate in the great suffragist parade and demonstration to be held on the eve of the inauguration of President Wilson.

Wednesday, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, will be observed as usual in many parts of the country. One of the most notable features of the celebration will be the dedication of Lincoln Hall, a magnificent building erected at the University of Illinois as a memorial to Lincoln.

Progressive leaders from all parts of the country will attend the Lincoln Birthday banquet at the Hotel Astor in New York city. Colonel Roosevelt and former Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, will be the principal speakers.

Missouri Republicans will hold a banquet in Kansas City, with Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, as the chief speaker. Baron Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, will speak at the banquet of the Lincoln Memorial Association in Springfield, Ill., and Senator Borah, of Idaho, will be heard at a similar gathering in Baltimore.

The late Vice President James S. Sherman will be honored by memorial services in the Senate Saturday. President Taft, his cabinet and a large number of distinguished people will attend.

Michigan Republicans will hold a State convention at Lansing Tuesday to name candidates for the supreme court bench and minor State officers to be voted for at the spring election.

Brig. Gen. James Allen, chief signal officer of the army, will reach the age limit for active service Thursday. On the same day Rear Admiral Joseph B. Murdock will be retired from the navy on account of age.

Other events of the week will include the scheduled meetings of the American and National baseball leagues in New York city, the meeting of the legislative assemblies in Alberta and Nova Scotia, and a special convention of Queen's University, at Kingston, Ont., to confer the honorary degree of LL. D. on the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

William Collier, in "Never Say Die," at William A. Brady's Forty-eighth Street Theatre, is enjoying more widespread favor than in any of his previous New York engagements. It now seems highly probable that the actor will not desert his present surroundings before the arrival of May. Indeed, his stay may be extended considerably beyond that point, dependent upon the outcome of negotiations with Sir Charles Wyndham looking toward a London spring and summer season for Mr. Collier and his entire supporting company in the current comedy. The spectators at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre fully occupy the seating accommodations of the audience room.

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER A BRIDE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—St. John's church was the scene of the first Lenten wedding of the season today, when Miss Jean Oliver, daughter of Senator George T. Oliver, of Pennsylvania, became the bride of Lieut. Commander Edward McCauley, Jr., of the United States Navy. Naval uniform lent brilliancy to the wedding.

The Classified Advertisements

in the Plainfield Daily Press are result-producers and the best investment for the price paid. They cost one cent a word undisplayed and cover the entire field—Wants, to let, for sale, board, furnished rooms, real estate exchanges, automobiles, etc. Strict supervision is given to admit only those that are unobjectionable. A ten-cent advertisement has often closed a transaction that has amounted to hundreds of dollars. Property-owners who are seeking the best paying tenants or those who have money to buy real estate; business men who want help above the average; manufacturers who are looking for skilled labor; housewives who want to reach competent help for their homes—these and others will find the logical medium. Experience aplenty has proven that the Daily Press supplies the best help, secures the best tenants and makes the best sales of real estate and other needs. It goes among its readers in the evening when there is time to consider the subject properly; it is read by a class of people who want and seek the best.

There are vacant rooms and desirable real estate that would bring owners quick returns if advertised in the Daily Press and hundreds of small businesses could be economically and resultfully advertised at one cent a word.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 1, 1913.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. William R. Causbrook, division manager of the Public Service Corporation, is the contributing editor today.

THE RELATION BETWEEN THE MODERN UTILITIES CORPORATION AND THE PEOPLE IT SERVES.

In a discussion of the subject of the relations between a public utility company and the public it serves there is much to be said on both sides. Obviously, the company's chief purpose is to render service for by giving service it lives and justifies its existence. Obviously, also, it is to the public's interest no less so than to the company's to have the service rendered as efficient as it is possible to make it. While it is true that efficient service makes for increased business for the company, it is at the same time one of the most potent factors in the upbuilding of a community and nets actual returns of a public character by contributing to the desirableness of a locality as a place of residence. How many persons, for instance, would care to invest in home sites where there was no available water supply? How much demand would there be for building lots, or houses, or apartments if gas or electricity were not to be had for lighting or for fuel, and how large a population would Plainfield have today if there were no such transportation facilities as are supplied by the street railway and the steam road?

It follows, that while the utility company owes it to its patrons and to the community in which it does business, to give proper service at reasonable rates, it is equally true that the company is entitled to that measure of consideration from patrons and municipal authorities which will help develop rather than diminish its usefulness; which will save it from the imposition of unfair burdens or inequitable conditions that make the rendering of service more difficult and which will, in a word, promote cordial co-operation between community and company for the very good reason that their interests lie along parellel lines.

Next in importance to service, or actually a part of it, in considering the relations of a utility company and the public, comes the element of courtesy. In the every day affairs of life, courtesy is regarded as an evidence of good manners. In business, generally, courtesy is one of the important elements that make for success. In the relations between a public utility company and the people it serves, courtesy is essential for the inspiration and fostering of that feeling of confidence, that manifestation of good will on the part of the public, without which the most sincere and persistent efforts are likely to fall short of fruition. In the realm of business, good will is recognized everywhere as an asset of greater or less value, and good will is never freely bestowed where confidence is wanting. It follows, therefore, that confidence is the foundation of good will, and it may be added that it constitutes the very bed rock upon which the whole structure of trade, of buying and selling, of barter and exchange has been erected in enduring form.

It is not the purpose of the writer to delve into the history of the relations of the public and the public utility companies of years gone by, for purposes of either condemnation or defense. Although we do not close our eyes to facts, such reflections belong to the yesterdays that are beyond recall. We must cope with the conditions of today and strive to intelligently plan for better things for the tomorrows yet to come. We believe that much progress has been made during recent years in the promotion of mutual friendliness between the utility company and the public. At the same time we must acknowledge that the conditions are not ideal. We know that prejudice exists in the minds of many, and be that prejudice well-founded or not, we feel it to be the duty to make an honest effort to seek out the cause and, so far as it lies in our power, to apply a remedy.

How best shall we proceed? Where an evil exists the surest way of eradicating it is by removing its source. And dissatisfied customers, even though they be relatively few in number, must be regarded as an evil, and from the standpoint of sound business principles the causes of dissatisfaction should, if possible, be eliminated.

Where dissatisfaction exists among the patrons of a utility company, it is not due infrequently to a lack of conception on the part of the consumer, of the difficulties confronting the company in giving service. In other cases it is attributable to the failure of some employe to observe the rules laid down for his guidance or to the withholding of the attention and consideration which should be shown every patron of the company at all times and under all circumstances.

That there should be misconception of a utility company's purposes and a lack of knowledge of a utility company's problem is perhaps not remarkable. For years the public mind has seemed to cherish the notion that a utility company's business is enveloped in a veil of mystery. This may be due to the fact that the community in which a utility company deals is more or less intangible in character. The goods bought cannot be examined or compared like other merchandise. They cannot be exchanged. At all events the average consumer has shown little inclination to penetrate this mythical veil of mystery and if one has had a grievance he has nursed it until very often it developed into deep-seated resentment. Nor did the companies in former years do much to discourage or correct this trend of the public mind.

But the old order of things has passed. Utility companies under more enlightened management are today cultivating public good will by giving the best possible service and the widest publicity to all of their affairs. The company the writer has the honor of representing has taken a position on advanced ground along these lines and is endeavoring to impress upon its employes the necessity of gaining the confidence of the individual consumer. For, after all, it is not the company which comes into close personal touch with the customer. It is the company's employes. They are the points of contact. As a result, the customer does not judge the company by itself, nor yet by its officers and directors; he judges it by the employes he meets and through whom he has his dealings with the company; by the solicitor, the clerk and the operating man.

There is nothing extraordinary in this effect of personal contact on the public mind. The consumer does not give thought to the problems of production or the complexities of distribution. These are to him as things apart. But he sees, hears and knows the treatment he is accorded by a company's representative. If the employes are courteous, patient, tactful and dignified the patron forms a favorable impression of the company and is well pleased. On the other hand, if a customer is treated discourteously, his inquiries met with curt responses, his complaints ignored, he blames the company for the shortcomings of the employe although the company has no knowledge of his particular case. Such a customer is not only dissatisfied himself, but, as a rule, he gives vent to his feelings among his friends and acquaintances, indulging in criticism which is often harmful and which is the very thing every well-conducted company is seeking to avoid.

It may be difficult at times to retain one's patience, but the employe must bear in mind that although he is one of the instruments by which the company is judged, he is not the company, and he should guard his words and govern his actions accordingly. If a customer comes forward with a complaint, he should be treated courteously. A reasonable explanation will appease a reasonable person every time. And most persons are reasonable. If conditions are to be remedied there should be prompt action. Complaints are the surface indications of dissatisfaction. Dissatisfaction is the forerunner of attacks. Attacks may be avoided by the use of tact. Courtesy is not only one of the essential elements of tact; it is the basis of the ordinary amenities of life. Ethically it is demanded of us in all our relations with each other. Commercially, it pays. For courtesy begets confidence, confidence prompts good will and good will leads inevitably to more business and a satisfied public.

W. R. CAUSBROOK.

Campbell Bannerman to Mrs. Pankhurst, "Come out into the open and be counted—agitate, and then agitate."

Miss Jones concluded her remarks with an appeal for walkers on the proposed march to Washington. They are to leave New York city at 9 a. m. on Lincoln's Birthday, reach Newark at 10 a. m., Elizabeth for luncheon, then Metuchen for the night. On the 13th they go to New Brunswick for luncheon and reach Princeton Inn for the night. On to Trenton on the 14th, they visit the Legislature, then proceed to Philadelphia by way of Burlington and Chester and so on to Washington. Miss Jones begs for walkers to join them if only for an hour a day along the route. There were several responses from the audience.

Before introducing Miss Jones, Mrs. Champlain Riley, president of the local league, spoke of the regret of the local league that another meeting, of interest to so many who were present, had been planned for the same evening, and to provide for those who were interested in the question being discussed before the Common Council at the High School Auditorium, Dr. Edward Kranz would present a petition to be circulated for signatures amongst the audience before the meeting should begin. The petition was in the form of a protest to the Council against the proposed extension of the so-called "Tyler License Zone" in this city, and the granting of any additional licenses. It was sent to the Common Council this morning.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, author of the excellent pamphlet on Suffrage, was the second speaker of the evening and made a most interesting and convincing address. It was interspersed with anecdotes and witticisms that kept the audience greatly amused and interested. He agreed with Miss Jones' idea of advertising aand quoted the saying, "If you've got something good, bring it to the front." The marching suffragists are attracting attention to a great cause in a way that gives no one but themselves any discomfort, and they believe in their cause enough to endure hardships for it. He referred to the antis' oft-quoted bit of sentiment, "Woman's place is the home," and added to it Jane Addams' completion, "To protect the home, get the ballot."

Dr. Saunders took, one by one, the well-known anti-suffrage arguments and showed conclusively the falsity of statement, the illogicality of them. To the woman who says she has no time to understand the question of voting he says: "If you have time to read Shakespeare or current literature, why can you not read history and current events? It takes practically one hour a year to vote, and you have the rest of the year to study the subject in. Politics is the groundwork of the home."

"When women vote, men will take more interest. Out of 22,000,000 voters who registered in the U. S. in 1908 only 14,800,000 voted. Whereas in one of the suffrage States the women polled 95 per cent. of their registered vote. Massachusetts and Colorado have often been compared by the antis who say that the suffrage State is not ahead of the older sister in the passing of the Equal Guardian Law, but it took Massachusetts 55 years to do what Colorado did in one year after it got the women's vote."

Dr. Saunders spoke of Dr. Sumner's investigations in Colorado, which proved that equal suffrage had purified politics. In connection, he spoke of his personal experience in his large business where disorder was constantly reported in a large department where many young men were employed. He tried putting in a new manager, but the result was many black eyes, and more disorder. Then he introduced a few women clerks against the men, and since that time there has been perfect order in the department.

Dr. Saunders said that the old complaint of disorder at the polls would cease when women went to them. He concluded his remarks by saying that wherever equal suffrage had been tried it had spread to nearby countries or states. It constantly gained ground, showing that it grew in favor, with advancing civilization. He also said that changed business conditions required woman's vote. There are 20,000 families in New York city alone, supported by women. "The country belongs to the people. Aren't women people?" he asked.

MISSION BAND MEETING.

The Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. E. Smith, on Central avenue, and spent the time making pin cushions for the girl's school at Annville, Ky. Mrs. Corra Ryno, president, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff conducted the devotional exercises. During the afternoon Mrs. Smith and her daughter, Miss Helen Smith, served tea.

"A Vision of the Conquering Christ," will be the subject of Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring's discourse at the First Presbyterian church, tomorrow morning and in the evening his theme will be "A Clear Conscience."

PUPILS' MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I shall feel obliged to you if you will alow me to state for the benefit of your readers that the forthcoming school "Musical Festival" at Westfield will be a success only in so far as it is able to attract to its doors the parents and friends of the pupils attending our public schools. Those who have engaged in this enterprise have done so with a sincere hope that the results may be very beneficial to the cause in which they are enlisted.

The festival is to be held on Monday, February 10, in the Westfield Playhouse, which is quite near the depot. The grammar grades are to sing in the afternoon at 2:15 and the High School at 8:15 in the evening. Those who attend will have an opportunity of giving moral support to our young people who will be singing in another town and in addition will be able to obtain first hand information of the musical work of the public schools in this part of the State.

Tickets are 25 cents and may be obtained at the library of the Somerset Street School, North Plainfield. To insure every facility for obtaining tickets through the courtesy of Mr Wise, I have left a few tickets at the Borough Drug Store and hope the public will avail themselves of them this week.

Thanking you in anticipation for the insertion of this letter, I remain,

Yours very truly,
HERBERT LLOYD,
Supervisor of Music, North Plainfield Public Schools.

ANNOUNCE

An Extraordinary Selling Monday

$57,000 Worth of SILVERWARE for $32,000

An Event of Even Greater Opportunities Than Our Famous Sale of the Retail Stock of the 5th Avenue Store of the Mauser Company, Just a Year Ago

After we had made the wonderful and unprecedented record, the report of which stirred up the trade all over the continent last year, we knew that we should have work to do to meet the selling figures this year. So we started, months ago, to assemble the special merchandise for the occasion that begins Monday. The result shows what determined effort can do when aided by the great manufacturers who supply our year-round stocks.

We have secured an assemblage of STERLING SILVER TABLEWARE which in points of newness and assortment actually EXCELS the collection of a year ago—and the VALUES ARE BETTER.

We secured from the well-known silversmiths, Simpson, Hall, Miller & Co., a beautiful pattern in STERLING SILVER KNIVES, FORKS and SPOONS, to sell at a quarter to a third below regular prices.

We secured about $9,000 worth of William Rogers' fine plated Knives, Forks, Spoons and Serving Pieces, to sell for $4,852.

From other sources we secured STERLING SILVER NOVELTIES, PICTURE FRAMES and JEWELRY; also a fine collection of STERLING SILVER DEPOSIT WARE and Imported Parisian Ivory CLOCKS.

In all, the culmination of a supreme effort to do a greater piece of merchandising than was accomplished by last year's tremendous success.

This means that those who have Wedding or Anniversary Gifts to buy this Spring may select from an extaordinary assortment and secure A HALF MORE in intrinsic value, or PAY A THIRD LESS than they will pay later for the same things. Or, in many instances PAY ONLY ONE-HALF the real value of the Silverware secured. The ENTIRE MAIN AISLE and many special counters elsewhere on the Main floor will be devoted to the vast exhibition that is presented by these beautiful and valuable collections of Silverware. We will ENGRAVE, WITHOUT CHARGE, every piece of sterling silver purchased in this Sale.

STERLING SILVER TABLE WARE

A variety of pieces for the table from one of the foremost manufacturers of sterling silver in the country, at a saving of one-quarter to one-third. About $10,000 worth of our own Table Ware, which we have marked down to make this the biggest Silver Sale ever held in New York. Savings will be one-third to one-half.

BROADWAY NEW YORK THIRTY-THIRD ST.

SOME STRAY TOPICS FRESH FROM GOTHAM

New York, February 8.—Considering the fact that the Americans have a universal reputation for being guided in their actions by considerations and motives of the most practical and matter-of-fact character, it is surprising what a lot of sentiment is wasted upon a man like Gen. Sickles, who, after a brilliant and honorable career in the service of his country, stultified himself by disgracing and dishonoring himself for the sake of a woman—not even his wife. It is difficult to understand the causes of deterioration which have marred the life of the General. Students of human nature are wondering whether there had always been a yellow streak in the General's character or whether it developed only when senility began to weaken his power of resistance. However that may have been, Gen. Sickles succeeded in making a horrible mess of it. No amount of charitable disposition toward the old man could ever obliterate the fact that he was guilty of flagrant dishonesty when he misappropriated a large sum of money which had been entrusted to him. What makes his sin even blacker is the fact that he betrayed the trust placed in him by those who had believed in him and had honored him for the faithful service which he had rendered to his country.

[illegible] may try to find excuses for the General [illegible] the case, but the fact remains that his act was one of dishonesty not alone according to the interpretation by the law but in the judgment of all fair-minded persons. The violation of a trust is a heinous offence and those guilty of it ill deserve the hysterical sympathy which has been so wantonly wasted upon Gen. Sickles.

For a long time it has been felt that there was something radically wrong with the school system of New York city, but nobody seemed to be able to locate the seat and the cause of the trouble. Finally the Board of Estimate took the bull by the horns and appointed an investigating committee which employed experts to study the matter with a view of ascertaining the defects of the present system. The first of the reports of the experts submitted to the committee was that of Dr. Edward C. Elliott, director of the School of Education of the University of Wisconsin. The report is undoubtedly interesting and contains some valuable pointers. Dr. Elliott recommends the abolition of the Board of Superintendents and a number of changes in the administrative system of the schools. It remains to be seen, however, what the other experts have to say upon the subject. It would be a decided [illegible] if the experts should agree in their opinions in this respect [illegible] of the existing [illegible] school system, without taking into account the [illegible] of the problem [illegible]

When Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions the other day sentenced Pasquale Poliarti to one year in the penitentiary and a fine of $500 after the prisoner had pleaded guilty to a brutal assault upon his stepchild, a boy about one year old, he expressed regret that the law did not deal more severely with such brutes as the prisoner. He emphatically voiced the sentiments of everyone present in the courtroom. Testimony showed that the prisoner had been in the habit of beating the baby with the buckle end of a heavy belt whenever the little fellow cried and that on one occasion he had even bitten the cheek of the little fellow.

If John E. Borne, a former member of the Produce Exchange and the Consolidated Exchange of this city had died six hours later than he did his widow would have been made poorer by $10,190. Borne died on July 11, 1910, at 11:30 a. m. at the Garden City Hotel in Garden City, L. I. About six hours later Governor Hughes signed a bill which materially changed the inheritance tax laws. As Borne died before the new law became effective, the courts decided that his estate, which is estimated at about $350,000, was subject only to a tax of one per cent. as fixed by the old law. Under the old law the tax was $3,473, while under the new law the tax would have been $13,639.

The agitation against the "white slave" traffic has received a powerful stimulus recently and it is hoped that something will be done to prevent future recurrence to this disgraceful and nefarious practice. A [illegible] study of the "white slave" traffic in this city collected material, ascertained that there were about 26,000 "white slaves" in New York city, who were "owned" by about 6,100 men. The same investigator testified before the Curran investigating committee that he knew of 105 disorderly houses harboring "white slaves" which were allowed by the police to exist without interference, because they paid blackmail to the police.

The other day a man was arraigned in the Special Sessions court at Jamaica, L. I., upon the charge of having stolen three loaves of bread. The prisoner admitted the theft but stated that at the time he was out of work and had no money to buy food for his starving wife and children. It appeared from the testimony in the case that a police inspector, passing in his automobile, had witnessed the theft and had sent a policeman to arrest the thief. When the policeman learned that the man's family was starving and utterly destitute he immediately started a subscription for money, food and clothing for the family of the man, before he arrested the latter and took him to the police station. Sentence in the case was suspended by the Justice.

Rather unusual were the arguments with which Horace Fisch of Camden, N. J., opposed the demand for alimony made by his wife who is suing him for divorce. Mr. Fisch said he had been compelled to leave his wife, because she had such long and sharp fingernails and scratched him so that he found it impossible to live with her. Strange to say, Mrs. Fisch did not deny the allegation made by her husband and it was shown that [illegible] with a good [illegible] application for alimony was denied by the Vice Chancellor.

PFAFF SLATED FOR ELECTION BOARD JOB

Frank J. Pfaff, of Elizabeth, is expected to be recommended for appointment to the County Board of Elections to succeed Robert H. McAdams. Mr. Pfaff is assistant sergeant at arms of the Assembly at the present time. He has always been an active Democrat.

Mr. Pfaff was born in Elizabeth February 22, 1884, and was educated in St. Michael's parochial school, Seton Hall College, and the New York Law School. He graduated from the latter institution in 1905, and became an attorney at the New Jersey bar in 1907. He was made counsellor in 1910. His offices are in the National State Bank Building, Elizabeth. He studied law in the offices of ex-Judge Gilhooly.

MISS REID ENTERTAINS SCHOOLMATES AT PARTY

Miss Martha Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, of Leland avenue, entertained about eighteen of her friends last night at her home in honor of her eighteenth birthday. The evening was spent in playing games and Miss Elizabeth Neimeyer of Elizabeth, rendered several pleasing vocal and piano solos.

At midnight, Mrs. Reid, mother of the hostesss, served a light luncheon. Those who were present at the party were the Misses Martha Reid, Jeanie Reid, Margaret Burnhardt, Lillian Bolton, Ariadna Bicknell, Mary Bicknell, Mattie Viebrook, Marie Viebrook, Elizabeth Neimeyer and William Banks, Ernest Banks, "Chris" Itzinger, Alfred Korff, Roy Adams, Louis Van Zandt, Preston Dunning and Frank Dunning.

CONSOLATION PRIZE FOR G. O. P. STATE CHAIRMAN

Trenton, Feb. 8.—In testimonial of his services as Republican State Chairman during the last campaign, former State Senator Edmund W. Wakelee, of Bergen county, was tendered a dinner in the Hotel Windsor here last evening under the auspices of the Republican State Committee. He was given a handsome gold lined silver loving cup about fifteen inches high suitably inscribed. About one hundred Republicans were present from various sections of the State. Among those present from Union county were former United States Senator John Kean, County Chairman Frank H. Smith, former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, Roger F. Murray, Donald McLean, former Deputy Supreme Court Clerk Charles N. Codding, Paul Q. Oliver, R. S. Huse, William R. Townsend and John H. Cose.

A boom was launched for Wakelee for the gubernatorial nomination—this is no joke. One of his characteristic messages was received from President Taft.

WICKERSHAM STILL AFTER OIL AND TOBACCO TRUSTS

[illegible] Washington, Feb. 8.—Attorney General Wickersham is getting [illegible] the trust [illegible] possible of [illegible] First [illegible] that he and [illegible] an opinion. He does not [illegible] to be able to [illegible] at the new Attorney General's [illegible] assistant legatee of [illegible] prosecution. There is considerable speculation in Congress as to whether he will, in the present investigation of conditions in the oil trade take the wind out of the new administration's sails in this matter. There has been wide and unfavorable comment among congressmen over the pronounced rise in the price of crude oil since the dissolution of the trust and a number of congressmen are waiting for the new session to open.

With a friendly partisan administration in power to propose searching investigation of the conditions, either through the department of Justice or by a committee of Congress if necessary, the tobacco business will also be looked into to get a reason for the increase in profits and market value of stocks of companies that once formed part of the trust. It is possible that Mr. Wickersham may forestall these impending Democratic efforts, however, and reveal the conditions, leaving to the next administration the problem of remedying them and everybody admits that will be problem too.

There is nothing too much for some of the radicals in Congress to attempt and they say that as a last resort there is always the power of the government to seize coal and mineral bearing lands and operate them for the people if necessary. The law of eminent domain still is existent, the radicals point out, and government ownership yet has its advantages while such suggestions may seem strange, it must not be forgotten that radicalism will be strongly represented both in the new Congress, Senate as well as House, and in the executive branch.

MUHLENBERG BREAKS OPERATIONS' RECORD

One Hundred and Fourteen Performed During Month of January.

The monthly reports of work done at Muhlenberg Hospital for the month of January show that all previous records for operations performed at the institution were broken. There were 114 operations in January. There is not a vacant bed in the hospital.

The statistics for the month of January follow: Patients remaining in the hospital first of month, 25; patients admitted during the month, 107; total patients treated during the month, 132; patients discharged, 81; patients remaining at end of month, 51.

In the wards there were 672 free days or 49 per cent.; 648 pay days or 34 per cent.; 11 pay isolation ward days, and 13 free isolation ward days. In the private rooms 224 days, or 16 per cent. There were 110 patients treated in the dispensary, a total of 220 visits.

The total number of patients treated in all departments was 242. There were 114 operations performed in the hospital. The ambulance responded to thirteen calls during the month.

The present capacity of the hospital irrespective of the isolation building, is fifty beds. Since the first of February there has been an average of fifty-five patients a day in the hospital.

OFFICE-HUNGRY ONES SEEK HETFIELD'S SCALP

A bill has made its appearance in the Legislature which would remove assistant prosecutors from civil service and leave the way clear for former Mayor Stein, who has just been appointed prosecutor by Governor Wilson, to name a successor to Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.

Until a short time ago it was generally believed that as soon as the new prosecutor was appointed he would name an assistant. It was discovered, however, that Mr. Hetfield was protected under civil service and could not be removed for political reasons.

The fact that civil service figures in the assistant prosecutorship has not, however, put a damper on the ambitions of the Democratic lawyers who would like to serve with the new prosecutor. Fred C. Hyer, of Rahway, who was considered in the first list of possibilities for judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and James P. Kelley, of Elizabeth, who was the Democratic nominee for surrogate at the last election, are considered as very likely candidates.

Some of the Elizabeth Democrats believe that the appointment, if it is possible to bust Mr. Hetfield, should go to a Democratic lawyer outside of Elizabeth. Others, however, believe there are local Democrats amply qualified for the position who deserve some consideration at the hands of Mr. Stein.

The two assistant prosecutors in [illegible] intention of resigning when the Democratic prosecutor is appointed, but Mr. Hetfield's friends are against his doing this action.

John B. Walsh, of Summit, has been mentioned as a candidate for assistant prosecutor if the office should become vacant during Mr. Stein's term as prosecutor, but his chances are not considered good. If it should be decided to appoint an Elizabeth man to the position, friends of Harry Weiner and Jeremiah A. Kiernan have said that these two men would become candidates.

"THE CONVERSION."

The quartet choir of the First M. E. church, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist, will give the oratorio "The Conversion," at the evening service tomorrow. The music is by Harry Alexander Matthews and the words selected by Rev. Francis Yarnell. The music offers an excellent opportunity for all four voices.

K. OF P. EUCHRE.

Members of Perseverence Lodge, K. of P., No. 74, acted as hosts at a sociable held in the lodge rooms in the Babcock building last night. At the conclusion of the business meeting, the members and their wives engaged in a euchre in which four prizes were offered. The women's prizes were won by Miss Van Fleet and Mrs. T. H. LaTourette while [illegible] Peter Hansen captured the men's honors.

MR. [illegible] TO SPEAK.

[illegible] principal of the North Plainfield High School will address the Men's Bible Class of the Trinity Reformed church [illegible] Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All men are cordially invited to attend.

WIDOW ADOPTS THREE POOR LITTLE ONES

In Granting Custody, Judge Case Discusses the Seriousness of the Matter.

Somerville, Feb. 8.—Judge Green, of Flemington, resided at the opening of the regular weekly session of the Somerset county court yesterday. Julius J. Casardi of Somerville, asked to have the saloon license of Cornelius Dickey, of Raritan, transferred to him. It was granted.

A representative of a children's home, at Trenton, made application for the custody of three children of a Mrs. [illegible], residing near Bound Brook. The mother declared she is unable to care for the children. The woman had been found living in a shack near the mountains, back of Bound Brook, and neighbors had notified the representatives of the children's home of the circumstances. Judge Case, before signing the papers, said that the adoption of children was a very serious matter and made a very searching examination of the several witnesses, and also minutely questioned the oldest girl.

Vincent Maconi, of Bound Brook, pleaded guilty, on allegation to the charge of committing an assault upon a small child at that place. He was unable to speak English, and the services of an interpreter were necessary. He was sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory. He is twenty-two years old.

MISS SPENCER ENTERTAINS CARD CLUB AT HER HOME

Miss Lillian Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Spencer, of Lincoln place, entertained the North Plainfield Card Club at her home last night. About sixteen members of the club were present and Marcus Waldron, of Califon, was the guest. Mr. Waldron formerly lived in the borough and is now visiting friends here. The evening was spent in playing "500," whist, and other games. At a late hour, Mrs. Spencer, mother of the hostess, served light refreshments.

Those who were present were the Misses Aleta Spencer, Roberta Spencer, Lillian Spencer, Elizabeth Hillpot, Ethel Hillpot, Sabine Cowley, Gertrude King and Lester Chandler, Carroll Taylor, Duclos Van Mater, Ralph Smalley, Newton Spencer, Harold Woolston, Hart Terrington, Ashley Burner and Marcus Waldron.

BIG TRAVEL FESTIVAL AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

To realize the limitations of language it is necessary to spend an hour or two at Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which is announced for this afternoon and evening at the Plainfield theatre. These pictures given at the theatre last night attracted a capacity audience and all marveled at the wonderful motion views taken in various parts of the world.

The program includes: Simplon Tunnel, jellyfish of the Mediterranean, trapping monkeys, a ride over the Niagara Gorge railroad, picturesque Holland, building a New York skyscraper, "The Path Chair Man," La Granja, Spain; new artillery and military maneuvres, "the Milan Cathedral, a few Paris fashions, "The Haunted House," a little journey to Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana; "A Foot of Absurdity;" bird studies, "A Thrilling Escape from Ferocious Lions," dynamiting a mountain; "Paris in a Hurry."

HELP, HELP, HELP.

In response to a telephone call, Captain Frederickson, of police headquarters, sent several policemen to the home of George Dishorough, 119 Crescent avenue, last night, in search of burglars supposed to be working about the house. An investigation disclosed the fact that a strong wind from an open window had blown a gas lamp from a table, the noise of which had frightened the women into the belief that burglars were in the house. No trace of such individuals could be found.

DOCTORS AS HOSTS.

The Plainfield Medical Society entertained the Plainfield Dental Society at "The Homestead," Park Place and Washington avenue, Thursday night, the guests of the medical society being served by Mrs. Johnson. Dr. H. D. Corbusier presided at the meeting that followed and Dr. C. B. Lufburrow was temporary secretary in the absence of Dr. N. W. C. Fiske. Dr. A. PROTEST AGAINST LICENSES habits of the speaker then cited two personal cases where he had seen men come from saloons in a staggering condition, and if the Council wanted additional evidence he could furnish it. He presented a set of resolutions adopted by the association he represented, protesting against giving a license to Christian Gloekler, Alexander D. Findlay or granting any new licenses.

On behalf of the Y. M. C. A., of which he is president, James E. Kimball made a strong plea in the interest of the boys and young men of the city that no further temptation be placed in their path by licensing additional places. J. W. Harrison produced many statistics to show how drink had affected the armies of England, France and Germany. Thomas G. Vail, as president of the Westfield Civic Association offered resolutions in protest against granting a license to Christian Gloekler especially, and against granting any new applications. He remarked on the improved conditions at Front and Somerset streets, where it is now safe for women and children to stand while waiting for the trolley.

Former Councilman W. S. Tyler said that he wanted to emphasize one point which seemed to have been overlooked by other speakers, explaining that he represented no one but himself. He said that trust is confided to the Council, that of precedent, which is of long and good standing. He asked the members of the Council to read the city charter, which says that the Council has the exclusive right to regulate the sale of liquors and may grant licenses so far as in their judgment it may be conducive to the public good. In his opinion it would be a breach of trust to grant additional licenses as it cannot be shown to be for the public good, and beside liquor dealers are granted a license for one year at a time and have no right to expect it will be for a longer period.

Recalling the time in 1897 when a vote was taken to determine whether the people favored licenses or not, Harry C. Runyon explained that under the conditions of that vote many persons did not know how they were voting; they did not understand. Many ballots were in favor, where the voter wanted to express his opinion against the proposition. Out of 1,573 votes cast, 817 were for licenses and 756 against. In Mr. Runyon's opinion there was no urgent demand for additional saloons, the present places being able to supply the demand. He thought the Council would eventually allow the people to vote as to whether they wanted licenses or not at a special election.

Reuben Knox, representing the Mt Olive Baptist church, concluded the argument of the evening in a dramatic manner, as he made a strong attack against Clark Brothers' saloon and the renewal of its license. Calling Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughn, pastor of the church, to the front of the auditorium, he asked the audience whether he looked like a person that would tell an untruth or falsify a statement. He briefly touched upon conditions about the saloon in question, adding that he had laid before the license committee evidence against the saloon which it was not possible for him to even relate to the audience. He said that he was against Clark's saloon "first, last and always until his dying day." He said that he had placed in the hands of the city clerk two affidavits, one by Dr. Vaughn and another by the church clerk, N. J. Pollard, showing why this license should not be granted. Mr. Knox said in the name of humanity and common decency he begged the Council not to grant a license to John Clark, a man who could be indicted for maintaining a common nuisance.

Isaac Houston, the last speaker, made a general protest against granting any additional licenses. Mr. Clay then informed the audience that careful consideration would be given to all the arguments before acting on the license applications Monday night.

A PICTORIAL LIFE OF LINCOLN GIVEN AWAY

It is always a pity to lose sight of the real significance of our national holidays. To the true patriot they should mean more than days of idleness and pleasure and in commemorating the birthdays of our nation's heroes some thought should be devoted to the lives of those great men from whose service and sacrifice we are reaping the benefit today. If, therefore, you find that your recollections of the life of Abraham Lincoln whose birthday will be celebrated on February 12, are growing dim, call at the Plainfield Trust Company and ask for a copy of the pictorial life of Lincoln which they are distributing without charge to their depositors and friends. On the cover is a large portrait suitable for framing, in addition to which there are reproductions of many other photographs, together with old wood cuts portraying incidents in his early life and public career and pictures of Lincoln memorials and relics now extant.

The Plainfield Trust Company will be very glad to have the teachers and scholars in our schools, or anyone else who cares to do so, avail themselves of its offer.

ACCUSED BY CONTESTANTS

their mother under their grandmother's will, which, they charge, was destroyed by Mr. Garth. They allege that the second Mrs. Garth took their grandfather, who was mentally and physically infirm, all over the country, and influenced him to disinherit them. Mr. and Mrs. Garth had just returned from California when Mr. Garth died.

The contestants assert that throughout Westchester county their grandfather was known as a man easily influenced by any designing person, and particularly subject to cajolery, that he suffered from hallucinations and believed himself to be the wealthiest man in the United States. They say their mother died from a broken heart because of the cruel treatment which she received from her father, who, at the age of seventy-three, turned against her upon becoming enamored by Mrs. Lutz.

Mr. Garth, who amassed a fortune as a tobacco merchant in New York and retired from business in 1880, left to Mrs. Lillie P. Garth the greater part of his estate. Of the residue $100,000 was bequeathed to each of three grandchildren—Mrs. Margaret B. Cowan, David Garth Bokee and Charles Garth, all of Louisville, Ky. Other beneficiaries under the will are the New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital, the American Bible Society, the Children's Aid Society of New York city and the White Plains Hospital Association. Dr. Clopton and Wyeth Clopton were cut off with $5,000 each.

The case will be tried in March in White Plains where the will was probated on Oct. 25, 1912.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHEESE FONDUES.

THE old idea that cheese is very hard to digest has been exploded, and now even government cooking experts are advising us that cheese combined with other foods makes the latter more nutritious. Cheese fondues are dishes in which melted cheese is a constituent. If they are baked it is a good idea to send them to the table right in the baking dish.

Well tried recipes for some of these fondues are the following:

Nutritious Fare.

Plain Cheese Fondu.—Take a cupful and a third of soft stale breadcrumbs, one and one-half cupfuls of grated cheese, four eggs, one cupful of hot water, one-half teaspoonful of salt.

Mix the water, breadcrumbs, salt and cheese. Add the beaten yolks. Into this mixture fold the whites of eggs, beaten until stiff. Pour into a buttered baking dish and cook thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once.

Boiled Cheese Fondu.—Take a cupful and a half each of cheese which has been broken into small pieces, breadcrumbs and milk, one egg, two tablespoonfuls of butter and six ounces of cracker crumbs. Soak the bread and milk. Melt the butter and add the cheese. When the cheese has melted add the soaked crumbs, the eggs, slightly beaten, and the seasoning. Cook a short time and serve on toasted crackers.

Served With Toast.

Rice and Cheese Fondu.—Take a cupful each of grated cheese and boiled rice, four eggs, three tablespoonfuls of milk, a half teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of some meat sauce. Heat the rice in the milk and cook slowly, adding the other ingredients. When the cheese is melted it is done. This may be served on crackers or toast.

Rich Fondu.—Take a pound of cheese and grate or chop it fine. Put in a saucepan with one tablespoonful of butter, a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, one teaspoonful of tomato ketchup, a half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, two well beaten eggs and a half cupful of cream. Stand over a slow fire and stir until the cheese is melted. Pour at once over thin slices of hot toast and serve on hot plates.

STYLE HINTS.

Skirts Buttoned Entirely Down the Back Latest Fashion Caper.

Skirts buttoned all the way down the back are the latest caper of fashion. An evening gown worn at a large reception recently had one of these skirts. The gown was of pale yellow satin charmeuse, the sides of the skirt being lifted in slightly draped effect at the hip and passing under the broad panel which formed back and train. This back panel was buttoned down the center with small buttons of the yellow satin set closely together and the line of buttons extended from the waist line to the end of the train. The satin skirt was draped up over bodice of yellow chiffon, and yellow satin buttoned boots and long embroidered gloves of pale yellow silk completed the costume.

No frock seems better suited to playtime or school wear than the one made with bloomers to match. The little frock pictured is of this cult and is both smart and practical.

FADS AND FASHION IN NEW YORK TOWN

New York, Feb. 8.—At the beginning of the fall season of last year some of the writers on fashion made the somewhat rash statement that the days of the narrow skirt and of the slim silhouette were counted and that an era of fullness, if not of bouffancy was rapidly approaching in the wake of the tentative basque models shown by some of the famous designers of fashions in Paris and elsewhere. Perhaps the wish was the father of this prediction which like many other such predictions was not fulfilled.

Fashionable women simply refuse to wear anything that would reduce the length and increase the width of their silhouette. They carry this aversion to anything suggesting fullness or bulk so far that even skirt lining is tabooed. For the street, therefore, women who have the same regard for their health and wish to keep warm have recourse to maillots or equestriennes of jersey. In cold weather this is a necessity, at least for women who do not own an automobile or even a carriage.

Owing to this tendency for avoiding anything conducive to bulkiness, thin and sheer materials of every description are extremely popular. Laces play an important role in the present day fashion. Many costumes show it as skirt foundation, as the whole corsage, as sleeves or in the form of a little jacket. The last is one of the most successful features of the season. Sometimes these these jackets are sleeveless, sometimes not. Occasionally the entire upper part is a kind of fichu, both back and front.

These little jackets of lace, being shortwaisted, do not take much goods, and if one happens to possess several pieces of lace, no matter whether coarse or fine, for all kinds are more or less modish, one has only to have it cleaned or pressed and made into a charming little jacket. Those in black Chantilly are exquisite, also those in Point de Venise. These black lace jackets for a change are worn over an evening dress of any color. They are cut with or without revers, decollette or high necked, but all are dainty and distinguished. Imitation lace, which is now quite fashionable, is generally dyed the color of the robe it trims.

At one of the shops a very handsome dress was shown the other day. It was made in one piece and had a row of tiny pink roses of silk above the ceinture. The effect is, of course, charming, yet it is sure to make the waist big and thick. That, however, is just what the couturiers wish. It is an absurd idea this, of rendering the waist large and heavy, and of slicing off the hips and circumference, yet nothing appears to delight the designers quite so much. The more they can suppress curves, the happier they are. In some cases this tendency is carried to extremes.

It is predicted that figured silks and satins will be worn a great deal during the coming season and that plain satin will have a rest, at least to a great extent. This may be so with some afternoon frocks, but for evening and handsome day gowns nothing can excel the plain-faced rich satin. Brocades have only recently enjoyed popularity, and it is a question whether or not as a whole they have been a real success.

A color which is exteremely popular just now is rose leaf, a delicious, soft, transparent tone of pink. In the evening stunning effects are caught, and at social functions since Christmas the rose leaf for young women has had first choice. Another dye that is pretty but more delicate is ashes of roses. This was worn in America years ago, and is more gray than pink, yet in certain lights it is wonderfully soft. Trimmed in black blond lace, or, in fact, any kind of light, fluffy lace in black, the material is extremely beautiful.

The beguin or evening bonnet is now having a tremendous vogue. It is a great idea, this little headgear, for if one is going calling in the evening or to some function that does not require the head bare, the beguin can be put on to cover tossed hair, or hair that has been mussed under a hat. The fashionable beguin covers the entire head like all the hats, and some women who do not care to recurl their front hair fasten in the little fringe of hair or put in pieces of hair to go over the ears.

Beguins may be made of almost any material, net or mousseline, or lace, sewn on a light foundation. The effect will be good provided one does not overdo the thing. A white or black aigrette or a paradise feather at the side, drooping over one ear, is the best and almost the only garnish called for. Too much trimming simply destroys the beauty of the whole arrangement.

Rich brocades with large patterns in gold or silver, copper or gun metal thread continue to enjoy a certain vogue. They appear in rich satins, velvets and crepes. Their cost prevents them from becoming common and only an artist can make them up satisfactorily.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says, "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills as I was told that they were good for such troubles and by the time I had finished the contents of two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended this remedy to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The wearing of scarfs with decollette gowns has become so general that it is no wonder the woman who has a desire to be original has found a device that is rather novel to replace it. Long or short lengths of tulle knotted at the ends or ornamented with tassels are found to be a satisfactory substitute, for even a thickness or two of tulle supplies a little warmth. These strips of tulle are becoming and a touch of color can be given to a white or black costume by means of them. For instance, two lengths of tulle tied together may combine turquoise blue and white or black and green.

The narrow sashes of the 60's have been revived. They are offered in many styles, those of brocade in bright colors and odd designs being especially popular. The plain ones have embroidered ends and most of them are finished with fringes. The sashes are knotted at the side or looped at the back. They are worn with all sorts of costumes and give an effective touch of color to a sombre gown.

Among the new flannel bathrobes appear many designs borrowed from the Navajo Indians. The combinations of reds, greens and yellows are cheerful, to say the least.

The passion for having everything match in color has extended to umbrellas, which correspond in color with the raincoat or the rainy day suit. The girl who wears tan shoes, tan rubbers, tan raincoat and tan hat, now has a tan colored umbrella. Gray umbrellas will be one of the novelties to be seen in the Spring when the April showers begin.

Sunshades for use while motoring appear in many colors. Those that screw onto a sole leather case, which serves also as a handle, are in demand. Green, blue, purple and brown are chosen to match veils and dust coats.

Taffeta is so soft and supple a material nowadays it makes an altogether charming costume and is at the same time inexpensive, requiring little trimming and being particularly good when made up in a combination of the flowered and the plain. It is a material which may be found in the shops in practically every desirable color or shade.

RUTGERS COLLEGE NOTES.

New Brunswick, Feb. 8.—While attending a lecture in the new stock judging pavilion, Raymond Whelan, of Jersey City, an agricultural short course student, fell from his chair to the concrete floor of the pit, landing on his head. He was removed immediately to the Wells Memorial Hospital, in this city, where it was learned he was suffering from concussion of the brain. He will recover.

The names of the men who made the college debating team have been announced. They are Harold Schenck, of Plainfield; Charles Hallenbeck, of Greenedale, N. Y.; Carl Woodward, of Englishtown; L. H. Ernst, of Catskill, N. Y.; Stanley North, of Pleasantville, and James H. Scarr, of Hasbrouck Heights. The two alternates who were chosen are Jacob Chobrichter, of Newark, and Donald Havens, of Highland Park. The judges of the trials were Professor Walter C. Marvin, Professor J. A. Inglis and Professor J. H. Logan.

The freshmen won from the sophomores in basketball Thursday afternoon by 31 to 18. This game places the freshmen on an even footing with the sophomores, the two teams being tied for first place in the interclass tournament.

The want ads will determine who will secure nine out of ten of the best positions filled in this city today. —if you believe in advertising.

"MAC" SAYS

Recreation of every sort reigned in this city last night, those who did not find amusement in the basketball games scheduled or the Women's Suffrage meeting or the license hearing took a night off. But these were few and far between.

Company K took a basketball to Dunellen last night together with a half dozen men to roll it around the floor. At the end of the first half the soldiers had the Dunellenites played off their feet, but the latter were more proficient in the art of rough house during the progress of the second half and came out on top with a good margin to spare.

Bob Bogardus, the Dunellen baseball magnate, felt like talking baseball last night and while in a reticent mood said that the little suburb would have the best team in its history this coming season. Bogardus is also making plans to enter the Central New Jersey League.

Another championship, this time a feminine basketball title, is due to arrive in this city some time tonight. The Nonpareil girls' quintet, of this city, goes to Trenton tonight to play the Y. W. C. A. maidens of that place.

In defeating the Battin High School girls on the Saengerbund Hall court yesterday afternoon the N. P. H. S. players secured ample revenge for the close defeat handed them by the Elizabethians three weeks ago.

After defeating the North Plainfield High School boys at New Brunswick and yielding to an unmerciful walloping at the hands of the Plainfield school boys, the New Brunswick High School basketball players will invade and try to get revenge on this part of this country at Saengerbund Hall this afternoon when they take on N. P. H. S. If the boroughites put up anywhere near the article of basketball they did against Leal's on Wednesday it looks like a victory for them.

Eugene Lidgate, the Scotch Plains Parish House basketball forward, has gone into summer training and will play no more indoor games this season. He is getting into condition to report at the Orioles' training camp next month.

Princeton will do away with all Wednesday football games next year. All of the games will be played at Princeton on Saturdays except the Yale game scheduled for November 15 at New Haven.

There is good skating at the Cedarcroft on Park avenue and a large number of skaters are taking advantage of the excellent condition of the ice. A number of old time hockey stars have banded together and are looking for hockey matches.

HOPE CHAPEL SECONDS WILL PLAY FAIRVIEWS

Although the Royal A. C., of Orange, cancelled their engagement scheduled to be played with the Hope chapel first team on the local court tonight and left the Chapelites without a contest, the Hope court will not be without basketball, however, as a game has been arranged between the Hope seconds and the Fairview A. C., of North Plainfield.

Both of these junior teams have been putting up some good exhibitions of basketball on the court this season and the game will not be without its thrills even if the first team is not able to appear

WITH THE BOXERS

Tommy Lewis will meet Jack Harrison, middleweight champion of England, in London next month.

Young Shugrue jumped into the top ranks among the lightweight boxers when he outpointed Leach Cross recently.

March 7 is the latest date that has been named for the proposed bout between Packey McFarland and Jack Britton.

STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP DUE

Nonpareil Girls, of This City, Go to Trenton Tonight for the Deciding Game.

Another championship, this time a real one, is due to be landed in this city before tomorrow. The Nonpareil girls basketball team, of this city, goes to Trenton tonight to engage in a basketball game with the Young Women's Christian Association quintet of that place and if the past performances of the two feminine aggregations may be taken as a basis for comparison, the game ought to be a hummer. The Trentonians have been traveling along at a steady clip all season conquering one team after another until at the present time they have a string of scalps dangling from their belts that have been gained by defeating some of the strongest girl teams in the State.

The Nonpareils, on the other hand, have not played as many games but in the ones they have participated they have displayed a vast superiority over their opponents and have yet to encounter their first reverse. The Paterson Y. W. C. A. five, one of the few teams to beat Trenton, was handed two trouncings by the local girls and every game in which the Plainfielders have taken part has resulted in an unusually high and one-sided score in their favor. One drawback has hampered the Queen City representatives to some extent, however, and that is the lack of practice which they have had to overcome by hard work in regularly scheduled contests. The Nonpareils have had no court to practice on and have played together only in the regular games, a fact that makes their record all the more creditable. Those who will go to Trenton as players tonight are: Miss Helen Hummel, captain, forward; Miss Ida Hummel, forward; Miss Mildred McAuliffe, centre; Miss Clara Smith, guard; Miss Elsie Debele, guard.

DUNELLEN QUINTET WILL PLAY ON Y. M. C. A. COURT

On the Y. M. C. A. court tonight the Y. M. C. A. first team will lineup against the Baraca class quintet of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, in what promises to be one of the closest games yet played by the recently organized association five. The Dunellenites have only played two games but have come home victors in both and are confident of their chances of vanquishing the local team.

The Y. M. C. A. aggregation will present its strongest lineup, a thing it has not been able to do in the last few games because of injuries and business engagements of the players. The game will be called at 8:15.

BASKETBALL GALORE AT SCOTCH PLAINS TONIGHT

A double bill of basketball will be staged on the Scotch Plains Parish House court tonight, the main game between the Parish House first team and the Young Men's Association, of South Bound Brook, and the preliminary between the Parish House seconds and the W. F. A. five, also of Bound Brook. Both of the visiting teams have established creditable records on the court this season and the two games on tonight should be fast and interesting ones to watch.

N. P. H. S. MAIDENS DEFEATED BATTIN

Boroughites Win a Rough Contest by a Score of 12 to 8.

Ample revenge was secured by the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team over the Battin High School girls, who defeated the boroughites earlier in the season, at Saengerbund Hall yesterday afternoon, when the home players came out on the bigger end of a 12 to 8 score. The visitors made all their points on foul shots and the forwards were held scoreless by the versatile N. P. H. S. guards. The game was one of the roughest exhibitions of girls' rules ever played in this city and numerous personal fouls were recorded by both sides.

Miss Marjorie Burtis, making her debut as a full-fledged basketball player, was easily the star of the contest, getting a trio of pretty field goals and putting up an excellent passing game. Her agility was the feature of the game, and her illusiveness kept her guard constantly on the alert, trying to hold her in check. Miss Burtis is only a freshman in the school and gives promise of developing into a star before her High School days are ended. Many arguments arose between the two captains over the time of the halves, one captain wanting to prolong the contest and the other wanting to curtail it, and this in itself considerably slowed up the contest.

P. H. S. TROUNCES MT. ARARAT FIVE

Score a 55 to 30 Beating Over the Westfield High School Boys on Rival's Court.

High scoring has taken a firm grip on the Plainfield High School basketball players and they kept up their habit of getting half century marks in every game, when they trounced Westfield High School, at the latter place last night by a count of 55 to 30. The game was one of the kind of games that savors of real basketball at regulated intervals and during the remainder of the time are dull and uninteresting. Although the Queen City delegation led the scoring at all stages and the Mt. Ararat boys were never really dangerous, the home players had a number of opportunities offered them to get in some needed shooting but did not take advantage of them.

As has been the case in every game staged on the Westfield court this year, and will be the case until existing conditions are changed, the team having the so-called "mean" goal did little scoring while in possession of that end of the floor. One of the goals in the Mt. Ararat gym is but a scant yard from the top of the ceiling and has proven a puzzle for every team that has played on the court in the past few years.

During the latter part of the game Brynarski, the P. H. S. guard, was injured, and LaRue, one of the spectators, had to be drafted to fill the vacancy so that the game could continue.

BASEBALL NOTES

Playing baseball on January 31 on the campus at Tufts College is a knockout for Old Man Winter.

The University of Pennsylvania baseball nine will perhaps take a trip to Cuba after the regular college season.

Pitcher "Rube" Boehler, a Detroit recruit from the Newark, Ohio, team, is under quarantine in his home at Lawrenceburg, Ind., with a severe attack of smallpox.

The Philadelphia Nationals are trying to obtain Catcher Dan Howley, who caught for the Portland, Ore., team last season.

Shortstop Chapman, who went to Cleveland from Toledo the latter part of last season, is expected to do big things with the Naps next season.

Even if Jim Thorpe doesn't quite measure up to major league standards as a ball player he will certainly be a big drawing card for the Giants.

Bill Lange, the famous outfielder with the Cubs in the 90's, will help coach the White Sox during the team's training season in California.

One of Jimmy Evers' aims this year will be to make a base stealer out of Vic Saier. Vic is a fast man on the paths, but fails to take full advantage of his speed.

Hugh Duffy, the former Chicago and Milwaukee manager, has purchased the franchise in the New England League and will probably transfer the team to Portland, Me.

Jack Ryan, formerly pitcher for the Boston and Cleveland Americans and the St. Paul American Association team, has signed with the Los Angeles club, of the Pacific Coast League.

Representative Wiltbank, author of the Pennsylvania Sunday baseball bill, is 73 years old and declares that he has never seen a professional baseball game, a horse race or a football game in his life.

Umpire "Two Bits" Bierhalter, who officiated in the American Association last season, has signed with the International League. He will take the place of Umpire Jim Murray, who goes to the American Association.

George Stallings says that if he doesn't make good as manager of the Boston Braves he will retire from the game for good. George is making his third "come back" from the minor leagues, as a big league manager.

Pitcher Walter Johnson will not take the training trip with the Washington team, but will report a couple of days before the regular season opens. Johnson never needs any preliminary training for he is always in the best of condition.

HUNTING AND FISHING

The Sheepshead Bay fishing boat Dare starts tomorrow on regular trips to the fishing banks. The Dare was out of commission because of an accident some two weeks ago.

This is good weather for frost fish, and reports from along the shore as far as Long Branch show that the fish can be picked up at night from the beach. Several ling were picked up Thursday night, and they must be very plentiful when they come ashore.

Eight o'clock is the average hour of sailing at Sheepshead Bay, and in order to make them from here it is necessary to start about 6 a. m. The best of the boats are now running from the bay, and they will continue to run until the drift ice stops them.

Two of the Wreck Lead fleet are still in commission and make two trips a week out to the fishing banks, reaching the Cholera Banks whenever the weather permits of them doing so. These boats are bringing in the fish, among them being many fair-sized codfish.

If it does not rain tomorrow the flounder fishing in Jamaica Bay will be the thing for the up-to-date angler. Some of the rowboats with two men brought in as high as fifty fish early this week. The fish run close to a pound, so that amount makes a very fair catch.

Take this as a quiet tip if you care for duck shooting. There is better shooting along South Jersey today than has been seen there this winter and at no time has it been poor. The season is nearing a close and now is the time to get in a few days' shooting that will stick in the memory for the balance of the winter.

The legislative committees of the different protective associations are to be seen at Trenton every Monday night trying to convince the members of the Legislature that certain measures are either good or bad. When eighty-two men must be seen and talked to it shows what a volume of work must be done each week. Very few of the members of the Legislature are fishermen or gunners, as they are practically all lawyers.

United States Senator McLean is getting along fine with his bill to place all migratory birds under the jurisdiction of the Federal government. Only a few interior States are holding out against the measure, claiming that every bird that comes within the confines of any particular State is the property of the people of that State if they can catch it.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS' GAME.

Feminine basketball will again reign supreme at Saengerbund Hall Monday afternoon when the North Plainfield High School girls' team lines up against the New York Physical Training School representatives. Basketball is part of the course at the training school and the visitors will doubtless make the Boroughites hustle to win.

RED BALL GOES UP.

Some unusually fine skating is now available on the Cedarcroft rink and many ice hockey lovers are taking advantage of the fact every day. An effort is being made to organize and promote ice hockey at that place and a team will probably be placed on the field at once. Among the stars available are Howard Craig, Reggie Rowland, Ralph Schoonmaker and William Schoonmaker.

SUNDAY ATHLETIC BOOM IN LINCOLN

Young Men of That Town Banded Together in Interest of Organized Sport.

Sporting Editor Plainfield Daily Press.

Dear Sir:—

At a meeting of the majority of the young men of Lincoln it was decided to form a perpetual club for the promotion of all Sunday sports. At a vote it was decided that the club shall be called the Primrose Athletic Club of Lincoln. The club has at present ten charter members and it is expected that soon more young men will join. The club promises to be a flourishing one and it was decided to take young men from out of town provided they are good sports and pass the necessary vote.

The following members were elected to the following offices: Jas. Curcio, president; A. Hoagland chairman; J. J. Rafferty, secretary, and Martin Wells, treasurer.

Any out of town young men wishing to join this club will please write for all particulars to James Curcio, president, or J. J. Rafferty, secretary, care Primrose A. C., Lincoln, N. J.

Thanking you in advance for the service rendered us, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
The Primrose A. C.,
J. J. RAFFERTY, Sec'y.

ONE MORE QUINTET PLAYS BASKETBALL

Scotch Plains Parish House Five Entertains Manning's Colts.

Another basketball team has sprung up in this city under the guardianship of Paul Manning, the local sport promoter, and the newly organized quintet known as the Queen City five, played its first contest of the season at Scotch Plains last night and was forced to swallow a defeat in its initial tryout. A Parish House team was hastily organized to entertain the visitors and the home players came out on top after a weird fight with a count of 29 to 15.

The playing was slow and uninteresting and evoked little enthusiasm from the small group of spectators present. Marston and Ricketts were the chief scoring factors of the contest, the former making twelve points and the latter thirteen.

A NATIONAL MEMORIAL TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Architect's Drawing—Looking from the Portico toward the Washington Monument

Abraham Lincoln

Ground Plan of the Lincoln Memorial

Architect's Drawing Interior of the Memorial

The Lincoln National Memorial as It will Appear when Completed

AFTER years of planning and discussion, the United States is at last to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln with a great national memorial at the seat of government. The testimonial in marble and bronze, which will be erected on the bank of the Potomac River at Washington, will cost upward of $2,000,000, and it will be in every way a fitting tribute to that martyr President who was so largely responsible for the preservation of the Union. It will, of course, inevitably be several years ere this Memorial can be completed, but perhaps it will be ready for dedication on the fiftieth anniversary of Lincoln's death.

The slow pace at which the project for a Lincoln Memorial at the capital has moved forward, until recently, may be attributed in great measure to the difficulty of reaching an agreement as to what form the memorial should take. Legislators, public officials and public-spirited citizens were unanimous in the opinion that some enduring tribute should be provided but there has been wide divergence of opinion as to what form the testimonial should take. Perhaps a majority of all the interested persons whose judgment has been consulted have been in favor of a monumental structure of some kind at the national capital but a considerable contingent argued for a Memorial Bridge spanning the Potomac River and connecting the city of Washington with Arlington, our greatest national cemetery. Another influential coterie have stood out for a memorial boulevard or highway, some eighty miles in length connecting the seat of government with Gettysburg, our most important Civil War battlefield.

And there have been wheels within wheels as it were, because even the persons who were of one mind on the form of the memorial could not agree as to just where it should be located. Some wanted it on the banks of the Potomac; others favored Arlington Cemetery; a third group argued for a site on the grounds of the National Soldiers' Home, and a fourth favored a location overlooking the city on the heights of Sixteenth street, a broad avenue which runs due north from the White House. There were even some adherents of a proposal for placing the memorial at the site of old Fort Stevens, a Civil War defense located five miles from Washington and which has had its fame perpetuated because Lincoln was here under fire during the raid by General Early in July, 1864.

From such a mass of claims and counter-claims, diversity of opinion and range of artistic ideals there has finally come forth the project which promises to at last provide the nation with a Lincoln Memorial of which it may well be proud. It was just about two years ago, or on February 9, 1911, to be exact, that Congress created a commission to be known as the Lincoln Memorial Commission to procure and determine upon a location, plan and design for a memorial in the city of Washington to the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

The new Lincoln Memorial Commission had no sooner gotten down to work and realized the difficult problem that confronted it than it called upon the Commission of Fine Arts for expert advice as to the best location for the Memorial. The Fine Arts body devoted four months of close and careful study to all phases of the question and then unanimously recommended that Potomac Park be chosen as the site of the new structure. Potomac Park, it may be explained, is a newly created waterside park that occupies all the most attractive portion of the waterfront on the Potomac River at Washington.

When it came to securing a design for the Lincoln Memorial—the Memorial that is evidently to "come true" at last—the Commission engaged the services of Mr. Henry Bacon and Mr. John Russell Pope, the well-known architects of New York. Each of these experts, in due course, prepared several complete designs including perspectives, plans and models and the outcome of this competition was that the Commission chose Mr. Bacon to prepare the final design for the Lincoln Memorial—the design that should be submitted to Congress for its approval.

That the design which was finally accepted is an admirable one may be surmised from the fact that the members of the Commission were unanimous in accepting it and in recommending that Congress approve the construction of the Memorial in accordance with these plans. Architect Bacon was, from the outset, impressed with the possibilities of Potomac Park—a site comparatively isolated in the midst of a large area of undeveloped land—and he has worked out his idea that a monumental structure standing in such a broad plain, surrounded by an amphitheatre of hills, will be as widely seen and appear quite as impressive as though it were located on a hilltop. As seen from the hills on either side of the river the new Lincoln Memorial is bound to appear impressive in the highest degree.

The effectiveness of this tribute to a national hero will be further enhanced by the circumstances that it will almost inevitably be viewed in association with the Washington National Monument and the dome of the U. S. Capitol, with both of which it will be in direct line. Thus on the great axis, planned over a century ago, we will have at one end the Capitol which is the monument of the government. To the west, over a mile distant from the Capitol is the monument to Washington, the foremost of the founders of the government. And now on the same axis, still farther to the west and upward of a mile from the Washington Monument we will have a monument to the man who saved the government, the three forming one complete and harmonious testimonial of a nation's gratitude.

From the very beginning of his study of the subject, Architect Bacon believed, that this Memorial to Abraham Lincoln should embody four main features and he has worked along this line in evolving his successful design. The four features to be thus given emphasize comprise, respectively, a statue of the man; a memorial of his Gettysburg speech; a memorial of his second inaugural address; and a smybol of the union of the United States which he stated it was his paramount object to save.

In accordance with this policy a statue of Lincoln—the design of which has not yet been formulated—will occupy a position in the central hall of the Memorial structure and in order to emphasize its significance and leave the visitor alone with it no other object than the statue will be permitted in this room. On either side of the central space will be smaller halls each containing a memorial—one of the Gettysburg speech and the other of the second inaugural address. These speeches will be reproduced in bronze letters on massive monumental tablets. Surrounding the walls inclosing these memorials of the man is planned a colonnade, forming a symbol of the Union, each column representing one of the States—thirty-six in all—in existence at the time of Lincoln's death, while on the walls above the colonnade, and supported at intervals by eagles, will be forty-eight memorial festoons, one for each of our present States.

That the Lincoln Memorial may have its proper setting the ground comprising the site will be raised, by means of terraces, to a level 45 feet higher than the surrounding area. There will be, first of all, a circular terrace one thousand feet in diameter and eleven feet in height on the outer edge of which will be planted four concentric rows of trees leaving a plateau in the center 755 feet in diameter—that is greater than the length of the U. S. Capitol. In the center of this plateau, surrounded by a wide roadway and walks, will rise an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace wall 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 186 feet wide. On this rectangular space, in turn, will rise the marble memorial, but there need be no fear for its stability on this made mound, for all the foundations of the steps, terraces and the memorial proper will rest on concrete piling which will extend down to solid rock.

The platform of the memorial under the columns already mentioned, will be 204 feet in length and 134 feet in width. The colonnade, referred to above will be 188 feet long and 118 feet wide and the individual columns will each be 44 feet high and 7 feet 5 inches in diameter at the base. From this statement of dimensions it may be surmised that the whole effect of this gleaming white pile will be massive as well as imposing. The total height of the structure above the finished grade at the base of the terrace will be 99 feet. The colonnade entrance to the Memorial Hall is to be equipped with sliding bronze grilles, filled with plate glass. Ordinarily, in pleasant weather these sliding doors will be rolled back into space provided in the walls, thus opening the whole interior to the air and sunlight, but at night they will be closed for the protection of the Memorial and this same course can be followed in inclement weather, with every assurance that ample light will be admitted to the interior through the extensive glass surfaces. The central hall, where the statue will stand is to be 70 feet in length by 60 feet in width and 60 feet in height. Each of the halls on either side, where will be placed the great tablets bearing Lincoln's most famous speeches, will be 57 feet in length, 37 feet in width and 60 feet in height. Each of these side halls is separated from the central hall and partially screened by means of a row of Ionic columns, each 50 feet high.

As planned this Memorial will easily cost every penny of the $2,000,000 which Congress proposes to expend upon it. The architect after consulting with experienced monumental contractors, figures that the monument proper can be constructed for the sum of $1,775,000. But this does not allow anything for the statue of Lincoln, the bronze memorials of his two speeches or the architect's commission. These incidentals will easily require all the balance of $225,000. And this makes no provision for the landscape gardening around the Memorial including a lagoon and steps leading from the Memorial down to this waterway. However, there is no disposition to dispense with the lagoon which will be worth all it costs as an adjunct to the artistic environment of the Memorial. Indeed, it has become quite the prevailing fashion to provide an artificial waterway extending in front of a monumental structure and serving as a mirror to reflect its outlines. How much such a basin can add to the beauty of an ensemble is attested by the McKinley Memorial at Canton, Ohio, which was created on that plan.

Now that both the Senate and House of Representatives have approved the report and recommendations of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, appropriations for the actual work will be made by Congress from time to time under the usual "continuing contract" plan, and at last we shall see a fulfilment of the long-delayed and long-neglected duty—a duty that has been on the public mind ever since the year 1869, at which early date Congress incorporated a "Lincoln Monument Association," of which the Treasurer of the United States was made Treasurer, but of which nothing ever came. As Senator Root says, "It is not tolerable that the remaining survivors of the generation that knew Lincoln should pass away and leave no memorial of their reverence and love for him in the city which was the scene of his service and sacrifice."

SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY—PAST AND PRESENT

The Celluloid and Satin Valentine of Ten Years Ago

The New Double Valentine Return Card

The Valentine Candy Box

Embossed Satin with Tinseled Lettering—Candy Heart at Top

One of the First Printed Valentines

FEBRUARY 14th is Valentine's Day—a day on which love missives are exchanged between friends and between loved ones. The custom is founded and sustained by a sentiment which is as natural as it is beautiful. The majority of the authorities on the subject of its origin agree that the connection of the customs of Valentine's Day with the saint by that name is purely accidental, as in the legends of the different saints of that name recorded in the Acta Sanctorium no trace of the practice peculiar to the fourteenth of February is found. It has been suggested by a well know. antiquarian that the custom may have descended to us from the ancient Romans who during the Lupercalia celebrated in the month of February were accustomed among other things to put the names of young women into a box from which they were drawn by men as chance directed and carried off into slavery by these young Roman dandies. The Christian clergy finding it difficult or practically impossible to extirpate this pagan practice gave it at least a religious aspect by substituting the names of particular saints for those of the women, and it is still more or less a custom of the Church in Europe to select either on St. Valentine's Day or some other a patron saint for the year who is termed a valentine. Other historians think it far more probable that the custom of choosing valentines is a relic of that nature-religion which was undoubtedly the primitive form of religion in northwestern Europe as elsewhere, and that it sprung from a recognition of the peculiarity of that season, hence Bailey's Dictionary gives the following explanation of the day: "About this time of the year the birds choose their mates, and probably hence came the custom of young men and maidens choosing valentines or special loving friends on that day."

Even the etymologists have been consulted on the subject and the result of their special studies is curious to say the least. One of them points out that the letters V and G were frequently interchangeable in popular speech, and as a notable instance produces the words "gallant" and "valiant" which both spring from the Latin valens. He then explains that the Norman word galantin, a lover of the fair sex, or what in these slangy days might be called a "masher," was frequently written and pronounced "valantan" or "valentine," and from these premises he concludes that by a natural confusion of names Bishop Valentine was established as the patron saint of sweethearts and lovers although he has no real connection, not even an etymological one, with that class of beings. This is an interesting explanation but hardly a satisfactory one as St. Valentine was a Bishop or Pope of Rome who was martyred in the third century and a man who had little to do with the affairs of lovers. The other Valentine known in history was a bishop who healed the son of Craton, the rhetorician, and who a few months later met his death in the most unromantic fashion imaginable—being chocked to death by a fish bone.

In the latter part of the sixteenth century Valentine Day customs were at their height and the love missives sent out were of such a tender nature that the Church in the person of St. Francis de Sales attempted to reform the customs by forbidding these interchanges of love missives between boys and girls, but in the end the young men and maidens triumphed and the custom continued. In France during the same period there was a quaint ceremony. There young people of both sexes had their names written on slips of paper and put into receptacles. Drawings took place in which each sex could secure a partner from the other. It was customary for the sentimental bond set up by the selection so made to endure for one year and no longer unless sooner terminated by the marriage or death of the parties. During the year each stood to the other in the relation of Cavalier and Lady of Beauty, the knight being bound to honor and defend the fair one whose name he drew, for twelve months at least. For this she repaid him in smiles and silk favors, when silk was obtainable. This same custom prevailed in Scotland and England. It was a particularly picturesque custom in Scotland, where it seems the young man became a sort of mediaeval knight of romance to his lady love.

In Hertfordshire two hundred years ago it was a St. Valentine's Day custom among the poor and middle classes for the children to assemble in one part of the town and then go to the home of the chief personage of the town and sing under his window. The favored one would then throw them wreaths of ribbons and true lovers' knots with which to adorn themselves. Two or three of the girls then selected the youngest among them (generally a boy) whom they decked up with the wreaths. Placing him at the head of the line they marched around the town in great glee singing:

"Good morrow to you Valentine,
Curl your hair as I do mine—
Two before and three behind.
Good morrow to you, St. Valentine."

This they repeated again and again as they passed under the windows. Few of the inhabitants refused to throw them the pennies they expected to help buy sweets for the feast they held at the close of the day.

Another English custom of St. Valentine's Day was for a young man to pin a bay leaf to each corner of his pillow and one in the centre. He was then supposed to dream that he would marry his sweetheart inside of a year. To make sure that the dream would come true he boiled an egg, took out the yolk and filled it with salt and ate it, shell and all, just before he retired. He would speak to no one nor would he drink water until morning. Such a diet is likely to bring dreams of a most indescribable nature and an attack of burning thirst and acute indigestion as well. It seems superfluous to add that this custom has fallen into disuse. In Leicestershire round buns filled with currants and caraways were eaten by the inhabitants on February 14th, and were known as Valentine buns. In Southern England it was the custom as late as the seventeenth century for persons to leave presents on the doorsteps and after shaking the knocker violently to run away and leave the recipient to guess from whom it came. A few years ago in the country districts and even at the present day in small towns, many of the hideous comic valentines are delivered in this fashion.

During the last hundred years these pretty customs of drawings, names, etc., have died out and early in the nineteenth century ugly printed valentines appeared.

Challenging your valentine was in vogue during Shakespeare's day—a curious custom of a person who meets another of the opposite sex on February 14th, saying, "Good morrow! 'Tis St. Valentine's Day." It was an unwritten law that the person so addressed should present the speaker with a present. Later the challenge became more gallant for only a man could be challenged. A noted example of this custom appears in Ophelia's song in Hamlet:

"Good morrow, 'tis St. Valentine's Day!
All in morn betime
And I, a maid, at your window
To be your valentine."

Sir Walter Scott in his description of the Wooing of the Fair Maid of Perth, and of his Hal of the Wynde, gives a description of the English custom of choosing partners on St. Valentine's Day. The old saying "She wears her heart on her sleeve" comes from the European custom of drawing one's valentine. After the drawing is over each girl wears the love message she has received pinned to a red heart on her sleeve. As the man whose name was drawn was well known to the company it seemed like a sort of parade of one's lover before the public, hence at present when a girl shows a decided fondness for a man she is said "to wear her heart on her sleeve."

Twenty-five or thirty years ago the comic valentine was at its height, but it has steadily declined and at present few of these are sent out.

The lace paper valentine with its Cupids and sentimental verses is still popular, and hundreds of people are engaged in manufacturing these articles. Ten years ago the satin valentine with celluloid trimmings was in vogue. These were really very pretty with their satin puffing and fancy cut celluloid trimmings. There was usually a hand painted scene in the centre with the words "With my love" just beneath it.

The picture post-card craze is responsible for a number of pretty valentine cards. One of the novelties is a double or return card. On each card there is a large red heart held up by golden Cupids. On one heart is the embossed head of a woman and on the other that of a man. Underneath each are the words "Your image is indelibly stamped upon my heart." If a lady receives this card she is supposed to return the one which bears the face of the man to the sender as an evidence that their love is mutual.

The valentine of the present day sometimes consists of candy put up in boxes appropriate to the day. This year the special offerings in this line are heart-shaped boxes covered with roses, the flower which means true love. Heart-shaped boxes made of fancy white paper with a dainty china Cupid sitting on the cover is one of the newest. One especially handsome box has a beautiful doll dressed in Empire costume standing on the lid. The doll holds a bunch of lilies-of-the-valley in each hand. The arms are outstretched as if offering the recipient the posies. These boxes are filled with heart-shaped candies. Bouquets of flowers, too, are used as valentines, and in these roses and lilies-of-the-valley predominate.

THE CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB AGAIN

1913 CLUB WILL OPEN ON FEBRUARY 17

Another Opportunity to Make Your Christmas a Merry One

The great enthusiasm shown for The Plainfield Trust Company's 1912 Christmas Savings Club and the many urgent requests received for its continuance have induced the Company to start a 1913 Club and February 17th is the date set for its opening. Members will be received between February 17th and March 1st.

HERE IS THE PLAN FOR 19 3

Each member will be given a membership card on which all payments will be punched and a duplicate of which will be retained in this office. The card system is simple and accurate and can be handled much more quickly than the coupon system used last year.

The Club will run for 42 weeks and checks will be distributed to members two weeks before Christmas. Checks will not be mailed but must be called for in person at the office of the Company on or after December 15th, 1913.

CLASS 2 —Pay 2c the 1st week, 4c the 2nd, and increase your payment each succeeding week by 2c. The last payment in Class 2 will be 84c and the amount of the check will be $18.06, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 2-A—Pay 84c the 1st week, 82c the 2nd, and decrease your payment each succeeding week by 2c. The last payment in Class 2-A will be 2c and the amount of the check will be $18.06, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 5 —Pay 5c the 1st week, 10c the 2nd, and increase your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5 will be $2.10 and the amount of the check will be $45.15, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 5-A—Pay $2.10 the 1st week, $2.05 the 2nd, and decrease your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5-A will be 5c and the amount of the check will be $45.15, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 100 —Pay $1.00 each week and at the close of the Club receive a check for $42.00, with interest at 2%.

IF YOU WISH TO PAY AN EQUAL AMOUNT EACH WEEK YOU MAY DO SO IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER:

Join Class 100 introduced this year for the first time and pay $1.00 each week, making the amount of your check $42.00, with interest at 2 %, or

Join both Class 2 and Class 2-A and pay 86c each week, making the amount of your check $36.12, with interest at 2%, or

Join both Class 5 and Class 5-A and pay $2.15 each week, making the amount of your check $90.30, with interest at 2%.

PAYMENTS MAY BE MADE WEEKLY OR MAY BE MADE IN ADVANCE

THE EVOLUTION OF THE SEWING MACHINE

Singer Exhibit at Elizabeth Industrial Show Will Be of Unique Character.

Elizabeth, Feb. 7.—Illustrative of the progress and development of the sewing machine from the first model put out by the Singer Manufacturing Company in 1851 through the various stages of evolution to the modern production and the complete machine with all its improvements will be the exhibit of the Singer Manufacturing Company at the Industrial Exposition to be conducted under the auspices of the Elizabeth Board of Trade in the Second Regiment Armory the week of February 10.

Of all the displays showing the many articles "made right in Elizabeth" it is stated that the Singer display will rank among the first and will be one of the most interesting exhibits of the exposition. The exhibit will occupy a space seventy-five by twenty-five feet, one end of which, twenty-five feet square, will be arranged as a parlor de luxe, devoted to the exploitation of family sewing machines. Exeprt demonstrators, selected from the best in the Singer service, will be in attendance, and the men who make the machines and their better halves will be shown the other end of the business by the experts who do so much to keep up the selling end.

In the centre of the booth will be a platform ten by six feet, with a canopy top, surrounded by electric lights, and on top of this will be shown the first sewing machine ever made for the market. It was made at the Singer factory on Harvard place, Boston, Mass., in 1851, and is to be mounted on the wide packing box in which machines were shipped in those days, and which became the custom of the Singer Company. Of course, the wooden pitman will be shown connected directly from the rocking treadle to the stitching mechanism without the intermediate bandwheel as in the machines of today.

With this original Singer machine also on the stand will be the first so-called "turtle back" machine, brought out by Singer in 1856, also the "Letter A" machine, put on the market in 1859, and the celebrated "New Family" machine, one of which will undoubtedly attract the most attention, the celebrated "Pearled and Plated" head in a mahogany cabinet, made especially for the late W. F. Proctor. This machine, which was magnificent, as the old-timers will remember, and as will be shown, used to be made up to sell for $175 and $200.

Surrounding these epoch-making machines at the base will be on exhibition various machine heads which show very fully the evolution of the Singer machine from 1851 up to 1880, seveteen or eighteen in number. All these will be fully illustrated and described in a booklet which is being prepared by the Singer Company for free distribution at the Singer booth.

The other end of the pavilion is to be occupied by the machines for manufacturing purposes, and some of the most interesting are to be shown in operation. These include special machines for more than 100 distinct operations, including a machine for carrying sixty needles for making sixty parallel seams at one operation. This is the latest of the Singer products and forms a novel contrast to the machine of '51 and its immediate successors, and the expert in charge will give demonstrations.

One thing that will impress the logical mind is this great variety of machines made by the Singer Company from its first organization. Many of the machines in the collection being prepared were shown at the famous "trade name" trial before the Supreme Court of the United States in 1893, in which the final decision was reached as to the use of the word "Singer" on a certain type of sewing machine. It was held by the court that that particular type of machine had become so well known and the patents on it having expired, that not only the machine, but the name on the machine, had become public property. The Singer Company contended that there was really no such thing as a "Singer sewing machine," except the one made by themselves. The court, however, took issue with this claim and gave to the public the right to the name as used on the type of machine in question but proceeded to say in its decision that no one must make that type of machine or advertise it in any way without a specifying statement, boldly declaring the name of the manufacturer. This, of course, practically nullified the opening to competitors of the right to use the name or to manufacture this type of machine.

After the settlement of this case the machines were shipped to the Singer factory at Elizabeth, and there most of them have been stored away and have never seen the light. This is the first exhibit at which the Singer products have been shown in such completeness, and the gathering of the machines together will permit of their being shown at other exhibitions, probably including the Panama exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

COUNCIL TONIGHT GRANTS LICENSES

It is Generally Believed That Neither Gloekler or Findlay Will Succeed.

TWO OTHERS ANXIOUS

Question Is Whether Clark and Watson Will Receive Renewals—Reville Is Expected to Attack Watson Place Again.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting tonight at which time action will be taken on the various applications for liquor licenses. In addition to the "regulars" there are three new applications, two for wholesale and one for retail and both Christian Gloekler and Alexander D. Findlay have renewed their applications for saloon licenses.

The general impression about the city is that the excise conditions will not be changed, although some people seem to be "cock-sure" that despite the public sentiment as expressed at the public hearing in the High School Friday night, additional applications will be granted. What foundation there is for such belief cannot be learned.

The members of the Council, it is believed, have made up their minds as to ho wthey will vote on the applications tonight, and nothing is likely to effect a change at this time. There is some apprehension on the part of friends of two of the regular applicants, John Clark, of Liberty street, and Michael F. Watson, of Grant avenue. A strong attack was made against the former place by Reuben Knox, repreesnting the Mt. Olive Baptist church, while it is expected that Councilman Patrick J. Reville will renew his attack against the Watson place.

No further hearing in the matter of licenses will be granted and when the Council meets tonight the members will promptly take up the applications and act upon them in the order presented by Councilman Cornelius vanHerwerden, chairman of the license committee.

A SURPRISE PARTY FOR MRS. J. C. HANSEN

Mrs. J. S. Hansen, of Jackson avenue, was given a birthday surprise party Saturday evening. Games, music, singing and dancing were enjoyed during the evening, after which refreshments were served. The Misses May Ayres and Jean Lindsey and Frank Culver gave piano selections. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Marky, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wrage, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. William Carson, Peter Hansen, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Culver, the Misses Jean Lindsey, Christina Marky, May Ayres, Doras Benson, Rose Carson and Anna Marky and Frank McSorley, Peter Benson, Frank Day and Harold Hansen.

ELOPER OUT ON BAIL.

Mrs. Etta Wood, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., arrested here Friday, January 31, on a serious charge and committed to the county jail by City Judge De Meza in default of $300 bail to await the action of the grand jury, was released Saturday, when relatives deposited the required amount with the local magistrate. Mrs. Wood was found at 17 Grove street in company with Frank B. Foley, a married man, with whom she eloped from Poughkeepsie on December 27. Foley is still being held in default of bail. Both will be tried at the May term of the grand jury.

HAS BLOOD POISONING.

John Walton, the night orderly at Muhlenberg Hospital, is suffering from a severe case of blood poisoning in the right hand, an open cut becoming infected while performing his duties, following an operation at the hospital, one day last week. Prompt medical treatment has thus far prevented a spread of the disease beyond the hand and the physician in charge does not anticipate any serious consequences.

JOHN BURNS.

John Burns, the two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, of 527 East Sixth street, died yesterday. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery at the convenience of the family.

SMOKER AND TURKEY SUPPER.

The Timbo Social Club will hold a smoker, followed by a turkey supper, at its rooms on North avenue, tomorrow night. There will also be an informal program of music.

REV. DR. P. B. STRONG PREACHES ON 'SIN'

Pastor of First Baptist Church Delivers An Able Discourse.

"There is now, therefore, no condemnation to them that err in Christ Jesus," was the subject of an interesting discourse by Rev. Philip B. Strong at the First Baptist church, last night, before a large congregation.

"The doctrine of sin is as old as the Bible; as old as the world itself," said Dr. Strong. "Sin is a violation of God's law, and sinners we all are. God's holiness demands that He hate sin, and that some reparation be made for it. For this cause our Redeemer made His sacrifice. He who has a slight appreciation of sin has a belittled idea of the Saviour of the world and His atonement. 'If we say we have no sin, we make God a liar,' say the Scriptures. If you have not sinned, would you like to have all your past deeds, words and thoughts thrown on a canvas for the scrutiny of the public? Even the deeds and words of which you have been guilty since you became a Christian; if you cannot sin, then why not let the world know the innermost secrets of your life? We stand convicted in the face of such a proposition.

"Sin is a real actuality, an ugly blemish on the perfect image of Himself which God made, and just as a musician hates discord, or an artis' hates a faulty perspective, so God hates sin. Neither are there any such things as 'little sins.' Sin is sin, and as such is abominable in His sight.

"There are three ways of release for the person under the hand of the law; one is acquitted after trial, while actually guilty of the crime. No one wants to be acquitted in that way, to be released for lack of evidence, yet knowing that the public believes you guilty, and having that gnawing remorse ever with us. Another way of release is to be pardoned after partially paying the penalty of sin. Even this would not send us away completely happy, and we should always feel guilt hanging over us. The one kind of release which would be perfectly satisfactory would be to be proven and declared innocent, the evidence disproved; not guilty. This is just what happens with the sinner who humbly, sincerely, whole-heartedly gives himself to Jesus Christ.

"Our guilt was put upon Him who 'bore our sins upon the tree,' and His riughteousness becomes ours, and we have thenceforth no condemnation while abiding thus in Him. In the Judgment Day, whether our sins shall all be brought to light, as some believe, or whether the sins of the righteous shall all be blotted out, it matters not, so long as the blood-stained balance sheet shall reveal a complete atonement and a full salvation through the sacrifice of Him who is mighty to save."

CAPT. PETERSON ISSUES ORDER FOR WEDNESDAY TRIP

Orders have been issued by Capt. Charles A. Peterson, of Co. K, for the local company to participate in the parade and drill review before Brig. Gen. Dennis F. Collins, in the Trenton Armory, on Wednesday afternoon. The boys will assemble in the armory at 12:30 o'clock and will leave the North Avenue station on the 12:53 train. The olive drab service uniform, olive drab cap, russet shoes, white gloves and blue overcoats will be worn. On this occasion the Dungan Trophy and the John Rogers Williams Cup will be presented to the company. Corporal George Howell will receive the Dungan Trophy Medal. These trophies the local boys won by their expert marksmanship on the Sea Girt rifle range.

Sergeant James Conkling, Privates Leslie Sharp, Augustus Kmosko and Edward Cardner have been detailed for guard duty at the Trenton Armory and will report to Lieut. Disbrow upon the arrival of the company. Drill will be held as usual tonight but the drill for next week will be omitted. The regular monthly business meeting of the company will be held at the close of the drill tonight. All members are urged to be present as matters of great importance will be taken up for the welfare of the organization.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BURNETT.

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Burnett was held at the late home, Watchung, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock and at the Meyersville Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock. Rev. George Rosenbaugh, the pastor, officiated. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and many floral tributes. The burial was in the cemetery at Meyersville and the pallbearers were John F. Schwaib, W. H. Rogers, Barzillia French, Baptist Tischbein, George Winans and Theodore Luerssen.

TEST CASE PLAN OF WHOLESALER

Mrs. Hoerster Pleads Guilty to Get Higher Court's Decision on Law Interpretation.

TAKEN UP ON WRIT

North Plainfield Licensee Wants to Know Whether She Can Sell in Another County in Quantities Over Five Gallons.

New Brunswick, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Lena Hoerster, of North Plainfield, who is engaged in the wholesale liquor business in North Plainfield, pleaded guilty in the county court here today, without evidence being presented for or against the defendant. The lawyers representing Mrs. Hoerster told Judge Daly, before whom the trial was to take place, wish to make a test case on legal grounds, claiming that it is the right of a person holding a wholesale license in one county to sell in another county in quantities exceeding five gallons.

This is one phase of the judicial interpretation of the excise laws which has never been definitely settled to the satisfaction of the wholesalers, and the case will now be taken to the higher courts on a writ, where it will be fought out to a finish. Judge Walter L. Hetfield, of Plainfield, and William Rydick, of Jersey City, represent Mrs. Hoerster.

The defendant admitted her guilt under the statute upon which she was arrested, but claimed her right in another county other than the one in which she is doing business.

MISS PETERSON NOW MRS. K. F. WAHLBERG

Ceremony Performed at Swedish Evangelical Pilgrim Church.

The Swedish Evangelical Pilgrim church on Saturday night was the scene of the wedding of Miss Hulda Peterson, of East Seventh street, and Knut Felix Wahlberg, of this city, and formerly of New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gottfried Sjoblom, in the midst of elaborate decorations of ferns, palms and evergreen, which surrounded the altar. Miss Hildur Peterson, of New York, a cousin of the bride, was bridemaid. Ernest Hellstrom, also of New York, acted as best man. Miss Julia Luthman, carrying a basket of spring flowers and roses, was the flower girl.

Gowned in white crepe de chine trimmed with lace and wearing a bride's veil held in place by a spray of orange blossoms, Miss Peterson entered the church with Mr. Wahlberg, followed by the attendants. They marched to the altar to the strains of the beautiful Soderman marriage composition and the Swedish Wedding March, played by Prof. John T. Erickson, organist of the Gustavus Adolphus Lutheran church, of New York. The bridemaid wore white silk trimmed with beads.

Following the ceremony the guests numbering several hundred proceeded to the home of the bride's siter, Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, of 312 East Seventh street, where a reception was held. The reception hall was beautifully trimmed with flowers and greens. The color scheme of green, gold and white was carried out in the table decorations. The bride received many presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wahlberg will make their home at 401 East Fifth street.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. JOSEPH W. YATES

The funeral of Mrs. Susan G. Yates, wife of the late J. W. Yates, was held at the late home on East Seventh street, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors, including those with whom Mrs. Yates had been associated in religious and temperance work. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, of which Mrs. Yates was a member, officiated.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were William P. O'Connor, F. Arnold Robert, William L. Detmold, of New York; Percy H. Stewart, Daniel F. Ginna and Leslie M. Daniel, of this city.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS.

Miss Elizabeth Mumford entertained fourteen of her friends at her home on Compton avenue Friday afternoon, games and music being enjoyed.

YOUTH DISAPPEARS; LEAVES TWO NOTES

Mother of Rowland C. Rockfellow Unable to Account for His Absence.

Rowland C. Rockfellow, of Madison avenue, who has been employed as cashier for the Public Service Corporation, at its place of business on Park avenue, has not been seen about town since he left his work at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The cause for his sudden absence is a mystery to his mother, Mrs. George W. Rockfellow, with whom he lived as well as the officials of the P. S. C.

Division Manager W. R. Causebrook, of the P. S. C., when questioned today said that Rockfellow's accounts were all right. When he left the company's offices on Saturday he gave no intimation that he did not intend to return.

Mr. Rockfellow left two notes, one hfr his mother, to the effect that he had been "a good boy, was honest, but could not help leaving." The other note was worded: "I will not be responsible for any debts not contracted by myself. The young man's mother is prostrated over the disappearance of her son and has requested that a search be made for him.

Several months ago Mr. Rockfellow's engagement was announced and it was expected that he would be married in the hear future. He is a son of the late Mayor Rockfellow.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE ENDED

Many Encouraging Addresses Made at 7th-Day Baptists' Celebration.

The closing services of the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the organization of the Seventh-Day Baptist church was held in the church edifice last night. Rev. Theodore L. Gardiner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, and an elder in the church, offered prayer. Two special selections were rendered by the church choir and an address on "The Men's Club" was given by Dr. O. B. Whitford. The speaker outlined the work of the club and showed its connection with the church work. "The Finances and the Church Building" was discussed by William M. Stillman, who spoke in an encouraging way of the present condition of the church and described ways in which it was planned to promote and better the work. He said that during the past twenty-five years the church has raised and expended about $225,000, which represented an average annual expenditure of nearly $9,000.

"Church Membership and Offices" was the theme of Asa F. Randolph, who said that the membership of the local church had increased from the 185 enrolled a quarter of a century ago, to 239 at the present time. Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the church, spoke on "The Pulpit and the Church" and Rev. Arthur E. Main took as his subject, "A Hopeful Outlook."

Most of the addresses were of historical and statistical nature, describing the development of the various activities in the church work promoted among the Seventh-Day Baptists in this city since the organization of the church in 1838. The first half century of the local church's history has been published in book form and the services last night were featured by an outline of the church work since the time where the book left off. The four deacons who are now serving the church, J. Dennison Spicer, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, Dr. F. S. Wells and Nathan H. Randaolph, have held the positions for at least a quarter of a century.

ADAMS' APPOINTMENT.

It is expected that at tonight's meeting of the Common Council, Mayor Stewart will make four appointments for members of the fire department, among which will be Paul Adams, the efficient driver at headquarters. Adams has been a call man doing regular duty for the last three years and bears an excellent record. Fire Chief Doane and the members of the department speak highly of him.

ILL WITH FEVER.

Russell Davis, who was formerly employed by the Public Service Corporation at its offices in this city, and who has lately been employed in railroad work at Panama, is now at the home of his parents in Califon critically ill. While in the canal zone young Davis contracted a fever and was granted sick leave. He was only here three days when his condition became so serious that he had to be removed to the home of his parents.

DR. DAVID G. LATSHAW WILL BE HEARD HERE

Religious Worker is to Speak at Y. M. C. A. State Convention Meetings.

One of the leaders at the State Y. M. C. A. convention to be held here Saturday and Sunday will be Dr. David G. Latshaw, of New York, secretary of the religious works department of the International Committee. He resigned a pastorate in Dayton, Ohio, two years ago to enter Y. M. C. A. work as religious work secretary for the Railroad Association of the country. Later he became one of the team experts in the "Men and Religion Movement." He is now serving as the community extension secretary of the International Committee.

Dr. Latshaw probably knows as many industrial workers as any single religious worker in America. He is now engaged in setting up a nation-wide ministry of these men in places where they work and live. During the convention he will speak at one of the noon-hour shop meetings of the Plainfield Association which is held at the works of the Sauer Motor Company. He will address the convention on Saturday afternoon on "The Association and Industrial Men" and will speak again at the farewell service in Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday evening.

MISS C. V. SUTPHEN DIES AT HOME OF BROTHER

Miss Charlotte V. Sutphen, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John C. Sutphen, died yesterday at the home of her brother, John C. Sutphen, 1108 Putnam avenue. Although she had been ill for some time, her condition was not alarming until a few days ago when there was a sudden change for the worse.

Miss Sutphen was born at Liberty Corner. She came to this city with her parents when a child and had lived here ever since. Her father was one of the best known physicians here during the early days, the family residing on West Second street. Miss Sutphen was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Walter A. Bass, of Little Silver; Mrs. Cornelius W. Lockwood, of Brooklyn, and five brothers, David K., Gilbert T., John C., Maurice C. Sutphen, of this city, and Julian Scott Sutphen, of Brooklyn. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, will officiate and the burial will be in North Plainfield cemetery.

COURT'S WARNING.

"This practise of thwarting the law by purchasing liquor for drunkards who have been placed on the blacklist, must stop," said City Judge DeMeza this morning, when passing sentence on a prisoner. He was addressing Charles Harris, of 518 West Front street, who had been arrested Saturday for buying liquor for Frank Scheelein, of West Third street. In giving Harris a suspended sentence of $50 and 50 days Judge DeMeza said he would deal harshly with anyone brought before him in the future for a similar offense.

James Tygard and Arvin Johnson were baptized at the Temple Baptist church last night by Rev. E. C. Conover.

Purchased 1913 Studebaker Car.

Mr. F. Percy Vail has just purchased a new electrically started and lighted six-passenger Studebaker car. This makes Mr. Vail's fourth Studebaker car purchased from Thompson Auto Co. ***

—Neuman Bros. will offer for tomorrow's trade a large and choice assortment of fruit and fresh vegetables of all kinds. ***

CURATE LEAVES AT END OF LENT

Rev. John G. Currier to Relinquish His Duties at Grace Episcopal Church.

CLERGYMAN POPULAR

The Rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, and His Assistant Cannot Get Along Together and So the Latter Will Quit.

Announcement was made at the morning service yesterday that at the end of the Lenten season, Rev. John G. Currier, the curate, would sever his relations with Grace church parish. A brief formal statement was read to the congregation by George S. Clay, senior warden of the church. Following the services there were many expressions of regret. The cause of his resignation is said to be due to a "break" with the rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, and that the latter decided a few days ago that they could no longer work in harmony.

The differences are purely personal and do not reflect on Rev. Mr. Currier as a man or as a clergyman. This assertion has been made by members of the vestry and others in a position to know. The two ministers, it is said, could not get along together in the same field and that was all there was to it. No announcement has been made as to the retiring curate's probable successor and none is expected just at this time.

The parishoners, it is reported, are arranging to give Rev Mr. Currier a farewell token of esteem. His plans are not definitely known, but it is said he will assume the rectorship of another parish in a short time. While serving Grace church for the last sixteen months he has organized a number of parish societies and made many friends. No less than half a dozen church guilds were formed by him and his devotion to his work, his splendid sermons and the genial nature of the man himself made him unusually popular.

During the Wednesday evenings of Lent, Rev. Mr. Currier will be the special preacher.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE AT THE FIRST BAPTIST

Mrs. Cora E. Seberry, a national lecturer for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, addressed a large audience at the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the local union, on "The Power of Purpose." Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county president of the union, was in charge of the meeting and the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the church. A chorus of young girls sang "A Saloonless Nation in 1920," under the direction of Mrs. Lucie Rising.

Mrs. Seberry during her talk emphasized two points, one was that as Martin Luther through the power of purpose brought about the Reformation, so the good people of the country could reform the nation and succeed in banishing strong drink. The speaker said that it was only the lack of power of purpose that permitted evil to exist. Interspersing her talk, Mrs. Seberry gave two appropriate recitations bearing on temperance.

SENTENCED TO JAIL.

Charles Hawkins, colored, of South Second street, was sentenced to 40 days in the county jail by City Judge De Meza this morning, on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife. When arrested yesterday afternoon he carried a large market basket filled with bottles of beer which he said he purchased in Elizabeth.

A STRAWRIDE.

A party of eighteen young people participated in a strawride arranged by Murville Boylan and William Compton, Saturday night, and enjoyed a program of dancing and games at the former's home on Regent street. The party was arranged as a surprise for Edward TenEyk, son of J. V. TenEyk, of the borough.

JAMES R. PHILLIPS.

James R. Phillips, aged 8 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Phillips, of 322 Clinton avenue, died yesterday, following an operation for appendicitis. The little fellow had been suffering from intestinal trouble and was not strong when obliged to undergo an operation. The notice of funeral will be given later.

—The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed on Wednesday, Lincoln's Birthday. The reading room will be open in the afternoon from 2:00 to 6:00, with an assistant in charge.

NOTICE. OWING TO WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY FALLING ON SATURDAY THIS YEAR WE WILL NOT CLOSE, BUT WILL CLOSE ALL DAY WEDNESDAY, LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Tentative arrangements were made Saturday night by the members of the Saturday Night Club for a program of social events to take place after the Lenten season.

Members of the Parish House bowling team rolled a three-game match with a pick-up aggregation Saturday night and succeeded in coming out ahead in all of them. Joseph Alberts rolled exceptionally well, putting up scores of 200, 186 and 220.

Members of the Cranford Athletic Club will hold their annual banquet in Flowery's Inn tonight.

Miss Sadie Lee, who has been confined to her home with illness, has fully recovered.

Burnett Brodziak spent Sunday in New York visiting friends.

The first basketball team of the Parish House won a fast game Saturday night by three points from the Y. M. A. five, of Bound Brook, the final score being 24 to 21. The second team lost to the W. F. A. team, of Bound Brook, by the same margin, the visiting accounting for 29 points, while the best the locals could gather in was 26.

In the second half of the basketball game between the local first team and the Y. M. A. five, James Koechlein, of the visitors, sprained the ligaments of his left knee which forced his withdrawal from the contest. He was attended by Dr. Munger.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Walter L. Hetfield, 3d, son of Assistant County Prosecutor and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., celebrated the seventh anniversary of his birthday on Saturday and in the afternoon a party was given in his honor at his home on East Second street. The children enjoyed playing games and music furnished by some of the older guests, after which refreshments were served. The young celebrant received a large number of gifts.

BISHOP TO VISIT HERE.

Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will visit Grace church early in April to administer the rite of baptism. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, is now forming classes and those desiring to be confirmed, must complete a course of instruction.

YELLOW PINE MEN TO MEET.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 10.—Nearly every southern State will be represented at a convention of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association, which will meet in this city tomorrow. The sessions will last three days and will be presided over by President S. J. Carpenter, of Winnfield, La.

The desirable boarders are not all satisfied with their present boarding houses. Your ad will interest some of them.

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

Westfield.

John M. Walsh, of Harrison avenue, formerly cashier of the People's National Bank, has been elected a director of the First National Bank, of Lakewood. He will also continue as manager of the First National Bank, of Roselle, where he has been for the last year.

A musical festival conducted by the Tri-County Music Supervisor's Association will be held today. Hundreds of children from the three counties will take part in the exercises.

Mrs. Harold Thompson sailed Friday for South America, where she will join her husband in Chile.

The Westfield Democratic Club, at their last meeting, passed resolutions indorsing George W. Anderson for assistant prosecutor of Union county. It was held that the outside towns should be represented on the county official board.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Miss Eliza Taylor, of Lincoln avenue, entertained friends over Sunday.

The Baraca class basketball team went to Plainfield Saturday night with a large aggregation of basketball enthusiasts to root for them in its game with the Y. M. C. A.

The Dunellen girls' team will meet the fast Nonpariel five, of Plainfield, on the Presbyterian church court Friday night, February 21. A fast and exciting game is expected as the local girls are putting up a good showing on the basketball court.

Dewey Park is expecting to have a baseball team this year. Walter Sisty has offered the young men the use of his pavilion at Wayside Park in which to hold a dance and raise enough money to equip the team. The baseball enthusiasts of that section are getting on the job and will hold the dance in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Webber, of Dunellen avenue, spent the week-end with friends in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, of Long Island, spent the week-end with friends in town.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Knox, on Dunellen avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A special school meeting will be held in the borough February 18, when a vote will be taken on the proposition to issue $40,000 for a new school building.

The railroad detectives are still chasing coal thieves. Mose Johnson was caught last week and when arraigned before Judge Von Minden was fined $3 for stealing coal from a car standing in the vicinity of the Hall Printing Press Works.

The adjourned meeting of the Borough Council will be held tonight in the Borough Hall, and an interesting session is promised.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a social in the Sunday-school rooms tonight.

TO COUNT THE VOTE IN CONGRESS SOON

Two Houses to Convene on Wednesday to Declare Wilson Next President.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, and Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, will be duly and officially declared elected President and Vice President, respectively, of the United States next Wednesday in the hall of the House of Representatives. The Senate and the House will convene at 1 o'clock that afternoon in joint session and tellers representing each body will count the electoral votes of the States, which will be delivered to them by the President pro tempore of the Senate.

The event will be marked throughout by dignified simplicity, and it will be, as usual, one of the most ceremonial in the political life of this country. The galleries of the House will be occupied by members of the diplomatic corps, prominent government officials and their wives and members of the families of the senators and representatives.

The Senate and the House will assemble at noon as usual. After being called to order by their respective presiding officers and listening to the usual short prayers by their chaplains the Senate will proceed to the hall of the House. Shortly before 1 o'clock the President pro tempore of the Senate will leave his chair and will proceed to the east door, preparatory to leading the procession of senators to the south wing of the Capitol. He will be accompanied by the secretary of the Senate and a squad of Capitol police will be in waiting as an escort.

The procession will be formed with the President pro tempore of the Senate at the head and closely followed by the assistant doorkeepers of the Senate, carrying two boxes containing the electoral votes, previously received by the presiding officer from the special messengers of the different States. The members of the Senate will bring up the rear. The procession will move slowly through the Capitol building past the old Senate chamber, now occupied by the Supreme Court of the United States; across the rotunda, with its towering expanse of dome, and through Statuary Hall, where marble effigies of men the several States have honored stand as sentinels for all time.

Speaker Clark will be informed of the coming of the senators, and representatives occupying seats on his right hand will vacate them in order to make room for the four score or more senators. The President pro tempore of the Senate, upon his arrival in the House of Representatives, will take a seat at the right of the Speaker and will be presented with the gavel. He will then unlock the wooden boxes, and, announcing the purpose of the gathering, will open the packages in alphabetical order, handing the certificates to the four tellers.

When the counting has been concluded showing that Wilson and Marshall have received 435 votes Roosevelt and Johnson 88 votes and William H. Taft 8 votes, the presiding officer will inquire whether any one desires to file a protest against the result as announced and in the absence of such protest he will declare the successful candidates duly elected.

As soon as this simple function has been performed the Senate will return to its chamber, and both bodies will resume the ordinary work of legislation.

Adopted after a long and bitter dispute in the famous constitutional convention of 1787 in Philadelphia the electoral college system has become a sort of fifth wheel, a useless appendix, in fact, owing to a radical change in the theory of government in the United States. At the same time it is likely to be permitted to survive for many years to come, unless it should again become the center of momentous disagreements such as the Tilden-Hayes controversy of 1876.

The electoral college this year is going to be 48 members bigger than the college which elected Mr. Taft president in 1908. The increase is the result of the reapportionment made by congressional action in 1911 which brings a total of 48 more electoral votes to the college than formerly composed this body.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE Y. M. H. A. IN SESSION

A special meeting of the executive council of the State Y. M. H. A. was held in the Bayonne Y. M. H. A. building yesterday, when reports received from the various committees showed renewed interest and activities. Delegations from the Plainfield, Hoboken, Passaic and Jersey City associations were present and applied for admission to the State organization.

Following the meeting the Bayonne association served a fine supper and entertainment for their guests following the meal. On behalf of the State Council, Samuel Rothberg, the State treasurer, presented a chest of silverware to State President Harry S. Feller in honor of his recent marriage. Mr. Feller made a speech of acceptance. Jacob Abrams was the representative of the local association.

GREAT INDUSTRY EXHIBIT OPENS

Next Governor Throws Switch Starting Machinery Humming at Elizabeth Show.

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED

Arthur Brisbane, William C. Freeman and Leigh Mitchell Hodges to Be Among Speakers at Dinner Tomorrow.

Elizabeth, Feb. 10.—Senator James F. Fielder, who will succeed President-elect Woodrow Wilson as the chief executive of New Jersey, threw the switch that started the machinery in the big industrial exposition here this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Plans for the opening of the industrial show were completed at a meeting of the exposition committee Friday night, when it was announced that every detail had been completed and that the success of the greatest civic event in the history of New Jersey was assured. It is expected that 100,000 people from all sections of the East will attend the show, which will continue until Saturday night, February 15.

Preparations for the exposition have occupied the attention of the committee in charge for more than four months. There will be more than 500 exhibits of the most varied character. Manufacturers of everything from the proverbial needle to the equally proverbial haystack have leased booths and the hum of machinery of all kinds will enliven the show. Civic organizations of all kinds will have exhibits that will be of the utmost interest to every citizen.

Features of the opening ceremonies of the exposition will be addresses by Senator Fielder and Dr. William H. Tolman, of New York, director of the American Museum of Safety, an expert in industrial hygiene and sanitation and an exponent of comfort and safety for the employes. Before the formal opening, Senator Fielder will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be held in the Elks Club House, this city. There will be band concerts and special soloists every afternoon and evening.

Tomorrow there will be a dinner at 12:30 p. m. for representatives of the press and commercial organizations of New Jersey, New York city and Philadelphia. More than 300 acceptances to the dinner have been received. The speakers will include Arthur Brisbane, of the New York Journal; William C. Freeman, of the New York Mail; Leigh Mitchell Hodges, of the Philadelphia North American; Herbert M. Houston, of World's Work; Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and General William C. Heppenheimer, vice president of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

Tomorrow evening there will be a special concert by the Spross Club, of this city, a famous musical organization.

Wednesday will be children's day, when the announcement of the winners of the gold medal and fifteen silver medals in the school essay contests will be announced and the medals awarded. In the evening there will be a concert by the Mendelssohn Club, which is composed of fifty of the best male voices in New Jersey.

On Thursday evening there will be a concert by the Saxophone Club, of New York city, a wonderful musical organization composed of professional men and directed by Dr. J. L. Foster, who will play saxophone solos. Solos also will be played by Frayne Robyns, formerly bass tuba soloist in Arthur Pryor's Band.

The United Singing Societies of Elizabeth, with a chorus of several hundred voices, will give a concert on Friday night. On Saturday the closing exercises will take place. There will be many special features that will be announced later.

Special rates will be allowed on all railroads during the exposition. Elizabeth can be reached via the Central Railroad of New Jersey or the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"T.-B." DISCOVERY.

Simulataneously with the arrival of its discoverer, Dr. Friedmann, of Berlin, the United States Government will spread broadcast throughout the country a document telling all it has learned regarding the German's alleged cure for tuberculosis. The presses in the Washington printing bureau, we are told, are being worked night and day for it is anticipated that there will be a rush of millions of people to get hold of a copy of the forthcoming publication.

What the American public has heard so far about the alleged remedy for the Great White Plague has been gleaned from brief cablegrams. It is no exaggeration to say that such remarkable feats as the building of the Panama canal would pale with insignificance when compared with the discovery of a true cure for this terrible disease. Since the beginning of time, tuberculosis has been one of the world's greatest curses and medical science has been baffled to find a really effective cure. Health rules have been formulated to stay the progress of the disease in a given case and thus prolong the life of the victim, but now comes forward a man who claims to have found a way to drive the germs from the system and to effect a permanent cure.

Dr. Friedmann, who is hurrying to these shores, will return home one million dollars richer in the world's goods if he proves his claim. This vast sum has been offered him by Charles E. Finlay, of New York, provided he cures his brother, James Finlay, a victim of the disease. Dr. Friedmann is therefore offered the biggest fee ever tendered a medical man, but should he "make good" he will earn a richer reward as his name will be handed down to posterity for all time to come as one of the greatest benefactors of the human race.

As extraordinary interest will naturally be taken in the publication shortly to be issued by the United States Government concerning this cure, it might be well to state that the document will be based on the consular report of Consul-General Thackara, of Berlin. It will contain the text of the address delivered by the discoverer before the Berlin Medical Society last November, when Dr. Friedmann first announced his supposed cure. The treatment, it is explained, consists of innoculation with a solution prepared by Dr. Friedmann, and which is a secret; despite the tremendous efforts made by other German specialists to get it. The solution, it is only known, contains non-virulent bacilli taken from the cold-blooded animals, and therefore unlike the source of the anti-toxins for tuberculosis prepared by the famous Dr. Koch and other specialists.

MUST GO ON RECORD.

That the mighty protest sounded by the taxpayers at the public hearing on Friday against restoring the Gloekler and Findlay licenses are against increasing the present number will determine the course of the Common Council tonight when passing upon the retail and wholesale applications appears to be the general opinion. Neither Gloekler nor Findlay have shown any good reason why they should be given back their licenses, nor have any of the other new applicants convinced any one that it would be for the best interests of the community to allow them to set up in the liquor business. On the other hand, it was demonstrated by many representative speakers at Friday night's hearing that it would be unwise to add to the list of licensed places.

In view of the overwhelming public sentiment, it appears hardly possible that any member of the Common Council will vote to increase the number of licenses, but there are rumors to the contrary. The time has arrived when each of the city fathers must go on record. Will the voice of the people be obeyed? The answer comes when the vote is taken tonight.

"Made Right in Elizabeth" is the slogan adopted by the County Seat's Board of Trade. That they do things right there is amply demonstrated by the big industrial exposition which was formally opened this afternoon.

THE FORUM.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

It seems almost unnecessary to say any more about granting more licenses when we have just had such ample proof of the deadly blight of alcohol from those that have worked hard ofr years to learn to care for those that have come to poverty and physical ruin by the influence of alcohol. If anyone in our land is able to describe the influence and effects of alcohol on the human system, it is the State Charities and Prison Reform Association which comes in constant contact with the influence of the alcohol habit and have the best medical skill in the country to help them. They say that alcohol is the cause of all the degeneracy and suffering and crime, filling all our prisons, almshouses and hospitals and schools for the feeble-minded and our asylums full to overflowing. We are getting to be a degenerate nation.

Shall we not stop to consider what we are doing and chase the saloons and try and make amends for what we have done, or shall we go until we kindle God's wrath and He sends a warning of earthquake or wind or fire. God has said He cannot be mocked and that we are our weaker brother's keeper. He has said if we find him in sin and warn him not he may die in his sin, but his blood he will require at our hands. If this be true then what will our Heavenly Father think if we set traps to catch our weaker brother. Take all the power of self-protection away then send him to prison separating him from all the world holds dear and then brand him as an outlaw, entailing upon his children dishonor that time cannot erase, sickness, degeneration and poverty as well. This is man's judgment, but God is different. He requires justice of those who know what they are doing, the makers of the law.

It seems a simple thing to hear of been victims of the death trap brought to the bar of justice as it is called. While we look on do we stop to think that soon all that are dealing with the weak and unprotected will stand before the Great Judge of all the living and the dead. Then perhaps, the poor publican will stand a better chance of God's love and pity. Let us go to God and ask Him direction as to whether it is not best to close the saloons.

Then you can close the prisons and tuberculosis hospitals and build new schools so that the children will not have to go half a day or in relays. It is pleasing to have churches and be called Christians, but do you realize that more than half of our city do not go ot church because the saloon has tied them fast. Dr. Frank Moore, of the Rahway Reformatory has said that the institution started with 193 inmates and today there are 600 and so many boys. Where are the mothers? Is there no pity for them. God says he created all men equal. Let us not deceive ourselves, but look to plain facts. God will not hold us guiltless. We shall be weighed in the balance. The question is who is to answer for all the pleading to God for help against the great destroyer. Do you not think that all the cries of mothers, wives and children are not recorded in His book. Yes, all will have to be answered for and he knows just who is to blame. All that profess to be His children should rise up in protest against it. God requires it of us.

MR. JAMES BRYCE TO HAVE NEW POSITION

Mr. James Bryce, British Ambassador at Washington, has been appointed by the British government a member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague.

It was announced at the time of the Ambassador's resignation that his going away from the United States would depend upon the settlement of the Panama Canal question between Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice is to be Mr. Bryce's successor as Ambassador at Washington.

MISTOOK KEROSENE FOR GASOLENE, BADLY BURNED

Somerville, Feb. 10.—John Allgair, for many years a resident of this place, is in Somerset Hospital, where he was taken on Friday, suffering from a number of serious burns received when he attempted to hurry a slow fire in his temporary home near Neshanic by the use of gasoline. He had been working in that section for some time cutting wood, and in mistake for kerosene oil picked up the can of gasoline, which he used in running his engine. There was a sudden explosion, and Mr. Allgair was enveloped in flames from head to feet.

He succeeded in putting out the blaze, but not before he was severely burned, particularly the lower part of his body. It was at first feared he would die, but his condition has improved the past few days, and it is hoped that he will ultimately get better.

HER FALL THROUGH ICE PROVES FATAL TO GIRL

Somerville, Feb. 10.—Miss Madeline Martin, aged 16 years, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin, died suddenly at her home here yesterday morning of inflammatory rheumatism. She was a pupil at the High School and was very ambitious. Shortly after Christmas, while skating, she broke through the ice, and she caught a cold, which afterward developed into rheumatism. She was out during the past week, and her sudden death came as an shock to her parents. The funeral service will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and interment will be made in the cemetery on Union avenue.

COURT SHOWS MERCY.

William and John Garretson, 12 and 14 years old, respectively, arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning for stealing $99 from Mrs. Margaret Esaldo's store, at 801 St. Mary's avenue, last January, received the leniency of the court because of their age and the promise of their parents to restore the part of the loot which the boys admitted taking. Seven other boys ranging in ages from 10 to 15 years were also arraigned before the court. They were friends of the two Garretson boys who had received part of the loot. All were released upon their promise to restore to Mrs. Esaldo the amounts given them by the thieves. Mrs. Esaldo was represented by John P. Owens, was loth to prosecute the youthful offenders.

LECTURE ON CHINA.

Rev. Isaac T. Headland, Ph. D., author of "China's New Day," will deliver on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Crescent Avenue church his second lecture "Some by Products of Missions." The day being a holiday, the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionaray Societies urges the men t oavail themselves of the privilege of hearing Dr. Headland on this interesting subject, believing that all who attend the lecture will feel repaid for celebrating Lincoln's Birthday in such a way.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Peter H. Bennett, of Duer streets, who has been quite ill, is now able to be about the house.

PRINCIPALS INVOLVED IN COASTING ACCIDENT AT VASSAR.

MISS ELIZABETH MYLOD & PROFESSOR GEORGE BURBANK SHATTUCK

As a result of the drowning of Miss Elizabeth B. Mylod, twenty years old, a Vassar student, and the narrow escape of four others when a toboggan on which they were coasting down Sunset Hill, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. plunged into a lake back of the college, all social and athletic activities at the college have ceased.

Miss Myra Hulst, who sat next to Miss Mylod when the toboggan leaped out of its course and tumbled down the embankment into the lake, was more seriously affected than the others who were rescued. This is due largely to her efforts to save her companions in the lake.

Professor George B. Shattuck, who, with Miss Phoebe Briggs, ran out of one of the college buildings when they heard the girls screaming, is confined to his room. For several minutes after the four girls were rescued the Professor dived about in the lake in hopes of saving Miss Mylod. Miss Briggs is confined to her room also.

MEXICO CITY IS SEIZED BY DIAZ

General Reyes Slain; Madero at Bay In Palace.

SLAIN NUMBERED AT 150.

Battleships Will Be Rushed Immediately to Protect Americans—Condition Bordering on Anarchy—Residents In State of Terror—Army In Revolt.

City of Mexico, Feb. 10.—Revolt of the army in connection with a thoroughly planned plot of revolution caused a sudden attack on the military prison, the release of General Felix Diaz and General Bernardo Reyes and a subsequent storming of the palace. Diaz was under sentence of death for leading the insurrection at Vera Cruz. Reyes was captured while endeavoring to foment another insurrection, and it was while in jail that they planned the present uprising.

Reyes, within an hour of his release, was dead—killed in the attack on the palace. The number killed is fixed at 150. Madero is practically a captive in the palace.

A condition bordering on anarchy existed, and the army is in complete control of the situation. Its main wing is stationed on an eminence commanding an unobstructed view of the city proper, and its guns are trained on all the principal points. Sentries guard the principal public buildings, including the national palace, all of which were seized.

The uprising came like a thunderclap and before the city could awaken to its peril all the principal public buildings, including the national palace, were in the hands of the army. No sooner were the soldiery in possession of the palace than sentries were placed in all the public squares and prominent thoroughfares. All passersby were challenged.

Led by students of the military school, supposedly loyal troops first freed the imprisoned generals, Felix Diaz, nephew of the deposed president, and Bernardo Reyes, considered the "brains" of the revolutionary movement, and, with those intrepid leaders at their head, attacked the national palace. Reyes was killed in the first encounter.

Colonel Diaz is a nephew of Porfirio Diaz, who was ousted from the presidency and took refuge in flight just prior to the revolution which resulted in placing Madero in the presidential chair. For weeks there has been a feeling of unrest, but so quietly were all arrangements for the revolt made that when the uprising came it found the federal government unprepared to cope with the situation.

In a State of Terror.

The residents of the city are in a state of terror, and so far none has been able to forecast just what is in store for them. The adherents of the Madero government realize that their safety lies in flight, and they are leaving the city as speedily and stealthily as possible. The main body of troops is stationed on the height of Guadeloupe and from this commanding eminence occupies a strategic position, which gives an unobstructed view of the Plaza and the main thoroughfares of the national capital.

The seriousness of the situation is heightened by the close proximity of the rebel army, which engaged in a skirmish at Tlaplam, seven miles distant. The rebels attempted to seize a paper mill, but were repulsed by a body of rurales after twenty minutes of stiff fighting.

May Send Warships.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The United States government is preparing to take prompt steps to protect Americans and American interests in Mexico. News of the revolution reached the capital in three telegrams to Mr. Knox, the secretary of state, and one to the war department. This latter message was very brief, reading:

"Madero is captured by the rebels, and practically the entire army has revolted."

Mr Meyer, the secretary of the navy, when apprised of the situation in the City of Mexico said:

"If these reports are correct the United States government surely will act. Two or three battleships will probably be sent to Mexico immediately. Orders sending the vessels to some Mexican port wait only for further details of the conditions, and we are expecting word any minute."

Mr. Knox declined to comment on the news, but it was evident from his manner that he regarded the outbreak as of more than ordinary significance.

The navy department has several warships within a few days' voyage of Mexican ports. In the event of any being sent they would probably be ordered to Vera Cruz, from which port most of the traffic to the City of Mexico is sent. There are warships in Cuban waters, in Central America and at Key West, so that in a very few days if it is decided to send a naval expedition the sea fighters could be in the harbor at Vera Cruz.

FIREMEN'S STRIKE IS REGARDED IMMINENT

Railroads and Union Heads In Final Conference.

New York, Feb. 10.—A railroad strike involving the eastern half of the United States is now regarded by both sides to the controversy as actually imminent.

More than 28,000 of the 30,000 firemen on the railroads east of the Mississippi river have voted in favor of a strike, it was made known unofficially by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen at temporary headquarters in the Broadway Central hotel.

Counting of the vote was finished late Saturday night, and the result was made known soon after the arrival here from Peoria, Ill., of W. S. Carter, national president.

Soon afterward came a statement to the public from Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of managers of the fifty-two railroads of the east. In it he said:

"The railway managers hereby announce their inability, with due regard to all interests involved, to submit to arbitration practically by one man, as the Erdman act stipulates."

This is a reiteration of the position taken by the railroads when negotiations were broken off on Jan. 8. The men then had no strike vote to back up their demands. This they now have. Meantime they have reannounced their willingness to arbitrate and their determination not to arbitrate under the plan proposed by the railroads.

The final test will come today and tomorrow, when the managers and the men face each other in secret conference at the Engineering building in West Thirty-ninth street.

MAY DIE—BUT SAVED BOYS.

Edgarton Hurled Them From Sled When Collision Came.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 10.—Leon Edgarton, a young coachman from Simsbury, saved the lives of two boys who were coasting down a steep hill which crossed the highway along which Edgarton was driving a team of horses hitched to a heavy sleigh. In saving the boys, however, he was thrown heavily to the ground, and his skull was fractured. He was brought to St. Francis hospital here, and it is feared that he will die.

The two boys were on a "double ripper" and were going at terrific speed when Edgarton saw that a collision with his heavy sleigh was inevitable. He had no time either to stop or swerve from his course, so he grasped the reins in one hand and, stepping down to the sleigh runners, reached over and hurled the boys off the ripper on the soft snow in the road. He himself, however, lost his balance and was thrown heavily on an icy spot.

NO DELAY IN OPENING CANAL

Colonel Goethals Says Sliding Earth Will Be Dredged.

Panama, Feb. 10.—Following comment on the anticipated slide of earth into the canal prison, estimated at 3,000,000 cubic yards, the removal of which it was said would delay the work, Colonel Goethals announced that there would be no delay in the formal opening. Water will be turned into Culebra cut Oct. 1, he said, and all work after that date would be done by dredges working in water.

This means that any ship now in the Panama trade can be passed through the canal at the end of October.

Naval Enlistment Increases.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Enlistments in the navy have increased in the last few weeks, it was stated at the navy department. Since Jan. 1 there has been a net gain of 536 men. The total number of men now in the service is 47,104.

The want ads will determine who will secure nine out of ten of the best positions filled in this city today. —if you believe in advertising.

$2,400,000 PAID IN GRAFT YEARLY

Whitman Is Getting Closer to "Higher Ups."

"SYSTEM" PANIC STRICKEN

District Attorney Gets Names of Prominent Men—Reported That Inspector Sweeney Is Negotiating Confession. Whitman Disposed to Drive Hard Bargain.

New York, Feb. 10.—Gamblers, poolroom men and illegal resort keepers paid $2,400,000 graft—$1,200,000 for the captains and their collectors, $600,000 for the inspectors and $600,000 into the hands of one man and then out again divided into three parts—one for a hotel man, one for a man who represents an officeholder and the third for a man who represented himself or another official.

That is the "graft system" as District Attorney Whitman understands it, and that is the "system" upon which he began his first actual legal battle today. Before nightfall he hopes to have made his first inroad by indictments against Police Inspector Dennis F. Sweeney and Police Captain Thomas W. Walsh.

Walsh has already told much and will tell more. Sweeney's representatives or those who pretended to represent him have already tried to intercede for the inspector and have received no satisfaction. The bargain that Sweeney must make will be a hard one. If he would save himself after indictment he will be handed a statement like the foregoing and will be told to tell the name of the one man to whom he monthly turned over his share of the $50,000 which all the inspectors had to deliver. If Sweeney consents a circle already cracked by the confession of Walsh will be torn into segments, and those protected inside will be disclosed. They are the men whom Whitman is after.

Gets Tips From All Sides.

The district attorney, fresh from Philadelphia, found no rest for himself. The air about him is now surcharged with hints, promises expressed or implied, that just another little crack, another repentant captain, one repentant inspector, and he will have the graft system of the police department absolutely in his hand. Word has come to him, and word is coming to him from sources he never suspected before—information, hints, tips of where to look—until he and his assistants are now confident that they know exactly the trail of the protection money from the hands of the lawbreakers almost to the hands of the lawmakers.

He has only been able so far to touch upon the graft of the gamblers, the poolroom men and the illegal hotel or resort men. He has not yet been able to think of touching the so called business graft, the merchant and business man, corporation or company which pays so much for protection, or for the lawbreaker, the flathouse thief, the swindler of the wire tapping variety, the get-rich-quick man of the Wall street district, all of whom have had to come across systematically for protection.

Mr. Whitman believes that from the three phases of crime mentioned at least $2,400,000 annually went into the hands of captains either direct or through the intermediary hands of faithful wardmen. One-half of this sum went along to the inspectors, and after the usual half was taken out the other half went higher up.

THREE BOYS DIE OF BURNS.

Parents Were Away When Farmhouse Took Fire.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 10.—Clarence Johnson, aged four, and his brother Walter, one year younger, died at the Delaware hospital as the result of injuries received in a fire at the home of their parents near Greenville, Del. Another brother, George Johnson, aged fourteen months, burned to death at the time.

The victims are all negroes. They lived with their parents in a house on the farm of James Wilson, state highway commissioner. The dwelling was destroyed. The parents were absent at the time.

NAVY JOB FOR MERIWETHER.

Senate Votes to Admit Man Who Fought Fatal Bout.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Minor Meriwether, Jr., who as a midshipman from Louisiana in the Naval academy in 1906 was the center of a hazing affair and a fist fight in which a "plebe" named Branch suffered fatal injuries, would be permitted to enter the pay corps of the navy under a bill passed by the senate.

A court martial sentenced Meriwether to dismissal. President Roosevelt pardoned him, and he resigned because of defective eyesight.

Falls Through Ice and Drowns.

Northport, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Arthur Scholl, fourteen years old, son of John Scholl, a retired New York business man, was drowned. He was skating on a pond near his home in Hauppauge when he ventured on thin ice and went through. He sank and drowned before help could reach him.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

MARKET, HALSEY & WASHINGTON STS.

The Bamberger Annual Sale of Pictures

We are proud to announce this Annual Sale of Framed Pictures. It is, without question, the best event of its kind ever promoted in Newark. During the "dull season" we contracted with two large houses for hundreds of pictures. By keeping their plants running on full time during an otherwise short-time period, we secured credible works of art at one third to one half less than regular prices. Of course, it is in keeping with the Bamberger policy to sell them at like savings. Included in this remarkable sale are carbons, water colors, photogravures, pastels, etchings and oil paintings. The subjects are excellent; the pictures are real works of art. The houses from which we secured them supply us with a large portion of our regular stock; this fact making the sale important, indeed. Of course, you will buy framed pictures now. (Sixth Floor).

50c to $1.00 Pictures, 25c—Hundreds of subjects. Carbonettes, colored reproductions, motto and fruit pictures. Brown, gilt, antique gilt, white and other frames. Never less than 50c to $1.00; special at 25c

95c to $1.50 Pictures, 55c—This assortment of Harrison Fisher and Christy pictures embraces the latest Fisher heads; framed in brown, black and antique gilt frames. Regularly 95c to $1.50 each; special at 55c

$1.50 and $2.00 Pictures, 75c—A large assortment of beautiful colored reproductions, landscapes, fruit pictures and carbonettes, framed in brown or gilt frames; regularly $1.50 and $2.00 each; special at 75c

$1.50 to $3.00 Pictures, $1.00—Brown reproductions of celebrated paintings. "The Gleaners," "The Doctor," "Duchess of Devonshire," "Mrs. Robinson" and others. Antique frames with fancy tops; regular $1.50 to $3.00; at $1.00

$3.00 Pictures, $1.50—Hand-colored artotypes of well known paintings, framed in three-inch antique frames; also color reproductions of beautiful landscapes in mounted gilt frames; regular $3.00; special at $1.50

$4.00 Pictures, $2.00—Facsimilies, hand-colored artotypes and brown reproductions; a large variety of subjects to select from. Gilt and brown frames; regular $4.00 pictures; special for this sale at $2.00

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DAINTIES WITH RAISINS.

RAISINS are a veritable boon to the housewife in winter, when there is not much choice in the matter of fruits. They are very nutritious, containing as they do from 50 to 75 per cent of grape and other fruit sugars. Raisins are really dried grapes.

To stone the raisins pour boiling water over them and let it stand for five or ten minutes. Then drain off the water and rub each raisin between the thumb and forefinger until the seeds slip out. Select for use fruit that is absolutely fresh.

An Emergency Jam.

Nuts and raisins make a nice dessert. Raisins in puddings add to their food value as well as make them more palatable.

Raisin Jam.—When other preserves are exhausted this may be made for an emergency. It tastes like grape jam. Wash and seed a pound of large sweet raisins. Put the fruit on the fire in a saucepan with a cup of water, half a pound of sugar and half a grated nutmeg. Cook until thick. Then remove from the fire and serve cold.

Stewed Raisins.—Wash the raisins carefully through several waters, put in a saucepan, cover with cold water, place on the fire and boil for about ten minutes. Flavor by adding a little lemon rind. Mix a little cornstarch with water and thicken by adding this to the stewed fruit. Use a teaspoonful of cornstarch to each half pound of raisins.

Brown Raisin Bread.—Take a cupful each of cornmeal, rye meal and whole wheat flour. Sift these together, then add one teaspoonful salt and two teaspoonfuls melted butter. Add to these one and three-quarter cupfuls water, three-quarters of a cupful of molasses, two and a half teaspoonfuls of soda and one cupful raisins. Steam for four hours.

A Winter Pie.

Raisin Pie.—Take a cupful and a half of flour, a tablespoonful of lard and one of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt and a half pound of seeded raisins.

Wash the raisins. Put on with one cupful cold water. As soon as they boil add a little cornstarch, wet with cold water. Add the sugar and remove from fire at once, but keep warm to fill into the pie.

Sift the flour and salt into a bowl, add the lard and rub in very lightly. Add enough cold water to hold together. Roll out half the dough on a floured board. Line pie dish with the rolled dough and fill it with the raisins. Roll out the remainder of the dough. Wet the edges with cold water and cover. Brush the top with milk. Bake twenty minutes in hot oven.

Elks Now Have a Poet Laureate

MRS. MARIE HEMSTREET
WHITE PHOTO

An innovation in Elkdom is the poet laureate. The post has been created for Mrs. Marie Hemstreet in Lodge No 1, of New York, the mother lodge of Elks, in recognition of her contribution to Elk literature.

Mrs. Hemstreet's verse has won the admiration of the antlered tribe throughout the entire country. It would not surprise many if she were made poet laureate of the entire order when the Grand Lodge meets in Rochester in June.

Mrs. Hemstreet is the only woman member of the order.

RECONCILED, DIVORCE ACTION NOT WITHDRAWN

MRS. CHARLES T. STOUT

Although, as far as can be ascertained, the divorce action begun on August 20, 1911, by Charles T. Stout, of Portland, Conn., manager of the Moses Taylor Pine estate, against Genevieve Hecker Stout has not been withdrawn from the Superior Court of the State of Connecticut, Mr. and Mrs. Stout are living happily in their big house in the Penfield Hill district of Portland and there is not a sign of domestic discord.

Mrs. Stout, who before her marriage was Miss Genevieve Hecker, the woman's golf champion, has not filed an answer to her husband's action.

SUFFRAGETTES IN ORANGE MEETING

Crowds So Great That Church Is Thrown Open.

NOTED SPEAKERS ATTEND.

Miss Inez Milholland and State Senator J. Warren Davis Among Those Who Addressed Audience — Wilson's Attitude Toward Measure Is Closely Watched.

Orange, N. J., Feb. 10.—Their enthusiasm and applause aroused by spirited addresses given by women and men, who urged extension of the ballot to women, 2,000 persons formally opened a series of mass meetings here arranged by the Equal Suffrage association, as the associated women's societies are known.

The Bijou theater, originally engaged for the mass meeting, was inadequate for the hundreds of persons who purchased tickets for the gathering, and the First Unitarian church, in Cleveland street, two blocks west of the theater, was thrown open by the pastor, the Rev. Walter Reid Hunt, president of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Corrections.

Society leaders vied with working girls in securing places of advantage in the two gatherings, and the various speakers traveled from one audience to the other, favoring the passage at Trenton of measures which will allow the voters of New Jersey to say whether they desire to give the ballot to the women or not.

Speakers for the meeting included Miss Inez Milholland, whose eloquence has stirred up many friendships for the cause of "votes for women;" the Rev. Edward Weirs of Montclair, who offered prayer; State Senator J. Warren Davis, who offered in the New Jersey senate the resolution extending to voters the decision of women voting; Assemblyman Egan, chairman of the house of assembly judiciary committee, who introduced a similar measure there; Mrs. Minnie J. Reynolds of the New Jersey State Suffrage association, who told of the work of getting legislators at Trenton interested, and Everett Colby, recently Essex county's representative in the state senate and whose wife is chairman of the legislative committee of the suffragists making the fight for the ballot.

The suffragists of other states will watch closely Governor Wilson's attitude toward the measure.

TRAIN SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

Thomas Symington, Formerly of Paterson, Jumped From Pullman.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 10.—The man who threw himself from a Florida train on the Pennsylvania railroad recently was identified as Thomas Symington, forty-five years old, formerly of Paterson, N. J. The identification was made by the dead man's widow, who lives in South Manchester, Conn.

When the train was between Grove street and Bayway, Symington, who was in a Pullman coach, got up from his seat and, picking up his overcoat and suit case, started for the rear end of the car. A passenger heard him mutter, "They think I did it, but I didn't," and, suspecting his intention, went after him. Symington quickly reached the rear platform, however, and before the passenger could get hold of him threw himself from the car. The train was stopped, and Symington was sent in an ambulance to the General hospital here, where he died.

WRECK INQUEST WEDNESDAY

Will Determine Responsibility For the Death of Three at Absecon.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 10.—Investigation of the railroad collision at Absecon continued and Wednesday evening next has been fixed as the date of the inquest to determine the responsibility for the death of the three men on the moving van struck by the Pennsylvania railroad's fast seashore express.

Magistrate Joseph Weeks of Pleasantville has been named as the foreman of the jury, which will consider also the necessity of compelling the railroad to eliminate the grade crossing in Pleasantville, as well as the one in Absecon. Other members of the jury are David Ewe, Harry Deardon, Mark Lehimpf, Charles Burkhard and A. C. Hall.

ATTACKS BEVERLY WOMEN.

"Jack the Hugger" Flees When Maidens Cry For Help.

Beverly, N. J., Feb. 10.—"Jack the Hugger," believed to be an Italian, has created a reign of terror in Beverly by his attacks upon several young women during evenings of the past week. Several unescorted maidens have been embraced by the fellow, who would suddenly leap from behind a tree or clump of bushes, but would flee when they cried for help.

Owing to the smallness of the police force Boy Scouts have been asked to aid in ridding the town of the terror, and these modern young knights of chivalry are preparing to give the "hugger" all the excitement he is looking for if it is their good luck to encounter him.

NONPAREIL GAMES.

Next Saturday night the Nonpareil girls' basketball team will go to Woodbridge where they are scheduled to meet the Woodbridge Parish House girls. A game had been scheduled for Battin High School on Washington's Birthday but the Elizabeth girls decided that they had enough of local basketball when they were defeated by N. P. H. S. Friday afternoon and called off the engagement.

TRENTON Y. W. C. A. HERE.

According to the Trenton Y. W. C. A. basketball team's schedule, a trip to this city is planned for next Saturday night. The Trentonians say they have not heard from the local manager since the game was scheduled but have taken it for granted that the game still holds good. This is the capitol city combination that defeated the Nonpareils Saturday night.

DUNELLEN WON.

In a game at the Dunellen Presbyterian church Friday night, the Baraca class basketball team, of that place, defeated the Company K five of this city, by a score of 31 to 15.

BOB BOGARDUS EXPLAINS THE DUNELLEN BASEBALL SITUATION FOR NEXT SEASON

If the plans of Bob Bogardus materialize, Dunellen will have one of the best baseball teams in its history this year, as Bob is hot on the trail of several exceedingly fast recruits who will add a world of strength to his aggregation. The Dunellen manager is planning to get a franchise in the Central New Jersey League and says if he knows anything about it, the suburban baseball city which he represents will not be cheated out of an opportunity to get into the organization like it was two years ago. Bogardus is following the movements of those who have started the affair going and will be right on deck when the next meeting is called to order February 15.

During recent years, in fact ever since Bogardus took charge of the financial end of the Dunellen nine, that place has been represented by the fastest combination that any city in the State can boast of. They have cleaned up on many of the faster metropolitan and up-State teams and have given Plainfield, Bound Brook and Scotch Plains notable battles at frequent intervals. While the support conceded the suburbanites last year was of a higher and stronger calibre than that accorded in previous years it was not up to the standard that every semi-professional nine has to be assured of in order to count on coming out even at the end of the season. All last year Bogardus scheduled game after game with teams requiring high guarantees when he was just pulling through by the skin of his teeth in every contest and did not know half the time whether or not he would be able to make both ends meet.

At the same time Bogardus displayed his ability as a financier by clinging to exactly the same lineup that he started the season with and if anything built up a stronger and higher paid combination than he had when the season opened. As usual, the Dunellen fans, turned out in droves to the first few home games, but after the team had played in other towns for two or even three consecutive weeks, interest seemed to lag and when the team returned to play a game on the home diamond the enthusiasm was not forthcoming. Some of these trips included games at such places as Bound Brook and Plainfield but the home supporters could not seem to realize the kind of ball playing it took to put up the showing that Bogardus and his crew did against these versatile opponents and forgot to show up at the next home game. Frequently, the Dunellen magnate was forced to take his team to some other town in order to catch up in his accounts, and this accounted for some of the long intervals between games at Dunellen.

Things will be different this year, however, as Bob has been assured of the right kind of support if he will show the goods and this is the easiest thing he has to do, according to what he says at present. Of course, early season dopesters are not the best authorities to listen to, but when the reticient Bob says that he will have the best ever, we have to believe it. Not only has he got a string on all of last year's stars but he is looking forward to developing many new ones who have sprouted up in amateur ranks in this city and Dunellen.

The Dunellen baseball team is practically the only medium through which local and suburban second rate team stars can secure recognition in semi-professional ranks and really land an opportunity to show their calibre with fast company. The Plainfield team is composed altogether of out of town players, who, while they are real ball players, ought to be eliminated when local stock is available. The product of the local sand lot has to go begging because of the inrush of outside material. Bogardus has singled out numerous Plainfield players in the last few years who have been taken under his wing and before many trips to the rubber have turned out to be real artists. Among these players are Coyle, Dixon, Nash, Giddes, Evans and Frederickson, who, if it had not been for Bogardus, would likely never have had an opportunity to show their real ability at covering the bag, dropping down bunts or running the bases. Bogardus recognizes every applicant and if he shows the least bit of ability he is given an opportunity to make good in regular competition.

Manager Bogardus will be able to lease the same ball grounds through a little foresight on his part during the winter when some enterprising contractor designed to build a house on the ball park, but after strenuous opposition on the part of the genial Bob finally relinquished all claim in behalf of the national pastime, of which he himself is a hearty advocate. This fact means a ball park, of course, and an empty ball park in Dunellen would look just as much out of place as policemen in Dunellen.

BRUNSWICK PLAYERS WORSTED BY N. P. H. S.

Visiting Aggregation Succumbs With a Count of 65 to 25.

By brilliant team work and accurate shooting, the North Plainfield High School basketball team completely bewildered the New Brunswick school team on Saengerbund Hall court, Saturday afternoon. The score was 65 to 25. From the first whistle to the last the borough lads reigned supreme and made baskets at will. The game was both fast and clean, the referee finding it necessary to call only five fouls the whole game.

North Plainfield started the scoring in the first half minute of play and held the lead throughout the entire struggle. The first half ended 27 to 14 in favor of the locals. In the second half the North Plainfield boys scored nineteen field goals while the visitors could only cage five from the floor and one foul. In the second half the New Brunswick quintet did not score until the last two minutes of play. Then they started a rally and made eleven points.

Carroll Taylor made the highest score of the game, getting eleven field goals, and Duclos Van Mater and George Townley each contributed seven baskets. In the last period Hyman Abrams put up a good game at guard. Manley starred for the visitors and was the life of the whole team.

Y. M. C. A. QUINTET ROLLS UP BIG SCORE

Easily Defeat the Dunellen Aggregation With a Count of 54 to 11.

Playing for the first time in three weeks with their regular team on the floor, the Y. M. C. A. first team of this city trounced the Dunellen Baraca Class aggregation on the local court Saturday night to the tune of 54 to 11, scoring baskets at will from all angles on the floor. Although the Dunellenites were playing for the first time this season on the association court, which is much larger than the one they are accustomed to, they put up a good passing game but their shooting failed to materialize into point scores.

For the locals, Stine was the main point annexer, getting eleven field goals, while Coyle pulled up in the rear with an even half dozen. Dunellen scoring honors went to Dealaman, a Monarch A. C. player, who was used by the Baraca Class five as a substitute. He secured two baskets.

FIRST TEAM PLAYER WON THIS CONTEST

Tommy Heron Rolls up Thirty Four Points and Land Victory for 2nd String Men.

Sixteen baskets by Tommy Heron was enough to put the game on ice when the Fairview A. C. and Hope chapel seconds clashed on the Hope court Saturday night, and his total score was ample to put the visitors in the rear at the end. The final count was 61 to 22, the visitors never being in (fair view) of the Chapelites after the first few minutes of play.

The playing was ragged and slow, partly due to the one-sided condition of the score. This fact was true especially in the second half when both aggregations did the bulk of their scoring. For the losers Newkirk and Kenny carried off the scoring honors.

NONPAREIL GIRLS RELINQUISH CLAIM TO STATE FEMININE TITLE BY ONE GOAL

Making a spurt in the last thirty seconds of play that appeared to be almost superhumane in its winning qualities, the girls' basketball team of the Trenton Y. W. C. A. sprang the inevitable Saturday night and treated the Nonpareil girls of this city to their first taste of defeat. After holding on tenaciously for the greater part of the game and exhibiting little or no evidence of fatigue, the Plainfielders were pushed in the rear by a couple of sensational field goals which came consecutively within the short space of fifteen seconds. It was not a case of a foe weakening, but of an opponent suddenly receiving an injection of enthusiasm from the side-lines that went a long way toward deciding the game. The contest was witnessed by a large throng of basketball enthusiasts who have been following the game in and about Trenton for years, and at the conclusion many were loud in the praise of both aggregations and were not loath to declare it the best exhibition of girls' rules ever played in this State.

When the first half ended the Queen City combination found itself in exactly the same predicament in which they were at the conclusion of the initial period of play at Trenton last year, the home players holding the lead by a one-point margin. With With the score 12 to 11 at the opening of the last stanza, the Plainfielders got a better line on the baskets and for a time it looked as though they would run away with the game in the final half, duplicating their stunt of last year. Through the accurate shooting at every opportunity, on the part of the visiting forwards, the Nonpareils flashed a burst of speed that put them well in the lead, where they remained the greater part of the half, although the Capitol City quintet always clung within striking distance of victory, a fact that kept the enthusiastic band of spectators constantly on their feet. Foul shooting played a prominent part in this half, both captains registering credit marks on a number of penalty throws.

Plainfield's reign was curtailed while the timekeeper was holding the whistle to her lips waiting for the last few seconds of play to roll by, however, by the versatile Miss Hayes to whose basketball prowess the home team's victory might well be attributed. She launched an individual spurt that resulted in two sensational field goals following each other almost instantaneously and brought the score up to 24 to 22 in favor of Trenton.

Capitol City honors can easily be accorded to Miss Hayes, the same agile and rapid shooting little forward who appeared here in Y. W. C. A. games last season, for it was through her individual efforts that the Trentonians were allowed to roll up a winning score. Miss Clara Smith did some unusually effective guarding against her light and slippery opponent and it is doubtful if any guard could hold Miss Hayes' score tally down to a lower level than did the local goal preventer.

As has been the case in all of the Nonpareil contests, the scoring department of the local five was monopolized by Miss Helen Hummel, the captain, and Miss Ida Hummel. While the former counted for six field goals and a quartet of fouls, effectual guarding prevented her from running up a higher score with her characteristic overhead shots which were rendered practically impossible by the style of guarding encountered. Miss Ida Hummel counted for a trio of the two-point variety, all coming from sharp angles and all being quick and well placed shots.

A return game will be played in this city March 1. After the game Saturday night, the Trenton players acted as hosts to the Plainfield delegation and the Nonpareils enjoyed the sights in the Capitol City until last night as their guests.

BASEBALL MAGNATES GATHER IN NEW YORK

International League Begins Spring Sessions—Major League Heads on Hand.

New York, Feb. 10.—Several days of important doings in baseball circles opened here this afternoon, when the magnates of the International League assembled for their annual spring meeting, which will be followed tomorrow by the scheduled meetings of the two major leagues.

Comparatively little business confronted the rulers of the International League outside of the election of officers and the adoption of a schedule. Apparently there was no opposition to the re-election of President Edward Barrow and no changes in the circuit were contemplated.

Nearly all of the club owners and managers of the National and American Leagues are in town for their meetings tomorrow. The general expectation is that no friction will develop in either meeting and that everything will be harmonious. Most interest centers in the possibility of some important trades resulting from the gathering of the managers.

The schedules of both leagues were completed by the joint committee more than a month ago and only await ratification at the hands of the magnates. Before the end of the week the schedules probably will be made public, so that the followers of the game all over the two circuits will be able to figure out how their favorite teams have been treated in the distribution of the season's most desirable holiday, Saturday and Sunday games.

PLAINFIELD CANINES WON HEAVILY IN NEWARK SHOW

With an array of dogs that made the visitors wonder how the judges could pass on their merits in a single day, the first annual bench show of the Newark Kennel Club was held at the Essex Troop Armory Saturday. Competing with the 550 dogs benched, Plainfield dogs took a prominent part in the distribution of prizes.

BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING.

A meeting of the applicants for franchises in the Central New Jersey Leauge will be held next Wednesday night, probably at the Queen City Hotel. Delegates are expected to attend from New Brunswick, Somerville, Scotch Plains, Dunellen and intervening places along the baseball line.

AJAX AT WOODBRIDGE.

Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball team, has arranged a game to be played with the Woodbridge Parish House team, on the latter's court next Saturday night. In their previous meeting, the Ajax won out by a margin of two points and a good return match is expected.

LEAL'S SHATTERED TEAM SUFFERS LOSS

Summit High School Players Score Second Defeat of Season Over Locals.

Although Leal School was scheduled to send a basketball team to Summit Saturday afternoon, for some reason unknown to the manager, all of the players failed to put in appearance and an aggregation composed of coach, three regulars and one substitute decided to keep the engagement. For the second time this season the local school boys were returned a loser against the speedy Summit High School players, this time with a score of 47 to 16.

Coach Wardlaw entered the contest at forward for the private school athletes and divided the scoring honors up with Dickerson as far as field goals were concerned, each getting a brace of the larger variety. Dickerson also made good on six penalty throws bringing his total point score up to ten, over half of that made by the team. For Summit, Allesbury and Hubbard were the big noises, the former shooting ten and the latter six from the field.

CLOSE GAME WON BY PARISH HOUSE FIVE

One of the Most Exciting Contests Ever Played Won by Home Players.

Some superior foul shooting on the part of Bettman earned a victory for the Scotch Plains Parish House five in one of the closest games of the season Saturday night. The defeat was handed to the Young Men's Association quintet, of South Bound Brook, and the Plains first team managed to roll up a score of 24 against their opponents' 21. Bettman took advantage of seven out of nine trials and but for his prowess along this line it can easily be seen that the home team would have been on the losing side as the visitors did the most field goal scoring.

At every stage of the game the playing was close and the winner even in doubt, neither team being more than three goals behind the other at any time. For the winners, Ricketts and Marston each got a pair of field goals while Louis Ulmer chalked up a quartet for the losers.

THE ABORIGINAL PART OF BASEBALL AS IT STANDS TO-DAY

LAROY, ONCE OF YANKEES

JIM THORPE GIANTS

BENDER, OF ATHLETICS

"CHIEF" MEYERS GIANTS.

Comparatively few full blooded Indians have made good in professional baseball. In recent years those who have succeeded to regular positions with either American or National League clubs can be counted upon the fingers of one hand.

Athletic trainers and coaches have often wondered at this. It is the more surprising when one stops to consider that of all nations there is none which can boast of more natural athletes than the aborigines. Some mentors have tried to explain it by saying that the race has been retrogressing. This, of course, may be in a great measure responsible for the condition.

Whatever the reason, it remains a fact that only Sockalexis, "Jack" Meyers and "Chief" Bender have attained fame given trials in last company, but they as big leaguers. Other Indians have have invariably fallen just one notch made good in the minors and have been shy in their major league ability.

Notable among these were Jude, a reservation Indian, and Laroy, a Chippewa. They have always been among the best in their respective minor associations, but they have lacked an indefinable something so frequently the case with good minor leaguers.

Now "Jim" Thorpe has been added to the list, and out in St. Louis the Browns may have an Indian playing shortstop for them. Balenti, who had a trial with Cincinnati for a time, has been turned over to George Stovall.

Sockalexis was regarded as one of the best players in his time, about thirteen years ago. He played for four years with Holy Cross and then played for about two seasons with Cleveland, but "fire water" was the cause of his downfall.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

At the Plainfield theatre on Friday afternoon and evening, February 14, "The Traveling Salesman," a comedy by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady" and "The Commuters," will be the attraction. "The Traveling Salesman," while primarily a comedy of the broadest kind, has also interwoven in the plot a story of much dramatic interest. Beth Elliott, the station agent at Grand Crossing, is the owner of a piece of land of doubtful value, that is known locally as Elliott's stone pile. The taxes are overdue and Beth does not think it worth while to protect her interests at the delinquent tax sale. Martin Drury, a capitalist, is in possession of information that the railroad company needs Beth's land for some contemplated improvement and he arranges with Frank Royce, an admirer of Beth's, to buy in the property and divide the profits. In the meantime Bob Blake, the traveling salesman, arrives at Grand Crossing and falls under the spell of Beth's charm at first sight. He remains in the village over night and with Royce and some traveling men a poker game is started. During the progress of the game Royce becomes intoxicated and boasts of the fortune that he and Drury expect to realize out of the sale of Beth's property. Blake plans to frustrate their scheme and with the assistance of a friend Bob locks Royce up so that he will be unable to attend the sale. He buys in the property as Beth's representative and turns it over to her. As a fitting reward Beth promises to become Mrs. Bob Blake and the play has the proverbially happy ending. The management of the company promises an exceptionally good production and cast for this engagement. The part of Bob Blake will be played by Karl Hewitt.

To be the master of your house in all that the term implies, you must first be master of yourself. That is the lesson to be learned from the experiences of Frederick Hoffman, the master in "The Master of the House," the American comedy-drama success by Edgar James, which the Messrs. Shubert will present at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening, February 15. Hoffman is a middle-aged successful business man, one of the leading citizens in a small town near Buffalo. A man old enough to have done with the follies of youth, yet, when his wife engages a young and handsome girl for a companion, Hoffman loses his head and the girl, unscrupulous and designing, leads him on until he is ready to throw duty, integrity and the good opinion of his associates to the winds—divorce his wife, desert his family and flee with her. He plainly states the case to his wife and seeks to excuse his folly by all the trumpery arguments such an infatuated fool can master. Then he sues for divorce, marries his paramour and establishes a luxurious home in New York, where he is led a merry and exhausting dance by her and her parasite friends. Just how he realizes the mire into which his folly has sunk him—and how he returns to his old home and there forgiven for the past, is said to be one of the most affecting scenes ever staged. "The Master of the House" has proved one of the positive successes of the present season. It ran for one hundred nights at the Lyric theatre, New York, and in every city of the present tour it has been critically regarded as the most important attraction of the season's offerings. The original Metropolitan cast will interpret the piece here.

BASKETBALL VIOLENT GAME.

Because of the fact that three members of the team are suffering from basketball injuries, the Presbyterian manager accorded his players a short vacation to get into trim for hard contests that are coming and arranged no game for last Saturday night. The three Dunning brothers are the maimed members and they will all be back in the game in a short time.

BRUNSWICK GOLF COURSE EXPANDS

Eighteen hole Green Will Be Ready for Play About May 1.

On May 1 the New Brunswick Country Club will open its new grounds to its members.

The club occupied for a number of years the Rose Hill house on the River road, about two miles from New Brunswick. Having barely room enough for a nine hole golf course the members decided to buy their own property and eventually make an eighteen hole course. Consequently, 123 acres were purchased, the tract being located about a mile from the old club. The house will be completed by April, at which time the members plan to hold a large reception.

William Entwistle, the present club professional, won the first professional tournament held at La Boulie, Paris, and was prominent in many matches held on the other side.

The clubhouse is less than ten minutes ride from the Pennsylvania Railroad station at New Brunswick by trolley, which passes within 300 feet of the door. The trolley cars run every half hour during the winter and every fifteen minutes in the summer. It is also convenient to Plainfield.

The golf course is undulating without being hilly. The greens are all large, no two being alike. There are many natural hazards, several brooks running through the course and the special features will be the short holes. The total length is about 3,300 yards. Much money has already been spent on the grounds and this spring will see the course in good playing condition.

R. T. Nicholas is president of the club and A. Wayne Clark is secretary.

'PLAINS SECONDS LOSE CLOSE GAME

Three Points Separates Home Team Frim Victory at the End of Contest.

The preliminary game at Scotch Plains Saturday night proved to be just as exciting and close as the first team exhibition which was won by three points. The second team lost their struggle by three points to the W. F. A., of Bound Brook, with a final score of 29 to 26. Field goal shooting on the part of B. Mills and Mingle was the feature of the contest and these two players led the battles waged by their respective followers.

W. P. H. S. GAME OFF.

Upon the action of the faculty, who took exception to the three games scheduled within a short period of time, Miss Elsie Debele, manager of the North Plainfield High School girls' team, has cancelled the game scheduled to be played at Saengerbund Hall this afternoon with the team from the New York Physical Training College.

P. H. S. AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Plainfield High School will send a representative basketball quintet to New Brunswick Wednesday afternoon to play a return match with the school boys of that place. In the initial game the Brunswick basketers were treated to an unmerciful wallop by the locals, who hope to repeat the dose this trip.

THE CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB AGAIN

1913 CLUB WILL OPEN ON FEBRUARY 17

Another Opportunity to Make Your Christmas a Merry One

The great enthusiasm shown for The Plainfield Trust Company's 1912 Christmas Savings Club and the many urgent requests received for its continuance have induced the Company to start a 1913 Club and February 17th is the date set for its opening. Members will be received between February 17th and March 1st.

HERE IS THE PLAN FOR 19 3

Each member will be given a membership card on which all payments will be punched and a duplicate of which will be retained in this office. The card system is simple and accurate and can be handled much more quickly than the coupon system used last year.

The Club will run for 42 weeks and checks will be distributed to members two weeks before Christmas. Checks will not be mailed but must be called for in person at the office of the Company on or after December 15th, 1913.

CLASS 2 —Pay 2c the 1st week, 4c the 2nd, and increase your payment each succeeding week by 2c. The last payment in Class 2 will be 84c and the amount of the check will be $18.06, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 2-A—Pay 84c the 1st week, 82c the 2nd, and decrease your payment each succeeding week by 2c. The last payment in Class 2-A will be 2c and the amount of the check will be $18.06, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 5 —Pay 5c the 1st week, 10c the 2nd, and increase your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5 will be $2.10 and the amount of the check will be $45.15, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 5-A—Pay $2.10 the 1st week, $2.05 the 2nd, and decrease your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5-A will be 5c and the amount of the check will be $45.15, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 100 —Pay $1.00 each week and at the close of the Club receive a check for $42.00, with interest at 2%.

IF YOU WISH TO PAY AN EQUAL AMOUNT EACH WEEK YOU MAY DO SO IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER:

Join Class 100 introduced this year for the first time and pay $1.00 each week, making the amount of your check $42.00, with interest at 2 %, or

Join both Class 2 and Class 2-A and pay 86c each week, making the amount of your check $36.12, with interest at 2%, or

Join both Class 5 and Class 5-A and pay $2.15 each week, making the amount of your check $90.30, with interest at 2%.

DISAPPEARING ON MARRIAGE EVE ROCKFELLOW H AD LONG BEEN WED

Plans Made for Late Mayor's Son's Ceremony for March 19, But It Develops He Took the Girl as His Wife Last July—Young Haberle Dropped Out of Sight With Rockfellow.

Developments continue in the case of Rowland C. Rockfellow, son of the late Mayor George W. Rockfellow, who suddenly disappeared from his home on Madison avenue late Saturday afternoon for it became known today that he was married to Miss Rae Warnock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, seven months ago and the couple had kept the matter a secret until yesterday, when the bride broke down and admitted the fact to her parents. The young man and Miss Warnock went to New York on Tuesday afternoon, July 23 last, and while in the metropolis decided to get married. The ceremony was performed at "The Little Church Around the Corner." The rector, Rev. Dr. Houghton, officiated. One of two notes left by young Rockfellow for his mother stated that he would not be responsible for any debts unless contracted by himself.

Percy F. Haberle, a chum of young Rockfellow, is also mysteriously absent from his home and efforts to locate him have been unavailing. Haberle's parents have been dead for some time and he has been boarding at the home of Jack Horner, on Linden avenue. He has no relatives except his brother, Sherman, who is married and resides on Elm place, where the missing man frequently visited.

At the home of his brother this morning no information could be obtained as to his whereabouts and all inquiries made by his brother have proven fruitless. Mrs. Sherman Haberle said that her brother-in-law was seen in the company of young Rockfellow late Saturday afternoon and they were eagerly engaged in examining a map, Rockfellow having proposed a trip and Haberle having consented. Before he left town Haberle called at Jack Horner's store on Somerset street to bid good-bye to his friends who generally congregate at that place, saying that he was going away for a short trip. At that time he had his grip and appeared to be on the way to the train.

Haberle was employed as collector for the Public Service Corporation in the same offices with Rockfellow and the officials of that company stated this morning that he had not appeared for duty since Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Sherman Haberle said that the missing youth was of a wandering disposition and seldom confided with his immediate family. His actions, like Rockefellow's, is a mystery to his relatives and his brother attributes his disappearance to love affairs. He has been attentive to a young woman in this city for some time past and his sister-in-law said this morning that their love had not been as strong within the past few months and that Haberle seemed to brood considerably as a consequence.

Like Rockfellow, Haberle is one of the popular young men of this city. He is a member of the Plainfield Bicycle Club and an enthusiastic advocate of bicycle racing in which he has taken a prominent part. He had planned to take an extended cycle trip with Ray Mantz in the spring but the trip had been deferred until later in the fall so that Jack Horner could accompany them.

Mrs. Rockfellow at present is in an exceedingly nervous condition following the publicity given the sudden disappearance of her husband and claims she can assign no reason for his untimely leaving. When seen this morning by a Daily Press reporter, the young bride was anxiously awaiting some news of the whereabouts of the missing young man and said that she could not understand why Rowland did not return to his home.

When they were married Mr. Rockfellow presented his bride with a wedding ring with her initials inscribed on the inside, but because of the fact that they wanted to keep the wedding a secret he took the ring and kept it in his safe at the Public Service Corporation's offices on Park avenue until such time when their betrothal would be publicly announced. Since Rockfellow's disappearance, however, Clarence W. Swan, who was to be best man at the wedding ceremony announced to take place on March 19 next, discovered

MINOR BUSINESS OF THE COUNCIL

Another Application Made for Permission to Erect a Building for 'Movies.'

PETITIONS RECEIVED

Two Concerns Ask to Be Allowed to Place Standard Electric Lights—Communications and Reports Take up Time.

The Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night, received another application for permission to erect a building for a moving picture theatre. William H. Abbott applied for permission to erect a fire-proof building on East Front street, opposite the Woodhull & Martin building, and in his communciation he stated that he would conform strictly to the building code, providing a twenty-five foot entrance with all the necessary exits. The application was referred to the fire and building committee with power.

Later when the question of the other application from Harry Dreier, Jacob Fass and Morris Abrams for permission to erect a similar building on West Front street, came up, there was some misunderstanding about the proceedure. The councilmen believed that both applications with plans should first be submitted to Building Inspector T. O. Doane before being passed upon by the Council and this was finally done.

E. W. Henck and others protested to the Council against the announced plan of the Board of Health to reopen the dump on Myrtle avenue, recalling what a nuisance it was before it was closed through the efforts of former Mayor C. J. Fisk. Mr. Mygatt endorsed the petition and requested that a copy of the communication be sent to the Board of Health. There is little likelihood of the dump being re-opened. So strong is the feeling against this action that several residents in the neighborhood have threatened to get an injunction against the city should the dump be re-opened.

CELEBRATED THEIR SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harding Are Presented With a Silver Service by Choir.

A quarter of a century of married life was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harding at their home on John street, last night, when they entertained 140 of their friends of this city, Dobbs Ferry and Yonkers, N. Y., and Newark. Mrs. Harding was formerly Miss Julia A. Kerwin and was born at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., where the couple were married at the Sacred Heart church on February 10, 1888. Both Mr. and Mrs. Harding are well known to a large circle of friends in this city, where they have resided for thirty-two years.

The choir of St. Mary's church, of which Mr. Harding has been a member for the past thirty-two years and of which Mrs. Harding was formerly a member, presented the couple with a handsome silver service. The choir also rendered several selections which were most pleasing.

Fathers Bogan and Hogan were among the honored guests.

HOTEL MAN'S WIFE HURT.

Mrs. John H. Willet, of North avenue, Westfield, narrowly escaped from serious injury at High Bridge a few days ago when she was hit in the eye by a match coming from the barrel of an air rifle in the hands of a thirteen-year-old nephew. The youngster ran out of ammunition and in place of real bullets substituted matches. The gun was accidentally discharged, the match hitting Mrs. Willet just below the eye ball. She is at present in a very nervous condition but it is not thought that her eyesight will be affected by the shot.

MUST SUPPORT CHILD.

Walter Smalley, of 324 Prescott place, was ordered by City Judge DeMeza this morning to deposit $2.50 every week with the Charity Organization Society for the support of his two-year old daughter, Alice Smalley. He was arrested yesterday on the complaint of Miss Mabelle Phillips, agent of the Charity Organization Society, who charged him with non-support of his child.

THIS BILL HARMFUL TO OUR COMMUNITY

Bill Introduced in Assembly Would Prevent Joint Sewer Scheme Plan.

Assembly bill No. 263, which was introduced in the Legislature on Tuesday and was referred to the committee on public health, is a duplicate of the Beard bill, which was vetoed by Governor Wilson last year. The bill prohibits municipalities acting alone or jointly to erect sewage disposal works outside its own borders. It wipes out the powers of the State Board of Health to adjudicate as to where disposal works shall or shall not be placed and yet would leave on the statute the necessity of establishing purification works given a municipality built up "solid," required to erect disposal works, but deprives of all State authority as to where such shall be placed. The question arises, what is such a municipality to do?

The bill is aimed at the Oranges by Bloomfield, Belleville and Nutley, but hits Plainfield, North Plainfield and all other municipalities seeking to solve this all-important question on a broad plane. Governor Wilson vetoed the Beard bill, which was similar, last year, on the ground that it would take away from the State Board of Health such power as in his opinion it should have in such matters.

MRS. LENA HOERSTER DID NOT PLEAD GUILTY

While counsel in the case of Mrs. Lena Hoerster, who was before Judge Daly in the Middlesex county court, yesterday, on a charge of illegal sale of liquor, agreed to the statement of facts, Mrs. Hoester did not plead guilty to the charge. It was understood that Judge Daly would charge the jury to return a verdict of guilt, which it did, but counsel for the defendant claimed that Mrs. Hoerster was not liable in selling liquor over five gallons in another county other than the one in which she did business.

It is understood that Mrs. Hoerster was advised by her counsel before selling the goods in question and it is proposed to test the right of the Middlesex county court to find the defendant guilty of the charge preferred.

JAIL FOR O'REILLY.

VERDICT AGAINST THEO. D. WILSON

Injured Husband Awarded $35,000 for Alienation of His Wife's Affections.

SUIT NOT CONTESTED

Defendant a Former Plainfield Common Councilman—Separated Long From His Wife Who Was Popular in Society Here.

Freehold, Feb. 11.—In the Monmouth County Court here yesterday a verdict of $35,000 was awarded to Malcolm Hufty, a Washington lawyer, against Theodore D. Wilson, a former resident of Plainfield and at one time a member of the Plainfield Common Council, on the ground that Mr. Wilson had alienated Mrs. Hufty's affections.

The action, which was for a $50,000 balm, was undefended and grew out of the disappearance in 1909 of Mrs. Hufty and her two little children from the Hufty home in Washington.

Mr. Hufty employed detectives and caused the arrest of Mr. Wilson on a train while it was passing through Monmouth county, in which is Asbury Park, where the warrant stated that Mrs. Hufty and Mr. Wilson had occupied the same cottage. As the complaint was a civil one, Mr. Wilson was released on nominal bail.

Mr. Hufty then began an action for divorce and a decree was granted him more than a year ago. In testifying yesterday, he said his law practice of $8,000 a year had dwindled to less than $2,000 and that his worries had made him a physical and nervous wreck. The jury deliberated only a short time when it found the verdict.

Mr. Wilson when a resident of this city lived on Evergreen avenue. Both he and his wife were more or less prominent in local society. Mr. Wilson while a councilman was chairman of the street committee and in many ways was active in city affairs. He was not generally considered an efficient councilman. His wife was very popular.

FINDLAY CAME NEAR GETTING A LICENSE

Vote in Secret Session of Council Was a Tie, Reville Not Casting Ballot.

Prior to the Common Council meeting, last night, the members held a caucus on the applications, particularly that of Alexander D. Findlay for a saloon permit. When an informal vote was taken, it is said that it stood five in favor of granting the application and five against, one member not voting. According to well-founded report, those who stood willing to vote for Findlay's application were Councilmen Wilson, Edgar, Blatz, Gloak and Endress, while those opposed were Councilmen Clay, Mygatt, Randolph, Calkins and vanHerwerden. Reville did not vote.

An interesting fact is that it was fully expected that Findlay's application would be acted upon, but between the time of holding the caucus and the Council meeting, a communcatio fronm Findlay withdrawing his application was placed in the hands of City Clerk James T. MacMurray. No one vouchsafed an explanation.

Another interesting fact is that Councilmen vanHerwerden and Endress, a majority of the license committee, were in favor of laying Watson's application on the table until after the trial of the slander suit of the applicant against Councilman Reville and in spite of that fact the license was granted. Councilman Randolph, the other member of the committee, was not in favor of laying the application over.

MADAME LOUISE HOMER TO GIVE RECITAL HERE

Charity Circle of the City Union of the King's Daughters at its regular meeting yesterday decided to engage Madame Louise Homer to give a recital here in the spring. The music loving public will be glad to have the opportunity to hear this popular artist in this city and her coming here will undoubtedly be the greatest event in local musical circles since the recital given by Schuman-Heinke.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram A. Woodruff, of Westervelt avenue, left this afternoon for Washington, D. C., where they will spend several days. Mr. Woodruff is summoned on official business and while in Washington will be entertained by United States Senator James E. Martine.

ABIDING BY WILL OF THE PEOPLE COUNCIL REFUSES NEW APPLICANTS

City Fathers Accept Verdict of Taxpayers and Only Grant Renewals to Present Licensees—Findlay Withdraws Petition and There is Only One Vote for Gloekler.

SUMMARIZED.

All new applications refused, excepting Findlay's, which was withdrawn.

Only one councilman, Endress, voted in favor of restoring Gloekler's license.

All renewal applications granted.

Watson's license renewed after motion by Councilman Reville that application be laid on table until slander suit brought against him by Watson be tried, Reville, VanHerwerden and Endress voting in favor of Reville motion.

FACTS.

Population, about	2[illegible],000
Saloon Licenses	3
Hotel Licenses	5
Wholesale Licenses	2

Saloon zone ordinance forbids application for licenses e pect within the business centre of the city.

Bishops Law of New Jersey patterned after Plainfield ordinances but is not so strict.

Retail License Fee	$1,200
Wholesale License Fee	1,000

Convinced that public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the present excise conditions in Plainfield, the Common Council at an adjourned meeting last night decided not to change them, but rather to follow the policy of past Councils and limit the number of licensed places to those now in existence. There was a unanimity of opinion regarding the action, with the exception of the application of Michael F. Watson, which was attacked by Councilman P. J. Reville, and that of Christian Gloekler, Councilman Fred Endress alone voting in favor of his application.

Alexander D. Findlay, who again asked for a saloon license, withdrew his application. No reason was given for this action, but it was rumored after the meeting that he might make another application later on possibly for another location. However, it is doubtful whether the Council would act favorably upon such an application this year, especially as the Council by its vote put itself on record to the effect that a license once revoked cannot be renewed.

Councilman P. J. Reville, who opposed Michael F. Watson's application, requested the Council to lay the same over until the latter's slander suit for $10,000 against him is tried, claiming that if Watson should get his license now the suit would never be tried. Mr. Reville failed in this, however, for the motion to lay over was lost by a vote of 8 to 3, Councilmen Endress, Reville and vanHerwerden voting in the affirmative and Councilmen Blatz, Calkins, Edgar, Gloak, Mygatt, Wilson, Randolph and Clay voting in the negative. The motion to grant Watson a license was carried by the same vote of 8 to 3.

It was a typical "license night" crowd that filled the lobby of the Council. The friends of the liquor interest were out in full force, and it was said that there was also present a representative of the State Liquor Dealers' Association, watching the proceedings. There was present representatives of the Federation of Men's Bible classes and church clubs, but not in such numbers as at the public hearing, it evidently being considered unnecessary to make a big showing last night.

Once or twice, while Councilman Reville was making his attack on Watson, the lobby broke forth in laughter, but was quickly quieted by President Clay, who declared that order must be maintained.

Immediately after the Council reached the "report of the license committee," it was a sign for the lobby to "sit up and take notice."

WHAT MR. REVILLE WANTED TO KNOW

Democratic Councilman Asks Some Questions of His Colleagues at Meeting.

Councilman Patrick J. Reville at last night's meeting of the Council raised the question as to whether any member of that body could be denied the privilege of attending any committee meeting, referring to his experience of last Friday night when he claims he was not permitted to attend a meeting of the police board.

President Clay said that he had been informed by City Clerk J. T. MacMurray that the chairman of a committee send out notices and determines who shall attend such meetings. So far as he knew there is nothing in the rules of the Council to govern the matter. Mr. Reville then suggested following Cushing's Manual, and Mr. Clay said that he would be pleased to look into the matter and report the result of his investigation.

Mr. Mygatt moved that the question be referred to the corporation counsel, but Mr. Reville thought that hardly necessary and seemed willing to have Mr. Clay determine the member's rights in such cases.

A breezy five minutes followed when Mr. Reville offered a resolution to the effect that the police chief be requested to keep the curtains of the patrol wagon drawn while it was passing through the streets of the city.

This brought Mr. Calkins, chairman of the police committee, to his feet with an objection to a consideration of the question. This prevailed, notwithstanding Mr. Reville's protest that the resolution was regular and he could see no reason for turning it down. He said that he would introduce the resolution at every meeting until acted upon.

After the meeting Mr. Calkins remarked that his reasons for objecting to the resolution was that the matter should go before the Council through the police committee and Mr. Reville's action was out of order.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE CHAMPIONS WINNERS

Mayor Clark Issues An Order Empowered by the Borough Council.

Advocates of the strict observance of the Sunday closing law in North Plainfield led by Lafayette Rosenstiehl, the Somerset street barber, presented a petition to the North Plainfield Council to have the "blue laws," strictly enforced and have won a victory. Resolutions had been adopted by that body placing in the hands of Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., full power to dispose of the petition in such manner as he deems advisable and late yesterday afternoon he issued signed orders to Chief Marshall Weiss to have every storekeeper notified to close shop 12 o'clock Saturday night and not to reopen until Monday morning.

The mandate of the Mayor, however, will not interfere with the delivery service. The order states that any food stuff or edible articles ordered on a week day can be delivered on the Sabbath.

Commenting on the victory which he was largely responsible for, Mr. Rosenstiehl said that he and his colleagues were not prompted by any personal reasons in their efforts to have the Sabbath observed in the borough. He said the same moral instincts which accompanied the action of the citizens of Plainfield to come out for the enforcement of the Sunday closing law prompted them to take a similar stand.

"I am extremely gratified at the result of our fight," he added, "and I think it will prove to be of general benefit to the borough at large."

EQUAL SUFFRAGISTS MUCH ENCOURAGED

Champlain L. Riley Delivers An Optimistic Address Before Local League.

That there is a "real live" suffrage campaign going on in the little old conservative State of New Jersey was the opinion expressed at the meeting of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, held at the home of the president, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, on Mercer avenue, yesterday afternoon. In fact it was passed from mouth to mouth that New Jersey could no longer be considered conservative, but is now numbered among the most progressive of the Eastern States.

Champlain L. Riley was the speaker, taking the place of Miss Bessie Pope, who was detained by illness in her family. In a fifteen minute address he outlined the suffrage work of New Jersey and then tea was served. During a social half-hour there was considered interest in the plans for the trip to Trenton on the "Votes for Women Special," to attend the legislative hearing on Tuesday, February 18. A large number signified their intention of making the trip.

In describing the suffrage work in New Jersey, Mr. Riley reviewed the efforts of Mrs. Everett Colby and Mrs. E. F. Feickert. He urged all who possibly can, to attend the hearing at Trenton. He announced that a plan of publicity will be developed after the voting on the bill. For if the bill passes the Legislature, suffragists have still to reach the great voting public to whom the question must finally be submitted.

WILLIAM A. GAHAGAN HAS PASSED AWAY

After Long Illness, Well Known Resident Succumbs to Heart Disease.

William A. Gahagan, aged 64 years, died at his home, 519 Belvidere avenue, last night, of heart trouble with which he had been suffering since February 5 last. Mr. Gahagan was born in Belfont, Pa., December 22, 1848. He served as a drummer boy in the Civil War in which his father and brother, John, lost their lives. At the age of fifteen years he went to New York and secured a position in a large marble works. Soon afterward he was able to take his mother and brother to New York to live with him.

Later he engaged in business for himself on Grand street, Jersey City, and afterward removed to larger quarters, at which place the business is now located in that city. The business is now the second largest of its kind in the State. Mr. Gahagan was a member of the Mother Lodge, F. and A. M., of Jersey City, for over forty years.

Beside a widow he leaves five daughter, Mrs. Walter J. Gorman and Mrs. E. Homan, of Jersey City; Mrs. James A. Wright, of Bayonne; Mrs. A. Sheelan, of Fanwood, and Mrs. C. M. Hetfield, of this city; a son, Edward F. Gahagan, of Jersey City; one brother, Harry S. Gahagan, of Lock Haven, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. A. Scull, of Jersey City.

The funeral will be held at the late home, the notice to be given later, and the burial will be in Jersey City at the convenience of the family.

SERIOUSLY HURT.

Mrs. Frederick A. Westphal, wife of the late Frederick A. Westphal, who formerly conducted a grocery store at the corner of Liberty and West Fourth streets, fell and broke her leg while climbing the stairs at her home in Newark yesterday. Because of her age her condition is considered to be critical.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 30 degrees; 11 a. m., 20 degrees; 1 p. m., 36 degrees.

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

Westfield.

Under an agreement of the Retail Merchants' Association, all places of business will be closed Lincoln's Birthday.

The question of a municipal garbage, collection and disposal system has been shelved for the present. Mayor Evans contends that the plans proposed by the Board of Health would require the expenditure of more money than would be advisable at this time.

Newton W. Bolen, superintendent of transportation of the Public Service Railway Company, has informed the Board of Health that the cars of the Main line will be kept in better condition in the future, and he has asked for copies of the ordinances of the boards of health through which the line runs, in order that the requirements may be complied with.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The council of the Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House will meet tonight. Several matters of importance will come up for discussion.

Joseph Carrona, of Stanbery avenue, who has spent a number of years in Nebraska, left yesterday for that State to remain for an indefinite period.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, has asked that no basketball games be played in the Parish House on Wednesday evenings during Lent, so that these attractions will not interfere with the Lenten services. As several games have been scheduled to be played on these nights, the captains of the various teams are in a quandery, although it is probable that the contests will be cancelled and other dates arranged for. The matter will undoubtedly be settled at the council meeting tonight.

The foul and guide lines of the basketball court in the Parish House were repainted yesterday.

Several new books were added to the library in the Parish House today.

Eugene Lidgate, the local athlete and star baseball player, has begun tentative training for the opening of the season. His basketball playing this winter has kept him in fairly good shape but he has now taken to the weights, to condition his throwing wing.

CHEAPER LIGHT FOR SOMERVILLE BOROUGH

Council Takes No Action on Proposed Five Years' Contract with P. S. C.

Somerville, Feb. 11.—A petition was received by the Council last night from the Eastern Realty Company requesting the borough to extend its present sewer system past its property in East Somerville. H. K. Gassaway spoke in relation to the building lines along the streets, and urged action to preserve the symmetry of the streets. The present building line, on other thoroughfares than Main street, is fifteen feet from the curb but he urged the adoption of an ordinance or ordinances in accordance with the wishes of a majority of the residents on each individual street. Jacob Klotz was reappointed street superintendent.

Councilman Wright recommended that a five-year contract be made with the Public Service Corporation for street lights, at the new rate which would mean an annual saving of about $100 over the present rate. Some wanted to know if the service was to be improved any under the new contract, and even hinted that the borough is not getting the result from the arc lights in the borough that was expected. There are 13 arc lights, of 1,200 candle power each and some of the members were inclined to think that better results would be had if these were superseded by an equivalent number of incandescent lights of 18 candle power each. The matter was laid over for one month.

Mayor Steele stated that he had received a number of complaints of the manner in which the Eastern and North Gaston avenues storm drains were being put down, and Engineer Doughty was called on for a statement. He denied that the sewer was being improperly built, or that the pipe used was of an inferior grade. He stated that in order to avoid some house connections on the sanitary sewer the drain had to be cut at one point and a well built, and that the sewer pipe only projected in the storm drain about 6 inches at the top but that this would not interfere with its carrying capacity. Some of the members of the Council were inclined to the belief that the present kick over the construction of the drain was because some of the residents wanted some way to get out of paying their assessments.

Councilman Bellis reported that a small block on North Bridge street had been improved by the use of slag from the iron works, with a top dressing of cinders, and recommended that the other dirt streets of the borough be treated in like manner, at a cost of about $3,000, and this was so ordered.

The overseer of the poor was authorized to rent desk room in an office at a cost of $3 per month. The bonds of Collector J. K. Brokaw, Constables J. B. Herder and S. W. Davenport were referred to the counsel.

Complaint was made of the number of dogs running at large, nearly all without the customary tag, and the police will be ordered to shoot all such dogs if they are not licensed within the next thirty days.

SENATE PUTS AN END TO PETTY FORM OF GRAFT

Trenton, Feb. 11.—In executive session last night the Senate, by a strict party voted, passed a resolution that hereafter all copies of the printed bills pending in the Senate must be obtained from the bill clerks. The Senate bill room will be kept locked and the lock sealed except when the bill clerks are present to distribute the bills. The action will likely cause a lot of criticism, as it has always been regarded that the bills were printed for the general public who may be interested in them. After the Senate adjourns for the week the bill clerks are not often at the State House and this will make it difficult to obtain copies of bills.

The Democrats favored the resolution and it was opposed by the Republicans. It has been the custom for certain persons not connected with the Senate to furnish bills to clients for a compensation, the bills being mailed weekly. Some of the Democratic eSnators referred to this as graft and thought that all bills should be distributed by the bill clerks. The Republicans queried whether the bill clerks were to mail bills to clients for pay, they being already under pay of the Senate, and if so wherein lay the difference? The Democrats, however, voted the resolution through.

ANOTHER VICE CHANCELLOR.

Trenton, Feb. 11.—The Senate last evening passed President Fielder's bill providing for the appointment of another Vice Chancellor in the State, thus increasing the number from seven to eight. Mr. Fielder stated that the present vice chancellors are not able to dispose of the great volume of business and that the litigants before the court are subjected to long delays and great inconveniences. The measure was opposed by Senators Read and Nichols.

COUNCIL'S VERDICT.

Long before the Common Council organized on January 1, the Daily Press warned the people of the community that there was a scheme underway to turn the city into a "wide open" town. Not only was the plan to largely increase the number of liquor licenses but it actually included an arrangement to restore the Findlay and Gloekler saloon licenses and even to either abolish or to amend the Tyler saloon zone ordinance. As soon as the Daily Press learned of the scheme, it began a persistent campaign through its editorial columns to arouse the citizens. It appealed to all those having the best interests of the community at heart to organize against any change in the present conditions and to make a demonstration as a protest.

Then as now, the Daily Press did not for a moment entertain the idea that the Common Council would thus stultify itself, but that a few of its members might unwittingly give aid and comfort to the scheme, and it was considered best to sound the alarm, thus rallying the forces of good citizenship. The Daily Press kept hammering away and it was not long before a thorough organization was effected by an army of voters who considered that Plainfield's saloon business is well regulated and that it would be disastrous to make any change. The climax came when a great demonstration was held. At a public hearing given by the Common Council and attended by a great crowd of citizens, representative men acting as spokesmen sounded a mighty protest against any increase in the number of licenses, and particularly against restoring to either Gloekler or Findlay their retail licenses, and further, against tampering with the Tyler zone ordinance.

The result was, just as we expected, the Common Council went on record last night in favor of continuing conditions as they are. Only the present licenses were renewed, and thanks, hearty thanks and congratulations, are due to the Common Council and the men who organized to voice the sentiment of the community.

MARKS HISTORIC SPOT.

A memorial stone and bronze tablet are to be set up at Roselle Park by the Boudinot Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, whose headquarters are in Elizabeth, to mark the spot where the British and Hessians turned into Galloping Hill road on the two expeditions to Connecticut Farms and to Springfield, on June 3 and 23, 1780, on each occasion being held in check and finally being forced to return more precipitately than they came. The dedication of the new memorial will take place on June 7 next. The stone will be of the best Vermont granite.

Near the spot where the monument is to be erected the home of General William Crane, an ardent patriot of the Revlution, still stands. Nearby a son of General Crane is said to have been bayoneted to death by a British soldier. The tablet inscription will include a sentence from Washington's report to Congress on the conduct of the Jersey militia at the battle of Springfield: "They flew to arms universally and acted with a spirit equal to anything I have seen during the war."

MONEY TO BE SHORT.

The United States Fine Arts Commission having notified Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh that it has approved designs for the reverse sides of the small-sized paper currency which will be put in circulation February 1, 1914, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing has begun the making of 1,000 plates for the new currency, which is one-quarter of an inch shorter than the old notes. The design will be a figure symbolic of agriculture on the left side, and on the right-hand side one of commerce. In the centre, will appear a group of three figures, America, Peace and Plenty. The secretary has not approved the designs for the face of the notes, except the $1 bills, which bears an engraving of George Washington.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

It has ceased being plain graft in New York's police department. The traffic has risen to the dignity of a vested interest. Undoubtedly it would create hardship in many quarters to destroy the business. Why not regulate it by law? Such captains, for instance as have recently paid $10,000—or whatever the accepted price of a captaincy is—will thus be protected from an almost total loss of their investment.

From North Plainfield comes the report that Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., will be presented as a candidate for the Assembly next fall and that Charles P. Sebring, who hails from the borough, also will be a candidate for sheriff. It would seem as though the borough at the extreme easterly end of the county were expecting more than its share of political plums in a single year.—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

How impudent of North Plainfield? Hasn't it been taught for years that Somerville will supply all the men for office and that all North Plainfield needs do is to supply the large share of the taxes for county purposes?

The Calkins Doctrine is virile enough, fair enough and representative enough of public sentiment to stand with the Tyler Zone as a twin gem of liquor license control in this city.

FAVORABLE REPORTED SEVEN SISTERS BILLS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 11.—After having decided to postpone action of Gov. Wilson's seven anti-trust bills until Thursday the Senate Judiciary Committee was today called into special session to consider the measure and reported favorably on them after numerous amendments had been attached.

RUSH U. S. BATTLESHIPS; MADERO ORDERS FIGHT

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Mexico City, Feb. 11.—Three thousand federal infantry and cavalry proceeded from the National Palace courtyard, upon orders from President Madero, to the arsenal and barracks, both of which are held by the rebels. The strength of the insurgents is equal to that of the loyal forces.

Mexico City, Feb. 11.—Loyal Madero troops are slowly closing in on the followers of Felix Diaz. Fighting is looked for at any time.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning the Battleships Virginia and Georgia left Guantanamo for Mexico. The Virginia will proceed to Vera Cruz and the Georgia to Tampico. Orders have been given to the Colorado and South Dakota, at San Diego, to steam to Mexican ports on the Pacific side today.

A few lines of classified advertising will do the work of ten thousand placards.

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ.

Leader of Revolution Which Has Overthrown Madero Government.

General Felix Diaz, nephew of former President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico, is the leader of the new revolution there which promised to completely overthrow the Madero government. He is the man who led the sudden uprising in Vera Cruz a few months ago and was arrested and sentenced to death. He was delivered from jail by his friends and immediately led an attack upon Madero, who took refuge in his palace. About 300 were slain.

BANKER INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Money Probers Charge George Henry With Contempt.

Washington, Feb. 11.—George G Henry of New York, member of W Salomon & Co., bankers, was indicted by the federal grand jury for contempt of a congress committee for refusing to tell the house money trust investigators the names of twenty-four bank officers who participated with profit in a syndicate operation in California petroleum stock.

A bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

New York, Feb. 11.—George Garr Henry, who has been socially prominent for some years in Morristown, N. J., is well known in the financial district of this city. Before entering the private banking house of Salomon & Co. he was a vice president of the Union Trust company, where he established and became the manager of the bond department. Prior to this he was a vice president of the Guaranty Trust company.

Mr. Henry is a son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. George A. Henry of Morristown. His wife was Miss Elizabeth Lloyd Lee of Alexandria, Va.

Cravath, Henderson & De Gersdorff of 52 William street and ex-Senator John Spooner represent Mr. Henry They announced that they were going to fight Mr. Henry's indictment all the way to the United States supreme court.

Mr. Henry told a reporter he wasn't the least bit worried.

"They had to have a test case," he said, "and every test case has to have a goat. In this case I'm the goat, and that's all there is to it."

EDISON SIXTY-SIX TODAY.

Inventor Is In Excellent Health, Both Physical and Mental.

New York, Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, is celebrating today his sixty-sixth birthday with a mind clearer than ever and in perfect physical health.

There may be some sort of demonstration at his shops, but this is not likely, as Mr. Edison is not in favor of demonstrations. He still follows his rule of sleeping only four hours, working twenty and eating sparingly. He ascribes most of the ills to which human flesh is heir to overindulgence.

ACCUSED AS THIEF.

Annie Ebel, of this city, was arrested at 11:30 o'clock last night on a warrant sworn out by Frederick L. Hebert, of 6 Verdon street, who claimed that she stole a gold Swiss movement watch from his home. The borough authorities notified the Plainfield police department and she was arrested last night. This morning papers were presented by the borough police and she was taken to the North Plainfield jail. Judge Snape remanded her on $150 bail to appear before him Friday night at 8 o'clock.

LECTURE ON POLAND.

Paul Kozielek, of Detroit, Mich., who recently returned from Poland with a number of views of that country, will deliver an illustrated lecture at the monthly "Ladies' Night" entertainment of the Men's club of the Congregational church tomorrow night. THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

A bill is pending in the United States Senate for the repeal of the statute recently enacted which exempts American shipping engaged in the coastwise trade from the payment of tolls for the use of the Panama Canal. Those who believe, as does the writer, that this statute is doubly vicious in that it is in violation of our treaty obligations, and further in that it is practically a subsidy to a class already enjoying a monopoly, must desire to see the repeal enacted into law. Bills to subsidise American shipping, in the hope of increasing shipbuilding in this county, have appeared regularly for many years, only to be defeated. Now a subsidy has been given to those ship owners least requiring it. For this both Democrats and Republicans are equally responsible. I appeal to all your readers who are opposed to subsidy in any form, to write to Senators Martine and Briggs, urging them to vote for the repeal; and if it shall pass the Senate, to write to Mr. Tuttle to the same effect.

THAT COUNTY TAX BODY AGAIN GETS A ROAST

The Somerset County Board of Taxation again came in for criticism last night and this time at the hands of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society. At a meeting of this organization the board was severely censured for its action in having ordered payment of taxes to Warren Township, on disputed territory, claiming that the tax assessors had previously passed a resolution to the effect that no taxes should be paid to either municipality until the matter was settled. A resolution was adopted to take action. A small strip of land which both townships claim is the "disputed territory" referred to.

Dr. Richard Moldenke gave an interesting account of his recent trip to various States' asylums and homes for unfortunates, as a member of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Epileptic Village. Following Dr. Moldenke's address dancing was enjoyed and invitations were distributed for a reception and dance to be held tomorrow night in the society's hall, in Watchung.

CO. K'S MARK OF ESTEEM FOR RETIRING LIEUTENANT

By a unanimous vote it was decided at the monthly business meeting of Company K held last night to present engrossed resolutions to Lieut. Nathaniel A. Hort, who recntly resigned, expressing the esteem in which he is held by the guardsmen. Lieut. A. R. Phillips, First Sergt. George L. Apgar and Corp. James A. Thompson will act as a committee for that purpose.

Tickets, for the admission to the Trenton Armory for the Regimental parade and review before Brig. Gen. Dennis F. Collins to be held tomorrow afternoon and night, were distributed to the men by Capt. Charles A. Peterson. The local company will leave Plainfield at 12:53 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, but Capt. Peterson is trying to arrange matters so that men that will be unable to catch that train will be able to take the 6:44 train.

The local company it is probable will take part in the Inauguration parade at Washington March 3, 4 and 5. It is expected that the formal notice will be given at Trenton tomorrow. Two new members were received in the organization last night. A non-commissioned officers school was held by the captain.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PUPILS ENGAGE IN A CONTEST

Selected vocalists from the Plainfield, North Plainfield, Westfield and Bound Brook High Schools, representing Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties, entertained a large audience of music lovers last night in the Westfield theatre at Westfield. The event was the first annual musical festival given under the auspices of the State Music Supervisors' Association. The chorus from each institution skillfully rendered selections under the leadership of their respective instructors. The combined orchestra of the Westfield and Bound Brook High Schools also pleased their hearers with difficult selections from the composition of famous masters, under the direction of Herbert Lloyd, music instructor in North Plainfield and Bound Brook schools. Under the direction of Charles L. Lewis, music master of the Plainfield schools, forty pupils won great applause by their performance.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES DECIDE ON A STRIKE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Feb. 11.—The total vote cast by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and non-members was 33,916, of which 32,718 were for a strike. The vote on 19 of the 54 eastern railroads involved was unanimous.

The firemen after a refusal by the committee of railroad managers to accept their terms in the wage dispute retired from the meeting and will prepare a letter to be sent to Chairman Lee this afternoon.

POSTPONE ACTION ON SIX YEARS TERM BILL

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Feb. 11.—The House Judiciary Committee today voted to postpone until the next session of Congress all action on proposed amendment to the constitution providing a single term of six years for the president. This will prevent legislation of this kind at this session.

PROCTOR'S CLEVER SHOW.

"The Love Trust," the last word in grace and beauty of women, beautiful costumes, with a bright and witty sketch, is the headline act at Proctor's theatre, this week. The original and famous Corinne, the public's favorite of not long ago, appears in a comedy playlet entitled "The Dressmaker's Bill," in which she introduces some fine specialties. John LeClaire, comedy juggler; Burt and Smith, comedians; Watson and Little, a neat refined comedy and singing act, completes a strong bill.

HOLIDAY PICTURE SHOW.

A special program of motion picture films has been arranged for Lincoln's Birthday at the local Y. M. C. A., afternoon and evening. The films will include "A Day at West Point," "A Mid-Summer's Night Dream," "Two Highland Lads," "The Mended Lute."

TERESTING SCENES IN THE STREETS OF MEXICO'S NATIONAL CAPITAL, WHERE PANDEMONIUM EXISTS FOLLOWING UPRISINGS

CROWDS OUTSIDE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ

TYPES OF MEXICAN CAVALRY

FROM THE "SPHERE."

A condition bordering on anarchy is now existing in Mexico City, following the insurrection which has arisen among the Mexican soldiers. The situation is believed to be beyond the control of the Mexican government. The public buildings have been seized by the federal troops, who have revolted and are being led by Felix Diaz. President Madero, who is a prisoner in the palace, is likely to be taken by the revolutionists at any time.

Colonel Diaz is a nephew of Porfirio Diaz, who was ousted from the Presidency and took refuge in flight just prior to the revolution which resulted in placing Madero in the Presidential chair. For weeks there has been a feeling of unrest, but so quietly all arrangements for the revolt made that when the uprising came it found the federal government unprepared to cope with the situation.

The residents of the city are in a state of terror, and so far none has been able to forecast just what is in store for them. The adherents of the Madero government realize that their safety lies in flight, and they are leaving the city as speedily and stealthily

REFUSE NEW APPLICANTS

Councilman vanHerwerden, chairman of the committee, was about to move action on the various applications, when Councilman Leighton Calkins said that he desired to speak on the subject of licenses before the vote was taken. There being no objection, President Clay allowed the member the privilege of the floor and he outlined what proved to be a confirmation of the policy of previous Councils, as follows:

"I think the Common Council has an opportunity by its vote tonight to take a long stride in the direction of settling the liquor question for all time. It is the duty of the Common Council under Section 30 of the City Charter to regulate and prohibit the sale of liquor only in the interest of the city as a whole. We are not to consider individuals; we are not to consider different sections of the city. The test is the public welfare.

"Now we have before us three classes of applications for licenses, (1), two retail applications from dealers whose licenses have previously been revoked for cause; (2), three new applications for wholesale licenses; and (3), ten renewals of existing licenses.

Dealing with these three classes of applications, with an eye solely to the public welfare, we immediately encounter a perfectly simple rule of action for each class.

"1. The Gloekler and Findlay licenses, the first of which was unanimously revoked two years ago, and the second last year by a vote of eight to two. In my judgment it is the duty of this honorable body to deny both applications for the purpose of establishing an unwritten law or precedent that when a license has once been revoked by the Common Council for cause, it will never be renewed. The argument that the offender has been punished enough, or has promised to be good in the future, should not avail. The liquor business is different from the business of the butcher, and the baker, and the candle-stock maker, because no one will deny that in a sense it is a dangerous business, that is, it cannot be conducted at all without a considerable risk to the welfare of the city, public order and public decency. The public welfare therefore demands a strict rule; in fact a harsh rule if you wish to put it that way. It is imperative in order that the city may be able to regulate the liquor business properly and in the interest of the people as a whole, that it shall be the unwritten law that a license once revoked for cause cannot be renewed. If an apparent hardship results from our first application of such a rule, the answer should be that individual interests must give way before the welfare of the community.

"2. With regard to the three new applications for wholesale licenses, the rule of action in the interest of the public applied to this class of cases is simply the absolute necessity of having some limit. I am not here to argue that eight retailers and two wholesalers constitute the only rational limit. Possibly ten retailers and four wholesalers would not constitute a dangerous limit, but that is not the point. The point is that we must have some limit; and we now have a limit by custom and it should stand until the people show in some way by a preponderance of sentiment that a new limit is desired. The recent public hearing showed conclusively a strong sentiment in favor of the present limit. Not a single citizen of the city arose at that meeting to demand that the limit be raised. Only one voice was heard and that was in favor of three individual applicants. It was a perfectly frank and courageous voice, but it was admittedly the voice of an agent or representative speaking for individual interests and not the voice of a citizen speaking from a disinterested point of view.

"The people of the city may be in favor of more licenses, but if so they are strangely silent. So far as the sentiment is known, it is overwhelmingly in favor of maintaining the present limit.

"3. With regard to the ten renewals of existing licenses. I am unable to agree with those who have argued that since the ordinance requires each proprietor to apply for his license yearly, he has no rights which should be considered and that his license can be taken from him according to the momentary whim of the Common Council. Here again there is a simple rule of public policy to apply, namely, that so long as we are to have a restricted number of saloons, it should be the unwritten law that a proprietor who keeps within the letter and the spirit of the law and maintains an orderly place of business, will be protected in his business and in his investment. Legally he may have no more claim for renewal than the man who rents my house for a single term, but morally he has a claim on us and a right to the square deal; the people as a whole that he gets a and it is clearly in the interest of square deal.

"To summarize:

"The three general rules of vital importance to a sane and safe regulation of the liquor business are:

"(1) A revoked license is gone forever;

"(2) Good conduct will earn a renewal as a matter of course;

"(3) The present limit should be maintained because some limit is imperative, and it is impossible to have any limit the moment we begin to make exceptions.

"I will add one exception to the rule that a revoked license can never be renewed. It will occur to everyone. If a license is revoked on perjured evidence, it is fair that the case should be reopened. But the time and way to re-open such a case is not a year later by making a new application, but immediately after the revocation goes into effect. The present Council has been assured by previous license committees that although Findlay's case was decided on short notice, no substantial injustice was done. In other words, whatever injustice there was was purely technical, and on the merits the same action would have followed another hearing on that case. There is no good reason, therefore, for the Findlay case standing in the way of laying down at the present time the rule above referred to, that when a license is revoked it shall not be renewed.

"I hope that this Council will take a stand which will not only benefit the public by laying down several rules of action for the future, but in practice will benefit and reward the honest liquor dealer and protect him in his business and livelihood."

Following the remarks by Mr. Calkins, the applications were then taken up in order and the following were granted, Councilmen Endress and Reville voting against the application of Frank Linke.

Henry F. Windham, Hotel Waldorf, East Front street; Jacob Blimm, Jr., saloon, Somerset street; Ellsworth C. Westcott, saloon, East Front street; Godfrey J. Weinman, saloon, Park avenue; John Clark, saloon, West Third street; Michael F. Watson, saloon, Grant avenue; John H. Kitchen, Hotel Kensington, North avenue; Peter Floersch, Queen City Hotel, Park avenue; Frank Linke, wholesale, West Front street; Eastern Bottling Company, wholesale, West Second street.

Christian Gloekler's application for a saloon license at West Front and Somerset streets, was refused, and Alexander D. Findlay's application for a saloon license on East Second street, was withdrawn. The applications of Thomas Traynor for a wholesale license on Somerset street, that of George Alcorn for a wholesale license at 117 North avenue and Morris Latzko for a wholesale license at 144 North avenue, were denied by a full vote. A letter from Mr. Findlay explained that he did not care to have his application acted upon at this time.

Before Watson's application was voted upon, Mr. Reville said that he would like to have a word. He explained that a year ago he opposed this application, with the result that a slander suit for $10,000 had been filed against him by Watson, but that the case had been postponed five times and only recently Watson had offered to settle for $35.

Mr. Reville believed that when Watson was granted a license a wrong was done, but that it is never too late to right a wrong, and he then proceeded to read from old files of the Daily Press giving detailed accounts of the arrest of Watson for illegal liquor selling during the several years that the city prosecuted him.

Mr. Reville said that a year ago when he protested against the applicant, many thought it a personal affair, but the newspaper stories he thought showed otherwise. He asked the Council to lay the application over at least until the slander suit is tried. He also brought before the Council protests from young men, whose families had suffered, he said, because of Watson's saloon. He said that he could produce more evidence, but inasmuch as it would injure his suit he declined.

Mr. Mygatt said that Watson had been granted a license for sixteen years and during the six years he had been in the Council he did not recall any protest. In answer to a question put to him by Mr. Reville, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray said that the Pond Tool Works had protested against a license being granted to Watson. Mr. Blatz said that he had received no protests and he did not think it fair to ask the Council to refuse the license. Mr. Wilson said that he had received no complaints and Watson's record was good now.

Both Mr. Calkins and Mr. Mygatt spoke regarding the protests against John Clark's saloon, explaining that the affidavits filed did not seem to warrant a refusal of his application. If conditions were as reported, they thought it was a matter for the police to handle.

SENATOR SMALLEY'S BILL.

Trenton, Feb. 11.—A bill introduced in the Senate last evening by Mr. Smalley, of Somerset county, provides that a part of the funds received from fines and other sources may be used for examining and testing road materials and pavements. GROSS TAX UNFAIRNESS BEFORE REAL LIVE PARTY

A protest against the higher ratables levied on residential than on business property was made at a meeting of the West End Civic Association last night in the auditorium of the Washington School, when Jacob Sachar, one of the largest taxpayers in the West End, brought the matter to the attention of the body, quoting figures to substantiate his claim. The protest was referred to the tax and assessment committee, of which John J. Praed is chairman.

The recent sewer assessment levy was also discussed by the association and the tax and assessment committee was ordered to investigate in the interest of the body and to prepare a report to be submitted at the next meeting of the executive committee on Thursday, February 20, at the home of John J. Carroll, in West Fifth street. Mr. Carroll, who reports the Common Council meetings' proceedings to the association, said he would urge that the association bring influence to bear on the city officials in an attempt to compel the Public Service Corporation to supply better lighting facilities in Plainfield.

Twenty-eight candidates have been elected to membership and a public meeting is to be held during the early part of March.

MUST SERVE SIXTY DAYS.

David Smith, aged 49 years, of 20 Steiner place, was taken to the Somerset county jail this afternoon to serve the suspended sentence of 60 days held over him yesterday if he should appear in the borough police headquarters again on the charge of intoxication. Yesterday Smith was before Recorder Gano on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, sentence was suspended with the warning of a sixty-day term if he should be arraigned again. Last night word was sent in to headquarters that Smith was in the same condition. Marshal Pope immediately took charge of the man.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SERVING SPARERIBS.

SPARERIBS are inexpensive, and yet they may be prepared in many delicious ways.

Horseradish sauce should be served with spareribs. Apple sauce, which is always acceptable with pork, may accompany them. Potatoes boiled in their skins go with the spareribs.

Baked and Boiled.

Baked Spareribs.—Select fresh, well covered spareribs. Rub the meat with salt, pepper and flour, put on a rack in the dripping pan, with two cupfuls of boiling water, and place in a hot oven for two hours, basting often. When well browned take out, pour all the fat off the gravy. Pour into the gravy one cupful of hot water and one tablespoonful of flour. Serve with boiled potatoes, mashed turnips, stewed onions or cooked cabbage.

These Keep Well.

Salted Spareribs. — This is a good way to cook spareribs when it is not convenient to use them at once. Treated thus, they may be kept in good condition for three or four days. You must rub them all over with a handful of salt and let them lie with the salt until they are to be used. When they are to be cooked wash well in cold water, place in a cooking vessel on the fire, cover with cold water and boil them slowly for about an hour and a half, when they should be done. They may be boiled with any kind of vegetables you like.

A German Favorite.

Sauerkraut and Spareribs. — Wash three pounds of nice fresh spareribs in cold water. Take a saucepan and put a quart and a half of sauerkraut into it. Lay the spareribs on top and cover with boiling water. Put the saucepan on the fire and cook slowly. The sauerkraut and spareribs should be done in about an hour and a half. Then take out the spareribs and lay them on a hot plate. Now take a peeled raw potato, grate it and add it to the sauerkraut and cook for ten minutes longer. Then kraut and spareribs are ready to serve. Mashed potatoes are nice with these.

Plain, but Palatable.

Spareribs With Sauce. — Wash and wipe about three pounds of fresh spareribs. Season with a tablespoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of pepper. Place the meat in a saucepan on the fire, with a half tablespoonful each of lard and butter. Cook until the spareribs begin to brown. When brown add a half cupful of boiling water. Then cover and let cook for about an hour more, adding more water if the half cupful boils away. When done place the spareribs on a hot dish. Serve with gravy.

VOGUE POINTS.

Wonderful Contrasts in Artistic Blendings in Spring Fancy.

Some of the wonderful contrasts of color this year are bright blue with china pink, vivid green with deep violet, capucine with punch red.

Green, purple and dark blue is a combination actually seen in tailored suits, and a charming one, because the green is just right.

Dresses that are made with berthas are always pretty for little girls. This one is in handkerchief style, giving becoming lines and folds, while it is very easy to make. The skirt of the dress is straight, too, so that both skirt and bertha can be made of embroidery.

LITTLE GIRL'S DRESS.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from four to eight years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7724, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

OLD COVERLETS.

Ways of Reproducing Colonial Block and Constellation Patterns.

The average woman of today cannot weave the blue and white coverlets of colonial times, says the Woman's Home Companion, but there is a method aside from this by which the beautiful designs may be reproduced, and that is by darning them in on huckaback. Wonderful results can be secured in this way. They are not difficult to make. They closely resemble the original pieces and have much of the same durability. To make them huckaback of a coarse weave is chosen. It is twenty-five inches wide, and, like the fabric of the old coverlets, two or more lengths must be seamed together to give the correct width for a coverlet. It may not be possible to secure the material in the extreme width mentioned in all sections of the country, but if it cannot be found twenty-two inch huckaback, the more ordinary width, will answer the purpose.

BLOCK AND MOON AND STAR DESIGNS.

Yet while the width of the huckaback is not important it is essential to have it coarse, for the use of fine huckaback not only doubles the labor, but makes the design too small for real beauty if it is used on a large piece. Besides the huckaback, one needs Spanish yarn, of which the darkest shade of blue should be chosen. It takes about one and one-half skeins to make one square of the designs shown.

Whichever pattern is chosen, the first step is to run in the long lines on the entire surface, both under the design and between its different figures. These lines are put in lengthwise, parallel with the selvage of the huckaback, picking up the little crosswise threads until the surface presented has the effect of blue lines running in one direction and white lines running in the other.

The design must now be worked upon this surface. The simplest one is that made entirely of blocks, each block formed of a number of small squares.

JUST SUGGESTIONS.

Wear amber and jet if you would guard against throat diseases.

A very hot lemonade the last thing at night and plenty of warm blankets will break up a cold if taken at the beginning.

In some cases very tender and easily chapped skin will yield to the treatment of glycerin applied immediately after washing, when the skin is moist. Do not apply it to a dry skin. Rub thoroughly into the skin and then rub with a good cream.

Physical ailments in child and mother have just one origin in the physical system itself. You can be cool in hot weather and warm in cold weather and well in any kind of weather if you take care of yourself regardless of the weather. One of the first guardian steps to that care is to saturate yourself and your child with fresh air morning, noon and night.

If there is much sewing to do—and at this season of the year there is generally piles of it—the seamstress, dressmaker or mother of a large family, as the case may be, should take care that her eyes are not strained or allowed to become overtired by close application to the stitching of seams, working of buttonholes and the thousand other tasks that are necessary when dressmaking is being done.

Bunny Sandwiches.

Sandwiches attractively served are always appetizing, and for a gathering of little folks they should be novel in form. These are cut in the shape of rabbits. The bread, thinly sliced, is cut into shape by the use of a cardboard pattern. Half the number cut are spread with a chocolate and nut filling and then topped with the remaining bunnies, says Harper's Bazar. A bit of melted chocolate is then dropped on to simulate an eye. Any other animal shape may be used instead of the bunny, and the same idea may be applied to any odd shaped sandwiches that you can cut out with a knife or a cutter.

A few lines of To Let advertising will bring the tenant you ought to have had before.

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND IN POND

Discovery of Anna Clark's Body Clears Mystery.

SHE WAS FROZEN UNDER ICE

Rahway Police Declare That There Was No Indication of Foul Play. Many Theories Were Advanced at the Time Child Was Missed.

Rahway, N. J., Feb. 11.—The body of six-year-old Anna Clark of this city was found in Potter's pond, close to her home. It was clear that the child had tumbled into the poud by accident, and the police declared that there was no indication of foul play. The child has been missing from home a week.

The finding of the body effectually disposes of the theory at first held, that she had been kidnaped or had met with evil treatment. The body was found about six hours after Chief of Police David Ramsay and a force of men had bored many holes through the six inches of ice that covered the pond, through which they probed its muddy bottom.

Anna Clark was one of the five children of Charles Clark, who is not financially well to do. There was a policy on her life for $40, the last premium on which was paid recently. At the same time another child was born, making the stress of the Clarks' circumstances more severe.

A dozen theories were held at the time the child was missed. She was last seen near the pond, playing with a fox terrier. The pond at that time was not frozen. Among the theories advanced was that the little girl had been run down by an automobile and her body thrown into bushes at the roadside. An idea that she had been kidnaped for ransom was abandoned when her parents' circumstances were considered.

So interested had the entire community become in the case the common council of Rahway notified Chief of Police Ramsay that it would pay a reward of $50 for the recovery of Anna Clark, alive or dead.

The pond is about fifty feet from the Clark home, 500 feet long and forty or fifty feet its greatest width. Sheriff William Wright was much exercised over the case and criticised the chief of police for his lack of activity. He intimated that if Anna Clark had been the child of wealthy parents more zeal would have been shown by the authorities. The search was the result of this prodding.

ROBBED OF SCHOOL MONEY.

Custodian Gets Back $3,811 Check, but Thieves Keep $60.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 11.—Theodore Stickels of Newfoundland, N. J., custodian of the school money of West Milford township, came here Saturday to collect West Milford's appropriation from Passaic county for school purposes. While boarding a train at the Straight street station on the homeward trip he was jostled in the crowd. Once aboard he missed his wallet, containing $60 in cash of his own, the $3,811 check for the West Milford board of education and sundry papers of value only to him. The police were notified, but detectives could get no trace of the pickpockets.

Mr. Stickels came here to learn that the wallet, everything intact but the $60, had been recovered by Postmaster George W. Pollitt. It was found by clerks sorting a huge stack of mail that had been brought in by the carriers during the day.

METCALF HELD IN $1,000 BAIL

Commissioner Whose Auto Killed Man Said Light Blinded Him.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 11.—Jesse Metcalf, playground commissioner of Orange, whose automobile killed Christopher Henry in Orange on Sunday morning, appeared with his father and counsel before Prosecutor Mott, who had bail fixed at $1,000 on a charge of manslaughter. Maron B. Metcalf, father of the young man, furnished cash bail.

In a statement Metcalf admitted that he did not stop after the accident. He did not think the man had been seriously injured, he said, but after he had gone a block he felt anxious and returned. Metcalf said he was driving his car slowly up grade, and it was while the headlight of a trolley car shone in his eyes that he hit Henry.

A LA THE BONFIRE ROUTE

"MAC" SAYS

Manager Ernest Dorflinger has called a meeting of the Central New Jersey Baseball League to be held at the Queen City Hotel tomorrow night. Have your representative on deck, it may be the last opportunity you will have to secure a franchise.

Among the towns expected to be represented in the reorganized league are New Brunswick, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Somerville, Scotch Plains and Westfield. Plainfield, of course, will be right on the job.

Although the Nonpareil girls' five, of this city, lost to Trenton by a margin of one field goal Saturday night, it is a noticeable fact that the local team made nine field goals against their opponents' six. Foul shooting won the game, but the capitol city girls put up an article of basketball that is seldom seen on feminine courts.

Some idea as to the strength of the Trentonians can be garnered when they come to this city next Saturday night to try conclusions with the local Y. W. C. A. aggregation. The Y. M. C. A. court has been chartered for the occasion.

Thirty-four points in a single contest is somewhat of a basketball record. The feat was accomplished by Tommp Heron, playing on the Hope Chapel second five last Saturday night. He chalked up sixteen field goals and two fouls.

Bettman, of the Scotch Plains Parish House first team, did some excellent foul shooting for his team Saturday night, making good on seven out of nine attempts from the fifteen foot mark. And the Plains players won the game by the small margin of three points at that.

It is seldom the case when a basketball double-header is staged that one or the other of the contests does not turn out to be a one-sided game, but both of the bouts on the Plains Parish House court last Saturday night furnished the real thing along the excitement line. They were both decided by three points.

Heard at Scotch Plains: "One fault to be found with being a real amateur is that it is so lonesome."

Some fine baseball fan wants to know why Frank Chance is taking on so many "promising" youngsters. A baseball player may be at his best after he has passed thirty, but few scouts do their gumshoe work in the vicinity of homes for the aged.

Another baseball donester comes across with the information that McGraw is trying to pan Jim Thorpe on on the St. Louis Browns. Even if McGraw wanted to repent for buying an untried ball player and even if Thorpe was guilty of a heinous crime it would be cruel and unsual to sentence him to the Browns.

O'ROURKE LIBEL CASE.

London, Feb. 11.—Tom O'Rourke, the New York promoter of pugilistic and other sporting contests, was on hand today when his case of alleged libel against Boxing, a leading London sporting paper, was called for trial. O'Rourke claims heavy damages from the paper as a result of statements it has printed from time to time charging him with discreditable practices in connection with various big boxing contests promoted or managed by him in the United States. In the Sharkey-Corbett match in New York, the Valcott-Lavigne bout in San Francisco and in a number of other big fights, Boxing charges O'Rourke with having made money by sacrificing persons for whom he was acting and betting on the other side. The case is attracting considerable interest in sporting circles.

NEWARK AUTO SHOW STATE'S GREATEST

Formal Opening Will Take Place Next Saturday Night With Over 300 Cars.

With the opening of the Newark Automobile Show only a week away, interest in the affair is taking on unusual activity. The formal opening will take place on Saturday night, February 15, and when Augustus J. Hamburg, the recently elected president of the Newark Board of Trade, turns on the electric lights, it will disclose a scene that for brilliance and magnitude has never been equalled in this State. More than three hundred cars, representing the choicest product of the engineers' and coachmakers' art, have been entered. There will be cars for everyone, from the low-priced runabout to the richly finished and upholstered limousine that a king might envy. Medium priced cars for the average man will be shown in abundance, and in many varieties of models. In point of variety of models, there being more than seventy different makes of pleasure cars and commercial vehicles entered, the Newark show will take rank with the leading exhibitions of the country, the whole forming a dazzling display that has been conservatively estimated to be worth more than three-quarters of a million dollars. Every available foot of space in the huge First Regiment Armory has been taken, and from present indications it will soon be necessary to divide the local show into two parts, displaying the pleasure cars the first week and the commercial vehicles during the part two period.

At the same time, the combination of the two types of vehicles has made the Newark Show popular with the business man. He can take his wife and family to the show, and while the women folk are looking over the latest and best in the pleasure car line, he can hie himself to the south end of the huge drill shed and inspect the latest productions in the business vehicle, get his estimates of cost, upkeep, depreciation, etc., and be back to the pleasure car section by the time his wife has placed her order for a touring car, limousine or other type of pleasure car.

The decorators have already gotten busy on the armory, and the more than 40,000 yards of blue bunting which hide the gaunt and unsightly roof girders are already in place. This morning the carpenters started work on the special flooring which the military officials insist upon. This flooring will extend under all of the exhibit spaces, and will be covered with a specially woven green carpet, so that the cars will have the appearance of being exhibited on the greensward. According to the terms of the contract, not a nail must be driven into the armory floor to mar its glossy surface, and the feat of laying the flooring under this restriction is quite an art in itself. After the floor is down, the carpenters will follow with the erection of the pergolas, which are to extend over every aisle in the place and which will form the chief decorative theme. The pergolas will be in white to simulate marble, and the rafters will be intertwined with thousands of yards of Southern smilax, hidden in which will be myriads of miniature colored electric lights, the whole making up a fairy-like effect that is almost impossible of conception. The entire decorative scheme is American. In fact, Manager H. A. Bonnell calls it "Jersey-American," owing to the fact that the design for the pergola is copied from one that is on George Gould's famous Lakewood estate, Georgian Court.

This same American effect is carried out overhead. The side walls and balcony will be draped in the show colors of cardinal and white, with standards of American colors placed at intervals around the railing of the balcony. The end walls of the armory will be made up in the form of huge sunbursts of these colors. Rustic signs, in mission style, will still further carry out the outdoor appearance of the decorative scheme, and will serve to indicate the makes of cars on display. Latticework and a lighter shade of green will be employed in the accessory booths, which will be located in the north balcony.

Special attention has been paid to the musical features for this year's show. Miss Rita Mario's Empire Woman's Orchestra, of Boston, has again been engaged, with Miss May Sutton, as oprano soloist. Concerts will be rendered at both the afternoon and evening sessions, and these will be made up of both classical and popular compositions.

The orchestral music will be augmented by two special concerts that are to be given on Tuesday and Friday nights of the week of the show, by the Phoenix Singing Society, of Newark, under the directorship of Emil Lender. More than forty male voices will take part, and the program will cover several of the selections that have made this organization nationally famous and helped them to win numerous prizes at the big sangerfests that are held annually throughout the country. Then, too, not content with this melange of melody, a corps of male soloists, under the leadership of William Corcoran and Thomas Hackett, will render the latest song hits at every afternoon and evening session.

HUNTING AND FISHING

This is the time of the year to be down in Florida catching fish. The way the sports are catching bluefish, weakfish and mackerel is a shame. Some of them even go after and catch tarpon and then send nice letters to their less fortunate friends in the city telling of the great sport. When they return they will be telling about the exorbitant rates they were charged for everything down that way and will be looking for sympathy.

When a man can catch thirty-five pounds of flounders in two hours the fishing is good. Over in Jamaica Bay there seems to be no trouble to catch that many. The only thing against it, however, is the cold. Two hours in a rowboat with the temperature at 20 degrees isn't very pleasant. Some people say that a certain kind of fluid will keep out the cold, but we hardly think so. The fishing at The Raunt is very good, but more fish are caught in the hotel than outside in the bay.

The laws of New York permit the catching of pickerel through the ice in the section of Greenwood Lake that is geographically in New York State. The ice is now strong enough to hold the fishermen and they are catching plenty of fish. Pickerel parties are all the rage at the hotels, and at the standup sessions many stories are told about the wonderful catches of years ago. Some of the fish now being caught are very large.

It looks as though there won't be much of an effort made to have a canal built along the coast from the Shrewsbury River to Barnegat Bay. Everybody seems to be waiting for someone else to act, and in the meantime the roads are getting all the money that is in sight. Perhaps if they taxed the powerboat as they do the automobile we might be considered somebody, but, as it is, every time a man says he owns such a thing he is considered a bug.

The cold snap will make the flounders seek cover for a few days in the shallow waters of the Shrewsbury River. The same weather will make the ling and whiting come closer to the shore and make fishing better at the ocean piers.

The entrance to the State game farm at Forked River is to be marked by a sign. This will be placed on the State road from Newark to Atlantic City, and will, no doubt, attract hundreds of autoists when the weather becomes milder. One of the sights to be seen down there is 1,000 English pheasants in a large pen. The sight is enough to give a hunter heart disease, and some of them do work their fingers as though itching to pull the trigger on a gun.

P. H. S. CLASS FIVE BEAT LEAL SECONDS

One-Sided Game on Y. M. C. A. Court Won by P. H. S. Seniors.

Leal's second basketball aggregation succumbed before the strong Plainfield High School senior class five on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon with a score of 50 to 29. Dickerson, a first team man, starred for the Leal combination while Sattels did some clever work for the public school representatives.

WILL P. H. S. ENTER CROSS COUNTRY RUN?

Local High School Has Been Mentioned as a Possible Entry in the Event.

An invitation cross country run is being arranged under the auspices of the Union County High School Athletic League for the second Saturday in March and entry blanks have been submitted to most of the High Schools promoting athletics in the State. The date for the run was first set for Lincoln's Birthday but because of weather conditions and the limited time allowed for working up enthusiasm it was decided to defer the meet until a later date. Among the nearby schools that will be well represented is the High School of Rahway. Elaborate preparations are being made by the director of athletics in that school to send out a team of cinder path men who will make a creditable showing when pitted against the best material in the State.

Roselle High School, led by Ezra Wenz, the world's interscholastic two mile title holder, will also take a prominent part, as will Battin High School, of Elizabeth; Cranford High School, Westfield High School and Roselle Park High School. Plainfield High School has been mentioned by those interested as a possible contestant, but the cross country game has never been promoted to any great extent in this city and it is doubtful whether the local school will be represented by an aggregation of wing footers. There is an abundance of running material available at the local institution and with this nucleus a crack combination could easily be molded with a little efficient coaching.

HOLIDAY ATHLETIC PROGRAM LIMITED

But One Game of Basketball Scheduled to Be Played in This City Tomorrow.

Lincoln's Birthday will not be celebrated to any extent in local sportdom tomorrow and the only athletic contest scheduled to be staged in this city will be played at Saengerbund Hall by the North Plainfield High School basketball team with the Somerville High School basket cagers as their opponents tomorrow night, followed by a dance. In the previous meeting of these two rivals, the Boroughites won by a count of 37 to 22 but that was in the earlier part of the season and the Somerset County Seat athletes have been putting up a better article of the indoor game as the season progressed and will probably give the N. P. H. S. five a closer run for first honors in tomorrow's game.

Basketball has been played rather irregularly at the North Plainfield School during the past two weeks but the Boroughites claim that the respite tends to strengthen the team's competitive powers rather than weaken them and are confident of putting up a repetition of the kind of basketball they exhibited against Leal School last Thursday. In the Leal game Carroll Taylor, of the N. P. H. S. squad, established a new record for field goal shooting by caging twelve of the two-point variety and Taylor's shooting ability will be one of the mainstays of the Boroughites' scoring department in hard games to come.

P. H. S. SENIORS WILL PLAY TEACHING CORPS

The lineup for the Senior-Faculty basketball game to be held at the Plainfield High School next Friday afternoon has been completed and announced as follows:

FACULTY.	SENIORS.
Best, forward	McDowell
Wriston (capt.), forward	Coughlin
Hauck, center	Sattels (capt.)
Hubbard, guard	Goldsmith
Beers, guard	Henderson
Evans, substitute	Foster

DOMINEES BOWL AND PARSON M'KELVEY BEATEN

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Dunellen Presbyterian church entertained the C. E. Society of Warren chapel last night at a special gathering and business meeting held in the Dunellen church. A feature of the evening was a bowling match between Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen church, and Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. Rev. Mr. Brown was victorious with a score of 137 while Rev. Mr. McKelvey rolled 108.

The Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball team will play the Y. M. C. A. first team at the association gym tomorrow night. Both teams will have their regular lineups and a good game is expected.

BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS COULD FORM PRETTY FAIR TEAM.

A pretty fair ball team could be made up of managers next season. Stovall of St. Louis might play first base, Eyers of Chicago second, Tinker of Cincinnati short, Huggins of St. Louis third, Clarke of Pittsburgh, Birmingham of Cleveland and Stahl of Boston, the outfield. Dooin could catch, and the pitching staff could be selected from Callahan of Chicago, Griffith of Washington and McGraw of New York. Any one who has seen McGraw pitch to the recruits down at Marlin knows that when it comes to twirling he's there.

ENGLAND TO HAVE STRONG POLO TEAM.

Eight or ten of England's best polo players will visit the United States next summer to try to lift the international cup at Meadowbrook, N. Y., June 2, 3 and 4, so that in case of accident there will be plenty of men on hand to step into any gap. The team, under the captaincy of Walter S. Buckmaster, probably will be selected from Lord Wodehouse, Captain G. E. Bellville, Captain Leslie St. C. Cheape, Captain J. Hardess Lloyd, Captain R. G. Ritson and F. M. Freake, while Captain F. St. J. Atkinson and B. A. B. Schreiber, with one or two other players, will be asked to make the trip.

Some of the teams have wonderful records. Walter S. Buckmaster acquired fame with the old Cantabe tenn, the winner of the Hurlinghan cup last summer. Captain Cheape was a great player with the team of 1911, and Captain Ritson has a fine Indian reputation.

CAPTAIN RITSON.

The Duke of Westminster, who will defray the entire cost of the British team's visit to America, always has possessed a good stable. He has, however, added to it by purchase during the season and is still on the lookout for more good ponies, while it is probable that others will be lent for the Anglo-American matches.

The makeup of the American polo team to defend the cup challenged will in all probabilities be the same as last year's, with Harry Payne Whitney as captain. Devereau Milburn of Buffalo and the Waterbury brothers of New York are the other members.

MINOR BUSINESS OF COUNCIL

The Council referred with power two applications, one from Proctor & Sanderson and the other from Morris C. VanArsdale to erect cluster electric lights in front of their places of business. It is understood that the lights are to be identical with those in front of the Public Service Corporation place of business and The Plainfield Trust Company on Park avenue. Mr. Mygatt alone voted against these petitions, simply because he is against such obstructions on the sidewalk.

The heirs of J. S. Harberger, through their attorney, W. A. Codrington, again requested the Council to abolish the ditch in Giraud avenue near West Front street, claiming it to be a nuisance. This was referred to the committee on streets and sewers.

A communication from Daniel F. Minnehan, clerk of Orange, endorsing the movement to abolish grade crossings, was filed.

The Board of Education, through Frank B. Clark, secretary, notified the Council that W. S. Tyler and Dr. B. vanD. Hedges had been named as members of the Board of School Estimate. The oath of Calvin E. Brodhead as a member of the Board of Education was received and filed.

Daniel F. Dugan and other residents of East Seventh and Richmond streets, petitioned to have the water company lower a main where it crosses Cedar brook. This was referred.

Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman, in a communication, stated that he had appointed H. C. Runyon as his assistant while away, or until such time as his successor is appointed. This communication was filed.

Councilman Mygatt, as chairman of the street committee, presented a number of matters of more or less importance which were quickly disposed of. These included the changing of a telephone from 312 West Fifth street to 435 West Fourth street, the residence of Frank Day, of the street department; an ordinance providing for the widening of Sycamore street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, which was adopted on two readings and ordered advertised; an ordinance to establish the grade in certain streets, which took the same course; an ordinance to improve South Second street, between View and Rock avenues, which took the same course. Monday night, March 3, was fixed as the time for a public hearing on these ordinances.

Contracts were awarded to the Plainfield Trap Rock Company and the Watchung Stone Company for furnishing the city with stone, and a resolution continuing the sanitary sewer matter until the next meeting was adopted, Councilmen Endress and Reville voting in the negative.

Mr. Mygatt referred back a large number of old petitions left over from last year, and they were filed. Several petitions for lights were granted and the Public Service Corporation was given permission to remove poles from one side of Park avenue to the other to conform to the system of lighting.

ENJOYED ENTERTAINMENT.

Following the business meeting of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church in Debele's Hall last night, the members were entertained by the Glee Club led by Miss Justina Smith and Mrs. Alfred Seidel. Among the selections were "Fairest Evening," and "Violet." Refreshments were served by the good and welfare committee.

EXPLORER SCOTT DIES IN BLIZZARD

Four Others of Party Perish.

WERE RETURNING HOME

Intrepid Band Had Reached South Pole.

WIFE IGNORANT OF NEWS.

Mrs. Scott on Way to Greet Her Husband---Valiant Crew Overwhelmed In Their Hour of Triumph.

London, Feb. 11.—Captain Robert Falcon Scott and four of his companions who accompanied him on his successful dash to the south pole met death in an antarctic blizzard as they were making their way back over the icy waters after reaching the goal of the expedition.

The party arrived at the south pole on Jan. 18, 1912, one month after Captain Roald Amundsen had planted the Norwegian flag at the southernmost point on the earth's surface.

Tragedy overtook the little party two months later, when hunger and exposure to the fearful tempests of the antarctic exacted the following toll of lives:

Captain Robert Falcon Scott, R. N.
Dr. E. A. Wilson.
Lieutenant H R Bowers.
Captain L. E. G. Oates.
Petty Officer E. Evans.

The tragic news of the fate of the leader of the British antarctic expedition and four of his comrades nearly a year ago reached London yesterday.

According to the Daily Chronicle this morning, the pole was gained on Jan 18, 1912, a day or two more than a month after Captain Amundsen had arrived there. It continues:

"The food apparently gave out on the journey north again before the depot could be reached. One of the five, Seaman Evans, died on Feb. 17 from concussion of the brain, evidently the result of an accident. Another, Captain Oates, died of exposure on March 17.

Blizzard Sweeps Down.

"In a famished, worn out condition the three others—Captain Scott, Lieutenant Bowers and Dr. Wilson—were overtaken by a furious blizzard on Ross barrier about March 29. In it they all perished.

"It was tragic indeed that but a few miles away was a depot at One Ten camp and that the explorers when storm and death overwhelmed them were within a comparatively short distance from their base.

"Scott's expedition undoubtedly was the best equipped of all those which have explored the antarctic continent. It is some consolation to think that in spite of the heavy deathroll and the terrible blow at the most important section of the expedition all the scientific results of the trip will not be lost.

"First and foremost, the explorer was out for scientific achievements. Though the harvest would have been very much richer had the southern party lived it is felt that the results will be such that science will be able to say that Captain Scott did not struggle and die in vain.

Find Explorers' Bodies.

"The news of the tragedy comes from the Terra Nova, which arrived at Christchurch, New Zealand, yesterday with the remainder of the ill fated expedition under the command of Lieutenant E. R. G. R. Evans, and reported that the bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers were recovered on Nov. 12.

"Intense sympathy is felt for Mrs. Scott, the bereaved widow. 'I'm going to fetch him home,' were Mrs. Scott's farewell words to Peter, her blue eyed, frir Laired boy, aged three and a half years, when she left for New Zealand on Jan. 4.

"Mrs. Scott is a celebrated sculptor, one of the most distinguished women workers in stone. She is the youngest of seven sisters, daughters of the late Canon Lloyd of Stewart Bruce. In 1910 she was commissioned to design the special gold commemoration medal presented to Mr. Robert E. Peary by the council of the Royal Geographical society.

"News of Captain Scott's death reached relatives through newspaper cablegrams. Lady Ellison Macartney, the explorer's sister, was the first to learn of his fate. Mrs. Scott, the aged mother of the explorer, who lives at Henley, bore up bravely. Captain Scott's little son is with the family at Henley."

The announcement was received with consternation and regret in British naval and exploring circles, and it was the one theme of conversation in the clubs last night. Expressions of sorrow are heard on all sides. Sir Edgar Speyer, a member of the committee which arranged the expedition, said:

"Captain Scott was a great friend of mine. If the news is true the disaster is a terrible one. No words can express my grief."

Widow Still In Ignorance.

It is unlikely that Mrs. Scott has yet heard of the fate of her husband, and the terrible news awaits her when she arrives in New Zealand in three weeks' time. Mrs. Scott left London a month ago for America in the highest spirits, expecting an early reunion with her husband.

King George expressed his sympathy in the following message to the Royal Geographical society, which was read at the society's meeting last night:

"I am deeply grieved to hear the very bad news you give me of the loss of Captain Scott and four of his party just when we were hoping soon to welcome them home on their return from their great and arduous undertaking. I heartily sympathize with the Royal Geographical society in the loss to science and discovery through the death of these gallant explorers."

Mr. Douglas W. Freshfield, vice president of the society, said:

"No party ever set out better equipped or better fitted by gallantry and experience than its members, from Captain Scott down, to meet the ordinary perils of the poles. But antarctic travel would not be what it is—a training ground for the highest qualities of the British race—if these perils could be avoided.

"All that we can say to these brave men is, 'Farewell.' They are a band of heroes whose names will shine as an example of that endurance which is the highest form of courage. Captain Scott will live in our memories as the ideal of the English sailor of our age—a man intellectually gifted, brave, resourceful in all emergencies and full of scientific zeal and enthusiasm."

On Way to Meet Husband.

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Robert F. Scott left here on board the Aorangi on Feb. 5 for Sydney to join her husband. The Aorangi is due at Tahiti on Feb. 17 and at Sydney on March 3, stopping at Raratonga and Wellington, New Zealand.

The Aorangi is approximately a thousand miles from this port. Her wireless has a radius of only about 300 miles, and if the messages sent from here reached her no answer has been obtainable. It is possible that before morning she may be in communication with Honolulu, although she does not touch at that port. Her first port of call will be Papeete, Tahiti, where there is neither cable nor wireless.

There are many messages here for Mrs. Scott, and an attempt will be made to relay them to her by way of Honolulu.

Mrs. Scott, now tragically the widow of the British antarctic explorer, said in an interview before leaving that she had not heard from him in eighteen months, but was confident he would reach New Zealand safely.

CAPT. SCOTT; ENGINEERS.

Lost Explorer and Several Members of His Party.

This is one of the best pictures of Captain Robert F. Scott, the famous English explorer, who perished with his entire party in a terrible antarctic blizzard after he had been successful in locating the south pole a month after it was discovered by Roald Amundsen. It shows him in his uniform as a captain in the British navy. The picture below shows the principal scientist and engineers of the Scott party in their dining room on board of the Terra Nova, on which they sailed to the south. They are seated at the table after the evening meal discussing the problems of their venture and planning for the dash to the pole.

HAD LONG BEEN WED

the ring box in the missing man's safe but the ring was not there.

Mrs. Rockfellow said that her husband had always been devoted and never went to a place of amusement or enjoyed a recreation of any nature but when she accompanied him. Clarence Swan, who was to be best man at the wedding planned for March 19, was expected to be the guest of young Rockfellow at the Warnock home last Saturday night when he was to be introduced to the family. Swan made arrangements to meet Rockfellow and they were to go to the house together, but when the latter failed to put in his appearance Swan considered the affair as postponed and went to New York.

Mr. Swan cannot explain any reason for his friend's disappearance and said this morning that the only cause he can assign to the absence of the young man is the fact that he was subject to unusually severe headaches, one of which might have come on and caused a blur on his mental faculties. Other friends of Rockfellow scoff at this explanation.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rockfellow had lately been completing elaborate preparations for the wedding announced to be held at the Warnock home next month and the bridegroom had furnished a room in the Warnock home on Craig place where the couple were planning to reside after their second marriage. He had made arrangements to accompany his bride to New York last Wednesday to buy the furniture but asked Mrs. Warnock to assist her daughter in purchasing the necessary articles in New York last Monday. At the Public Service Corporation's offices it is said that young Rockfellow never asked for a day off to attend to his shopping and if he had he would have been readily accorded the privilege. Mrs. Warnock went to New York as Mr. Rockfellow had suggested and everything was ordered to be sent to the Warnock home. Mr. Rockfellow examined the purchases and seemed pleased with the selections made.

A number of social events for which invitations had been issued have had to be concelled. Mrs. V. W. Nash, Jr., had planned a linen shower to be held at her home next Friday night and Mrs. Fred Stack had arranged for a similar party at her home for this afternoon. Mrs. Cornelia J. Rockfellow, mother of the absentee, is prostrated as is the bride of the young man.

MRS. ANNA J. CADMUS GOES TO HER REWARD

Mrs. Anna J. Cadmus, aged about 65 years, died this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. David W. King, 27 Craig place, following a long illnes from a complication of diseases. She was a great sufferer and for some time had been practically helpless.

Mrs. Cadmus was born at Liberty Corner and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smalley, of North Plainfield, and widow of Frederick Cadmus. She was a life-long member of the First Baptist church, and for many years was a faithful attendant at services. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. David W. King, and Mrs. Henry Dunbar; four brothers, David C., Alfred I., Newton B., and William L. Smalley, and one son, William F. Cadmus, of Newark.

The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. King, 27 Craig place, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

"HONEYMOON EXPRESS," NEW YORK'S LATEST MUSICAL COMEDY, SCORES BIG SUCCESS

"The Honeymoon Express," New York's latest play, the arrival of which had been delayed for some time, is scoring a tremendous hit at the Winter Garden. The chief entertainers are Miss Gaby Deslys and Mr. "Al" Jolson. Gaby, as usual, is most interesting to the audiences, and she is most thoroughly appreciated. As Yvonne she is at her best. Her dance with Mr. Harry Pilcer is a great favorite.

HAS ANY ONE SEEN MARION RUBEL?

Marion Rubel, sixteen years old, a very pretty blonde with big brown eyes and weighing about 125 pounds, is missing from her home in New York. It is feared she is being detained in some other city against her will. Her sudden disappearance has baffled the New York police, for she left her much prized clothing behind, and only a card has been received from her, stating that she was going to leave New York.

'FORWARD MARCH' SAYS GEN. JONES

Plainfielders Join the Suffrage Army Which is Tramping on to Washington.

MARCH THROUGH STATE

Had Luncheon at Elizabeth and Will Stop at Metuchen—Expect to Reach Capitol on March 1.

Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, president of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield; Mrs. E. F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey Suffrage League; Miss May Rodman and members of the local league went to Newark this morning to meet "General" Rosalie Jones, and the suffragist army of invasion which is on its "hike" to Washington. The Plainfielders accompanied the "army" as far as Elizabeth, where luncheon was served at the Elks' Club by the supporters of the movement living in that city. The suffragists left Newark at 9:45 o'clock. This afternoon the army will make a stop at Metuchen.

In true military style General Jones has mapped out her entire route to the national capital, and expects to lead her host—or what is left of it—into Washington by March 1. Eighteen women have raised their hands heavenward and pledged to General Jones that they will follow her all the way to Washington, or lay their weary bodies down to eternal rest by the side of some lonely, windswept road.

The pledge may not have been in those words, exactly, but the promises were evidently fervent enough to warrant General Jones in insisting with wide-eyed eagerness, when she visited the local suffrage headquarters yesterday, that her faithful band would be with her when the dome of the Capitol loomed against the sky line.

General Jones' chief advisers will be Miss Levina Dork, surgeon-general of the army, and Miss Ida Craft, adjutant-general, two of the four faithful who with General Jones completed the recent march to Albany and interviewed Governor Sulzer. Mrs. Meredith Stiles and Miss Sybil Wilbur, the other two survivors of the Albany hike, who started with the parade today, will not continue to the end, General Jones explaining that "they have other things to do now."

General Jones and her army will seek an audience with President Wilson, March 5, and will lay her appeal before him.

General Jones says she is affiliated with most of the women's clubs of Manhattan, but in this venture is a soldier of fortune, a modern Napoleon, who has no backing but her own individuality and devotion to "the cause."

"Oh, I do hope that President Wilson will see us, and I feel that he will," General Jones said yesterday. She added that when she led her army of four to the New York Capitol Governor Sulzer was "just too sweet for anything," and expressed the hope that President Wilson will be "sweet" also.

SHERMAN'S MARCH VIVIDLY DESCRIBED

Rev. Frank Fletcher Pictures a Famous Incident of the Civil War.

The cruelties of war and an account of the pillage of the enemy's country by General Sherman's army in the famous march to the sea was graphically described to an appreciative audience at the All Souls' Unitarian church last night by Rev. Frank Fletcher, of this city, who in the Civil War fought, having marched under the banner of the 134th Regiment, New York Volunteers. His discourse was appropriately named, "Sherman's March to the Sea." About a dozen members of the G. A. R. occupied seats in the front row of the edifice and enjoyed immensely the reminiscences of the Civil War days, some of which were humorous. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to Abraham Lincoln, the Martyr-President, whose birth anniversary is today.

As aid-de-camp to General Jones in the march to the sea, Rev. Mr. Fletcher told of the unpleasant mission he was called upon to perform—that of notifying six deserters that they were to be shot at sunset for their offense. Continuing, he told how, through the efforts of friends of the deserters, President Lincoln had granted a pardon for them. Rev. Fletcher said he would never forget the bold autograph of Lincoln as it appeared on the document.

CENTRE OF THE PRESENT REVOLUTION IN MEXICO AND TWO GENERALS OF GREAT PROMINENCE.

One of the most important centres of trouble in the present Mexican revolution is the famous Plaza de la Constitucion, in the centre of Mexico City, the national capital of Mexico. General Huerta has now been made military commander of Mexico City following the flight of President Madero and his Ministers. General Geronimo Trevino is being talked of as a favorable Provisional President.

SUNDAY HOURS FOR DRUGGISTS

Local Pharmacists Decide to Choose Their Own Time for Business.

MEMBERS AT A DINNER

L. W. Randolph is the President of the Association—Their Shops Will Be Open on Washington's Birthday.

In the future the members of the Plainfield Druggists' Association will regulate their own Sunday hours, adopting them to suit their own convenience, instead of all agreeing to close and open at certain hours. The matter came up at the meeting of the association at the Homestead, last night, with twelve out of fifteen members present.

Heretofore, the rule has been to close stores from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, keeping open in the morning and for several hours in the evening. During the discussion it developed that these hours were not convenient to all the pharmacists and it was found necessary to fix hours for doing business to meet the convenience of the particular neighborhood in which the store is located. Some of the druggists close as early as 8 o'clock in the evening while others keep open until 9 o'clock and after. Others open their stores at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and some at 3 o'clock. While there was supposed to be a rule it was never strictly adhered to and for that reason it was abolished in the new constitution and by-laws adopted at the meeting.

The association decided to keep open on Washington's Birthday, because the holiday falls on Saturday. Other matters of minor importance were discussed, after which the members enjoyed a fine dinner served by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

TURKEY SUPPER ENJOYED BY TIMBO SOCIAL CLUB

A social and smoker was given by the Timbo Social Club last night. During the early part of the evening light refreshments were enjoyed and at a late hour Erwin Y. Neighbour served a fine turkey supper.

President Rudolph Kampf made a speech. There was instrumental music by Allan Squier and vocal selections by William Doud, Henry Wierenga, Frank Schuck, Thomas McMaster Muir, Thomas DeMeza and Archie Davie. The last named made a hit with Scotch songs and impersonations of Harry Lauder

There were also several short addresses by Past Presidents H. P. Greenwood, Alden Wagner, Isaac Elliot and Thomas Timbo. The committee in charge comprised John Powers, William Doud, Frank Schuck and John Conway.

ROCKFELLOW SEEN BOARDING A TRAIN

Haberle With Him When Leaving Jersey City for Philadelphia is Report.

Absolute certainty has been ascertained as to the present whereabouts of Rowland Rockfellow and Percy Haberle, who disappeared on Saturday, and developments in the case seem to show that their sudden departure was carefully planned. Haberle's sister said this morning that her brother had told her many times that he wanted to see the world and just as soon as he could he would either go to Virgina, San Francisco or some other point in the Far West, where he had relatives. Mrs. Lewis C. Beekman, Haberle's sister, stated this morning that he was a victim of wonderlust.

It is reported that Haberle and Rockfellow were seen in the Jersey City station of the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday night. Frederick Dickerson, Jr., of East Second street, and Herbert Hillman, of West Fifth street, both of whom know Haberle and Rockfellow, say that they are absolutely certain that they saw the missing men board the 7:12 train out of the Jersey City station, a Philadelphia express, which makes connections for Washington and St. Louis. The party consisted of seven people, they report, but the missing men were the only ones recognized by Dickerson and Hillman. Mrs. Beekman, when told of this incident, said that she thought Percy may have decided to take a trip to Virginia. In fact she said she was almost certain of it. He has relatives there and he is probably going to visit them.

Both Mr. Rockfellow's family and the family of his bride, who was formerly Miss Rae Warnock, are still very much upset over the turn matters have taken during the past week and Mrs. Rowland Rockfellow is in a very nervous state as a result. The missing man's mother is confined to the home of friends and her condition is giving her friends much concern.

HOPE CHAPELITES SEE BOYS SCOUTS DRILL

The Wetumpka Sentinels, a troop of Boy Scouts, of the First Presbyterian church, under the supervision of Scoutmaster Allan Beals, at Hope chapel last night gave an exhibition of Scout work and drills before a large gathering of people interested in the advancement of the movement in town. Among the spectators were the members of the Hope chapel boys' and junior boys' clubs. Scoutmaster Allan Beals and Scout Organizer Charles R. Bostwick gave short talks on the movement in town and the good that is derived from the work by the boys who are members of the organization.

The matter of organizing a troop at Hope chapel will be determined in the course of a week by a special committee consisting of G. Herbert Condit, George T. Leighs and Walter I. Firstbrook.

Do Plainfield people want to see "The Traveling Salesman" at the Plainfield theatre on Friday night? That question was put by this paper yesterday. Anyone who happened to be in its business office this morning when the first mail was received would have easily been convinced that they do. When the office was opened over one hundred answers in the contest held in the cent-a-word columns last night had been received, and all the morning they continued to pour in. It was announced in yesterday's paper that the first thirty people turning in correct solutions would receive a free ticket to the big comedy. As it was nearly two hundred replies were inspected up to noon, and of that number only nine were wrong. The letter "I" was the worst stumbling block for those unsuccessful, although some chose the wrong "G," and a few made still other mistakes.

One envelope contained two answers, one from a young man and the other from a young woman, with the request that if successful, both

CO. K WILL RECEIVE ITS HONORS TONIGHT

Following Review at Trenton Local Soldiers Will Receive Several Valuable Prizes.

Company K, the local citizen-soldiers, left the Plainfield station this afternoon on the 12:53 o'clock train for Trenton with fifty members in the ranks. They will participate in the regimental parade in the Armory this afternoon and in the review of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., before Brig. Gen. Dennis F. Collins tonight. The appearance made by the local boys as they passed down Park avenue for the station was commendable and the sight of their perfect ranks stirred the hearts of many passersby.

Tonight the local company will receive the Dungan Trophy for the greatest improvement in rifle practice on the Sea Girt range for the past year. Corporal George B. Howell will also receive the Dungan Medal. This medal, which is gold, is given to the member of the winning company who succeeded in running up the highest score on the range. The John Rogers Williams Cup will be presented to the team which represented Company K in the match at Sea Girt. The members of the team were Quartermaster Sergeant J. Arthur Dow, Sergeants James B. Conkling, James Manning and Oliver R. Pierson and Corporal Augustus H. Van Arsdale, then a private in the ranks.

The trophies that are to be presented to the company will be held for one year. The medal will be the personal property of Corporal Howell.

FREEDOM CASTLE, K. G. E., WORKS SECOND DEGREE

Delegations from lodges in New Brunswick, Somerville and Whitehouse attended the "Old Time" meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 42, K. G. E., held last night in its rooms in the Babcock building. The rooms were suitably decorated with American flags and red, white and blue bunting, with an occasional symbol of the order.

Three candidates received the second degree in old knight's costume and six applications for membership were received. Several State officers were present, including Grand Chief Elvin M. Hoffman, of Whitehouse, and Grand Vice Chief Walton Chew, of Pittman Grove. Refreshments were served following addresses by Horace J. Martin, William Day, Dr. Norman W. Currie and Dr. J. H. Buchanan.

FIREMEN'S FEAST.

A plentiful supply of eatables, lots of good music and good jokes were the features of the monthly meeting of the North Plainfield fire laddies in the borough headquarters last night. At the conclusion of the business session the men enjoyed an oyster supper. George Adams played his guitar and Charles Bremble rendered several selections on the violin. The company's quartet, composed of William Hogan, Frank Holenback, Harry Schuck and Ray Smith, sang a number of topical hits. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of James Walker, William Hogan and Charles Stahl.

CHARITY SOCIETY DOING GOOD WORK

Encouraging Reports Heard at Annual Meeting of the Women's Exchange.

AN APPEAL FOR HELP

Mrs. Howard C. Tracy Succeeds Mrs. Burton P. Hall as President—New Executive Committee is Announced.

When the annual meeting of the Plainfield Exchange for Woman's Work was held in Grace church Parish House yesterday the report of the president, Mrs. Burton P. Hall, indicated another year of successful work and proved the value of the Exchange as a benefit and convenience to the community and a means of partial support for the many consignors whose handiwork is sold there. As the Exchange is not self-supporting the generous patronage of the public is greatly desired, as is also an increased number of subscribers to continue and extend the work.

Mrs. Horace N. Stevens, the treasurer, reported that the receipts for the year amounted to $4,646.79, and the expenditures $4,499.75, leaving a balance of $147.04. The report of the superintendent, Miss Dunham, showed a substantial increase in sales over last year, the sum of $12,679.99 having been paid to the 168 consignors.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Howard C. Tracy; first vice president, Mrs. Frank C. Ard; second vice president, Mrs. C. Boardman Tyler; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry E. Haws; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Noah C. Barnhart; treasurer, Mrs. Horace N. Stevens; trustees, Mrs. Burton P. Hall, Mrs. Caroline T. Sinclair, Mrs. Horace N. Stevens, Mrs. Joseph P. Sandford, Miss Florence Tweedy.

The new executive committee consists of Miss Lorella B. W. Anthony, Miss Ellen de Forest Anthony, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Richard Boardman, Mrs. George L. Babcock, Mrs. William G. Cooke, Mrs. William A. Connor, Miss F. C. Colton, Mrs. Jabez Gilbert, Mrs. Burton P. Hall, Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt, Mrs. Henry C. Irons, Mrs. S. D. Lounsbery, Mrs. Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. Caroline T. Lincoln, Mrs. Bruce Lachlan, Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Mrs. George Megrew, Mrs. John C. Moore, Miss E. de Medina Massett, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. Walter L. Righter, Mrs. Joseph W. Sandford, Mrs. J. N. VanSickel, Mrs. C. H. Tompkins, Miss Florence Tweedy, Mrs. Frederick W. Wallace, Mrs. Frank D. Warren, Mrs. William H. Wherry, Jr., Mrs. E. T. REBELS BOMBARD MEXICO CAPITOL

Cannon Pouring Shell Into Every Quarter — 3,000 Criminals Loot City.

U. S. FLAG IS HOISTED

American Troops Ordered to Be Ready — President-elect Wilson Favors Non-Intervention as Far as Possible.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Mexico City, Feb. 12.—At 9 o'clock the rebels began a terrific bombardment against the roofs of tall buildings in the business district on which the federals have planted rapid fire guns. Heavy damage was done by flying shrapnel. The Mexican Cable Company's office was struck by shells and practically demolished. Scores of shells passed over the roofs of the Women's Exchange building.

3,000 prisoners in the Belan prison broke jail and swarmed over the city. Many of them accepted arms from the rebels but instead of fighting began plundering and looting many buildings.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the cannonade increased to terrific violence as though the rebels were contemplating a sortie from the arsenal where their main body were intrenched. The rebel cannon was trained on to every quarter of the city.

The havoc to public and private property was enormous. One shell crashed into the Mexican Cable office passing through a room next to the one where correspondents were sitting writing their dispatches. The projectile tore a great jagged hole in the cable office but the operators who were working the wires bravely struck to their posts. Employes of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, extinguished the fire in their building after it had burned for an hour.

The British and U. S. flags were hoisted over the Mutual building to protect it but as it was in the line of fire which was being directed towards the National Palace it was frequently struck by shells which fell around the cable office, Porter's Hotel and the National theatre. The streets were badly torn up.

Mexico City, Feb. 12.—Alfonso Mirando, one of the Zapatista leaders, entered the capitol with 300 of his followers, who are harassing the federal troops at various points.

The federal troops reopened the battle in the streets of the Mexican capitol at 6:35 this morning with a light artillery fire. The action soon became general, all the artillery on both sides being brought into play. The cannon fire was augmented by sweeping Salvos from machine guns while the infantry came into action with volleys and individual shooting. Red Cross nurses and doctors worked until nearly dawn trying to care for the wounded in yesterday's seven hour artillery duel in the heart of the city. Estimates of the casualties run as high as 1,000 although accurate information cannot be obtained. The dead certainly will be counted by hundreds.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The first brigade of the first division of the army, about 3,000 strong, has been ordered prepared for expeditionary service. It is composed of the third infantry at Madison Barracks and Oswego. The Fifth Infantry at Plattsburg and the Twenty-ninth Infantry at Fort Niagara, all in in New York State.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Preparations have been made to move approximately 2,500 marines from the ships of the Atlantic fleet, and the Quantanamo Naval Station to Vera Cruz, to be held in readiness there for landing in case it should be necessary to relieve the foreign legations in Mexico City.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 12.—President-elect Wilson was asked if he had received any communication from President Taft regarding the Mexican situation. He said that he had not heard from President Taft or any one else on the matter. It is understood that he favors the policy of non-intervention as far as possible.

VIOLATED PAROLE.

Miss Mary Mohan, 19 years old, of New street, was arrested last night for violating her parole. Arraigned in the county court several weeks ago on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses she was placed in the custody of the probation officer for a term of two years. Yesterday she was caught in an attempt to rob a neighbor of some clothing. It is probable that she will now be sent to the State Home for Girls.

"That is the issue that will continue in this country when these poor tongues of ours are silent. It is the eternal struggle between these two principles, right and wrong, throughout the world. They have stood face to face from the beginning of time. One is the common right of humanity, and the other the divine right of kings. It is the same spirit that says, 'You toil and work and earn bread, and I'll eat it.' No matter in what shape it comes—whether from the mouth of a king who seeks to bestride the people of his own nation and live by the fruit of their labor, or from one race of men as an apology for enslaving another race—it is the same tyrannical principle."

Instructor Burnett Brodziak has arranged to accommodate a large gathering in every department of the institution.

The regular weekly teachers' meeting was held in Public School No. 1 yesterday afternoon.

The birth of Abraham Lincoln was suitably observed in the public school yesterday, an interesting program of recitations and musical selections being rendered by the pupils. The exercises were enjoyed by many parents and friends.

The majority of the stores and places of business in town closed at noon today.

The Baraca class bowling team of Dunellen will roll a series of three games tomorrow night with the team representing the Parish House. This will be the locals' first competitive appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh, of Nutley, arrived in town last night to spent the holiday with relatives.

The skating was practically destroyed by yesterday's rain and several small boys attempting to enjoy the sport on the local pond late yesterday afternoon, had narrow escapes from a dip in the icy fluid. Jacob Sarrola, of Westfield avenue, got wet up to his knees when the ice gave way with him near the bank.

The meeting of the Congregational church Juniors, scheduled for Friday afternoon, will be postponed this week as the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, has been called out of town.

Mrs. Elton Giles, of Verdon street, who has been ill for the past five weeks, is again able to be out.

HERO MEDAL FOR INDIAN FIREMAN

SENECA LARKE

Eleven medals for conspicuous bravery and efficiency have been awarded by the Board of Merit of the New York Fire Department. Seneca Larke, the only Indian in the Fire Department, who is engineer of the searchlight engine, received the Bennett for heroism in the rescue of William Giblin, president of the Mercantile Savings Deposit Company, from the burning Equitable Building in January, 1912. Larke stood in a shower of flaming embers, stone and brick and sawed through the steel bars of a window and, gaining entrance, carried out Mr. Giblin.

WILSON NOW PRESIDENT-ELECT.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Although the result of the presidential election was known early in the evening of November 5, it was not until today, when the Senate and House met in joint session, that Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall were officially declared to be elected President and Vice President, respectively, for four years, beginning March 4, 1913. The meeting of the electoral college, as the joint session of the senators and representatives is termed, attracted a large gathering to the hall of the House of Representatives. Senator Gallinger, president pro tempore of the Senate, presided. As the ballots of the electors were opened they were turned over to the four tellers, two of whom represented the Senate and the other two the House. When the total vote was cast Senator Gallinger in a clear voice announced that of the total electoral vote of 531,

DEDICATE BUILDING IN LINCOLN'S HONOR

Magnificent Hall the Tribute of the State of Illinois in His Memory.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 12.—Eloquent tribute was paid the memory of Abraham Lincoln today, when Lincoln Hall, a magnificent new building erected at the University of Illinois, was formally dedicated. The dedication was accompanied by an all-day program of exercises in which noted educators, churchmen and others of national prominence participated.

The forenoon was devoted to a literary program. The speakers and their topics included the following: "The Social Sciences," Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; "Language and Literature," Professor Bliss Perry, of Harvard University; "Philosophy," Professor Frederick J. E. Woodbridge, of Columbia University.

The dedication exercises were held in the university auditorium this afternoon, following a luncheon in honor of the guests. The exercises began with a memorial address on Lincoln by Dr. Hugh Black. The other speakers included Governor Dunne and President James, of the university. At the conclusion of the program in the auditorium the assembly adjourned to Lincoln Hall, where the oration of the day was delivered by Bishop McDowell, of Chicago.

Lincoln Hall was made possible by an appropriation of $250,000 by the Illinois Legislature in 1909, the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth, and it was decided to give the building its present name and dedicate it to the study of humanities.

The building is of brick and stone, and terra cotta. The central feature of the entire plan is a series of departmental or seminar libraries extending across the front of the building, on the first, second and third floors. Joining each seminar library are one or two conference rooms intended primarily for graduate students, and available for research or conference and for meetings of seminar graduate classes.

In general, quarters are provided on the first floor for the classics and for the philosophical group or department; on the second floor, for English and modern languages, and on the third floor, for the social science group, comprising history, economics, politics and sociology.

The decorations of the building comprise a notable series of memorial panels, tablets, medallions, inscriptions, etc., relating to Lincoln and his times. Over the main entrance is the inscription, Lincoln Hall. Just within the memorial entrance hall and sunk in the marble floor, in brass letters, is a copy of the address of Lincoln at Gettysburg, while at the back, facing the visitor on his entrance, is the grand marble staircase in a recess, which is the niche for a statue of the late President.

On the outside across the front of the building and above the second-story windows is a series of ten panels in terra cotta, representing scenes in the life of Lincoln, from his activity as a rail-splitter to the re-establishment of peace at the close of the Civil War. In a similar position on the two wings of the building is a series of inscriptions containing quotations from Lincoln's speeches and writings flanked by medallion portraits in terra cotta of men prominent in state and national life who were closely associated with Lincoln in his work—Grant, Farragut, Sumner, Seward, Stanton, Chase, Greely, Welles, Alams, Douglas, Trumbull, Turner, Yates, Lovejoy, Davis, Palmer, Koerner, McGill, Oglesby and Logan.

DUNELLEN'S COUNCIL HEARS ABOUT SEWERS

The principal topic of discussion at the Dunellen Council meeting Monday night was the sewer question. The committee, of which Mayor Richards is chairman, reported its refield meeting and regarding the conference conference with the North Plainfield for the joint sewer system. The Mayor announced that the contracts, plans and maps relating to the new sewer will be on file at the Borough Hall ready for inspection by any who desire to see them.

Hereafter all bills against the Borough must be presented for payment to the finance committee so that they can be considered at the meeting of the Council members, which is held the Saturday night prior to the regular Council meeting. The Mayor and clerk were authorized to make a note for the sum of $1,500 so that the outstanding bills and obligations against the borough could be paid. After other routine business was trasncated the meeting was adjourned until Monday night, March 3, which will be the regular March meeting.

This Firepot Doesn't Clog

SQUARE POT BOILERS owe much of their great heating power to the peculiar form of their firepots. These are round at top but square at bottom. Each time the grate is turned accumulated ash slips from them free and easy into the capacious ashpit below, leaving a live fire fully opened to fresh oxygen. This causes perfect combustion, minus clogging, choking and "dead fire."

Round firepots do not possess these advantages, nor can they give "results" as quickly.

Because of this complete combustion, SQUARE POT BOILERS use a minimum amount of coal and require little attention. Let the dealer nearest give you a demonstration.

AN ORDINANCE

To Widen Sycamore Street from the Southeasterly Side Line of East Fifth Street to the Northwesterly Side Line of East Sixth Street.

WHEREAS, The Common Council judge that the public good requires the widening of Sycamore Street between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Sycamore Street in the City of Plainfield, from the southeasterly side line of East Fifth Street to the northwesterly side line of East Sixth Street be laid out and widened on both sides so that said portion of Sycamore Street shall be of the uniform width of 22.5 feet on each side of the center line thereof, which said center line is described as follows: Beginning at a point in the center line of said Sycamore Street where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Fifth Street as said streets are now laid out and opened, said point being distant 24.9 feet in a course of S 44° 55' E from an iron manhole head, marked, at the intersection of the center line of said Sycamore and East Fifth Streets, and running from said first mentioned point S 44° 55' E, a distance of 298.16 feet to an iron bar in said center line of Sycamore Street and the northwesterly side line of East Sixth Street.

The land to be taken for the widening of said Sycamore Street includes a strip 6 feet wide on each side of said street, being property now or formerly owned by Estate of Martha E. Dunn, Mary W. Alpaugh, Estate of Warren Ackerman and Mary W. Howe.

The land to be taken and the lines of Sycamore Street as the same is hereinabove ordered to be widened are shown on a map filed in the office of the City Clerk May 31, 1905, entitled: "Map for Widening Sycamore Street, from East Fourth Street to East Sixth Street, City of Plainfield, N. J."

THE LINCOLN IDEA.

The birthday of Abraham Lincoln is being celebrated throughout the country more generally than ever before. As the years go by his name and the anniversary of his birth will unquestionably become the chief celebration of its kind. Just now the trend of public thought leads the political mind toward Mr. Lincoln and his ideals. He was not learned in the schools, for he had no opportunities to attend them. He was not conversant with other nations and the world by travel, for he never had visited any of them. He knew his own country, and better than all, he knew the people well. Hence, in the present state of public discussion, when all parties are turning in the direction of bringing the government closer to the people, naturally a Lincoln anniversary has created more than usual interest.

All public men seem to be anxious to be like Mr. Lincoln. Their written and spoken addresses are all compared with those of Lincoln. People are awaiting the first inaugural of President Wilson, and wondering if it will be like Lincoln's. The trend of popular thought is to put more control directly in the people. The movement for women's suffrage is only another evidence of the public interest in the right of all citizens to vote. Lincoln's life was devoted to the principle of human equality. The issues today chiefly relate to equal industrial opportunity, coupled with more interest in men and women than in the dollar. Politics with many men today is almost a religion, and is as intense in its purpose as was the spirit of Lincoln in regard to slavery. Times change, conditions change; but human problems never. The great fight in life is to make conditions better. For a number of years we have, in this country, been centering our thought more on getting gain than upon giving to every man and woman an equal chance in the race of life, but we are now upon a time when the people intend to take over and control their own government in their own way, and to make the country in fact, as well as in name, what Lincoln declared it was, namely, a government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

UNJUST CRITICISM.

The Westfield Standard in its last issue went out of its way to unjustly criticise President-elect Wilson's appointment of Joseph P. Tumulty to serve as his secretary when he takes the office of chief executive of the nation. Not only was the comment uncalled for, but it contained gross misstatements concerning Mr. Tumulty, and showed a woeful lack of information about the record of that very capable and ambitious young man. Says the Standard:

We notice that some of the administration papers are struggling in their efforts to explain away the awkward situation in which Mr. Wilson has placed his party, stating that Mr. Tumulty is a progressive Democrat, rather apologizing that he comes from Jersey City, as they well know what type of politicians Jersey City has produced. The fact is Mr. Tumulty, and his father before him, are of the old school Bob Davis type of politicians.

Anyone in the slightest degree familiar with legislative matters, since Mr. Tumulty first entered political life, knows that he is one of the few men who refused to do "Bob" Davis bidding while that shrewd and wily boss was in control of political affairs in Hudson county. It was the vote of Mr. Tumulty and that of Philip Daab, another independent Hudson county member, who is well known to Plainfielders, that made civil service possible in 1908 after Republican members of the Legislature had turned traitors to their party, and refused to abide by the platform of the campaign of 1907. And that was only the first of a long line of votes and acts in favor of progressive legislation which were recorded when Mr. Tumulty's name was called while he was in the House. It was only because "Bob" Davis realized that Tumulty was the kind of a man that the decent people favored and would vote for, that he was renominated and re-elected again and again, and not because of any love on the part of the Hudson county leader for the splendid young man whom Governor Wilson has justly honored. Incidentally, if the misinformed Westfield newspaper editor were to delve further, he would learn that Tumulty's father before him displayed unusual independence when in the House many years ago, and that his brother, Felix Tumulty, has for years been one of the worst kickers against machine rule in the Democratic party in Hudson county.

FREEHOLDERS HAVE IMPORTANT SESSION

The Somerset County Board Transacts Big Amount of Business.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders at its meeting, yesterday, received a communication from State Road Commissioner Stevens accepting on behalf of the State the first sections of the Plainville and Liberty Corner roads. County Collector Allen reported receipts of the following moneys from the State: State's share of the Kingston road, 80 per cent., $7,373.83; first section of the Liberty Corner road, State's share, 10 per cent., $3,830.70.

Several citizens appeared before the board in the interest of having the road from the borough line of South Bound Brook to Millstone, by the way of Weston, improved under the State aid act. Director Douglass added the name of Counsel Frech to the legislative committee, and the latter was also authorized to apply to the courts for a guardian for Anna O'Shea, of Raritan, an inmate of the State institution.

Engineer Doughty returned without his approval plans for the improvement of the Finderne road. The board will meet February 18, to inspect county bridges in Bedminster and Bernards townships.

County Collector Allen reported the following sums: Courts, $1,870.07; county jail, $39.09; county buildings and grounds, $212.09; lunacy and epilepsy, $1,129.03; coroners, $46.73; stationery, $99.18; salaries, $1,444.36; incidentals, $249.75; county superintendent, $150; bridges, $3,344.72; per diem and salaries, $605.69; interest, $88, elections, $18; road repairs, $1,081.30; new roads, $3,640.18; total, $14,358.19.

DUTCH ARMS PLANNING FOR A BIG BANQUET

The Dutch Arms, men's association, of Trinity Reformed church, has completed arrangements for its fourth annual banquet to be held at the church Thursday night, February 20, at 7 o'clock. Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, will be the toastmaster, and the invocation will be by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city.

The speakers will be Rev. W. Warren Giles, of the First Reformed church, East Orange; Ruford Franklin, a New York attorney, who resides at Summit; Rev. Albertus T. Broek, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, Newark, and Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. The music will be furnished by Comb's Orchestra. The dinner will be served by the Willing Workers' Class of the Bible school.

SESAME CLUB TO MEET.

The Sesame Club will meet with Mrs. H. D. Corbusier, 608 Park avenue, tomorrow morning.

FIELD GLASSES MAY CONVICT 10

Witness Tells of Killing of Erie Policemen.

HE PICKS OUT FOUR MEN

And John V. Redmond, One of Railroad Police Officials, States That He Had Seen Them Through Glasses Shooting at Detectives.

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 12.—A pair of field glasses may result in the sending to the electric chair of the ten Italians on trial here for the murder of Captain Andrew J. Craw and Detective Clarence Mallory of the Erie railroad police, who were fatally shot in the strike riots at the Shadyside docks at Edgewater Dec. 11 last.

John V. Redmond, one of the railroad police officials and the star witness for the prosecution, took the stand and told a graphic story of the onslaught made upon the railroad employees and strike breakers. He was attracted by shouts on that bloody afternoon, and when he got to the scene discovered a small army of the strikers getting ready for the attack massed upon the Palisades overlooking the docks.

Training a pair of binoculars upon the advancing crowd, he discovered that the men had come to the place with several mysterious bundles of blankets.

"I saw them unwrap the blankets and start loading the guns and rifles that they had concealed," he declared. "I watched them closely, and, fearing serious trouble, gathered my men in readiness to defend themselves. The strikers, waiting a few moments, apparently for a signal, and then waving red flags, rushed down the embankment, firing their guns continuously."

Prosecutor Wright soon after shut off the direct examination, for this was one of the principal points he wanted to bring out. If the jury is convinced that the attack was premeditated beyond all peradventure, the defendants undoubtedly will be convicted of murder in the first degree.

Lawyer Maidment of counsel for the defendants cross examined the detective savagely, but failed to shake his testimony beyond gaining the admission that Redmond was unable to recognize the men individually.

The sleuth did, however, pick out four of the defendants and stated flatfootedly that he had seen them shooting at the railroad police. Antonio Cella, his brother Constantino, and the two Ferrero brothers, Ferdinand and Antonio, according to Redmond, shot at the two men who were slain. Before the victims had an opportunity to return the fire they dropped.

JURY CAN'T AGREE.

Panel Stands 8 to 4 For Conviction of Charles Magill For Murder.

Mays Landing, N. J., Feb. 12.—The jury in the case of Charles Magill, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of William Leach, returned into court, having failed to agree upon a verdict after being out twenty-six hours.

Magill, who is a member of the machine at the resort, claimed that Leach came at him with uplifted arms and to defend himself pushed the man off and struck him. Leach fell upon the sidewalk and struck his head, which, the state claimed, resulted in his death. Judge Higbee was called back by the jury for further instructions and after returning for another three hour deliberation failed to agree, standing 8 to 4 for conviction.

REFORM SLEUTH SENT TO JAIL

Elton of Atlantic City Faints, Then Gets Four Month Term.

Mays Landing, N. J., Feb. 12.—As Justice Kalisch was pronouncing sentence on Thomas Elton of Atlantic City, a reform sleuth, who pleaded guilty to forging the names of the court and Attorney General Wilson to pay vouchers agregating over $500, the prisoner collapsed and was carried unconscious from the courtroom.

Justice Kalisch, who had already sentenced Elton to a term of from one to seven years on each of three indictments, directed the clerk to vacate the judgments already passed pending a medical examination into Elton's condition. Following a plea for mercy by Attorney General Wilson, Elton was sentenced later to four months in the county jail.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Runs Between Front and Rear Wheels of Slow Vehicle.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 12.—Running between the front and rear wheels of a four ton automobile truck while playing "tag," seven-year-old Richard Harris of D187 Montgomery street, was run over and so badly injured that he died when on his way to the General hospital in the police ambulance. Both his legs were crushed and his skull fractured.

John Barone of 275 Clay street, and Joseph Gennaro of 89 Straight street, owners of the vehicle and both of whom were on it at the time, were unaware of the accident until they were arrested half an hour later.

Inventor Snapped Yesterday on Occasion of Sixty-sixth Birthday.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Thomas A. Edison celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday yesterday by working a little harder than he works every other day in the year in his library in his factory at Menlo Park, N. J. Mr. Edison sleeps four hours out of each twenty-four. He says hard work for twenty hours gives him a profoundly restful sleep, which equals eight hours' rest for the ordinary brain worker. The above is from a photograph taken at Menlo Park yesterday.

PERSONAL.

Elinore Hann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hann, of East Third street, who has been a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital for the past five weeks, underwent a successful operation Tuesday evening.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL AND SUPPER AT FIRST M. E.

At the bi-monthly supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church last night, 150 guests enjoyed the repast served them by the women in the banquet rooms of the church. The committee in charge of the affair were all members whose names began with the letters of the alphabet from L to R. Mrs. Herbert E. Parker acted as chairman of the committee.

At the close of the supper the guests adjourned to Vincent chapel where the women held a birthday social. As each one entered the door she was given a small sack in which it was requested that a penny for every year of her age be enclosed. In this manner about $45 was realized. The program for the evening included piano solos by Miss Mildred Burnett; vocal solos by Mrs. Guy Bender, Ethiopean impersonations and stories by Mrs. Campbell, and a playlet by several young members of the church society. The committee in charge of the social was composed of Miss Bertha Whitney, chairman; Mrs. Donald McGee and Miss Edna French.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ROWE.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Ellen Rowe was held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church yesterday forenoon, Rev. F. J. Hubach, the pastor, officiating. The burial took place in Irvington, the former home of Mrs. Rowe.

MISS SUTPHEN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Miss Charlotte V. Sutphen was held from her late home on Putnam avenue, yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. O. McKelvey officiating. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

BOMBARD MEXICO CAPITOL

City of Mexico, Feb. 12.—At least 200 were killed while the hostilities of real civil war were in progress for several hours. Heavy artillery were used on both sides, and the firing was directed without regard to the noncombatants in the streets or to the property of foreigners.

Serious damage was done to many business buildings by shell and solid shot. When firing ceased neither side had obtained any appreciable advantage.

The federal forces assumed the offensive and from guns placed only a thousand yards from General Diaz's main position fired solid shot and shrapnel.

The enemy replied in kind, and a brisk cannonading ensued.

Two of the federal guns were silenced and had to be replaced.

A force of rurales charged the arsenal. They were allowed to approach near; then the guns and rapid firers opened, killing seventy men at the first volley and wounding many. The force retired in confusion.

Noncombatants Killed.

Bullets from both sides swept the streets, killing many noncombatants. No attempt was made by the Maderists to keep the crowd back or empty the buildings on the line of fire. Diaz had cleared the houses in the vicinity of the arsenal last night.

Several hours later it was thought Diaz had a slight advantage. His loss was smaller, and he had more ammunition.

Two solid shot took the corner off the American consulate. Two Americans were wounded, one seriously.

The Madero cannon placed behind the Mexican Herald building, near the foreign relations building, fired many shots which fell on the buildings. An artillery captain who was congratulated by the generals told them to "go to hell; he wanted no congratulations for killing his brothers." There is a marked defection from the ranks and a lack of spirit.

It is believed that the railway to Vera Cruz and the north has been cut.

The Red Cross is caring for the wounded so far as possible.

The government forces shot over the arsenal, hitting the street car line a quarter of a mile beyond. One woman was wounded. The foreign colonies are orderly. The hotels are crowded.

The streets were crowded with panic stricken people, and above the shrill cries and screams of women and the shouts of men could be heard the whine of flying bullets and the snarl of machine gun missiles. It was not until some time after the battle started that cable service was restored.

Several Children Wounded.

It has just been reported here that three residences on the foreign colony have been badly damaged by bursting shells. Red and White Cross ambulances hurried past the cable office, and in one several wounded children were seen en route to hospitals. Automobile loads of sharpshooters are hurrying to the scene of battle, and they can be seen firing at the gun crews of the rebels on the roof of the building. General Huerta, who is first in command of the attacking party, directed a heavy artillery fire in the Belem prison, but the rebels succeeded in silencing the federals' guns, which fired into the arsenal from the Alameda.

The federal forces attempted to take the arsenal by direct assault, and it was then that rifle firing became general. But the assault did not reach the hand to hand stage. Three other attempts were made, but the columns of federals were in each case forced back to shelter by a well directed rifle fire from the windows and roofs of the arsenal building.

Artillery Batters Buildings.

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—The staff correspondent of the Times at the City of Mexico sends a dispatch to his paper in which he says:

"The City of Mexico seems doomed. Many fine buildings are ablaze from the fire of artillery, and dead are piled high in the streets. General Huerta, commander of the federal troops, is reported dead, and the reign of President Madero seems ended. Colonel Diaz, leader of the rebel forces, is in command of nearly all the city. His men are fighting like veterans, while those defending the national palace, where Madero is ensconced, have taken to drink and are reeling on the firing line. Diaz's men, seeing this, were quick to take advantage of it, and within an hour Diaz had extended his zone of control to the Alameda itself.

"I was invited by Colonel Diaz to view the battle from the rebel lines. Force for force, the two sides seem equally matched, though Diaz was far better equipped in the matter of field and quick firing guns. This advantage was partly offset by the fact that skilled men to handle the guns were not plentiful.

"Actual firing began about 8 o'clock in the morning, the federals being first to fire. At first it was desultory and confined largely to the advance lines, but by noon it grew heavier. Huge columns of smoke began to appear over the city about 1 o'clock, and soon flames could be seen. From my position I judged these fires had been caused by the rebel artillery fire, as they were in a direct line from Diaz's position.

Citizens Are Mowed Down.

"At 3 o'clock the federals rushed out, planted two field guns and poured a merciless fire toward Diaz's position. The street in front of these guns was filled with dead, innocent citizens who had taken no part in the battle.

"It was at this juncture that men, seemingly intoxicated, were seen in the lines of the federals. With a yell Diaz's men hurled themselves down this little by street and stampeded Madero's men. They fled pellmell into the federal breastworks, and the rebels, seizing the guns, turned them upon the fleeing men. Diaz came up and in a hot sortie managed to extend his front line to the Alameda, which at 6 o'clock he was still holding.

"At this time I have no certain manner of estimating the dead, but the total must be hundreds. Many streets are practically impassable for bodies lying in the road. The people, panic stricken when the battle began huddled wherever they could escape the flying bullets. When the artillery fire started many buildings began to burn. The people rushed to the streets only to be met with the fire from the field and rapid fire guns. The bullets were no respecters of persons, for both women and little children fell with the men.

"With darkness the firing slackened but did not entirely cease. Diaz, if a decision must be given, was victor. He not only held his own, but advanced his position materially."

General Huerta is said to have been caught under the falling walls of the Young Men's Christian association building.

GENERAL OROZCO.

He Is the Right Hand Man of General Feliz Diaz.

General Orozco is again in the limelight in the present outbreak in Mexico. The rebel leader has been fighting against the government from the start. It is now said that he will be the right hand man of General Feliz Diaz, if the latter wins in his fight on Madero.

NATION MOURNS ITS DEAD HEROES

King May Bestow Title on Captain Scott's Widow.

MEMORIAL IN ST. PAUL'S.

Premier Asquith Almost Overcome Referring to Tragedy In House of Commons—London Hears From Other Governments Expressing Admiration For Heroes.

London, Feb. 12.—"I regret to announce the death of Captain Scott and Petty Officer Evans on March 29 and Feb. 17, 1912, respectively."

This brief telegram was received by the English government from Lieutenant E. R. G. R. Evans, of the royal navy, who was second in command of the expedition to the south pole, in which Captain Scott and four companions met death. It was the first and so far the only official notice of the tragedy which ended the successful dash to the pole.

The fact that the deaths of the three other men in the polar party were not mentioned in the despatch is explained by the circumstances that they were connected with the party only for scientific purposes and were not in the British navy.

Throughout the United Kingdom flags are at half mast and mourning is general for the brave men who perished in their appalling battle with blizzards and starvation.

A memorial service for the heroic dead, lost in the interest of science, will be held in St. Paul's cathedral on Friday.

From all quarters of the world telegrams have reached London recording the grief of the people at the fate of the explorers, mingled with pride at the way in which they had faced death with a dauntless spirit.

Premier to Heed Appeal.

The tragedy was referred to in the house of commons by the premier, Mr. Asquith. Speaking with evident emotion, he said:—

"We all at this moment are under the deep impression created by the reading of the last message to the world left by Captain Scott, one of the most moving and pathetic utterances in the annals of discovery. We can only say that his last appeal will not fall on deaf ears."

Captain Scott's last thought as he penned the final words in his diary with freezing ink a few hours before his death was for the future welfare of those left behind by the death of his followers. He was as unselfish in this as in the other acts of his life.

Practically the last business he transacted before leaving New Zealand was to arrange for the sale of his story of the ill fated expedition. He refused to make any private profit from this and arranged that the total receipts should go to increase the financial reward of the men who were to share his perils.

He arranged for the benefit of the crew, unknown to them, that all money received from newspapers throughout the world should be distributed among the sailors as a surprise bonus when they returned to England.

Mrs. Scott, probably still unaware of her husband's death, is assured of a pension from the British government.

All the exploring party, with the exception of Captain Scott and his four companions, reported safe aboard the rescue ship Terra Nova, which is due to arrive at Lyttleton, New Zealand, late today.

Knighthood For Mrs. Scott.

London, Feb. 12.—The suggestion is made that the king may decide to grant to Mrs. Scott the posthumous honors of her husband. Captain Scott, if he had lived, would almost certainly have received knighthood, and there is precedent in several past instances in which the widows of men who died in their country's service have been honored with titles by the sovereign. Widows of several officers killed in the Crimean and the Boer wars received honors as "knights' widows," just as if the sovereign had actually knighted their husbands.

The thrilling record of Captain Scott's triumph and his death near the south pole has stirred the entire world. The touching message which Scott wrote as he waited for death, his appeal for those dependent upon him, is to be quickly answered.

Premier Asquith speaking with great emotion, declared in the house of commons that the appeal should not fall upon deaf ears.

Already funds have been opened all over England, and the question of the lord mayor of London doing likewise is under consideration.

Rulers and governments of many nations have hastened to express their admiration of the dead heroes and their sympathy with those who survive. Everywhere there is a desire to carry out the last wishes of the intrepid leader, written when he was face to face with death.

Dan O'Reilly's Conviction Affirmed.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The conviction of Daniel O'Reilly, a New York lawyer, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for five months for receiving stolen property was affirmed by the court of appeals.

Preparing Him For Matrimony.

In South Africa some of the savage tribes have a peculiar ceremony which they put the matrimonial candidate through previous to his entering the marriage state. His hands are tied up in a bag containing five ants for two hours. If he bears unmoved the tortures of their stings he is considered qualified to cope with the nagging and daily jar and fret of married life.

ALFRED'S 'GRADS' ANNUAL MEETING

Dr. Clawson Toastmaster at Seventh-Day Baptist University Banquet.

DISTINGUISHED TALKER

Dr. Lyman Abbott Among Those Responding to Toasts—J. B. Cottrell Elected Secretary-Treasurer The Local Guests.

Plainfield was well represented at the annual dinner of the Alfred University Alumni Association of New York, over 125 alumni and friends gathered in the banquet hall of the Hotel St. Denis, New York, last night. Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, of this city, president of Alfred University Alumni Association, was the toastmaster. The speakers included Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook; Rev. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson; Justice Peter B. McLannan, of the Appelate Division of the Supreme Court of New York; Dr. Boothe Colwell Davis, dean of the University; Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Main, dean of Alfred Theological Seminary; Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general of the International Sunshine Society; Dr. Edgar C. Abbott, Shakespearian reader. The soloists of the evening were Charles Potter Titsworth and Roy Edward Titsworth.

Dr. Lyman Abbott's theme was "Education as a Means to an End and Not an End in Itself." He likened the individual and his attainments to a member of an orchestra and his instrument. That perfect harmony was the result only when player and instrument were subjected and made as a means to the production of the entire orchestra. If a single [illegible] should attempt to make his playing on his instrument the purpose of his effort, the result would be discord.

"Is the American College on Its Job?" was the subject of an address by Rev. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson, the widely-known author and divine. In short he mentioned the spirit of restlessness in business, politics, education and religion. "We do not know what they want," said Dr. Tomlinson, "but they want it very badly. The schools are not giving results commensurate with the outlay of money and effort."

Dr. Boothe Colwell Davis told of the progress and growth of the university, explaining that $75,000 has been added to the equipment during the year. One of the most enjoyable features of the evening was a vocal duet by Charles P. Titsworth and Roy Edward Titsworth, of this city.

Justice McLannan pleaded that men should throw their college training into helping to solve the great problems of the day. Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden told briefly of the interest the Sunshine Society has in Alfred University. Dr. Edgar C. Abbott made a plea for equal rights, and was followed by Dr. Main whose subject was "Some of Alfred's Ideals."

These officers were elected for the year: President, Fred C. White, of Morris Plains; secretary-treasurer, John B. Cottrell, of Plainfield. Dr. Henry M. Maxson, of this city, presented resolutions in memorial owing to the death of two of Alfred's alumni and trustees during the year, George [illegible], former Congressman from Rhode Island and Charles C. Chapman, of Yonkers.

The Plainfielders at the banquet were Dr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, Dr. and Mrs. Frank T. Clawson, Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. W. [illegible] Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potter Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Titsworth, Roy E. Titsworth, George M. Clarke, Miss Helen M. Rogers, Miss White, Dr. Henry M. Maxson, Miss Ruth Maxson, Mr. and Mrs. Orra S. Rogers, Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Asa F. Randolph.

NOTED GUESTS SEE GREAT EXPOSITION

Elizabeth Host to Many Newspapermen and Commercial Executives.

Elizabeth, Feb. 12.—Following the successful passing Monday of the Industrial Exposition, the second day of the big show was featured yesterday by a reception and banquet to commercial executive and newspaper men of the State, New York city and Philadelphia. This event was held in the lodge room of the Elks' Club and after a thorough inspection the visitors inspected the exhibits at the Armory.

Every exhibit in the Armory was in bloom profusion and the display of industrial and institutional exhibits was the object of greater admiration than at the opening.

The press and commercial representatives began arriving in this city about noon and were met at the railroad stations by members of the reception committee. From that hour on a steady procession wended its way to the Elks' Club, where a reception was held for the guests of honor. These included Arthur Brisbane, of the New York Journal; William C. Freeman, of the New York Mail; Herbert S. Houston, of the World's Work; Edward F. Hretz, of Chicago, field secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and George A. Viehman, of New Brunswick, vice president of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet was attended by about 150 newspapermen, officers of commercial organizations and representatives of the leading business houses in the state. The tables were prettily decorated with greens and flowers and music was furnished by an orchestra.

WILL SEE A GREAT COMEDY

IN WOMAN'S REALM

CHIC CONCEITS.

Charming Things to Be Made in Velvet Neckbands.

The modish maid finds velvet neckbands of all kinds very serviceable. To wear with a white satin or net slip a good choice is that of inch wide orange velvet ribbon, long enough to reach almost to the waist, the two mitered ends of which are outlined with crystal and amber beads, while a chain of the same hangs in festoons in front.

The simple blouse with kimono sleeves and trimming portions that

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGS DAINTILY POACHED.

POACHED eggs are merely eggs boiled without the shells. Unless you have a "poacher" use a frying pan. Fill it about half full of boiling water and add a few drops of vinegar and a good pinch of salt. First break each egg into a cup, taking care not to break the yolk; then slip it carefully into the boiling water. Draw the pan to the side of the stove, so that the water boils gently. If it cooks too fast the white will be hard. In three and a half minutes the white will be nicely set. Lift the egg out carefully with a "slice" or large spoon if you have not one.

You can serve each egg on a neat square of hot buttered toast. Only really fresh eggs will poach well.

Wholesome For Invalids.

Poached Eggs With Rice.—Take four ounces of well boiled rice, six new laid eggs, one gill of brown sauce, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one ounce of butter, salt and pepper. Melt the butter in a saucepan, add to it the boiled rice while it is still hot, mix it well and season carefully. Make this rice into a neat bed on a hot dish, leaving a margin of dish around the rice. Poach the eggs carefully in boiling water to which the lemon juice has been added and when they are sufficiently set lift them out, trim them neatly and arrange them on the rice. Pour on the hot sauce and serve hot.

Eggs Poached In Milk.—To poach eggs this way substitute sweet milk for water and add a pinch of salt. Break two eggs in a saucer, taking care not to break the yolk, and slip them into the milk when boiling. Boil for five minutes. Take up with a slice and trim off the rough edge of each egg. Place the eggs on two rounds of buttered toast, pour a little milk on the plate or dish and serve.

In Scallop Shells.

Eggs Poached With Spinach.—Take four eggs, a pound of the fresh dry spinach, one truffle, an ounce of grated Parmesan cheese, four tablespoonfuls of thick white sauce and salt and pepper to taste.

Pick over and wash the spinach, cook it in boiling water with a little salt and soda in it till tender, then drain and press and either pass through a sieve or chop it. Season it nicely.

Butter four scallop shells, put a layer of spinach in each. On this lay a neatly poached egg. Mask it with white sauce, which must be hot and nicely seasoned. Sprinkle over the top some of the grated cheese and garnish with a little chopped truffle. Put the shells in the oven for a minute or two to brown the cheese.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The next few days are important ones for suffragists in New York and New Jersey. Tomorrow, the Pilgrims, led by Gen. Rosalie Jones, will leave Metuchen at 9 a. m. on the "hike" to Washington. A dozen or more Plainfield women will walk with them to New Brunswick or farther, possibly to Princeton, where the marchers spend Thursday night.

On next Sunday afternoon at Proctor's theatre, Newark, a great suffrage rally will be held with Dr. Anna Howard Shaw as the principal speaker. All open-minded Plainfielders are invited, especially those not yet persuaded.

On Monday evening, at Carnegie Hall, N. Y., another big meeting will be held where Jane Addams, Mrs. Catt and other important speakers will be heard.

Tuesday, February 18 is the day of the greatest importance to New Jersey suffragist—the legislative "hearing" at Trenton for the Woman Suffrage bill. A special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave Elizabeth at 8:52 a. m. A large body of Plainfield women will leave for Elizabeth at 8:12 on the New Jersey Central to meet the special.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw at Carnegie Hall, New York, on Feb. 17, will explain the wonderful changes which equal suffrage has made—and is going to make before 1920—in the map of the United States. The first map shown will be absolutely black. Then two little gray specks will show the beginning of school suffrage. The first glow of dawn will come in the West, beginning in Wyoming. The whole Western part of the United States including the Pacific Coast will gradually be illuminated with the golden light of victory. Succeeding maps will show the gold extending in great floods of color after the elections of 1913, 1914 and 1915 until at the beginning of 1920 only one black spot is left—namely Vermont, where the constitution cannot be amended except at a convention, and where a constitutional convention is possible only once in ten years. The United States at the end of 1920 will boast a cloudless map, all gold and no black, with a patriotic band of red, white and blue encircling it.

The California Legislature now in session will consider several bills of importance to women and minors. Amendments have been proposed to the Eight Hour law for women so as to make it include canneries and commercial establishments; one bill prohibits children under twelve years of age from selling or vending goods or otherwise engaging in business; another provides for improved factory inspection; a third for the inspection and control of labor and construction camps, with a special regard to sanitary conditions; and a fourth that the Labor Bureau shall have power to enforce all labor legislation. A Minimum Wage Commission is proposed for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the advisability of fixing a minimum wage for women and minors. Mrs. N. Jolidon Croake has recently introduced a bill in the Washington legislature proposing a minimum wage of $1.25 per day for working women. Her bill includes women working in offices, factories, stores or other commercial concerns. For less than eight-hour days the minimum is fixed at sixteen cents an hour. Women employed at piece work must be guaranteed the minimum wage. Colorado's new State Senator, Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, has been made Chairman of the Education Committee of the Senate. She hopes to establish the educational institutions of the State upon an improved financial basis and to introduce a minimum wage bill for country school teachers. Teaching is in her opinion the most sacred vocation next to motherhood. All of which is some evidence that the women voters in the equal suffrage States and the women in the legislatures have found useful work to do and are doing it.

Felix Moschels, president International Peace and Arbitration Association, recently wrote to the Common Cause, an English suffrage magazine: "Lip homage is not enough. We talk of our better halves, and cling to the lion's share. For centuries we have held our mates in subjection; let us liberate them now, and help our poor handicapped legislators, hitherto working minus one arm, to open up, with the assistance of the other limb, new sources of inspiration, vital power and authority."

The Nevada Legislature has passed an equal suffrage amendment which will go to the voters either at a special election in 1913 or at the next general election in November in November, 1914. Governor Oddie, in his message to the State Legislature of the beginning of this session, said: "In California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Arizona—every Pacific Coast State except Nevada—the right of franchise is now granted women. Two years ago our Legislature proposed an amendment removing the constitutional barrier which denies women this right in Nevada. This amendment will have to be favorably acted upon by your honorable bodies and finally submitted to a vote of the people before it can become a part of our organic law. The sentiment in its favor seems to be overwhelming and participated in by all political parties, for which reason, and from my own personal convictions of its justice, I recommend that your honorable bodies concur in the same by appropriate action. In connection with the more equitable readjustment of the status of women before the law, I recommend that the statute which gives the father sole authority over the custody, services, earnings and management of the property of a minor child be amended by making both parents joint guardians thereof."

President Taft and President-elect Wilson will be the guests of honor of the National Woman Suffrage Association at the big pageant on March 3. They will occupy the same box on a large stand at the south front of the Treasury.

TAFT BEGINS HIS MOVING.

President Sends Part of His Furniture to New Haven.

Washington, Feb 12.—President Taft began to make the White House ready for the occupancy of Woodrow Wilson. Scores of articles belonging to the president, Mrs Taft and their children were taken from the White House attic, where they have been stored, put in moving vans and started on the way to New Haven. Much of the Tafts' furniture was collected while the president was secretary of war, and many articles were brought back from the Philippines

All these will be moved out of the White House before Mr. Wilson comes in. He will find the old mansion spic and span, with only one reminder of the Taft administration—the oil painting of the president hung in the main hall at the right of the entrance.

HEARD IN PLAINFIELD

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected.

All over Plainfield you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. Plainfield people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Plainfield citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue Plainfield, N. J., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they helped me after every other remedy had failed. I suffered from kidney disorders for years and the principal one was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

WHAT'S A BIRTHDAY IF IT AIN'T A HOLIDAY?

"MAC" SAYS

Basketball at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. Ajax vs. First team. Game called at 8:15 o'clock.

In a few more house (feer und tswonsich sthun) we will know all about it. Which is the best team, we mean.

Basketball at the Scotch Plains Parish house this afternoon. Scotch Plains girls vs. Mt. Pleasant girls.

The silver loving cup donated for competition in the Ajax-Hope chapel playoff has arrived and is a dandy. The mug is Sterling silver and stands fifteen inches in height.

The second game of the Interscholastic series between Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools is scheduled to be played at Saengerbund Hall Washington's Birthday.

The Grace church choir boys have reorganized their basketball team and the manager is scouting around for games. Harold Williams is the game booker and Daniel McNamee is captain.

One of the most successful features in the Y. M. C. A. physical department schedule during the past season has been the senior color league. The competition is keen and the attendance high at every meeting.

A cup has been offered by the Ritz Company to be awarded to the winner of the league all around point score and then the athletes are going to eat. Some program.

Don't forget the Central New Jersey Baseball League meeting at the Queen City Hotel tonight. It may be the last opportunity to get a franchise.

A meeting of the newly organized Queen City Athletic Club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

A feminine basketball game has been arranged for the Y. M. C. A. court next Saturday night. The Trenton Y. W. C. A. girls (champions of the state) will play the local Y. W. C. A. quintet. A preliminary between the Dunellen and Y. W. C. A. second lives will probably be arranged.

Ajax go to Woodbridge Saturday night. According to Perth Amboy papers the local quintet is considered to be a wonder and great preparations are being made for their reception.

WITH THE BOXERS

Eddie Shevlin, the Boston boxer, is considering an offer to become boxing instructor at Dartmouth College.

After his fight with Frank Klaus on March [illegible] Papke says he will meet George Carpentier in a return bout.

A Buffalo promoter is trying to sign Joe Thomas to meet K. O. Brennan at the Bison City the latter part of this month.

Eddie McGoorty says he will box Jimmy Clabby in Milwaukee before he meets Tony Caponi in the bout scheduled for Winnipeg.

Al Kaufman is going to the mountains in California for several months in an effort to get into condition for another whirl in the roped arena.

SILVER TROPHY PRESENTATION AND BANQUET WILL END LEAGUE SEASON

In connection with the work of the senior department color league at the local Y. M. C. A. a banquet is being planned to wind up the organization's work on the evening of Monday, March 31. The supper will be prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of the association and is expected to be one of the largest affairs of its kind ever held by the local Y. M. C. A. physical department. All of the four teams now competing for positions in the league in athletics, basketball, gymnastics and membership campaign. One of the handsomest silver loving cups ever offered as an incentive to athletic competition in this city was donated by the Ritz Company to be awarded to the winner of the league title in all around work. At present the Orange team is leading in total points scored but it is being closely pressed by all contestants and any one of the quartet of squads entered have an excellent chance of landing on the top rung with a little extra effort before March 31.

Examinations for admittance into the senior department leader's corps were held at the association gym last night and many gymnasts contested for places on the squad. The examinations were held to test the ability of the senior athletes and to grade them according to their individual ability. Those passing with the highest percentages will be taken into membership in the leaders' corps and will begin their new duties at once. The leaders' corps will be entirely reorganized by Physical Director E. C. Ostlin and he is planning to establish this squadron on a firmly organized basis before the gym season closes.

The Y. M. C. A. senior department has had the largest membership enrollment of its entire history during the past term, as many as ninety-four active and reliable members taking part in the department's activities. Classes have been held two nights a week which have been largely attended by those desiring basketball, gymnastics or athletics. A special feature in the work this term has been the weekly lectures delivered by prominent professional men on subjects of current interest. The speakers who have entertained the department at these weekly meetings will be the invited guests at the closing banquet, as will also the physical directors of the neighboring associations.

THORPE SYMPATHY SEEMS MISPLACED

Indian Must Have Known, in Getting Registration, He Was an Amateur.

Thorpehysteria has been raging among the sporting writers ever since the great all around athlete acknowledged he was a professional. The disease became more acute than ever after the poor Indian signed to play with the Giants, the leaders of the two big leagues adding their share of waddle to the columns of misplaced sympathy that have been printed over the simple fact of the Indian owning up at a late day to glaring professionalism that would have saved the country a deal of discomfort if it had been blazoned to the world two years before.

How Jim Thorpe feels in the matter it is hard to tell. The Indian is as secretive as the writers on sporting topics are verbose on this peculiar case. But the chances are that he is chuckling in his own quiet way over the crocodile tears that have been shed so generously on his account. Treated with a toxin of anti-hysteria the ailment of Mr. Thorpe disappears and leaves the athletic world the victim of his wiles instead of his being the injured party.

Before he became eligible to compete in amateur athletics he had, the same as other registered athletes to sign an application for registration. In this blank the question, "Have you ever played baseball for money?" is asked specifically. When he signed this blank he must have known that he was subscribing to an untruth and the fact that he disguised the part he had played in the Eastern Carolina League is sufficient evidence that he knew all the time he was competing as an amateur that his baseball career had disqualified him from the competitions in which he was taking part.

All this sympathy thus appears to have been wasted or at least turned into the wrong channels. He carried off honors at Stockholm to which he had not the least right and the mere fact that he has now returned the trophies won will by no means set him right with the athletic world or restore to the men he defeated the glory that should have been theirs. So long as the Olympic games are open to amateurs only the men who are entitled to wear the laurel wreaths are those who have not transgressed the laws recognized all over the world as defining an amateur and a professional.

The plaudits of the crowd and the special commendation of King Gustav of Sweden should have been reserved for the Norwegian and the Swede who finished second in the pentathlon and decatlion. Thorpe usurped these and it is too late now to make restitution.

Further than this the disclosure which followed the reckless statement of Walter Clancy has been of undoubted benefit to the Indian, who has got a baseball contract at figures that he never would have obtained but for the advertising resulting from the admission of his professionalism. That he had already been practically hooked up to play professional ball is believed in many quarters so far as the intention to play with a big league team goes. The formal notification to the league authorities was not made and this left him open to sign for a much larger amount when the notoriety of the charges against him made him an even more desirable investment for the business of baseball.

There have been great professional athletes before Thorpe and some of them have made a good and honest living out of the exercise of their athletic talents. The sooner the Indian forgets the period he was masquerading as an amateur and settles down to play ball for all he is worth the better it will be for amateur sport and the business of baseball, the opinion of Garry Herrmann and Ban Johnson notwithstanding.

STATE CHAMPIONS PLAY AT Y. M. C. A.

Trenton Y. W. C. A. Girls Will Lineup Against Locals on the Y. M. C. A. Floor.

Followers of girls' basketball in this city will be much interested in the announcement of the appearance of the Trenton Y. W. C. A. five here next Saturday night to play the Y. W. C. A. girls of this city, their annual contest. The Trentonians now have clear title to the State feminine championship and the local girls will have to put up a superior article of basketball in order to win the game. Last Saturday night the Capitol City quintet met and defeated the Nonpareil girls' team, of this city, at Trenton, and in accomplishing this feat they did something that no other team in this vicinity has come within a wide margin of doing during the past two years. Although they won out by a margin of but two points, they displayed a style of playing that is seldom seen in the girls' game.

The local quintet will have all it can do to hold the versatile Miss Hayes, the Trenton forward, in check and it is doubtful if the concentrated effort of the entire Plainfield team could hold this little wonder scoreless. Miss Hayes is an all around athletic, having done a large amount of track work and is also an adept at baseball. Her style of playing is not unlike that of the opposite sex and she handles the ball in a way that makes it difficult for any guard to hold her in hand. Her shooting is of the lightning variety and a game seldom passes but what she scores a long string of field goals. Miss Clara Smith, who guarded her at Trenton last Saturday night, holding her to five field goals, will again assume the task in a Y. W. C. A. uniform. The rest of the local team has not been selected as yet but those interested in the team say that a representative delegation that will be able to put up a good showing will be ready to compete.

Although nothing definite has been done as yet, a preliminary contest between the Y. W. C. A. second team and the Dunellen girls will likely be arranged. Both of the games will be played in the Y. M. C. A., where the local girls have been practicing for the past week.

GRACE CHOIR BOYS ANNEX LOOSE GAME

Defeated the Jefferson School Players by a Score of 36 to 8 on Their Home Court.

The recently organized Grace church boys' basketball team scored a decisive victory over the Jefferson School boys on the former's court yesterday afternoon, rolling up a point score of 36 against their opponent's 8 tallies. The game was featured by some high scoring on the part of the Grace boys who put up an excellent passing and shooting game.

N. P. H. S. SENIORS SCORED A VICTORY

Lower Classmen Are Forced to Swallow Their First Taste of Defeat.

The Senior class basketball team sprung a great surprise on the Freshmen team yesterday by giving the first year men their initial defeat by a score of 33 to 13. At the start the Freshmen were a little too confident of victory and the upper classmen took them off their guard. In the first half Captain Townley and his team could only make four points while the Seniors rolled up twenty-one. Captain Ray Kline, Newton Spencer and Clarence Schmidt were the mainstays of the winners, each getting a quintet of field goals. Warren Townley was the whole show for the Freshmen.

ONE OF THE GREATEST BASKETBALL GAMES OF THE SEASON AT Y. M. C. A.

One of the speediest exhibitions of basketball scheduled to take place on a local court this season will be staged at the Y. M. C. A. tonight as a holiday bill when the Y. M. C. A. Ajax line up against the recently organized Y. M. C. A. first team. Ever since the latter aggregation first launched its first announcement of court competition a great deal of rivalry has existed between the two quintets representing the same association. Many and varied have been the opinions of those interested in either of the combinations as to their relative merits but the real decision has been reserved to be decided on the association floor tonight. Both teams claim to be the representative Y. M. C. A. aggregation in this city and both are equally deserving of the honor according to past records.

The first team has not played as many games as the Ajax have, but in every one of their few engagements they have shown excellent form and are bound to make the younger fellows travel the limit in order to come out on top of the heap. A game was previously scheduled between these two teams but the arrangements were made on the spur of the moment and as a result neither presented its regular lineup. Both of the contestants will have their strongest forces out to do battle tonight. However, and the game will be decided on playing merits alone. It is possible that Captain Brynarski will be out of the Ajax lineup because of the injury sustained to his knee in the Plainfield-Westfield High School contest, but an able substitute will be supplied to fill the vacancy and the team will be sufficiently strong to put up a good fight against its heavier opponents. The two aggregations will lineup as follows:

AJAX	FIRST TEAM
Peacock, forward	Coyle
McNamee, forward	Stine
Glover, centre	Smith
Nash, guard	Bailey
Buckle, guard	Moulton

PEACOCK WON SHOT PUT AT Y. M. C. A.

Closely Pressed by Buckle in the Heavy Shot Event Yesterday Afternoon.

Several good marks were hung up by members of the High School gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday in a 12-lb. shot-putting contest. Peacock managed to capture first place, closely pressed by Buckle.

The records:

KING IS THE CHIEF OF INDIAN PUTTERS

He Heaves the Ball a Distance of 23 Feet 7 Inches for the Best Mark.

Twenty Indian Leaguers contested the eight pound shot put event in the Y. M. C. A. gym yesterday afternoon and King proved himself the real king by heaving the iron pill the creditable distance of twenty-three feet, three inches. Hunt came in second, just seven inches in the rear, while Babcock, the third man, was three feet back.

The summaries follow:

BASEBALL NOTES

The Columbus American Association team will do its spring training at Hopkinsville, Ky.

Pitcher Hurles Johnson, who worked for the Binghamton Club last year, has signed with Jack Dunn's Baltimore team.

Bob Bescher, the Cincinnati speed king, has now lead the National League in base running for four successive years.

This fellow Drohan, of the Washington team, must be some ball player when seven Class A clubs bid for his services.

Roy Castleton, who pitched for the New York Americans a few years ago, has signed with the Nashville club, of the Southern League.

A number of ball players will leave for Porto Rico soon, where they will play a series of games before the regular season opens.

With Frank Chance leading the New Yorks and Jim Thorpe playing with the Giants, Gotham bugs will have enough to keep them busy this spring.

Rube Marquard's press work for his vaudeville stunt consists chiefly of a huge slam at Manager McGraw. Rube insists he has quit baseball on account of Mac's shabby treatment.

On their first Eastern trip the Chicago Cubs will play an exhibition game at Syracuse, N. Y., the proceeds to be given to Mrs. Doyle, widow of the former third baseman of the Chicago team.

Catcher Johnny Kling, formerly of the Cubs and last season manager of the Boston Braves, declares that he is out of major league baseball for good, but is willing to pilot a minor league team.

Six ball players who helped to make Chicago famous as members of the local National League team, are now major league managers. Dahlen, of Brooklyn; Evers, of Chicago, and Tinker, of Cincinnati, are still with the National League, while Callahan, of Chicago; Griffith, of Washington, and Chance, of New York, have cast their lot with the American League.

N. P. H. S. GAME OFF

The game scheduled to be played at Saengerbund Hall tonight between the North Plainfield High School and Somerville High School basketball teams has been called off because of a social function to be held at the hall tonight and will be played here tomorrow afternoon. This leaves only one game carded in this city tonight. The lone clash will be staged at the Y. M. C. A. between the Ajax and the first team.

WILLARD WANTS M'CARTY.

Giant Heavyweight Says He Would Like a Meeting With Luther.

Jess Willard is sore. The Kansas heavyweight declares that Luther McCarty, who calls himself the new white heavyweight champion, is not entitled to the honors. He also declares that Mac must be suffering from a lapse of memory.

out half trying in a ten round bout in New York a short time ago. And now look! He trims Al Palzer, who never really beat a good man, then places himself on a pedestal and says: 'I am the real thing in the pugilistic line. Come see me if you have the cush.' Can you beat that for nerve?" Willard says he would like nothing better than a chance to demonstrate that he is a better man with the mitts than McCarty. Willard is the tallest of all heavyweights. He is six feet six inches in height and weighs 230 pounds. He is clever and possesses a good wallop. His most recent battle was with Soldier Kearns, whom he knocked out in eight rounds.

Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Beautiful Pictures in Our GREAT 14TH ANNUAL PICTURE SALE

HAHNE & CO. ORIGINATORS

Beginning Tomorrow Morning at 10 o'Clock, Continuing Until the End of Next Week

There are no picture sales like the one held in this establishment annually. Years ago we inagurated these annual sales and conducted them on a scale of unparalleled magnitude, bringing together collections of pictures from the various prominent makers of the country in an assemblage that included every kind of picture one would be likely to want or to think of.

There have been attempts—all of them feeble—to match these picture sales of ours; but this sale stands head and shoulders above every other one, and this year, perhaps, more conspicuously than ever before, because each year we are presenting stronger attractions.

The variety of pictures in this collection is stupendous; it is almost impossible to classify them into lots, for many of them are individual pictures; of some there are only one or two of a kind and the styles of frames are so varied as to make it almost impossible to list them in an intelligent way for publication.

The Window Shows and the displays in the department must be seen if you would have any idea of the magnitude of this sale.

Prices Are Reduced One-third to One-half and Even Less

ABSOLUTELY NO RESERVATIONS IN ADVANCE. PICTURES IN THE WINDOWS MUST BE ORDERED BY NUMBER AS USUAL.

PICTURES AT 87c WORTH $2.

A collection that seems to embrace almost every subject and every class of picture in all sorts of sizes, plain and colored—gold frames and others—a truly remarkable collection that you will enjoy picking from; enough to hold out many days even with generous selling.

Almost every kind of a picture you could think of in this division, which is one of the largest of all because of the popular price—Engravings, Pastels, Photogravures, Educational Pictures, Den Pictures in great variety, in all sorts of frames and in every size and shape one might wish for.

PICTURES AT $2.50 WORTH $5.

There are pictures in this extensive collection suitable for every room in the house; you will be surprised at the variety, and you will be able to satisfy every need if you want low-cost pictures; some are in black, some in sepia, others in colors, with frames in wonderful variety.

PICTURES AT $3.98 WORTH $7.98.

In this collection you will find Pastels, Photogravures, Engravngs, Etchings, etc., in all kinds of beautiful frames; exceptional pictures at the regular price; astonishing values at the special selling price; a very large line to choose from.

PICTURES AT $4.98 WORTH $9.98.

This is a truly extraordinary collection of really fine pictures, including Pastels, Water Colors, Photogravures, Etchings, Engravings; in a variety of subjects too numerous to clasify here; frames in gold, antique and mission.

PICTURES AT $5.98 WORTH $11.98.

One of the most interesting collections of all, including hundreds of subjects, many of them having attained great sale, including Etchings, Pastels, Colored Prints and Reproducti in various sizes, framed in gold, oak and mission; many patterns of mouldings.

DROPS CHARGE OF CRUELTY.

Newton, Feb. 12.—Upon his agreement to see that the stock on his farm is better fed in the future and his payment of the expenses incurred in its investigation the Sussex County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has decided not to prosecute a charge of cruelty against William J. Connelly, of Kingsland. Mr. Connelly owns a farm near Swartswood. He left a farmer by the name of Delaney to care for his property while he attended to his duties as bookkeeper for the Edison Electric Company in New York. Delaney drove the horse in a team to Newton last week and on his return, near the Paulinskill, the animal fell paralyzed. A veterinarian said the animal was starving to death and ordered it shot. The society sent its agent, Philetus R. Van Horn to investigate and he found the other horse, a cow and some chickens with insufficient food. Mr. Connelly came up Sunday and succeeded in adjusting matters yesterday.

TWO FACE BIGAMY CHARGES.

Trenton, Feb. 12.—Approval has been given by Governor Wilson for requisitions upon the Governors of New York and Pennsylvania for the extradition of two persons convicted in this State for bigamy. One of the fugitives wanted is Hugh D. McTier, of Jersey City, who was indicted in Hudson county for marrying Margaret Leahy, while his wife, Clara E. McTier, was living. He is in custody in New York city. Minnie Johnson Cobb, alias Mary Anderson, alias Minnie Cobb, alias Minnie Vedder, alias Minnie McKenzie, formerly of Hoboken, will be brought back from Philadelphia to stand trial in Hudson county for marrying John A. McKenzie, while her husband, Matthew Cobb, was living.

GETS $5,000 FOR LOSS OF EYE.

New Brunswick, Feb. 12.—A payment of $5,000 in accident insurance has been made to County Clerk Bernard M. Gannon for the loss of an eye, which was removed recently at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary. A cataract developed and the sight of the eye was destroyed. Mr. Gannon is still at the hospital, but is expected home in a few days.

FOR TRANSFER OF PATIENTS.

Trenton, Feb. 12.—Transfers of between forty and fifty patients from the Homes for Feeble-minded Women and Children at Vineland to the Village for Epileptics at Skillman was arranged for yesterday at a conference between Commissioner Joseph P. Byers, of the Department of Charities and Corrections; Dr. Adeline A. Hallowell, superintendent of the Home for Feeble-minded Women; Professor E. F. Johnstone, superintendent at the Home for Feeble-minded Boys, and Dr. David F. Weeks, superintendent of the Epileptic Village. The village has been enlarged to accommodate more than fifty additional inmates, most of which will be supplied from the two feeble-minded homes. This will make room for additional patients at the homes, on whose waiting list there are about 200 applicants.

GAYNOR RESISTS VERDICT.

Trenton, Feb. 12.—Charging that the verdict of $5,800 was excessive, a new trial was asked in the United States District Court, Monday in the suit of Dr. William J. Arlitz, of Hoboken, against Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York, and upon application of John H. Backes, of Trenton Judge Bellstab granted a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted, returnable next Monday. Dr. Arlitz sued for $7,500 for services rendered Mayor Gaynor after he was shot at Hoboken.

BURNED IN GAME NEAR FIRE.

New Brunswick, Feb. 12.—While playing about a bonefire at her home in Burnet street Monday afternoon, Rose Bauman, eight years old, was severely burned when her dress caught fire. In an effort to put out the blaze the girl's playmates caught hold of her hands and swung her around in a circle. John Clark, hearing her screams, rolled her on the ground and smothered the fire. The doctors at St. Peter's Hospital think the child will recover.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

How would you like to know all about "How long it takes a boy to get a job in New York City," the "Man Overboard," as told in fascinating short-story fashion by Charles Somerville, the "Women pickpockets of New York," "The Rothschilds and their wit," "Why golf balls explode," "Edison's Kinetophone," "Germ cures and patent-poisoners," etc.? If these or any other such subjects interest you, be sure and get next Sunday's New York World, for in its 24-page magazine, illustrated, you will find all these stories and many other items of interest. But order the Sunday World from your newsdealer in advance.

TWO ADMIT BANKRUPTCY.

Trenton, Feb. 12.—Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States District Court yesterday by Ely Shelton Cornell, a mining engineer of East Orange, and Beatrice M. Harrison, a boarding-house keeper of Ocean Grove. Mr. Cornell has liabilities of $9,274, and assets of $70. Liabilities of Beatrice M. Harrison are placed at $2,993 and her assets at $60.

HIGH-CLASS WINES and LIQUORS

The subject of medicine must be of absorbing interest to the people, and they should exercise the greatest care in the selection thereof. Liquors, Wines and Beers are a great Medicine when Pure. I carry a large stock of well-made old liquors. Old liquors do not affect the body detrimentally but serve as the best tonic for invalids, stimulating and feeding the system. To persons wanting pure Wines, Liquors and Beers, I will say that I have the goods.

CO. K RECEIVES SEVERAL PRIZES

Trophies and Medals Presented to Local Company at Regimental Review.

EXPERT MARKMANSHIP

Plainfield Citizen-soldiery Make a Fine Appearance on Parade—Second Regiment Will Be in Line in Inaugural Parade.

Trenton, Feb. 13.—One of the chief events in this State on Lincoln's Birthday was the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., parade in the afternoon and review and presentation of trophies in the armory here last night. The review was before Brig.-Gen. Dennis F. Collins, commanding the Second Brigade, N. G. N. J.; Col. Horace M. Reading, commanding the Second Regiment. The Co. K boys, from Plainfield, turned out in goodly numbers and presented a fine appearance in the parade. Time after time Capt. Peterson showed his superior military training when obstacles presented themselves in the line of march.

When the buglers sounded attention at the review every one of the seven hundred men in the building came to attention and although the armory was crowded with visitors and spectators there was absolutely not a sound. After Gen. Collins reviewed the regiment, battalion formations were executed and trophies won by the various companies for rifle work both on the indoor and outdoor ranges were presented. Co. F., of Elizabeth, received the Regimental trophy for having the highest number of men qualify on the Sea Girt range last summer. Co. K was given the Dungan trophy, which is presented by former Col. John Y. Dungan, to the company making the greatest improvement in rifle practice for the past year. Judge Dungan made a short presentation speech in which he said that he was glad to know that a company that belonged to his regiment succeeded in securing the prize. The rifle team picked from Co. K to represent them on the State team match last summer was called before Col. Reading and the John Rogers Williams cup was presented to them. The members of this team were Quartermaster Sergt. J. Arthur Dow, Sergeants James B. Conkling and Oliver R. Pierson and Corporals George B. Howell and Augustus H. VanArsdale. Corporal George B. Howell, of Co. K, was presented with the Dungan medal, a prize awarded to the member of the company winning the Dungan trophy who has the highest individual score.

Lieut. A. R. Phillips, of Co. K, received the Mack Expert trophy medal for 1911 and Corp. Bonelly, of Co. C, of Elizabeth, was presented with another Mack trophy medal for 1912. Lieut. Phillips also was awarded one of the Columbia trophy medals given the regimental team winning the trophy awarded by the Washington, D. C., National Guard to the New Jersey Guard. Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, major of the First Battalion, acted as captain of the team.

Among the other medals and trophies awarded were the Libbey trophy, the Collins medal, the National Rifle Association medal and the five year 100 per cent. duty medals. Following the presentation of trophies and medals the regiment was dismissed and dancing was enjoyed until 12 o'clock.

Although no public announcement was made at the review it is said that the First, Second and Third Regiments would participate in the inauguration parade at Washington on March 4. All companies will recruit up to the full number of men required. All companies not having sixty-eight men enlisted will draw from companies in the Fourth and Fifth Regiments to fill in to the requi peace time strength.

The commanders of the differe battalions participating in the revie last night and the companies unde their charge were: First Battalion, Major William B. Martin, commanding, Companies F, I and C, of Elizabeth, and K, of this city; Second Battalion, Major John McCullough, commanding, Companies A, D, E and B; Third Battalion, Major Conrad Hall, commanding, Companies M, of Somerville; H, of New Brunswick; L, of Princeton, and G, of Freehold; Colonel Horace M. Reading commanding the e ire regiment.

WOULD THIS BILL HURT PLAINFIELD?

Fear Expressed Bill Regarding Sewer Plant Might Affect This City.

IF IT IS RETROACTIVE

Lawyer Gives Opinion Measure in Legislature Would Not Apply to Joint Scheme in Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen.

The introduction of a bill in the Legislature, similar to the Beard sewage disposal bill, which was defeated last year, and which is designed for the same purpose, namely, of preventing one municipality from locating sewage disposal works in another county of the State, without first obtaining the permission of said county, about which there has been some apprehension, has raised an interesting question.

It has been the belief that if the Legislature passed the present measure and it should become a law it would prevent Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen from going ahead with its plans to locate sewage disposal works in Piscataway township. In discussing the bill today, a prominent local lawyer expressed the opinion that it would not defeat plans for Plainfield's sewer and his reasons for this belief were that the measure would probably not be retroactive.

Inasmuch as Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen have had their plans passed upon by the State Board of Health and have progressed so far with them, it is not considered likely that an act passed by the Legislature would defeat them, unless it was aimed directly at the action taken by the municipalities named. It would be a serious matter if the local sewage plans were upset at this time, for they have been carried thus far at a considerable expenditure of time and money, and the several Councils are now about to adopt an ordinance authorizing the building of the plant, after North Plainfield and Dunellen have first given its Councils the power to go ahead by a special election.

The features of Assembly bill, No. 263, which was introduced February 4, by Mr. Fisch, and referred to the committee on public health, are that no municipality, acting singly or for any two or more municipalities, acting jointly, shall be permitted to locate in whole or part any sewage receptacle or any sewage disposal works or any plant or station for the treatment, rending or disposal of sewage, without the territorial limits of such municpality acting singly, unless consent to such location be first obtained from the governing body of the municipality within the teritorial limits of which such location is proposed to be made.

The bill further provides that its provisions shall not affect or restrict the powers conferred upon the Passaic Valley Sewage Commission by the act provided for the purification of the waters of the Passaic river. It is for this reason that the opinion is advanced that this bill would not affect the action already taken by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, although it is not so specifically stated in the bill.

Governor Wilson in vetoing the Beard bill of last year, said among other things in giving his reasons for not approving the measure, that a careful consideration of the bill convinced him that it was based upon a most unsafe and unscientific principle. He was unwilling to have the State Board of Health shorn of what he considered was its rightful powers, and he said that it semed to him that the present powers of the State board are sufficient to safeguard the several political divisions of the State against the deleterious influences resulting from the sewage disposal within its limits, and if it has not sufficient powers, in his opinion it should be conferred upon the board. He concluded his statement by saying: "I think the establishment of the principle involved in this bill would be a most unsafe experiment." There is a belief that the measure recently introduced may fail in its ultimate purpose.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK.

Miss Mabel Francis, a missionary, who recently returned from Japan, will speak tomorrow at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:45 in the evening in the German Reformed church, corner Craig place and Duer street. Miss Francis has had many thrilling experiences in the Far East country while performing her good work and her discourse on the subject is exceedingly interesting. Miss Mary Post, a soprano soloist of unquestionable ability who has appeared in the leading churches of New Jersey, will render several selections during the afternoon.

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO WHO IS BESIEGED IN HIS CASTLE AND CELEBRATED GENERAL WHO WAS SLAIN ON ESCAPE FROM PRISON

GENERAL BERNADO REYES — PRESIDENT FRANCISCO I. MADERO

Discovered in a plot to revolt and make Felix Diaz military dictator, by far the greater part of the regular Mexican army garrison in Mexico City mutined, then released General Diaz and General Bernardo Reyes from prison, attacked the National Palace and other public buildings, and captured the arsenal in the suburbs. General Reyes was killed in the fighting at the Palace, in which two hundred fell, among them many women.

President Madero and Ministers, with a strong detachment of loyal troops, have fortified themselves at the Palace.

MISS BESSIE MANN NOW MRS. FELDMAN

Daughter of B. H. Mann the Bride of John J. Feldman.

Miss Bessie Mann, daughter of B. H. Mann, of Stebbins place, was married in the presence of two hundred relatives and friends to John J. Feldman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Feldman, of Jackson avenue, Dunellen, at The Ellsmere apartments on West 126th street, New York, last night at 8 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Sommerstein, of New York city, officiated.

Miss Mann was attended by Miss Minnie Fertig, of New York, as maid-of-honor, and the Misses Bessie Weintraub and Bessie Mann, of New York, Sarah Rosensweig, of Yonkers, and Fannie Mann, of Plainfield, as bridemaids. Miss Sadie Feldman was also a member of the bridal party. Herman Mann, of New Brunswick, was best man and the ushers were Morris Mann and Morris LaVere, of Plainfield, and Jack Mann and Saul Weintraub, of New York. The flower girls were the Misses Celia Mann, of Plainfield, and Clara Mann, of Roselle. Little Miss Martha Mann, of this city, was the flower girl.

The bride's gown was of white satin charmeuse, trimmed with Irish lace and covered with a tunic of pearl. She carried bridal roses. The bridal veil was held in place by a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridemaids were gowned in pink charmeuse, trimmed with silver and carried bouquets of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The flower girls carried baskets of sweet peas.

The bride received numerous presents. They included cut glass, silverware, a set of library, parlor and dining room furniture, and china as well as jewelry. Following the wedding ceremony a banquet was held in honor of the couple. Herman Mann, of New Brunswick, acted as toastmaster. Morris Mann read numerous congratulatory telegrams.

After an extended honeymoon trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and New England cities, Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C., the couple will take up their residence in a newly furnished house at 968 West Sixth street.

Among those from this city attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H. Voehl, Mr. and Mrs. J. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Goldberg, Dr. and Mrs. H. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. B. Mann and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mann, the Misses Mary Nugent and Annie Horn and Samuel Rothberg. Other guests were present from Dunellen, Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Trenton, Perth Amboy, Roselle, Passaic, Staten Island, New York, Brooklyn, Yonkers and Norwich and New London, Conn. As the guests left the hall they were all presented with a small Japanese jewelry case as a souvenir of the occasion.
